Our grateful thanks to the men and women who worked at God's Acre Cemetery on our annual "clean-up" day Wednesday, June 9, 1982.

With a beautiful day, work started at 9:30 a.m. Grass was seeded where necessary, the wooded areas were cleared of underbrush and dead trees. The Cemetery gates and posts around received a new coat of silver paint and the coal shed and car park steps also had a paint job done. The shrubs and spruce trees received a manicure.

drawn to the disease problem. Also, heavier stands tend to lodge and Scierotinia will then often grow extensively on undergrowth plants. This will occur in wet areas too. Typical symptoms are seen in the standing crop about 3-4 weeks after infection occurs. Stems become white, hollow and "tapered" looking. In advanced infections, black sclerotia are found when stems are split open and many sclerotes may be formed in a single stem.

Two methods of disease control that are being studied in Alberta at present are chemical control and the use of disease resistant plants. Initial studies of control by fungicides have been underway by Dr. John Duesch, and last summer an extensive trial was organized by Paul Thomas (Oleuse Crop Supervisor, Alberta Agriculture). The trial involved aerial application of Benlate on 5 acre strips in farmers' fields at fourteen locations in Alberta. The majority of trial sites were in areas of central Alberta where heavy infections of Scierotinia have occurred in previous years; for example Plains and Westlock. The fungicide is a systemic type that moves upwards in the plant and has activity against the fungus for 3-4 weeks. It should be applied when the crop has started to flower, so plants are protected during the peak infection period. Heavy infections would be damaged by ground applications at this stage, the spray is applied by aeroplane, at a cost of approximately $20 per acre. However, if an increase in yield of 10 bushels per acre is gained (at $0.00 per bushel of response), it is well worth spraying. However, if disease inoculum is low, or if the crop has high yield potential (in the absence of disease), then it would not be economical to spray. Duesch, manufacturer of the fungicide, are developing a list of criteria for the necessity of spraying. The criteria need to take into account such factors as:

1. Has Scierotinia been a problem in the field, or a neighboring one, during the previous two years?
2. Are aphidias present at flowering time?
3. Is the crop a dense stand, likely to be high yielding and providing a suitable microclimate for disease development?
4. Have weather conditions been suitable for aphidias production and disease development?
5. Should the application forms in the office. Please remember that applications are filed on a first come first serve basis.

Gulbraa Relations Visit Homestead

This past weekend was very interesting for Stanley and Ella Wallace of Banquillo. Washington visiting with cousins Carl and Eunice Gulbraa of Irma.

Mrs. Wallace was the former Ella Gulbraa, daughter of John S. Gulbraa who homesteaded the E.E. quarter of 16-46-9 in the Rose district, now owned by Mr. Claude Meakin.

Mrs. Meakin's son, Mr. Meakin, the Wallace's were driven to the farmstead, right to find a hedge of currants and some rhubarb still growing that had been planted there by Ella's parents.

Flower beds edged with rocks, cellar holes for house and barn were still visible. Ella was born there and was 4 years old when she moved with her parents to Washington where she has lived ever since.

Picture was taken to take back to older members of the family because Ella's memories were rather fuzzy as she was so young at the time.

If she didn't have to go through customs officers on her return to Washington, she would have accepted Mr. Meakin's kind offer of some roots of those currants. She was thrilled to once more stand on the right of what had at one time been her childhood home.

It's Time To Vaccinate Your Horse

Although an outbreak of western equine encephalomyelitis (sleeping sickness) in Alberta has been reported, the virus seems to cycle naturally in birds and mosquitoes and the only sure way to protect your horse is to have them vaccinated every spring.

Dr. Jane Pritchard of Alberta Agriculture's veterinary laboratory in Fairview reports very effective vaccines are available for protecting horses against this potentially deadly disease. However, she points out that they must be used at the right time of the year to ensure protection during the potential equine encephalomyelitis season, which in Alberta is during August and September. This means that horses in this province should be vaccinated by a veterinarian by the first of July. Several weeks are required for the necessary level of immunity to build up.

The effects of western equine encephalomyelitis in horses can range all the way from a mild fever to death within two days. Symptoms include fever, impaired vision, wandering, circling, loss of coordination, yawning, teeth grinding, drooping, a drooping lower lip, an inability to swallow or stand, paralysis and death.

According to Dr. Pritchard, sleeping sickness is transmitted by mosquitoes, especially the Culex tarsalis. This species is known to carry the virus and feed on both birds and mammals. Because the disease is transmitted by mosquitoes, it is seasonal and most prevalent in late summer. Dr. Pritchard says new cases cease to appear after the mosquito population has been killed off by frost.

Western equine encephalomyelitis can affect people as well as horses. Symptoms vary, and infants are more susceptible than adults.

What seems to have happened is that parties in Canada are more concerned about winning the elections than they are about working towards the betterment of the nation. No matter what a government tries to do, or no matter what an opposition proposes, the other party will most surely find fault. What happened to the merit in evaluating a proposal rationally and then attempting to either determine if it would work or not, rather than just doing it because it originated with the other party. The betterment of the nation should be the main concern of our politicians, not their re-election.

Perhaps it is time that party solidarity was re-evaluated in Canadian politics. In terms of getting somewhere, it doesn't seem to work for us. However, it does work for ducks.

Population Bulletin

Final population figures for Alberta are now available in publication form No. 93-900. Also featured in this publication are population breakdowns by census division, population density and total occupied dwellings.

An example of total occupied dwelling data is Raymond, Alberta, Town, Population 2897, No. of Dwellings 809.

would result in a relatively low risk project. He continued by stating, "I wouldn't wish anything upon my neighbors that I wouldn't wish upon myself."

Mayor McKee advised that a positive attitude means we have much within the community of Ryley with regard to the effect and acceptance of a Hazardous Waste Plant. He summed up his feelings on the project with regard to safety and emotional ease by stating that he would rather live next door to a hazardous waste plant than a "gas plant" or a "pig farm".

established three different mill rates. The residential and farmland rate has been set at 18 mills. This year, farm houses exceeding approximately 12,000 sq. ft. will also be taxed.

The non-residential and non-farm land category has been split into two separate categories. Unoccupied rural land, such as vacant lots in hamlets and unoccupied acreage lots will be taxed at the rate of 22.45 mills. Commercial and industrial land will be taxed at 28.45 mills.

Although the mill rate itself has dropped dramatically, with the increased assessment, increased costs and decreased provincial government funding, taxpayers payable have gone up for County residents.

product he is not worried about putting the company to the test and installing it because "He is certain people will be satisfied with and continue the service after September the 1st."

Dear Sir: Recently, I read an article in "Alberta Farm Life" written by a fellow who has travelled Africa, Europe and all of North America. He remarked that we must have the best postal service anywhere in the world, here in Canada.

I'm convinced he is totally right. Since the "Improved Service" came in, along with record high postal charges, I have had numerous occasions when I could agree with him. Till June 20, the record time I have on file for an article to be delivered in 39 days from Edmonton is 19 days. A new record is being set. A Weekly Review I sent to a daughter in Edmonton, so she could have a souvenir copy of the Viking Graduation of her brother, has arrived in her mail box yet. Five weeks. The paper cost me 35 cents to purchase, but it cost me 45 cents to post it to the city 90 miles away.

In the days of the stagecoach or pony-express, the mail was delivered at least monthly, in good weather. How efficient is our "Improved Service?" Hazel Miskew high girls' volleyball award, with Mary Lynn Lang being selected as the team's Most Valuable Player. Winner of the boys' M.V.P. award was Kelvin Kripke. Coach Chew Pon made the presentation.

The senior high volleyball awards were then presented with Ping Pon, on behalf of coach Nicole Wadley, presenting the M.V.P. award to Melanie Fouts. Don Gilles, coach of the boys' team, presented his top award to Michael Watson.

The basketball awards followed on the program with four trophies being presented to the team's Most Improved Player and two Most Valuable Players.

The winner of the M.I.P. trophy for the girls' team was Rita Wadley, while for the boys' team, Kelvin Kripke took home the honour. In the M.V.P. category, Mary Lynn Lang and Donnie Lawes were the winners for their respective teams.

Ann Provost, assistant coach of the high school girls' basketball team, announced the selection of Elaine Rommel as M.V.P. She was followed by boys' coach Scott Garnett, who presented two awards. The first was a special award to Michael Watson for overall effort and attitude, and the second went to Victor Bloebaum as the M.V.P.

Mary Lynn Lang was the recipient of yet another M.V.P. trophy as she was selected as the top female badminton player in Junior high. Her male counterpart was Donnie Lawes, who received his second M.V.P. award.

At the senior high level, Dorothy Thaxton was chosen as the female M.V.P. while Victor Bloebaum was chosen for the boys.

With track and field having just concluded, the accomplishments of these winners were fresh on everyone's mind. The winner in the Junior high girls' was Laurie Sevelch, while Gary Vitek took the boys' honour.

In the senior high category, Coach Dick Channay selected Sheila Winter and Ian Erickson, based upon their performance right up to the Northern Alberta Finals in Grand Prairie.

Ian Erickson was called up shortly thereafter, once again having been selected as an M.V.P. This time, it was for soccer.

Veronica then assumed her role as Students' Union President to make a special presentation to Mr. Dennis Watson. Veronica presented Mr. Watson with a plaque in recognition of his work with the students over the past eight years, and noted that he had helped them a lot.

The final awards of the day were the Bill Outstanding Athlete Awards. These winners are selected annually by the students who vote for the nominees of their choice.

I have been taken to task for not reporting what John and I have been doing. It was suggested that I could not expect people to phone their news to me, if I wasn't reporting ours. So, at the risk of boring everyone, I will try to meet my ways. The week before last we spent a few days in southern Alberta, visiting relatives and friends. The northern economy doesn't appear to have adjusted that part of the province to any great extent, at least from what we could observe. All the smaller towns are expanding and bustling. Calgary is always congested with traffic, it's difficult to determine whether anyone is working of just driving around the city.

Ruth Ash and Rita Haddo attended a meeting of the Canadian Club in Edmonton. They were to view a film promoting University '82. Mrs. Margaret Gleason spent the past three weeks visiting in Calgary and Wetaskiwin. Helen and Ed Rodino recently returned from a two week motorhome trip to Williams Lake where they visited with Rita, Janet and the girls. They report that the weather was very warm there also.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ash and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Ellisworth and their two boys from Edmonton visiting for Father's Day.

Mrs. Myrtle Roemer and three of her sisters have gone on a trip to visit relatives in the United States.

I have been taking my turn delivering "Meat on Wheels" for the past two weeks. I was very pleased to see that more people are using this service since the last time I delivered mail in the fall.

The Viking Historical Society Museum will be open to the public at its new location, in the old Viking Hospital as of Monday, June 28. The Museum will be open daily from 2:00 to 6:00 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lucas entertained at a family gathering over the weekend. Those attending included Lorna's Uncle and Aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Art Oat from Valleyjo, California, Lorna's mother, Mrs. Sophie Oat of Wetaskiwin, Sharon and Jim Mein and family from Stettler, Clara Klotz and family from Wetaskiwin and Lorna and Peter's family.

Quinte W.I. Notes

The May meeting of the Quinte W.I. was held on the 27th at the home of Rita Seldner with twelve members and one guest present. The meeting was opened with the reading of the W.I. creed. This was followed by the reading of the April meeting minutes and the treasurer's report was also given.

We had a report of our last card party where: men's high - D. Dorward, men's second was Len Seizer and men's low was Henry Groszowood. Ladies high was K. Dorward, ladies second was Doris Fox and Carrie Beamish and ladies low was Hazel Sjakshas.

We then had the draw for the birthday lot. The winner this month was Doris Fox.

Catherine Evans and Lilian Evans are on the May visiting committee.

For the program we each did of our special collection, hobbies or interests.

For roll call we each brought books or magazines for an exchange with each other.

The evening closed with coffee and lunch which was enjoyed by all.

Reported by Mary Leidl

Mrs. Margaret Hill was present at the Sports Award ceremony to present the Hill Outstanding Athlete Awards to the 1981-82 winners - David Darling and Elaine Ruzmekel.

Become The Best That You Can Be

Joan White, Manager of Chrima Plus, a professional personal development and modelling school won't promise overnight miracles.

What she does promise is to help you look your best. "My biggest goal is to help a student work with what she's got, so she will have a look and an image that suits her," Joan, who has been in the modelling business for 15 years, explained.

Following a basic modelling format, Joan begins her courses with a detailed individual self analysis. From there she teaches students how to carry themselves with poise and confidence.

Fashion dressing, hair-

styling and make-up application will also be heavily emphasized. She offers a beautifully designed aids card program that is very effective and easy to follow. In make-up artistry, you will learn contouring and application techniques for day, time, evening and high fashion looks to emphasize your best features.

During the course, Joan will show how to co-ordinate their wardrobes. With today's rising clothing costs it is imperative that we know how to plan a good basic wardrobe that is versatile, cost efficient and complementary to your lifestyle. It just doesn't have to be expensive to be tempting. Learn how to analyse your figure type and how to choose the best styles and colors to suit you. Also learn what a basic wardrobe consists of and how to work with your existing wardrobe to make it suitable. Hopefully I can make students feel good about the way they look which helps their self confidence. Chrima Plus will be offering this course for $120.00, July 12th thru 16th at the Viking Legion Hall. We will be accepting enrollment for our day or evening program. For more information regarding enrollment call Karen or Marie at 336-4080.

Most Hygiene Management Review The Food Production and Inspection Branch of Agriculture Canada is undertaking a thorough study of this country's meat inspection system.

The aim of the study is to ensure the federal department's meat hygiene program will continue to meet the needs of the Canadian public and the meat industry in the face of continuing technological changes in the production and handling of meat.

As part of the study, the department will hold consultations with consumers, retailers, meat processors and other sectors of the meat industry.

Echo Rodino News

Get well wishes go to Victor Carter who has spent the week in the Viking Hospital after a small accident with his racing horses last week and in Chaurin.

Nerine Hunter, Stacey Williams and Yvonne Greenwood attended the fashion show held at Irma school put on by the Home Economics class to show their year's sewing. It was very enjoyable.

Claudia Williams helped to take the Irma Kindergarten class to tour the Army Camp at Wainwright. Donna, Florence and Mildred Halar took in a day of shopping in Edmonton.

Members of the community send their sympathies to the Tim Brady family on his passing. Tim was one of the old residents of this area. The funeral was held in Edmonton.

Several people from this area put their campers on their trucks and took off for the Cloveridge stampede this weekend.

Darcey Guilbra of Irma spent some time with Grandma and Grandpa Minkowski while his Mother and Father were away. Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Halar and family took in the week-end Cub Camp held at Lake Thomas.

Although the meet began in snow, and cold temperatures prevailed throughout the day, Viking competitors came up with some excellent performances bringing home one bronze medal.

 Crop Emergence Problems
 In County

As many farmers already know, there have been many reports of crop emergence problems in the County. The ground has been good but the seedlings seem to have extreme difficulty in emerging to the surface. Most of the reports have been on earlier seeded crops, mainly wheat.

Many of these fields appear to have high trifluralin (weed) carryovers from the last crop year. However, we have had reports of similar symptoms on fields that have never had trifluralin. We are presently looking at many fields to try and determine what the cause or causes of this damage are.

Symptoms are:
 1. Non-emergence of seedlings in patches, usually on higher ground.

2. Emergence of leaves below the soil surface rather than above. These leaves are yellow and folded like an accordion.

There are variations of these symptoms. As soon as we have more definite answers we will let the farmers in the County know.

With the spraying season in full swing, extreme caution should be taken in calculating rates of application of herbicides. Do not rely totally on last year's notes as many concentrations and container sizes have changed in the last year. If in doubt, phone your D.A. or Agricultural Fieldman.

Janice Hensh of Viking was one of the competitors in the Shot Put during the County Track Meet last week.

Vialta Lodge News

Our sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. Luchessa and family in the loss of her son Foster, who passed away in Edmonton on June 12th in hospital. Funeral services and burial took place at Lorendale Cemetery on Wednesday, June 16th.

Greetings to our guests in hospital Mrs. Crowe in To-field Hospital, Mrs. Buss, Mrs. Hunt, Mrs. Frieser in the local hospital. We were all so pleased to have the Grade two pupils and their teachers come to eat on Thursday morning. Many thanks for coming.

Our thanks to the ladies of the Kinsella W.I. who so kindly commenced on Tuesday afternoon and next came to take our guests to Kinsella to take part in their Grandmothers Day Party. Joining them from here were Madeline Quinton, Ash, Thompson, Anderson, Russell and Cormack. All reported a very enjoyable afternoon. Many thanks ladies.

We welcomed Mrs. Neill Taylor to our Lodge on Tuesday. We trust she will enjoy her new home. Visiting Mrs. Cormack on Friday were Clara Laddler of Calgary and Ivy Molter of Kinsella.

We were happy to have the United Church Pre-Ten choir of Vegreville call and sing on Thursday evening.

Holden News

While young children last week were enjoying the Holden Sports Day, the Telford Boy Scouts were very busy selling cotton candy. The Scouts didn't mind working on this day as their great reward will come in winter when 15 of them will go to Australia if they sell enough cotton candy at the local Sports Days.

Mary Trogryn called on many of her friends in Viking at the Nurtag Home. She visited with Louise Hensh, Mrs. Kervill, Pearl Tahir, Mary Parnak, and Fred Orshon. At the Lodge Mary visited Mrs. Piowar, Mr. Doris, Mary Babin, and several other friends.

Clean Up A Big Success

Wednesday, June 16th was the annual Cemetery Cleanup. Right on the dot of 1:00 p.m. people, male and female, young and not-so-young began arriving at the cemetery equipped with lawn mowers, push mowers, riding mowers, grass shears, grass whips, rakes, etc. Charlie Allen and his group of students applied themselves with vim and vigor, at least most of them. The Iron W.I. ladies, as usual, performed a lovely lunch, which was timely and much appreciated. The cemetery looked very trim and neat and it was certainly much improved.

Irma News And Views

Mrs. Genevieve Touchette of Wainwright and her brother Ray, Father Roland Laplante of Trochu, P.E., visited Minnie and Jim Jackson on Thursday, June 17th. They wanted to have a look at the house in which they were both born and baptised. At that time the house was on the farm of their father Albert Laplante who farmed north of Pelly. Mrs. Touchette remarked that when he was born, he only weighed 4 lbs. It was Feb. 28, 1906 and was bitterly cold. He was put in the oven to keep him from freezing and as he said, "that is why I have curly hair."

George Foreman left Wainwright by bus at 2:10 a.m. on Saturday destined for Minnedosa, Manitoba to visit friends and relatives there and at other points further east.

Lorna Jackson accompanied by Jean and Ernest Rasmussen visited Marjory Bates at the Mannville hospital one day last week. Marjory had major surgery in the University hospital recently, and is now convalescing in the Mannville Hospital and was very glad to learn that she is coming along very nicely. All the best to you Marjory. A number of Irma people attended the graduation in Wainwright on Friday June 11th of the South Region students of Lakeland College. Twelve students in the carpentry class, 14 in mechanics. In Secretarial arts there were 19 including two from Irma. Valerie Bell and Ada Irene Tomlinson. Congratulations girls. In the Vocational Preparation class there were 24, and included an Irma boy Lyndon Dunbar and a few other names that seemed familiar.

Mary, Maureen and Bert Armstrong visited with Jim Jackson on Friday evening, while Minnie was attending the shower in the United Church basement for Gladys Gassie.

Nita and Jim Barlow and three children from Sundre visited with relatives and friends in the Irma district over the weekend.

They attended the open house at Crookston Shell for Jim's aunt Joyce and now Uncle Ron.

James and Phyllis Varham of Thorne visited with Marilyn and Arthur Jackson on Sunday.

The annual Co-op picnic is to be held as usual at Galtbra's lake picnic ground. As usual the Co-op association will supply everything else. Bring your own dishes and cutlery. Everyone is welcome. Come and have an enjoyable evening.

About forty well wishers gathered at Mr. and Mrs. Gus Tippy's residence at the Irma Inn on Saturday evening.

June 19th to honor Joyce and Ron Tippy whose marriage took place on June 8th at Wallace Park in Wainwright. Many beautiful gifts were opened and admired. Joyce and Ron were assisted by Peggy and Ron Orzechowski, their attendants. The happy bride and groom both thanked everyone for coming and for the many useful gifts. A delicious lunch was served by Eleanor Tippy, Marilyn and Lorna Jackson. Out of town folk included Ron's Uncle Alvin from Didsbury, Joyce's brother Jim Nita and family from Canby, Hazel and Harry Swanson from Longbeed and Mary and Bert Armstrong from Kinross. June 3rd visitors at the home of Tom and Lillian Copeland were Mrs. Edith Bridger of Calgary and "Mr. and Mrs. Renwick of Kelowna. They were able to watch Tom in a slow-pitch ball game that night. Vern enjoyed being able to play a few innings also. Friday Lillian's sisters visited Bessie and Joe Copeland while Tom and Vern went to Camrose. On Saturday afternoon Doris and Edith enjoyed the Social of Jim and Lillian's piano pupils. Sunday all headed west - Tom to play in Kinross's slow-pitch tournament and the others to their homes.

Irma Village Council Meets

The Council of the Village of Irma met in regular session in the Irma Village Office Tuesday June 1, 1982. There were five members present and Municipal Administrator, D.D. Crouse as well as Irma School Representative, Ian Hector and Provincial Planner Bob Hutchinson.

Mayor Coffin called the meeting to order at the hour of 7:10 p.m. and it was moved that the minutes from the May meeting and that all accounts be paid as presented.

Mr. Hector presented a request on the school project for upgrading its Track facilities. The upgrading will include leveling, grading and surfacing and fencing of the facility. He requested a letter of support from Council to accompany his application to Recreation, Parks and Wildlife Foundation for available grant funds. A motion was made and passed that this request be granted.

Mr. Hutchinson, Provincial Planner made a brief presentation to Council of services available from the Provincial Planning Branch and presented a proposed general outline plan for the area east of the Arena and north of 58 Avenue. Viking Airport Officially Opened

The new Viking airport located three miles northwest of town was officially opened on Sunday, June 27th.

Although gray skies and an occasional sprinkle of rain were witnessed, a crowd of near 350 attended the opening ceremony.

Appropriately, a "Fly-In" breakfast got the day underway. A variety of aircraft began arriving shortly after seven o'clock with private owners flying in from Killam, Paradise Hill, Saskatchewan, Hinton, Lethbridge, or Chipman. Red Deer, Edmonton, Wainwright, Brooks, Millar, Olive, Camrose, Haines, Vermilion, Wainwright, Thorsby, Smoky Lake, Telford and Sagar, Saskatchewan.

Breakfast under the direction of Roger Coleman and the Burger Queen Staff was held under the shelter of the Christensen hangar. Each of the pilots attending were served breakfast compliments of the Burger Queen with coffee for all complimentary of the Christensen and the N.A.D.P.

Those attending the opening enjoyed the demonstration by the Search and Rescue crew. Dave McCracken and crew of 418 Squadron Canadian Armed Forces Base at Nanaimo arrived at 9:15 in a Twin Otter aircraft and proceeded with a demonstration of the rescue of a downed aircraft.

The demonstration was conducted in the precise manner in which a real rescue operation would be conducted. A supply bag of bandages, blankets, etc., was dropped at the first pass. Strimmers to test for fuel leaks were dropped on the second pass. Additional medical supplies were dropped on the third pass and the fourth pass was an additional weather check. Two paratroopers left the plane on the fifth pass from an elevation of approximately 1000 ft.

The crowd enjoyed the accuracy and speed of the procedures with supplies and one paratrooper landing within 10 yards of the actual target and the other paratrooper right on target.

The Twin Otter landed in fine form demonstrating its ability to land or take off on a 300 foot stretch.

Adding to the enjoyment of the event was the musical and vocal selections of "Timothy Bridge", a local group headed up by Everett Norris.

A member of the RCAF Flying Club was in attendance with his model aircraft display. He also presented a video tape of model aircraft flying and conducted a demonstration.

The Viking Chamber of Commerce were represented at the opening by the attendance of President Bill Gilman, Bill Mattinson and the symbolic Viking Ship.

The official commencement of the opening was Harvey Alton, Deputy Minister of Alberta Transportation, Regional Transportation, Tom Lyons, M.L.A. Veronique Viking, Ken Bouchie, Manager of Alberta Aviation Council, Ken Midbo, Deputy Mayor of Town of Viking, Dave Neigum, R.C.M.P. Detachment, in ceremonial dress, added a touch of color to the ribbon cutting ceremony of the Viking Airport on Sunday June 27th.

Seniors Implement Fund Raising Project

A priority among senior citizens in Viking regarding the development of a "Seniors' Centre" has been the proposed location and characteristics of such a facility.

Following a recreation program, the "Drop-In" centre to be included in a multi-purpose complex on the outskirts of town. Feedback from seniors was sought to determine the suitability of the location.

It was found that a good portion of the seniors population who could potentially use such a facility, had no means of transportation other than walking and that the proposed site would prove prohibitive to the use of the facility for many seniors.

Several meetings with recreation officials, Town Councilors and Family and Community Support Services led to a "Seniors' Workshop" with "New Horizons" and the "Senior Citizens Bureau".

It was determined that a "downstairs" location, close to shopping and public amenities, on a level site

Emergency Drill Successful

The sound of the fire siren on Monday at 10:38 a.m. alerted the Viking Volunteer fire crew of a possible fire.

The fire crew responded to the fire hall the crew learned that the siren signalled their planned emergency drill at the Viking Hospital.

When the alert was sounded, the hospital staff immediately began evacuating patients from the north wing most rooms of the north wing.

The purpose of such a drill is to test the efficiency of the hospital staff in the event of a fire thus eliminating the evacuation of the complete building.

Bill Karpovich, Viking Fire Chief evaluated the drill as a successful and valuable experience both for the volunteer firemen and the hospital staff. He felt the response and procedures carried out by the fire department had been handled well.

In closing the fire chief stressed the need for a planned evacuation route in such homes and businesses stating that the benefits of carrying out a staged evacuation could be many. He also stressed the need of more volunteers for the Fire Department, especially during the holiday season, when a number of volunteers may be away from town at the same time. A shortage of volunteers could be very costly.

Red Kries and Tom Farnham wished to express thanks to everyone involved in Monday's fire drill and expressed thanks to these businesses employing volunteer firemen for allowing them to leave at the "drop of a hat" for with out this cooperation services losses or even death could result.

Wildlife Club Receive Awards

The Viking Wildlife Club under the direction of Mr. Ron Erickson has again been singled out as the recipients of the "Award of Merit" presented by the Outdoor Unlimited award committee. This award is extended to the Viking School Wildlife Club for their efforts in support of the aims and objectives of the Outdoor Unlimited yearly campaign.

Mr. Ron Erickson was also presented with the 1982 Outstanding Volunteer Award for his personal leadership in encouraging, as an on-going basis, involvement to awareness among young people. (See photo on Page 2 of this issue)

Constable Dave Neigum of the Viking R.C.M.P. Detachment, in ceremonial dress, added a touch of color to the ribbon cutting ceremony of the Viking Airport on Sunday June 27th.

We Need Everybody's Help!

Those lazy, crazy, crazy days of summer are upon us once again. This is the time of year that we get the opportunity to realize what we're weather is all about. It encourages us to go on picnics, go hiking or camping, swimming and boating, and just generally taking it easy on our days off or on our holidays. That is what most of us do. But this time of year also tends to bring out another trait seemingly inherent in some human beings - the need to damage or destroy.

It seems that every year we get a rash of incidents where people just simply have to prove how "tough" they are, or take some built-up frustrations out on other people's property. In recent years, the most obvious target of these stupid, senseless acts of vandalism has been our public recreation facilities, facilities that have been put there for the public, and that includes the very people who take it upon themselves to damage or destroy parts of these areas.

It just seems so easy for people to engage in these senseless acts when the target of their actions is a public park. The most recent nonsense occurred at the facilities at Camp Lake, east of Viking. The boating, swimming, camping and cooking facilities available to the public at Camp Lake cost a great deal of money to construct and maintain. They have been put there for the enjoyment of us all, and have, over the years, provided many, many hours of fun for young and old alike. And yet, every year we seem to get some "idiots" or "idiots" who find it necessary to wreak havoc upon these facilities in order to prove some very senseless point, whatever that point may be. Perhaps they feel that they are "somebody" if they can destroy something. Who knows? The one thing we do know is that their acts are totally senseless, and acts that either directly or indirectly hurt us all.

The money that it takes to keep these facilities operating comes from us, the taxpayers of the village, town, county or province. And money spent on repairs to these facilities is a totally unnecessary expense. Because of this, what we all have to do is start a campaign to urge some responsibility upon everybody who uses these public recreational facilities. And this responsibility must include a willingness to let the authorities know who is destroying our facilities. At the time that something like this is carried out, probably most of the people in attendance think that the actions are rather "funny" or "cute". Hopefully, when they have time to think about it, someone involved may have a change of heart. And this change of heart is what must be worked on. It is difficult for an individual in a group to stop such senseless acts. But it is possible for this individual to report the actions to someone later on which may help the police find out who is responsible for the stupidity.

Have a talk with your son or daughter, or your neighbour, and help them to understand that such acts are totally uncalled for. Anyone can call the police, provide information, and request that they remain anonymous; or can give information anonymously. We need everybody's help to stop this kind of nonsense.

Rec. Program For Handicapped

This summer F.C.S.S. is pleased to announce that a recreational program for handicapped children is being run in Viking. The program is sponsored by the Viking Child Development Society and operated under the supervision of Family and Community Support Services (F.C.S.S.).

Wanda Simmonds and Brenda Petruski are the co-ordinators of the project. The purpose of the program is to provide summer activities for the handicapped children as well as integration into the regular summer programs. The agenda includes trips to local businesses as well as some of the Edmonton and surrounding area highlights. The children and their families are totally senseless, and acts that either directly or indirectly hurt us all.

During the ceremony, Mr. Harvey Alton, Deputy Minister of Transportation extended the Town of Viking on the completion of the Viking air strip and noted that it was the 48th paved airport in the province of Alberta. He stated that the location of the air strip in Viking will play an important role in the future development of the province due to its location. It will act as a crossroad for the southern Alberta region and should have a positive effect on trade and industry.

Mayor Stephenson spoke on behalf of the Viking Airport Commission stating that support for the operation of the airport will be the responsibility of the Town of Viking.

A Certificate of Appreciation was presented to the Town of Viking for their support towards the advancement of civil aviation in the province of Alberta.

A plaque of appreciation was presented to the Town of Viking by Harvey Alton, Deputy Minister of Transportation. Accepting the plaque on behalf of the Town of Viking was Mayor Ken Midbo.

also water safety and fun. Individual recreational therapy is a major part of the summer schedule. Wanda and Brenda will assist the parents with their exceptional children as the need arises.

Since this is a novel program, F.C.S.S. encourages community support and acceptance. Persons interested in more information about the program may contact the F.C.S.S. office at 336-3488.

"Hoofprints And Homesteading"

The above title was chosen as the name for the Kinella History Book by a panel of committee members June 7th. One Hundred and twelve entries were received in the "Name Our Book" contest. Of these one publisher rejected fifty three as being used previously. From the remaining fifty nine an elimination vote was held until a majority vote selected "Hoofprints and Homesteading" submitted by Jack McKie of Kinella.

Placing second was the title "All About Us" submitted by Frances Overbo. June 17th was "Doe Day", last after motion of work all the stories and pictures were picked up by our publisher representative Al Granger. This assures us of the book in time for Christmas sales. A $20.00 down payment will receive your copy. Contact Marjorie Orzechuk, Box 278, Irma or Jackie Pedersen at Kinella, or any committee member.

allowing street level access for the disabled or handicapped, would be preserved. When such a site becomes available in September of 1981, the Town of Viking agreed to purchase the property for senior's use with the assistance of the Senior Citizens Club application for the Alberta Culture's Facility Development Grant. Thus the project applied for in 1981 was deemed a "Land Acquisition".

Since the property accessed above was turned over to the Senior Citizens Club, development plans for the centre have accelerated and generated much community interest and support. This year's project "Project Phase and Site Preparation" is well underway and construction of the new centre will commence during the coming week.

Plans of the project is favourable with support from the Town of Viking, Alberta Culture, New Horizons, the Recreation Board and from local Service Clubs and Lodges.

In addition, the Viking Seniors' Club will be introducing a novel and raising project whereby local businesses, residents, visitors, or families can "purchase" a block of the concrete block structure by making a donation towards the construction of the project. Each "purchase" will receive a honorary certificate with a bronze, silver, or gold seal attached signifying their contribution. A $8 to $9 purchase entitles the purchaser to a bronze seal, $10 to $14 a silver seal, and $25 or over a gold seal.

Inquiries or further information can be obtained by contacting a member of the Viking Seniors' Club or F.C.S.S. office at 336-3488.

Irma News And Views

On Monday, June 14, Donald and Edith Goss accepted an invitation to attend a reception in honor of Miss Lucille Touchette upon her retirement from teaching. It will be remembered that Lucille taught in Irma School from 1947 - 1948 to June 1967. Good wishes are extended to Miss Touchette at this time.

James and Ruby Street, (nee Harvey) from Kelowna, B.C. visited in the Irma and Cass districts last week. Born to Mr. and Mrs. D. and Barbara at Bunker Hill, at 5:00 a.m. on Wednesday, June 23rd, baby girl weighing 7 lbs., 10 oz., another great granddaughter for Minnie and Jim Jackson.

Congratulations to Mrs. Kate McLean who was honored with an open house in the Legion Hall in Irma on the occasion of her 87th birthday on Sunday the 27th of June. The hall was almost filled to capacity with relatives, friends and well-wishers. The beautiful anniversary cake was a work of art. Congratulations Kate and many happy returns.

We have been enjoying our summer weather for the past few weeks. We listen with interest to the weather forecasts, which very often said "a chance of showers", will showers have occurred and there are arranged for hot sun and moisture came from the showers. So we are now hoping for a good old fashioned "wet day".

Congratulations to our newly wed young couple.

Also to those whose weddings are coming up in the near future. May they all enjoy long happy lives together, and may all their troubles be little ones.

Mrs. Rexy Loughlin and 3 girls of Hanna visited over the weekend with Aunt Margaret Cook and Kim. Baby showers seem the fashion just now. Recently a lovely couple of girls was held for Heidi Ann Tomlin, daughter of Gordon and Linda; Thursday a baby shower for the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Edith's Mom and 5 sisters from St. Paul were able to be present.

Mrs. George Kitchen of Calgary spent Thursday with her sister Margaret Cook and Kim. Mrs. Phyllis Craig and Mrs. Adelaide Downes returned Monday after being on the 12th annual Wheat Pool tour to the Yukon and North West Territories.

We thoroughly enjoyed the wonderful scenery and to go back to some historic places on Dawson City, along with Pierre Berton was raised. Robert Service has home, the many buildings which are being restored to travel through that beautiful yet treacherous country (The Historic Trail of '80) on the White Pass and Yukon narrow gauge railway. Get on the north as it is to see what a progressive town it has become. As far north as the settlement of Tuktoyaktuk for a two hour bus tour. Our commentators were excellent. We enjoyed the Sunday trip down the Yukon river followed by the most delicious Salmon Bake at "Pleasure Island". We considered it a very worthwhile week.

Mrs. Mary's A.C.W. were planned to have three of our Viking friends with us at Mrs. Edith Priors meeting Thursday, Mrs. Edith Brewster, Mrs. Hazel Midlow and Mrs. Margaret Hill.

Miss Bridget Shewers than rain showers these days. Best wishes to the recent brides and brides-to-be. Sympathy is extended to the Driedwick families, Frank and Stan on the recent passing of their mother in Edmonton.

Kim Jill Robbins of Edmonton spent the week end with her friend Kim Olson. Mr. and Mrs. Art Brown (nee Doreen Fay) of Saskatoon were recent Irma visitors.

On Thursday, Mrs. L.L. Guitierrez had a surprise visit from a long time friend Mrs. Grace Dahl of Poncha. Mr. and Mrs. Red Pritchard of Red Deer made a brief stop in Irma on Friday enroute to the Homecoming at Charley. He and Marlene had time to call on Uncle Mill Palmer. They report their parents Walter and Maude is very good health. Mr. Vern Sampson of Red Deer was renewing acquaintance in Irma Saturday.

Mrs. Phyllis Rose of Nisku visited with Mrs. Margaret Cook on Friday.

We are all enjoying to see Mrs. Hazel (Murray) Morn home after being hospitalized in Edmonton and Mannville during June.

Releated greetings to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Youther who celebrated their 40th Wedding Anniversary June 24.

Oil reserves appear plentiful in this province. But when identifying energy to serve, it is important to consider the ease with which they can be extracted and converted to convenient use.

The heavy oils of Lloydminster and the oil sand of Athabasca, for example, are much more difficult to extract and more expensive to produce than the conventional oil of Leduc.

A conventional reserves decline, it is becoming necessary to develop these more expensive energy reserves.

Natural gas provides about 40.5 per cent of our total energy requirements. This energy resource from Alberta

Managing Alberta's Energy

A Special Newspaper Supplement

Take A Wise Look At Energy In Alberta

Often called the "Energy Province", Alberta currently produces all of the energy it consumes.

This situation may not last forever. There are some questions as to exactly how much oil and gas we have and how it should be distributed. But no one questions the fact that our resources are steadily being used up. We must make the best possible use of our resources; we can't afford to be wasteful.

Source of Energy
In Alberta, oil and gas are the major sources of energy used. Oil supplies energy for 48 per cent of our Alberta requirements.

Oil reserves appear plentiful in this province. But when identifying energy to serve, it is important to consider the ease with which they can be extracted and converted to convenient use.

The heavy oils of Lloydminster and the oil sand of Athabasca, for example, are much more difficult to extract and more expensive to produce than the conventional oil of Leduc.

Natural gas provides about 40.5 per cent of our total energy requirements. This energy resource from Alberta is expected to meet Canada's needs for a considerable time to come. However, it is a non-renewable resource and must be used efficiently.

Alberta has extensive coal reserves, and 11.7 per cent of our energy use comes from this source. High grade metallurgical coal is exported from the province (mainly to Japan). Lower grade thermal coal is used to generate 48 per cent of our electricity. Large shipments of thermal coal are shipped to Ontario.

Propane and butane satisfy 8.5 per cent of our total energy needs; hydro contributes 1.8 per cent.

How we use it
The major portion (90 per cent) of all the oil used in Alberta goes to industry. However, this also includes the refining of crude oil, whose products are used both inside and outside the province. Some 50 per cent of the oil used goes to commercial and only one per cent goes to residential and commercial use.

Most of our gas, excluding exports and gas used for electricity generation, is used by industry as both a heating fuel and as feedstock for the petrochemical industry.

Some 21 per cent goes to commercial use and 6 per cent goes into transportation.

We use a great deal of electricity in Alberta. More than two thirds of Alberta's electrical consumption is by industrial and commercial users. 11 per cent of our electricity is lost in the process of transporting it.

Farm and residential use a total of 30 per cent. 1 per cent is used for electrical power in a few of our cities.

Butane and propane make up an important but smaller portion of Alberta's energy use. Approximately one tenth of the butane is used as a raw material for petrochemicals, with the rest used as an industrial fuel.

Taking responsibility
Specialists agree that the industrial area of our province's energy growth patterns is not only correct but the largest, but also that it will continue to increase rapidly. They also agree, however, that the key to our success is not to reduce industrial growth, but to ensure that our energy is used efficiently, minimizing waste.

Specialized energy conservation programs to assist industry are being developed by Alberta's utility companies and Alberta Energy and Natural Resources.

It's time for all of us to take a good look at the entire energy situation. We must become aware of our responsibilities to ourselves and to future generations; we must use energy wisely.

Five hundred dollars could help you upgrade the insulation of your home. And you may be eligible to obtain that amount as a grant through the Canadian Home Insulation Program (CHIP).

Administered by the Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC), the CHIP program is intended to help cover the cost of materials and labour involved in insulating single-family homes, semi-detached or row house units, apartment buildings and non-profit hotels.

Alberta dwellings eligible for a CHIP grant are principal residences of three storeys or less built before January 1, 1971.

Only one CHIP grant per unit is allowed. The full cost of insulation materials up to $300 and one third of labor costs to a maximum of $150 give a total possible grant of $450 for detached or semi-detached or row house units.

Every home does deserve proper insulation. When insulating modern modern requirements, you save energy - an important and very necessary consideration.

For further information on CHIP grants call (403) 426-2459. Or write: CHIP P.O. Box 3030, Edmonton, Alberta, T2J 2G4.

Grants Available For Upgrading Home Insulation

Apartment buildings have a slightly lower per-unit maximum.

In order to qualify for a CHIP grant, all materials must have been purchased and installed after April 1, 1982 when the terms of the CHIP program became effective. If materials were purchased before that date and used to upgrade a dwelling built before 1946, you are eligible for two-thirds of the cost of materials up to a maximum of $300.

Unconventional oil and the future

There are two main sources of unconventional oil in Canada: heavy oil and bitumen. The oil that will flow only slightly in the natural state. Heat injection is used to increase the flow and improve oil recovery.

Canada has one of the world's largest reserves of heavy oil, a viscous bitumen-like oil that will flow only slightly in the natural state. Heat injection is used to increase the flow and improve oil recovery.

If Canada is to achieve its goal of oil self-sufficiency, all of our reserves, including unconventional oil, must be tapped.

According to Shell Canada statistics, Canada's oil sands are estimated to contain about 39 billion cubic metres of recoverable oil, more than double present known reserves in Saudi Arabia.

Give Your Home An Energy Check-Up

keeping waste to a minimum. Just as you would start your own fitness program with a medical exam, you should begin your home conservation effort with a thorough check-up to locate situations in your home that may be costing you energy dollars.

Start At The Top
The ceiling is one area through which heat can escape from your house, so start your check-up at the top.

Someone else should get into the attic to see whether there is any insulation, make note of both the quantity and its condition. If the insulation is only a few inches thick, you need more.

Six to eight inches (R18 to R24) is good, 12 inches (R24 to R30) is better. While you're up there, check to make sure there are air vents allowing air circulation in the attic space, and that they are open and working properly.

Also note any openings through the ceiling for recessed light fixtures, wiring, plumbing, etc. These must be sealed or blocked before insulation is added. Otherwise, moisture-laden air from inside the house can dampen the insulation and reduce its effectiveness. Remember that insulation must be kept clear around recessed light fixtures.

Check Your Walls
Next, survey the walls. Homes built before 1945 probably have no insulation in the walls unless it has been added since construction.

One way to check for insulation in the exterior walls is to drill a small hole from inside in an unobstructed spot, and then to use a thin wire or straightening a long piece of wire to see if there's no insulation in the wall, or if there's insulation that can be blown into the cavity.

While examining the walls, be on the lookout for holes or openings into outside walls. These should be sealed to prevent penetration by moisture, which can result in damp insulation and, in extreme cases, start dry rot in wood. Areas to watch closely are the joints where walls meet the floor and spots where electrical outlets penetrate the walls.

Insulation can be needed in a gas leak that costs only pennies.

Basement Walls
Basement walls should also be insulated, with the framed portions receiving the same insulation as the exterior walls. The concrete portion would have insulation blocking heat loss from two feet below the outside ground level. Nearly 30 per cent of the heat energy lost from the average home comes from the basement.

Don't Forget Windows
In most homes, windows are the area of greatest heat loss. Even double-glazed windows lose ten times the amount of energy that escapes through an insulated wall.

One effective way to reduce heat losses through windows is to add another layer of glass. If possible, it should be added on the outside. "Storm Windows" installed on the inside can provide energy savings at reasonable cost, but they are usually not as airtight as outside windows, resulting in moisture condensation between the glass layers.

Check That Temperature
The brain of the heating system is the thermostat; use your own brain when setting the temperature. For example, if you are sitting watching television at a temperature of about 21 degrees C (70 degrees F), a temperature of 17 degrees C (65 degrees F) is more appropriate.

At night, lowering the temperature by five to seven degrees Celsius can provide energy savings of about 10 per cent over a year. This lower temperature is more comfortable for sleeping. It's even healthier for most plants.

Hot Water Check
Next to space heating and the private car, the average family's biggest energy user is the system which provides hot water for laundry, dishwashing and bathing.

Check the hot water tank thermostat. In many homes, the water temperature is set at 50 to 55 degrees C. This can often be lowered while still providing sufficient hot water for normal use.

Some of the simplest ways to conserve energy are to make sure the water tank is properly insulated, that the hot water piping going to the faucets is also insulated and, if possible, that the tank is located in a closet.

In the laundry, cold water can be used for many fabrics. Make sure that a suitable water temperature is used for the fabric being washed.

Not allowing your dishwasher to run through the drying cycle will save significant amounts of energy. Just open the dishwasher door after the rinse cycle and allow the dishes to air dry.

Biomass: a good source of fuel

by Paul Jacot

Biomass is an increasingly important source of commercial fuel, primarily in sun belt countries. In recent years, efforts to make greater use of this renewable energy have been stepped up around the globe. With current technology, the range of energy conversions from biomass is vast.

In Canada, wood is the most abundant biomass resource. Our wood-cut cheaply than coal or natural gas, for industrial and commercial markets.

Other wastes, such as animal manure, aquatic plants, sewage sludges, and food-processing wastes from cheesemaking, or potato, tomato, or fruit processing, can produce a gas mixture of mostly natural gas or methane. This energy results when various types of bacteria eat organic material in an oxygen-free environment.

This bacteria digestion not only produces a valuable energy commodity, but it also reduces the poisonous and pollution-causing material in sewage. Several provincial governments have pilot projects under way to harness the heat of burning garbage.

potential is more than 226 000 cubic metres, of which half is being used. There are also significant amounts of energy available from forest and pulp production wastes. Shell Canada Limited is operating plants which convert wood waste into fuel pellets, which burn more efficiently and

Energy Efficient Use Of Cars Makes Sense

Road transportation in Alberta currently accounts for more than three million cubic metres (30 million barrels) of fuel per year. This number represents more than half of the oil products consumed in this province per year.

The cost of the oil and gas continues to climb. However, looking toward solutions to these ever-increasing numbers, it should be noted that an improvement of an additional 10 to 15 km per hour (one mile/gallon) for each private vehicle in Alberta would result in a yearly saving of more than 100 thousand cubic metres (87 million gallons) of gasoline. Working toward more energy-efficient use of car does make sense.

Using less gasoline and oil is important to energy security, as well as to the family budget. Consider the following tips on how to use your motor vehicle more efficiently:

• Before you get into your car, ask yourself whether driving is necessary. Shop errands and business calls can be planned and consolidated to be carried out in one fuel-saving circuit. Consider car-pooling, public transit systems, walking or biking as alternatives.

Some items can be checked by the owner. A clogged air filter, for example, can reduce fuel economy.

Remember that it takes up to 25 per cent more fuel to drive at a speed of 110 km/h than at 80 km/h. If traffic conditions permit, maintain a slow steady speed to reduce waste each time you pump the accelerator.

Check the trunk contents. Each 45 kg (100 pounds) of extra weight can add 10 per cent to the consumption of gas per cent. Further the heavier the trunk, the more fuel is used to get rolling, accelerate and climb hills.

• Remember that smooth starts and moderate acceleration will reduce fuel consumption.

• A two minute warm-up period is more than enough to get the engine and transmission warmed. An idling car is getting nowhere per litre, thus draining your wallet and your average fuel economy.

• Compare lifetime costs

when considering a new car. The larger or heavier the car, the more fuel required. To transport one or two adults, a mini-compact or subcompact model will do. A compact model will carry three or four adults.

• Properly operated standard transmissions offer better fuel economy (up to five per cent) than automatics. New developments in automatic transmissions such as "overdrive" will increase efficiency.

• Remember to consider your new car's differential or gear ratio. Generally a low ratio differential will deliver better fuel economy than a higher one.

• If you must have an automatic transmission, choose one with a locking torque-converter to eliminate slippage above certain speeds, and an automatic overdrive function will improve fuel economy on the highway.

• A car's air resistance can have an effect on its fuel economy. Usually the car with the smallest smoothest front delivers the best fuel economy, however, with improved aerodynamics some models may be more streamlined and fuel efficient than they appear.

• A smaller engine will require less fuel consumption, partly because of weight reduction and partly because of potentially higher efficiencies.

• Fuel-jetted engines of the control of the engine's requirements under a wide range of conditions; this can improve fuel consumption efficiency.

• Front wheel drive provides better traction, less drive-train power loss and reduced vehicle weight, as well as more interior room.

• Radial tires are noted for their longer life, better handling and improved fuel economy. It is important with radials, as with all tires, to operate at the correct air pressure.

• Try to drive on smooth roads if you have a choice. A gravel road can reduce fuel economy by as much as 35 per cent.

• Calculate your car's fuel consumption write Alberta Energy and Natural Resources, Energy Conservation Branch, 7th Floor, 9915 - 108th Street, Edmonton, Alberta T6C 2C8 and request your free Fuel Economy Calculator and Log.

Flea Beetle Forecast

An Agriculture Canada scientist predicts that flea beetle infestations in 1982 will be severe in repressed growing areas.

Larry Burgess of the federal department's Saskatoon Research Station warns that most repressed crops will need protection either through treating seed or sowing an insecticide with the seed.

Dr. Burgess also warns that growers should watch their crop carefully to see if spraying may also be necessary at the seedling stage.

Holden Holds High School Reunion

Now that all the bills are in, it is proudly said that we broke even with all our expenses and a very good time.

The Holden High School Reunion for the years 1980-1970 was successfully held and attended on Saturday, May 8, 1982 at the Holden Community Hall in Holden.

Master of Ceremonies, Joe Ferial, introduced the Head Table which was attended by our teachers and mayor. All the members of the head table were planned with all flowers made and donated by Joyce Wilkison.

Mayor Nick Ribicki, greeted guests from the Community and expressed a warm welcome to all present.

Larry Faryna treated all our teachers. Mr. Bill Orndorff, our past principal, responded with the principal's message to "all the boys and girls". His message was thoroughly enjoyed by all of us - Very good and thank you Bill for coming on through High School.

Mr. Ben Latis responded to Larry's toast on behalf of all the teachers. His speech was very much enjoyed by all, especially those of us who were fortunate enough to have Ben as a teacher.

Mr. Earl Hardy, one of our past vice principals, said Grace. Following Grace, a delicious dinner of roast beef, gravy, wildged potatoes, corn, jellied fruit salad, jellied cabbage salad, pickles and dinner rolls was served - topped off with a choice of lemon or coconut cream pie and coffee.

Special thanks to the Roman Catholic Church ladies for the lovely dinner - terrific meal indeed.

Dancing to the Music of Myron Scott and The Club Water Band followed at 8:00 p.m. Myron was a former Holden High student. Myron and the band did an excellent job and were enjoyed very much by all present. They received much applause at their conclusion at 1:00 p.m.

A midnight lunch was served which consisted of several different cold meats, buns, pickles, cheese, doughnuts and several different varieties of cake and squares.

Special thanks to Mom (Opa Malmika) for being all the square. Also special thanks to all the ladies who helped get ready and served out the lunch.

The help of the few who remained until 5:00 a.m. was also very much appreciated when we finally closed up.

Thank you all very much for your attendance and making this reunion possible and a Reunion to Remember.

The Viking Town Council has decided to act as the developer for the residential lots in the Loughlin subdivision.

This decision was reached at a special meeting of the Council last Tuesday evening.

In attendance for the meeting was Norm Chrapko of Olson Engineering which has been doing the preliminary work on the subdivision.

Council questioned Mr. Chrapko as to what his firm would charge the Council for his work in developing the plans for the subdivision to date. Mr. Chrapko informed the Council that the usual method was to take 60% of the total cost (estimated at $1.5 million), and he would be 10% of that total, or about $178,000. After some lengthy discussion on this, Mr. Chrapko said that

'All Hell Broke Loose'

"All Hell broke loose!" That's how George Gotobed described the 2 1/2 to 3 mile storm period during which Mother Nature wreaked havoc and destruction upon his farmstead.

Last Wednesday evening, it was raining heavily at the Gotobed farm about 15 miles north and east of Viking. At 8:00 p.m. lightning struck the T.V. tower which stands alongside their house signalling the start of the destruction.

Viking Mill Rate Set At 146

The mill rate for the Town of Viking has been set at 146 for the 1982 taxation year. This represents an overall increase of 15.6% from the 125 mills of 1981.

Following several budget meetings by the Council, total expenditures for the 1982 year were finally set at $609,490.11. Revenue from Town operations were estimated at $488,000.11. This left a total of $121,489.66 to be raised through taxation for the operation of the Town.

With one mill in the Town of Viking being equal to $5.91, a total of 94.88 mills was required solely for the operation of the Town. This is up 28.0% over the 73.61 mills required last year for the same purpose.

Over and over again, operating the Town Council is required by Provincial

The County's Supplementary Education requirement also dropped for 1982, from 22.37 to 19.21 mills. The Viking General Hospital requirement also dropped, down from 3.38 mills to 3.81 mills.

These decreases were at most offset by slight increases in three other areas. The Ambulance requirement jumped from 1.58 mill to 1.68, the Beaver Foundation rose from 5.11 to 5.54, and the Provincial Planning Fund went from .85 to .90 mills.

This is the second year in a row that the requirements from the County's Supplementary Education program, the Provincial School Foundation, and the Hospital Board have decreased. At the same time the operational costs of the Town have increased by 100% over the same two years. Indicating that the operation of the Town required 46.55 mills, while in 1981 they needed 37.94 mills and this year 94.88 mills.

At the special meeting of the Council held last Tuesday, bylaw 878 was adopted setting at 146 for the 1982 mill rate for the Town of Viking. This was an increase of 15.6% from the 125 mills of 1981.

The new water rates will be effective immediately as Council gave first, second and third readings to the bylaw which established the new rates.

Petition Not Binding On County

he felt the County's goal to County was "an exercise in cynicism" because they have already indicated that they will not work to have a hazardous waste treatment facility in the County. He suggested that the County could easily amend Bylaw 561 to suit all parties involved, but that they are now compelled to do nothing due to the Judge's ruling of last Tuesday. He said that the operational costs of the Town have increased by 100% over the same two years. Indicating that the operation of the Town required 46.55 mills, while in 1981 they needed 37.94 mills and this year 94.88 mills.

One of the truly interesting sidelights to this tragedy is the response of Alameda Disaster Services. When informed of the damage at the Gotobed farm, A.D.S. said they would grant a $25,000 loan to the farmer. "I was not in a flood. It is amazing to discover that the word 'damaging' has its meaning limited to 'floods.' Only after M.L.A. Tom Lyons visited the site and realized the nature of the damage did A.D.S. respond to the Gotobed plight. Gotobed says they simply had the District Agriculturalist make an estimate of the damage, an estimate that they will use to determine whether or not the Gotobeds should receive any financial assistance. God forbid, but maybe we should wish that A.D.S. officers would visit the site and make their own estimate of the damage. It is not a matter of a storm of equal devastating power as that which hit the Gotobeds."

Irma News And Views

There were relations and friends from a very wide area, including Saskatchewan and far reaches of the Peace River country.

There was a really full house, and much visiting and remembrance took place, a most enjoyable social event.

Congratulations and best wishes to Randy Newton and Annette Pyle on their wedding on Saturday, July 3rd at Irma United Church. Sidney and Ada Johnson and Ada Bacon were visited by Peter Harvey on the weekend.

Visitors at the Gwin's have been Mrs. Phyllis Manning and Mrs. Gerrie Terry of Hardisty, and Mrs. Barbara Hodge of Victoria, B.C. and also Mr. and Mrs. Walter Holden of Drumheller.

Edith and Art Gwin visited with Mrs. Alison Prosser at the Pioneer Manor in Wainwright one day last week and spent last Friday afternoon with Grandma Routledge in Kilam.

Well, at last the rains finally came starting on Thursday evening, July 1, with at first a light drizzle, which later developed into a down pour, and in some areas had done considerable damage. The estimate of rainfall to the immediate Irma area varies from one inch, to over two inches. The weekend was cloudy and cool while rain continued falling in Edmonton and other points west.

The moisture was very welcome but probably two weeks too late for maximum returns. On Monday morning there were still some heavy clouds hanging around but the sun is shining. Get well wishes are extended to Dick McRoberts, who is under treatment in a Viking hospital.

The flowers blooming in the window boxes and pots in front of the New Horizons Drop-In Centre certainly look good and add a bit of colour to Main St.

Fern and Peter Harvey from Kelowna, B.C. who came to attend the Peterson reunion at Albert on the weekend called on Minnie and Jim Jackson on Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wes Bauer and family packed the camper and headed out for a holiday in Saskatchewan.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Le Finer and girls of Kelowna, B.C. were weekend guests at the Bruce Greenwood home while they visited with relations in the neighborhood.

Harriet Faulkner has returned home after a holiday in B.C.

Victor Carter travelled to Edmonton to have his chorist ponies run in the races held there this week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Evert Greenwood and Lottie and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Greenwood and Lori attended a family reunion held in Drayton Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Holt enjoyed watching the ball tournament at Sedgewick with Marvin, Jon and Mary Ann took part in.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Mackowi attended a wedding in Edmonton over the weekend.

Housing Programs

I have been receiving many phone calls lately about government financial aid for buying and renovating homes. Below are a few details of available programs. The new budget also has provisions for housing programs and I will write more details when they're available.

The Alberta Family Home

is designed so low and middle income families can buy or build their own home. To be eligible you must be an Alberta resident, have at least one dependent child and have a maximum adjusted gross income of $28,000.00.

The are also restrictions on home price. A new home must cost $78,000 or less and an existing home, $90,000.00

Applicants must provide a minimum of 10 per cent downpayment.

Mortgage subsidies are also available depending on income, to reduce monthly payments. If you can demonstrate your own abilities as a builder, AHMC will agree to let you perform as much of the construction as you can, thus contributing "sweat equity". Modular or mobile homes that will be placed on a permanent foundation also qualify for this program.

For more details call this office or contact AHMC at 482-7081.

The second program Residential Rehabilitation Assistance Program (RRAP), is sponsored by the federal government and may enable you to borrow up to $10,000.

To fix up your house.

To be eligible, your home must be substantial in at least one of the following basic areas: structural soundness, electrical wiring, plumbing, heating or fire safety.

The amount of the loan homeowners have to repay depends on the cost of repairs and on "adjusted" family income. Up to $9,000 may not have to be repaid.

Non-profit corporations and co-operatives may obtain funds under this program for conversion of existing properties.

I have more details on this program in the office, or please the Media Association of Alberta who is administering the program, at 482-9000.

Cuties Defeat Keggars

According to the ball game, they predicted they would win the game. After the game they stated that the official score was Cuties 4, Keggars 1 while the crowd score was Cuties 15, Keggars 2.

According to coach Gordon Kowalski of the Keggars the official score was Cuties 5, Keggars 3 and he also stated that there was no official score. Then after pondering the idea he said "why not an unofficial score and came up with a score of Cuties 4, Cuties 1.

In one of the most unusual soft ball games played, a good crowd enjoyed themselves on July 1.

The Cuties consisted of six men dressed as ladies with good figures which may have measured 28-42-36, 6", 6" tall, and some with very trim figures perhaps measuring 28-30-36 such as Dany Makhoma the catcher from Japan. Ron Greffin, Long Beach California first baseman who was truly a comedian and was also spokesman for the Cuties.

He stated before the game they would win. The teams were formed in 1960. One player has been playing for 34 years. There are two travelling teams. This year this team has played 40 games and only lost 2. So far they have travelled from Ontario to B.C.

They also play across the U.S. and Japan. Other players on the Cuties are Paul Graham from Toronto, Ontario, Don Seft, Kelly Trotter and Mike DeFries from Long Beach California. The players all have girl names like Wilma the pitcher and Dora in the field.

Why did the Keggars lose? They were excellent sports obiding to the Cuties' home game antics. The game started with several home run innings, with Wilma the pitcher striking out many of the Keggars.

One of the Cuties suggested "let's have fun" and the game was out of control. To cut the Keggars, one of the Cuties lost her griddle on first base. Ungain Mill Malkin was continuously harassed and each player was named with names like park chaps, shorty, etc.

In spite of all the tricks one Keggars was allowed to hit a home run, with just a home hit. The reason he got a home run out of it was that three Cuties walked slowly for the ball making it possible for the Keggars to come home.

The Keggars pitcher Herb Bartholme was also comically harassed. The game ended with only several alterations when the Keggars pulled a few of their own tricks, only to be reminded by the Cuties that they were the entertaining team.

Extensive damage was caused to this grain truck including a twisted frame when it was hit by an unknown object.

A short trip of 100 yards was in store for this 1600 bushel steel bin as it was deposited on top of these wooden bins by the "twister".

Members of the Viking Hutterite Colony erected a temporary cattle shelter, because a major portion of the barn roof (left) was torn off and scattered.

The force of the storm dashed this feed mill on its side as if it were a "dinky toy".

as granaries were totally destroyed, with the three remaining ones damaged. Equipment throughout the yard was either tipped over or moved several feet. One combine, not in use, and a feed mill were tossed onto their sides. As well, a newer large self-propelled combine was shoved about 6 feet into another combine and a 5 ton grain truck was pushed into this combine.

The Gotobed's 1980 5 ton grain truck was also severely damaged, with one side badly smashed and the frame twisted. Mr. Gotobed suspects that one of the granaries was thrown into the truck, and was then carried away.

Four of the seven quarters of crop were totally destroyed by the hail, with another receiving some damage. All of the Gotobed's fields were cut down shorter than most people's lawns.

A lot of damage was caused to several other buildings on the farm, with the yard strewn with wood, equipment and straw, and several wounded chickens hobbling through the debris.

Mr. Gotobed said that the buildings were only covered for fire. Much of the machinery is covered, but some did not have the type of coverage necessary for such a storm.

Neighbors in the area are also organizing a work bee to help the family clean up the terrible mess. Plans are to hold the "bee" today and anyone interested in helping

Wednesday Night June 30, 1982

The closeness of what remains of this bin to the Gotobed home, is stark testimony that it is simply luck that the house was not destroyed by flying debris.

The wind destroyed the roof over and badly damaged the Gotobed's swimming pool, and the hail flattened what was once a good garden.

machine for a few days, and have even brought in meals for the family. Mr. Gotobed said that since the storm, but that he has been encouraged by the extensive help his family has received to date.

Members of the Viking Hutterite Colony have been very good, according to Mr. Gotobed. They have been raising fences, building sheds for his cattle, supplied the farm with a portable milking is asked to call either Dale Weder or Fred Johnston.

With the leveling of their hay fields, Mr. Gotobed said that the farm was in need of hay. Councillor Elford Armitage arranged through the County to have Alberta Agriculture bring in hay for the animals. As well, some Viking area farmers have contributed feed.

Alberta Disaster Services seem to have been the only ones who helped at helping out the Gotobeds. When contacted, this government department said that they couldn't help out because it wasn't a flood. However, M.L.A. Tom Lyons was contacted, visited the Gotobed farm, and since then, A.D.S. has agreed to have the District Agriculturist take an assessment of the damage and they will look at the possibilities of providing some help to the family. However, already two funds have been started by area residents to help the family with the financing of the rebuilding.

A great amount of damage was done in a very short period of time last Wednesday evening, and a great number of days will be needed to repair what was done. June 30, 1982 will be a day well remembered in the Gotobed family for many years to come.

The combine in the centre of the picture was pushed a good 6 ft. into the combine at right, and the grain truck received extensive damage when it was shoved into the combine.

This 1600 bushel grain bin was carried some distance into nearby bush. As well, large poles were driven through its side.

C.W.B. Permi Books
 Have you had a chance to look at your Canadian Wheat Board Permit Book Application yet? If you have, you'll have already noticed that it is slightly different from prior year's applications. The cause of this difference is the new "Bonus Acres" provision introduced into this year's quota system. Put simply, if you are growing six quota grains only, then you will be receiving bonus acres that can be assigned to the marketing of those crops. In other words, one-third of the acreage that you have planted in the six quota grains (wheat, barley, oats, rye, flax and canola) minus the acreage in summerfallow or specialty crops is classed as "bonus acres".

Let's look at an example. A farmer has 600 acres sown to the six quota grains, 50 acres of summerfallow and 50 acres of field peas. Therefore one-third (500 acres) of the 600 acres, minus the 100 acres of summerfallow and field peas leaves him with 100 bonus acres that can be assigned to the marketing of any of the six crops. Remember, however, that acres do not have to be assigned to market his field peas as there are no quota restrictions on specialty crops. If this same farmer did not have 100 acres of summerfallow or specialty crops, then he would have had 200 bonus acres (½ of 700).

There are, however, some important points to remember about this system. Firstly, if the farmer summer-fallows or specialty crops a significant portion of his land (more than 1/3 of the six quota grains), he cannot have acres subtracted from his total assignable acres. In other words his other get bonus acres or nothing, but you cannot lose quota acres. Secondly, what about the grower of specialty crops? Under the old application system, the farmer did not have to assign acres to the specialty crops. This is still the case. However, this farmer does not get the added advantage of bonus acres. In other words, the specialty crop grower did not lose as advantage as a result of this change. What did happen is that the grower of the six quota grains was given the same advantage though in a different way.

If you're thoroughly confused by now and would like to know more, please give me a call or drop into the office.

4-H On The Move

By Ed Masson, Regional 4-H Specialist

"4-H ain't all cows and chickens" is a popular 4-H T-shirt slogan worn by 4-H members who are taking projects other than beef and chicken. They are saying that there are many more 4-H projects besides these traditional two. In fact, there are 30 other projects.

For the next three months, Keith Jones, the Regional 4-H Assistant, is going to be writing this column. During this time he hopes to acquaint you with what those other projects are and how much there is to do with them.

This week, let's look at photography, a project that can complement your beef and horse projects. What better way to show those dreary winter months than learning how to use a camera and getting ready to take pictures of your horse or beef project achievement day.

This project is divided into four units. Unit One - Advantages. With Your Camera, explains what photography can do for you and what equipment you will need. You will learn basic camera care, handling and the elements of a good picture. You will need an instant camera and several rolls of film.

Unit Two - Challenges in Picture Taking, discusses what makes a good picture and the equipment needed. How to take action and flash pictures is discussed as well as what photographs can do for your 4-H record book and school reports.

Unit Three - Exploring Photography, involves learning how to use and care for a thirty-five millimeter camera and the various equipment that can be used with it. What type of lighting is best for taking pictures of people? The answer is in this unit. Other areas discussed include houses lighting, flash of field, close-up photography and candle pictures. Learn how to take pictures in bad weather and what type of films to use.

Unit Four - titled Mastering Photography and will be a challenge to the amateur photographer. It discusses the electronic flash, what is it and why should you use it? You will learn about wide angle and telephoto lens and when to use them. Do you want to take pictures of your pet? This unit will show you how. For those of you who want to develop your own film, here is your chance. This unit gives you exact instructions on developing film and enlarging prints.

Photography is a very exciting and challenging project. You can see results of your efforts as soon as your film is developed.

Do You Know The Bible Says

In Pro. 7-8 of the Amplified Old Testament. For at the window I looked out through my lattice, and among the simple hearted ones, I perceived among the youths a young man void of good sense, scattering through the street near the (house) corner; and he went the way to her house; in the twilight, in the evening; night black and dense was falling (over the young man's life).

And, lo, there met him a woman dressed as a harlot, with him, and she came to him, and she said to him, My husband is at home, and I have made myself ready. I have spread my bed with rugs and cushions of Egyptian flax; I have perfumed myself with myrror, aloes, and cinnamon. Come, let us take our fill of love until the morning; let us eat and drink, for we have money.

For man is not at home, he is gone on a long journey; he has taken a bag of money with him, and will come home at the day appointed - at the full moon. With her much justifying and enticing argument she persuaded him, with the allurements of her lips she leads him to overcome his conscience and his fears and forces him along.

Suddenly he yields, and follows her reluctantly, like an ox moving to the slaughter, as one in fetters to the correction to be given to a fool, (or as a dog enticed by the bait on the snare). Till a dart (of passion) pierces and enfolds his vital; the ill-temperament straight into the net, he hastens, not knowing that it will snare him.

Listen to me now therefore, O you men, and be attentive to the words of my mouth. Let not your incline, do not stray into her paths. For she has cast down many wounded; indeed, all her slain are a mighty host. Her house is the way to Sheol (Hades); the place of the dead - going down to the chambers of death. Friend, the book of Proverbs in your Bible is packed with warnings for young and old; read it, and as well as youth, read it and heed it daily.

Harold Whidden Laid To Rest

Funeral services were held in the Irma United Church with Reverend Agnes Goran giving the message of comfort. He was laid to rest in the Jarroville Cemetery, July 14, 1982 with McLeod's Funeral Home in charge of all arrangements.

"Keep ahead of the seasons."

Spread Treflan QRS now and forget about weeds, and the field work that comes with them!

In the fall you're rushed to harvest and pressed in the spring to seed, so why add the extra pressure of applying herbicide. A single application of Treflan QRS this month spreads out your workload. And you know that Treflan kills wild oats, wild millet and many broadleaf weeds before ever break ground. Treflan QRS starts early and works late, killing weeds right on through next year's harvest.

By applying TREFLAN QRS early this summer, you will save up to four field workings. At a cost of over $2.50 per tillage operation, that's a saving of at least $10.00 per acre. Consider the savings in reduced soil erosion, increased soil moisture and an extended herbicide application period that will benefit you and your crops. TREFLAN QRS applied early this summer will give you control of annual grasses, and most broadleaf weeds in your summerfallow and the next year's oilseed crop. That's a two year control from one convenient herbicide application.

ALL THESE FACTORS ARE VALUABLE SAVINGS!!!

St. Paul U.C.W. Spring Rally

The St. Paul Presbyterian U.C.W. Spring Rally was held on June 8th at the U.C.W. United Church.

The theme for the Rally was "Celebrating and Rejoicing Twenty Years of U.C.W."

The rally began with Registration, coffee and fellowship at 9:45 a.m. and a song led by Mrs. M. Borg.

Greetings from Vermilion were extended by Mrs. Opa Haglund. Devotions were given by Mrs. Lillian Gaud.

Everyone very much enjoyed the delicious pot luck dinner.

For devotions after lunch, the 1982 inaugural service was conducted. It was a meaningful service to us. Following this was more socials, etc. were presented much to our enjoyment. The skits were mainly of the Biblical nature and were read from the scriptures. Others were of a lighter vein, styles of dress from 1982 and on to the present; also a Stage Birthday skit was enjoyed.

A courtesy report was then given by Ruth Gray and the day closed with devotions.

Following the devotions, a cup of coffee and fellowship was enjoyed before the trek home. The day of fellowship was enjoyed by all present.

Shady Cove W.I. Convention Report

Shady Cove W.I. held its 31st annual convention at the home of Mrs. Selma Williams with eleven members present. Following the roll call, the minutes and the treasurer's report, the correspondence was dealt with and a motion made to discontinue the Union Magazine.

Delegates Rita Hilde brought back a special report from the Ode Convention. She was very enthusiastic and said she had had a very enjoyable time. There were some 100 delegates, 50 full time visitors, 100 day visitors and 287 at the banquet.

Rita declared that Senator Martha Bellish is becoming a more and more tremendous speaker.

Martha stated that "the Government cannot function without the grain route in support nor can the W.I. National Council. Bring your views to different levels of W.I., to different levels of the Government and to the consumer."

The urban dweller hears that the Wheat Board is paying the farmers so many million dollars and they think that the Government is giving the farmers much more than they deserve. It isn't so. The consumer doesn't realize that the payment from the Wheat Board is for grain that left the farm 18 months earlier. The farmers only get an initial payment at that time. He is now being paid the balance of the payment and receives no interest on this balance of payment.

We should be knowledgeable of this. If you eat, you are involved in Agriculture! If there is a frost in Brazil immediately the price of coffee goes up. Many urban people don't know what farmers are doing. It's important to educate consumers about the problems farmers. Perhaps minds will be changed, individual and national and world.

Mrs. Bellish reminded about the past. She attended the World A.C. W.W. conference, 1980 in Ireland, 1980, Lancing, 1981, 1971 Oslo, 1974 Perth, 1977 Nairobi, 1980 Hamburg and in 1980 she hopes to be in Vancouver. Twenty-two hundred women will be coming to this conference in 1982 to Vancouver. Martha looked back to her first conference in Ireland. She was invited to the home of Lucy Frank, in a stone house. The first floor was scrubbed white as her mother remembered her own mother doing in her pioneer home. Lucy's home had two steps down to the kitchen which had a cobblestone floor. They had danced to an Irish lilt with no instruments for music, only clapping hands and humming to the music. Nor would Martha have wanted to miss going to an African home in the jungle and how they were entertained there. Judging by Rita's report, Hon. Martha Bellish's speech certainly had impact.

Everyone absorbed much of what was said. Yet someone at one session that was a bit of a blur. "The mind can only absorb what the rest can absorb." The Handicraft and Creative Writing awards were given out. Rita accepted the award in creative writing on behalf of Mrs. Francis for "Fiction 77 1980". This makes the sixth time a Shady Cove writer has been recognized at Provincial W.I. Meetings.

Alberta W.I. will be given time at Vancouver in the convention in 1983 for a 90 minute paper that Alberta Culture is producing. From communication with different levels of W.I. and of Government, make your ideas known. There are more from the convention than musical entertainment and specific style such as "Women are like tea bags. You don't know their strength until they are in hot water!" Congratulations to Rita for a great report. Shady Cove Branch plans to visit Extendedcare on August 27th. Call alert Rita, Selma, Myra and Helen Taylor.

Memo by Selma Williams "If you aim for the sun, you may reach a star." The meeting adjourned on this hot June day with a lovely lunch found homemade. Kay and Sybil a very popular pair.

Planning Promotes Happier Holidays

Happy vacations begin with careful preparation. The Alberta Safety Council's Home Safety Committee suggests the following safety tips be incorporated into plans for a safe and happy holiday in the great outdoors this summer.

1. Get your car in top shape. If you are heading to a trailer of any description, be sure the towing hitch, load weight and distribution are in accordance with manufacturer's recommendations. Consult your dealer.

2. If you are testing, check equipment for possible wear and tear.

3. When leaving the home be sure that all water taps are closed, all heating coils are off, unplug all electrical appliances, lock doors and windows.

4. Avoid driving for long periods of time. Regular rest stops are important for both you as a driver and for your vehicle. Fatigue is a major cause of highway accidents.

5. When you have safely reached your destination, look for a cassette that is well drained, with a good combination of sun and shade.

6. Check over for hazards and instruct your children about these and things to avoid.

7. Do not go barefoot. Glass, sun, sharp rocks and snails can hurt bare feet.

8. Don't keep food in your tent where it can be reached by animals. Keep it in your closed car at night.

9. Learn to recognize poisonous plants and avoid them. Information is usually available from the competent sources.

10. When using a portable camp stove, follow manufacturer's safety instructions and keep fuel in a secured container.

11. Do not use burning stoves, heaters or lanterns in a tent or trailer.

12. Be aware of the fire hazard level in your camping area. Put it out in your children and explain the consequences.

13. Light wood fires in authorized areas only.

14. Smothering: start with five minutes on each side and gradually increase. Avoid over exposure to sun rays: sun strokes can have serious effects.

15. Never swim alone or when overdrunk or overboiled or just after eating.

16. Never overeat a hot meal and keep the weight balanced. Have approved the schedule for each person in the tent.

17. When you plan a holiday trip, allow enough time to get there and back before dark. Wear sturdy shoes and wear seat belts. Wear seats over teenage kids to keep possible poison plants from reaching children.

18. A good knowledge of First Aid is recommended when you are on vacation but your road.

BRTA To Support Games Bid

At the July 18, 1982 meeting of the Battle River Tourist Association (BRTA) held in Irvine, Association members were advised that the City of Camrose is presently interested in becoming the permanent home of the Alberta Senior Games. BRTA Manager Sylvia Clements of Camrose explained that the games were held for the first time in Camrose in August, 1980 and were tagged "a total success." The City of Camrose, with its proven success was selected to host the 1982 Alberta Senior Games. The 1982 games get underway July 18 with more than 800 seniors from throughout the province taking part in the event.

Clements outlined a number of solid reasons why it would make good economic sense for the Tourist Association to support Camrose in becoming the permanent home of the Alberta Senior Games. Some of the reasons being, the central location of Camrose in the province, the availability of numerous facilities during the summer months, (in particular the Camrose Le-

McMillan Urges Resolute Action On Gilson Report

Transport Minister Jean Lesage has been urged to act resolutely in bringing forward legislation to resolve the Western transportation issue in line with the principles spelled out in the Gilson report.

Chairman Ivan McMillan of the Prairie Farm Community Condition says that during a meeting with Mr. Lesage in Edmonton this week the officials of the Council urged the Minister to act. "The principles embodied in the Gilson report point the way to a wealth-creating process that will bring enormous benefits to the prairie economy and to the manufacturing centres of Central Canada as well. By bringing forth sound legislation, the government could set the stage for one of the most underestimated misapprehensions in the country to get underway - the upgrading of the western rail system."

McMillan said, "Unlike some of the oil suggestions that have been abandoned or set aside in recent months, this is one in which the long term benefits apply to a renewable resource - agriculture. As a result, it could be the most important project facing the country today. In fact, it's doubtful if any other action Ottawa could take has the potential to boost the Canadian economy like this one."

The Coalition Chairman said that of the $2.4 billion that would be spent in rail upgrading over the next four years some 40 per cent or 50 per cent would be spent in Central Canada.

"Even more important," he said, "the Gilson proposal would give western agriculture a tremendous boost. It would end the capacity constraints on shipping grain to market. It would end the discrimination against the prairie livestock and processing industries, and against special crops. Also Dr. Gilson's recommendations state that the Crow Benefit be

Native Representation On School Boards Studied

Families are demanding to be put into their children's education in these off-reserve schools. These schools are the subject of a report done by Brian L. Fish for Alberta Education.

The study was launched by Education Minister David King to determine whether Indian representation on school boards is possible and, if so, how to give the native community the representation it seeks.

Fish is an Edmonton lawyer and a former teacher in the North Saskatchewan Division, where the majority of children in the schools are native. It is from this area that a number of requests were made to the Minister for Indian representation on school boards.

While education is generally a provincial responsibility, the education of treaty Indian children is under the federal government, Indian Affairs and Northern Development.

Although Fish dismissed legislation as the answer, he proposed a commission that will give the native community a consultative role and a role in arbitration when the federal government negotiates and enters into tuition agreements with

Spread Treflan QR5 now and forget about weeds, and the field work that comes with them!

In the fall you're rushed to harvest and pressed in the spring to seed, so why add the extra pressure of applying herbicide. A single application of Treflan QR5 this month spreads out your workload. And you know that Treflan kills wild oats, wild millet and many broadleaf weeds before they ever break ground. Treflan QR5 starts early and works late, killing weeds right on through next year's harvest.

By applying TREFLAN QR5 early this summer, you will save up to four field workings. At a cost of over $2.60 per tillage operation, that's a saving of at least $10.00 per acre. Consider the savings in reduced soil erosion, increased soil moisture and an extended herbicide application period that will benefit you and your crops. TREFLAN QR5 applied early this summer will give you control of annual grasses, and most broadleaf weeds in your summerfallow and the next year's oilseed crop. That's two year control from one convenient herbicide application.

ALL THESE FACTORS ARE VALUABLE SAVINGS!!!

Summer apply Treflan® QR5 Granular

Interested in saving fuel, soil and moisture? Try Treflan® Granular this summer. We've got plenty of rental units available for granular application. It's easy to use QR5 and our applicators. You easily get precision application, there's no mixing, no water to haul. And Treflan QR5 gives you dependable Treflan weed control this summer and right on through to next year's harvest.

Come on in and we'll help you spread out the seasons with summer applied Treflan QR5

Governments tool

This nation is currently in a very deep recession. We don't need to be reminded of this fact, for every day all one needs to see is the T.V. or radio news, or pick up a nationally-oriented newspaper to read about the problems. Regularly, businesses are going bankrupt and people are losing their jobs because of this. Also, numerous companies across Canada are laying off people in order to cut back on expenditures, deplete stock piles of products, and hopefully save themselves from bankruptcy. When one looks at the 1970's in relation to the consistent boom and bust cycle through which the free enterprise system travels, it is not hard to realize that the present crash in many ways was inevitable. No society can continue to want more and more, while producing less and less per hour worked, and expect to survive. The free enterprise system is based upon productivity, either by men and women, or by machines. As machines replace people in many jobs, their role is not simply to continue the rate of production, but to increase it. If this is not possible, then the overall objective is to decrease the amount of manpower and thereby decrease the cost of production.

The cost of production is a major determinant in the price of a product. The level of profit is another. When we combine these two factors, we can find in the Canadian situation that both the owner and the worker have combined to raise the cost of products to the consumer. We can yearly read about the tremendous percentage increase in the profits of the major corporations within this country. As well, the pay increases given to workers across Canada have been unto themselves inflationary in nature.

But the psychology of rising expectations cannot be tolerated in any society forever. There is a limit to how much the balloon can tolerate before it bursts. And there is a limit above which prices and wages cannot rise if we are to maintain a viable economic climate.

Along with prices and wages, a leading contributor to this recession is government. We have developed a mentality in this country which tolerates inefficiency and wastefulness in government. If a few million dollars are lost here, or a few thousand lost there, governments don't seem to get overly concerned. One of the main reasons for their lack of concern is government's ability to continue to go to the "well" for money. If more cash is needed, just raise the taxes. Everybody only feels it a little bit, but the overall effect on the economy is devastating. And quite often this money is spent on nothing more than to increase the bureaucracy which is supposed to be there to serve the taxpayers. It seems to be an objective of government bureaucrats to increase their importance in the system by increasing the size of their department.

Just as businesses are being forced to cut-back on staff due to the poor economic conditions in the nation, it seems appropriate that government departments should also cut back on staff. With fewer income taxes being paid due to layoffs, and more money being paid out by the government for unemployment insurance and social assistance, the debt load of the federal and provincial governments should surely increase. Perhaps it is time that a concerted effort was made by our politicians at both levels to look at cutting back on staff and some projects. In times like these, the more money that the consumer has to spend on productive items, the more benefit there will be to the economy. Its time that governments started to consider economizing while providing the services that they do provide. Businesses have to

An apology for trying to make the Viking Historical Society members work extra overtime when they don't get paid for the hours of overtime that they already put in. In last week's editorial, it stated that the Viking Museum was open from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. during July and August. Although you probably will find someone working there during those hours on most occasions, the Museum is only officially open every afternoon from 2:00 to 5:00.

Congratulations to Mrs. Joan Stambough of Bruc who is representing Miss Kay Borwick as mistress of the Viking Lodge. Miss Borwick returns after many years of dedicated service to the Lodge and its residents.

Many people from the area have taken in the happenings at Klondike Days. Reports are that the Chas. Orendich entered the Roban Eating Contest at K-Days and finished a "tater lunch".

It's also to report that gullers at the Viking Golf Course report seeing one of the picnic tables from the Lake Thomas recreation grounds floating at the beach.

About nutrition

By Patricia McClellan, R.D., R.P.D.

From one extreme to another

It is estimated that over half of the population is either dieting or watching their weight at any given point in time. In this regard we are all the same. The opinion and ours is that too frequently the wrong people are concerning themselves with dieting.

Those who are already at this state walk constantly about gaining one spare ounce of fat while the latter pig their way from one mouthful to the next.

Food is intended to be enjoyed. Eating should be a sensual experience not the mere clinical stocking of the body. Watching the weights decrease in order to maintain the conformation of a force post is as unpleasant as observing the truly overweight continue to gorge themselves.

Controlled eating, or our way of thinking, means the avoidance of extremes and the attainment of balance in order to give our bodies the nutrients they need. That doesn't mean, however, that we should eliminate items from our diet simply because we like them very much.

Within each of the four food groups, there's bound to be something for everyone. If you truly dislike milk, substitute soy or almond milk. Or cream or yogurt. There's certainly enough variety in the fruit and vegetable group to satisfy anyone. We are a nation of meat-eaters but the vegetables among us manage to find replacement for meat, pasta, muffins, biscuits, crackers and bread are among the wide variety of foods in the cereal group.

There is no reason for normal persons to have serious eating problems. Nor is there any virtue, in our opinion, in striving for concentration camp slimness. It is as senseless as an undisciplined appetite which leads to overweight and even obesity.

Patricia McClellan, M.Sc., R.D., is a nutritionist and a dietitian specialist employed by the Dietary Bureau of Canada.

Most vegetables require blanching before freezing.

Blanching made easy

If the vegetables you freeze lose flavor or texture, you may want to try a new blanching method recommended by home economists from the Glad Home Freezing Information Centre.

The new method was developed at Agriculture Canada's Food Advisory Division and involves timing the blanching process from the moment you add your vegetables to boiling water.

Under the traditional method, when you begin timing the process when the water returns to the boil, many consumers find it difficult to judge when that precise point will be, with the result that they are under-blanching or over-blanching, reducing flavor and destroying nutrients.

The new method avoids this problem. Just start timing immediately, but remember to be sure the water is boiling before you add the vegetables and keep the heat on high while you blanch.

The new blanching method is simple. Immediately, but remember to be sure the water is boiling before you add the vegetables and keep the heat on high while you blanch.

Profile: Corporal Raymond W. Mustard

Raymond William Mustard was born November 28, 1944 in the north central region of British Columbia in the small community of McBride.

Ray, the only child born to a farming family, received an apprenticeship and an attachment to nature and the outdoors. He relates that he had not become a member of the police force he probably would have been a farmer.

Grades one through twelve were completed in the community of McBride. Following the completion of school Ray spent approximately five years employed in the farming industry and forestry related fields such as logging and pulp mill production.

It was during this time that Ray decided that his future lay in a people oriented occupation rather than in the private enterprise sector and enrolled in training with the R.C.M.P.

Corporal Mustard has a fourteen year service record with the force with his first posting taking him to southern Alberta and the community of Magrath. He was later transferred to Cardston and then to Edmonton. His fourth posting took him to Valleyview. While in Valleyview Ray was promoted to the rank of Corporal, the position he now fills in the Viking Detachment.

During his time in southern Alberta he met and married Sharon Miller. They couple have two sons, Bruce 11 years and Brad 9 years. Ray's personal interests relate to family life, the outdoors, animals and farming.

ing. While in Valleyview he enjoyed the work and relaxation associated with farming, having a small operation of his own.

Don Mazankowski Calls For Resignation

Don Mazankowski has called upon Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan to do the "honourable thing" and resign because of his failure to fulfill an election pledge to provide a "Special Price Structure" for farm fuels, exempting them from federal taxes.

During Question Period in the House of Commons, Mr. Mazankowski reminded the Agriculture Minister of his election pledge, made in a television debate on January 31, 1980, and asked Mr. Whelan what had become of the Special Price Structure, given that federal taxes now amount to 90 cents a gallon or 40% of the price of farm fuel. "Why has the Minister not been able to convince his Cabinet colleagues to relieve the farmers of Canada from this federal rip-off?" asked Mr. Mazankowski. He further stated that "if the Minister was not able to convince his colleagues to fulfill his commitment then he should 'do the honourable thing and resign'."

In reply, Mr. Whelan declared that he was "all for" the current pricing structure, admitting that it was causing Canadian farmers to pay up to 8 to 10 cents per gallon more for fuel than American producers.

MOVING?

A new system has been implemented for the mailing of newspapers in Alberta. This system will speed up delivery time, but in order for the system to work properly it is essential that we have your correct address, INCLUDING YOUR POSTAL CODE.

If you are moving, make sure you are notified of the change - giving us both your old and new address, including your postal code.

We can't get the paper to you if we don't have your correct address!

"Canadian Encyclopedia" On Schedule

"The Canadian Encyclopedia is a very generous gift of our province," says Wright Mayor Adam Coleman. "There is no question in my mind that it is important."

"There is nothing wrong with our neighbours to the south but if you want to read your own history, you don't go to the neighbours and look through their encyclopedias."

By the fall of '86, Canada will have its own up-to-date encyclopedia. The Canadian Encyclopedia will be Canada's first encyclopedia since the Canadiana, which was released in 1967.

To date, the 35,000 articles in the encyclopedia have been established. Manuscripts from across Canada are coming into the Canadian Encyclopedia headquarters in Edmonton. Among them are articles by Thorne Burton, David Suzuki and Margaret Atwood.

Photographer's Editors are trying to include as many photographs as possible on it will be as popular as the Book of Knowledge was to Americans years ago.

"My mother used to buy them at the grocery store and bring them home to us kids," remembers Mary Le-Monaster, Alberta Minister of Culture. "Whenever we had a question we were told to consult The Book of Knowledge. Our encyclopedias were well thumbed, let me tell you."

with rings pierced through their noses, and sleek shiny speedboats. The Book of Knowledge is a golden child on adventure to night never had.

Timothy with The Book of Knowledge is that it was as American as apple pie. You could find out all about New York, but most towns in Alberta were just dots on a pink map of Canada. And recent history omits the Wayne Gretzky or Anna Murray weren't listed, of course.

But they'll all be in the Canadian Encyclopedia. The three-volume set will retail at about $60 per volume. That may seem steep, but had it not been for the Alberta Government grant, the cost would have been close to $400.

In honor of the province's 75th birthday, Alberta will provide every school and library in Canada a set of The Canadian Encyclopedia. When you want to know when your home-town became a town, or what month robin fly south, or who pioneered Alberta, you'll soon be able to look up the answer in The Canadian Encyclopedia.

Do You Know The Bible Says

God is our refuge and strength - mighty and invincible to temptation - a very present and well loved help in trouble.

Therefore we will not fear, although the earth should change, and though the mountains be shaken into the midst of the sea; though the waters roar and foam, though the mountains tremble at its swelling and tumult.

There is a river whose streams make glad the city of God, the holy place of the tabernacles of the Most High.

God is in the midst of her; she shall not be moved. God shall help her right early - at the dawn of the morning.

The nations rage, the kingdoms tottered and were moved; He uttered His voice, the earth melted. The Lord of hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our refuge - our fortress and high tower. Come, behold the works of the Lord, Who has wrought wonders and wonders in the earth. He makes wars to cease to the ends of the earth; He breaks the bow into pieces, and smashes the spear to bits. He burns the chariot in the fire.

Let us be, and be still, and know - recognize and understand that I AM GOD. I will be exalted among the nations! I will be exalted in the earth.

The Lord of hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our refuge - our high tower and stronghold. Psa. 46. Amplified Old Testament. (End of quote)

Last, this a wonderful Psalm of encouragement. In those days when we need it so much; that we know that God knows all about this world's problems.

The forming of the European Common Market and other happenings such as the trouble in the Israel area are parallel with the Prophets of Ezekiel, and Joel, and Daniel, plus Matt. 24, Mk. 13, Lk. 21, and 2 Tim. 3. Friends, read these portions of God's inspired Word. Read and pray understanding. When we do this we are letting God talk to the earth; He breaks the bow into pieces, and smashes the spear to bits. He burns the chariot in the fire.

When we hold our Bible in our hands we are holding the answer to all of our problems, plus the answer to the world's problems. Oh, if the leaders of our country would take the Bible as their guide, how different everything would be.

Our Life After The Move

The following article is written by Lili Gustavson after she and her husband arrived in Canada.

In last week's article we printed "Both of us have been in the hospital already. This was a misinterpretation of Lili's work. What she meant was that having surgery in order to have and you can't think of everything at the same time or else you may end up in the hospital."

An early morning in the end of November, 1980, my husband and I left Sweden to begin a new life as immigrants in Canada. Now in May, 1982, I want to write down some of my impressions and experiences from our first year here.

We were grain farmers in Sweden and as grain farmers we shall try to make our living here. Here it's a big step to change your whole life and move from your own country to another.

When we moved to Canada, we had a hard time. I really had a hard time. We had our relatives a few miles away and they helped us a lot. We also lived in the first weeks, till we got our own house. The couple we bought the farm from were really nice and helpful. They are now our best friends. I should say that we are more like our parents. I'll never forget all the phone calls he made for me during that first while, because of phone, that's the way. Maybe our neighbor's are not so nice. Our crop yield was that bad, but we had expected much better with normal weather.

We moved to our farm in December and the first weeks we were busy unpacking all our things and getting the house ready for Christmas. We brought all our furniture and house hold goods from Sweden in a container and everything was well packed in lots of paper.

We are farming a little bit different, work the soil deeper, put on more fertilizer and then we get more. It's hard to convince bankers and other people about that, when you ask for a loan and have to fill in questions that ask about expected crop yields, etc. When we put in what we expect they just tell us it's not possible and of course you never tell what kind of weather it will be, but my brother-in-law has at least proved that our way of farming gives much better yields with a reasonable amount of rain, than what's usual in this area.

I think it's important to be positive towards the new country and try to understand the customs and ways of living even if it sometimes seems to be strange for us. I became we were raised and were used to things in another way. We have to accept things the way they are in the country we moved they are in the country we moved they are in the country we moved.

So the first winter passed with the lovely machine almost every day. Maybe my Canadian never think of how great it really is, because you are so used to it. My sister, the one who went to Sweden to see some of the old animals such as coyotes, skunks and porcupines was another interesting experience, and when in the spring we could see all the beautiful birds such as canaries, bluebirds and the robins.

When the spring work started we had to get used to other things. Here we only had to seed about half the amount of seed that we were used to in Sweden and there we had the tractor system, so we had to learn about seeds and ponds.

The quota system was another new thing and that's for sure hard to get used to. In Sweden we could sell all our grain in the fall if we wanted to. They also have fixed prices there. To use a weather was a new experience. The grain truck was a new experience also because in Sweden we straight combined and we used a tractor and big wagons to transport the grain.

Meet The "Kids On The Block"

Meet the "Kids on the Block". They are coming to Viking Fair on August 5. They are being sponsored by the Viking Summer Recreational Services for the Handicapped through the Viking Family and Community Support Services.

The "Kids on the Block" are a group of incredible puppets, some handicapped and some not, which help kids to understand different disabilities and what it is like to have them. The puppets are three feet tall and wear real kid's clothes and shoes.

There are six puppets: Mark has cerebral palsy, Mandy is deaf, Rosalie is blind, Ellen Jane is mentally handicapped, Jennifer has a learning disability, and Melody and Brenda, their "non-handicapped" friends.

The puppets are created by Barbara Allen, a former teacher of children who are handicapped and a consultant and writer in the area of special education.

The puppets were constructed by professional puppeteer, Ingrid Croppan, who has won two regional awards for design of puppets on a Washington, D.C., children's television show "Donkers".

During the past eighteen months, the "Kids on the Block" have travelled across the country, performing for groups of children and adults. A.B.C.'s "Good Morning America" featured the "Kids" and they also appeared with Ed Walter (a blind performer) who hosts "A.M. Washington" in the Washington D.C. area.

It is going to be presented by the Junior League of Edmonton, a women's volunteer association committed to community involvement.

The "Kids on the Block" are truly animated, entertaining and appealing. Children and adults of all ages are fascinated with the show.

Children should be aware as to what the show involves. They should be informed about the different kinds of puppets and their disabilities so that they can be actively involved in a discussion period following the show.

Be sure to come and bring all members of the family for an entertaining morning or afternoon.

The show times are 11:00 a.m. and 1:00 p.m. at the school playground by the gymnasium's north entrance. If weather does not permit it will be in the Viking Community Hall at the given times.

For further information call the Handicapped Helpline at 336-3400.

From The Ground Up

District Agriculturists
 Jerome Manchur and Rudy Warawa

Taxes on Farm Pools and Fertilizers
 Earlier this year, the Agricultural Development

Committee of Flagstaff and Camrose obtained the services of Jensen Engineering, a consulting firm out of Oiled, to compile information on the current tax structure existing on farm pools and fertilizers. In their report, Jensen Engineering examined the influence of oil and gas royalty and federal fuel taxes on the cost of agricultural production and amount to some surprising percentages. They make up 38 per cent of the cost of producing fertilizer, 44 per cent of the cost of purple phosphate and 50 per cent of the cost of diesel fuel. Another interesting note is that because of the Alberta Farm Pool Distribution Allowance, Provincial tax on purple gas and purple diesel fuel is non-existent.

For example, the Federal tax on purple diesel fuel is 12.5 cents per litre. Therefore, on a 500 gallon (2000 Litre) fill-up, approximately $255.50 goes to the Federal Treasury. On purple gasoline, the same 12.5 cents per litre tax exists but the Federal Excise Tax Rebate refunds the farmer 1.5 cents per litre.

How much does the total tax structure contribute to the Federal Treasury? The Jensen Engineering summary estimates that approximately $164 million was the Alberta farmer contribution to the Federal Treasury for 1980/81. It also doesn't appear that this amount will decrease over the next few years.

Fuel Testing and Trace Minerals
 From time to time, we receive inquiries as to whether it is of any benefit to make trace mineral supplements available to livestock in the area. Before this question can be answered, it is necessary to determine whether or not the feeds used are deficient in these minerals. It is also necessary to ensure adequate. Trace minerals will not remedy a deficiency of any of the above four nutrient levels.

Therefore, as always, we strongly urge farmers to sample their feeds to determine what their nutrient status is and what supplementation, if any, is required. Feed testing, through our office, is very inexpensive. Regular samples cost $10 for testing and trace mineral analysis costs $2.00 extra for each mineral. Trace minerals that should be tested for in this area are copper, zinc and selenium.

Therefore, for $18.00, levels of energy protein, calcium, phosphorus, copper, zinc and selenium will be analyzed. One of the greatest management tools to increase productivity is feed testing and for this price, it gives you an excellent return for the cost involved. In times of high production costs, this service is a necessity. Free sampling kits are available through our office. This advantage of this service.

What? You say you can't join 4-H because you live in the city, and your mum won't let you keep a cow in your backyard? Or you're too little to ride a horse, or try cooking a meal? Hey, we've got lots of other 4-H projects you could try, such as woodworking, leathercraft or pottery. Lots of young people from both town and country backgrounds are interested in the canine project. If you have a dog that you would like to train and learn more about caring for, or if you would like to begin raising a puppy, this project is right for you!

In Unit One of the canine project, you and your dog will learn about selection of a dog and dog breeds, preparation for owning a dog, early training and socialization, housebreaking, good manners, feeding and nutrition, grooming, maintenance of health, and obedience training.

At the Achievement Day, you can exhibit the use of your grooming tools, exhibit plans for your doghouse, and have your dog demonstrate his newly learned skills.

When you move on to Unit

Two of the canine project, you can begin more advanced training and commands for your dog. Your achievement day display could include an "ideal" first aid kit for dogs, a report on a particular breed of dog, or any other type of assignment which would be educational and fun for you, other members in your club, and your dog. Grasshopper Baiting

Researchers at Agriculture Canada's Saskatoon, Sask., Research Station have come up with a new idea for grasshopper control based on an old method.

Poisoned baits for grasshoppers using brass were a common practice in the 1930s and 40s. The researchers, using dithionite in brass and a new spreader to distribute the bait, found they could achieve the same grasshopper control as with brass but the amount of pesticide used in a liquid spray.

The system could save farmers money and also protect the environment.

When Times Are Good...

In spite of all of the negatives being experienced by people across Canada due to the very tough economic times, there is definitely a positive side to what is happening. In a country as fortunate and wealthy as our own, economic good times bring tremendous benefits to a majority of Canadians. When economic times are good, jobs are plentiful, therefore income is generally up, expenditures increase, and businesses prosper. The whole process becomes a compounding situation for as things get better, the benefits seem to increase rapidly throughout the whole society. But one of the very great negatives which occurs during these good times is the increased wrangling for a greater share of the economic pie by both business owners and workers which most often results in a confrontation between the two parties. These confrontations are extremely non-productive to the entire society.

And yet now when times are tough, we see people content to accept lower wages for work just so that they can have some work and provide them and their families with the basic necessities of life. And at the same time, we see businesses running sales in an attempt to bring in the consumers dollars because these are scarce at the present time.

The free enterprise system is a continuous history of boom and bust. The basis of the system seems to be that the business owner should get as much as possible from the consumer for the least amount of effort or out-pout, while the worker should get the greatest salary for the least amount of effort possible. This is the philosophy for the good times. But how quickly we seem to be brought back to earth when the times get tough. Many businesses in this country are just happy to get business, and are reducing prices drastically to sell products. One has to ask why these prices weren't available to the public before the current recession? And at the same time, many workers are working harder, and sometimes for less, just to maintain their jobs, for there is a fierce competition for a number of jobs in this country at the present time.

It makes one wonder why we can't maintain a philosophy of the hard times when the good times roll around. Rather than work under Adam Smith's philosophy of getting the highest price available in the market place, why not work on the fairest price, and that price not being the one that the market will bear but that which takes all factors into consideration, not just consumers' dollars? And why can't we, as workers, maintain an attitude of putting in a day's work for a day's pay when the times are good or bad? During times like these, business owners and workers alike should re-evaluate the basic philosophy of our system, and perhaps look towards reaching a happy medium between the good times and the bad.

ricing of them lots would be about half of the 48th Street development. Reg-Can Ltd. plans to be used to undertake this project, on a unit price similar to their bid on the 48th Street project.

Also at the meeting, the Council decided to turn a claim by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ash for damage to their property over to the Town's insurance company for study. At a meeting held the previous week, Mr. and Mrs. Ash explained to the Council that they felt that the Town was at least partly responsible for damage caused to one of their fields caused by a mile north of Viking due to the flooding of the water ditch which provides water to Viking.

Over the past several years, the water drainage ditch has been cleaned out at the direction of the Town, according to Mr. Ash. This process has resulted in piles of dirt and debris being left along the edges of the ditch, resulting in a damming effect along the sides of the ditch.

Mr. Ash explained that once the boulders build dams in the ditch, the water could not get back into the drainage ditch due to the piles of dirt and debris and the land was flooded. This has led to the affected area becoming infertile.

The claim by the Ashes for free clean-up costs to get the ditch back into proper condition. This comes to about $8,000 to date.

Mrs. Ash informed Council that they had been told a few years ago that they had no control over the drainage ditch because the Town had a license for the waterway. She said that their research on this matter confirms that the Town did not have a license on the waterway and in fact were trespassing when work was done on the ditch.

At the Council meeting of July 21st, Council passed an Official Bylaw which dealt specifically with the Roddick land. The new Bylaw was required by Alberta Housing Corporation before they would start any development on the Roddick land.

The bylaw calls for a levy of $3,000 for each lot, over and above the established purchase price, which will go into Town revenue to assist in the cost of providing new or expanded water supply, treatment and storage facilities.

The levy must be paid to the Town either within 90 days of the execution of a development agreement for the land, or of site work commencing, whichever is first. Although the by-law only affects the Roddick land, other off-site levy by-laws may be passed to deal with other land developments in the Town.

At last Thursday's special meeting, Council was informed by Councillor Ritchie that the new hall diamonds are progressing rapidly. He said that the placing of fill dirt on the two football diamonds was nearly complete, and that this project was shaping up beautifully. Also at this meeting, Reg-Can indicated to the Council that water from the new treatment plant could be expected sometime between the middle and end of August. He said that the new reservoirs southwest of Viking were nearly full of water, providing a guaranteed three year supply of water.

Although they are full, the pump-out at the new reservoir has not been completed and therefore water from the old reservoir in Town will be used initially in the new plant. Once the reservoirs are brought on stream, the old reservoir will be drained and cleaned then refilled for use by the Town.

3RD ANNUAL FASTBALL TOURNAMENT

Gerald Dewart Family Honored

The Gerald Dewart family of Bruce joined several other Alberta farm families in Edmonton on Monday, July 26 to receive the Alberta Farm Family Award.

Jeannette and Gerald, sons Kevin and Kary and daughter Tracy were accompanied by Gerald's mother and father Nellie and Don Dewart of Viking.

The day began at the Coliseum with registration and a film. This was followed by a luncheon at the City Hall to meet Mayor Purvis. A tour of the Legislative Buildings where they were greeted by Premier Lougheed completed the morning schedule. At noon the family enjoyed a banquet at Northlands while the afternoon was spent at Kinsella's. Although all the activities were enjoyable, the highlight of the day for Tracy and Kary was meeting Edmonton's Mayor Purvis and getting his autograph. Jeannette and Gerald operate a mixed farm. They not only raise grain but also cattle, pigs, chickens, turkeys and geese. Their farm also boasts a couple of horses and pet dogs and cats. Nellie, the oldest boy, his wife Connie and daughter Nicole live in Edmonton, but enjoy being out at the farm on weekends. Kevin, who has just taken grade twelve at Holden High School and is present in helping on the farm, hopes to be an electrician one day. Kary will be taking grade twelve next year while Tracy will be in grade eight.

The Dewart family has been actively involved in 4-H for several years. Kevin and Kary spent three years in the Holden Beef Club and Tracy has a total of seven years divided between the Beef club and the Bruce Beef Show, a Road club.

Both Jeannette and Gerald are community-minded citizens and never fail to help when called upon. Both belong to Holden United Church; Jeannette has served on the Official Board and Jeannette, this year, is vice-president of the U.C.W.

Gerald is also an active member of the Bruce Township Association while Jeannette works on one of the Agricultural Society's outdoor groups. During the winter months Gerald and the boys enjoy curling and Jeannette can often be found at the snack bar trying hamburgers and serving coffee.

Main Street Viking

Mrs. Margaret Gleason has just returned from a 3 week visit to Vancouver. While there, she participated in the celebration of her daughter's and son-in-law's anniversary.

A Gilpin family reunion marking 90 years since R.C. and R.V. Gilpin first homesteaded this area was held at Ridge and Agnes Gilpin's farm on July 11th. Son Courtney and his wife Julie of Australia hosted the occasion plus pollock contributions. Despite many absences, approximately 80 relatives attended with members from Viking, Holden, Mannville, Vermilion, Edmonton, Edville and Drumheller.

Remember that tomorrow is the Viking Fair with events underway bright and early with a pancake breakfast, followed at 9:00 a.m. by the parade. Once again the Fair Committee has arranged for a heavy horse pull competition which promises to be as entertaining as in past years.

A large number of exhibits will be on display once again as well. Also remember that

interest to you.

In the past few weeks, we have had numerous inquiries about the control of fairy ring in lawns. The following article is from the July 19th issue of Agriculture and explains how to handle this problem.

Fairy Ring in Lawns

To many homeowners in Alberta, fairy rings are a persistent lawn problem.
When the rings are small,
they are very difficult to control. However, there are methods whereby these rings can be suppressed and in some cases eliminated.

Fairy ring disease is recognized in early summer by the appearance of circular brown or rings in which the grass is darker green than the surrounding grass. The rings are usually 1 to 2 meters in diameter and may be several centimetres wide. The rings are usually found in lawns which are mowed regularly.

The disease is caused by one or another of several different fungi which feed on organic matter in the soil and produce a growth stimulant that spreads and prevents normal water penetration. Fairy rings are most severe in soils of low fertility and inadequate moisture.

Few commercially available lawn fungicides have much effect on eliminating fairy rings, but there are measures you can follow on your own. Control measures can be divided into those which suppress ring symptoms and those which actually eradicate the fungus.

Heavy fertilization, extensive watering with Alberta Agriculture, and a method for suppressing fairy ring disease.

Wednesday, August 18, 1982

I have just read a particularly disturbing article from Chatelaine, May 1982. Titled "Women: Still the Leans in Poverty", this article points out the harsh reality that three in five Canadian women over 65 live below the poverty line today. Will that be or is it as a group, we tend to think that our husband's pension or our work pension will be adequate to live on only to be faced with the death of a husband or a painful breakup and a pension plan that discriminates against women.

In Ontario, statistics indicate that two-thirds of women over 75 are living in desperate financial circumstances. There is no reason to believe that the situation is better elsewhere in Canada.

The Canada Pension Plan pays only 10% of the average lifetime earnings up to a current maximum of $707.46 a month. The first part of the problem for women is that since women usually earn less than men they're less likely to achieve that maximum even if they are in the full-time work force all their lives. Most are not.

Any woman who drops out of the work force to have children must average three years into their pension life earnings. Of course in the eyes of CPP, house-making is not considered work because there is no remuneration.

At best, an individual who qualifies for CPP benefits can currently expect a total of about $10 a month or $7,000 a year. Just $1,400 a year above the poverty line. Most women will never qualify for that maximum.

The designers of pension schemes expected private pension plans to make up the difference. This is seldom true for women.

Two complaints were reported in which motor vehicles were involved in collisions with deer. One accident was reported near Viking and the other near Bruce.

Two other non-injury motor vehicle accidents were investigated. Again, one was in the Viking area and the other in Bruce.

Also still under police investigation is a complaint of dangerous driving.

Eight 24-hour license suspensions were issued over the past week as well as five separate charges under the Liquor Control Act. Four persons were charged with impaired driving.

The detachment answered one call with regard to assistance to the general public and a call regarding a business alarm.

Also under investigation is a complaint of theft from the Kinnela area involving the theft of oil from the back of a parked vehicle.

Upon investigating a complaint of trespassing in the Viking area, the issue was resolved without charge.

On August 18, 1982, the detachment answered one call with regard to assistance to the general public and a call regarding a business alarm.

fewer women than men belong to private plans. Part-time workers are usually not covered.

Low women even collect a pension from their plans. Contributions to most plans aren't vested until after 10 years of service. Leave salaries and you get back just your contributions.

A few pensioners accept those of government employees are portable.

fewer than half the plans in existence provide pension benefits for the spouse of a contributor who dies.

In interest in Ottawa and across the country in changing this shocking situation. I suggest it is up to us to let our feelings be known to our government.

As individuals and as groups. Who will be the 3 or 5 people in your party?

Annie Milne Pots Hole-In-One

Annie Milne of Irma shot a hole-in-one Wednesday evening, July 27th while playing the Irma Golf Course. She got her ball on the par 2, 180 yard 3rd hole.

This was Mrs. Milne's first hole-in-one, and is believed to be the first ever hole-in-one registered on the Irma course. Accompanying Mrs. Milne on her hole-in-one were Edna Goun, Jean Burton and Jean Larson.

Annie Milne is an avid golfer and has enjoyed the sport for a number of years. She recently participated in the Alberta Senior Women's Golf Tournament in Canmore and won the title.

It seems to me that crops are looking very good in our area with some crops of barley even showing a tinge of brown.

Lots hope the weather will co-operate and give us a good harvest season. With the approach of harvest, upon us now is the time to consider safeguarding this valuable property.

ton. There were some great heavy horse teams, and many beautiful saddle horses and ponies.

At noon, the Strawberry Plains W.I. ladies (as in the past several years) served cold plate dinners to close to 180 in the Legion Hall.

The Western Canada Bantam A. football champions ships went ahead as planned on Saturday and Sunday, but unfortunately, and to the great disappointment of a multitude of people, was rained out on Monday. It is believed that this is the first time that these championships have been held anywhere except in a city. Quite an honour for Irma.

The barbecue meal on Saturday evening was an outstanding success. 600 people were expected, but we have heard that over 700 were served. Everyone I met said the meat was the best they ever tasted.

The weather on Saturday and Sunday was almost ideal. A football championship game going on as scheduled. However, due to the inclement weather on Monday, most of the activities for the day were cancelled. It was a good fair, with a fine variety of bench displays open to the public on both Saturday and Sunday.

Weather Perfect For Viking Fair

With the uncertain atmospheric conditions that have been prevalent this summer, President Norman Wilbers and his committee were able to uncrest their fingers as August 8 turned into a perfect day for the annual Viking Agricultural Fair. Action began at 7:30 a.m. when Myrtle Stangman and her efficient crew served their usual famous pancake breakfast. With a short break for the parade, breakfast continued until 11:30 when approximately 600 people had been served.

Dan Leford, parade director, got the parade on the road shortly after 9:00 a.m. It demonstrated the "Friends and Neighbors" theme with the increased participation from neighboring towns - very nice to see. The Drayton Scottish Bag Pipers led the parade behind Carver's band. From there, it was a well-balanced colorful procession of imaginative creations in various floats, decorated bicycles and motor bikes, the well groomed riding horses and teams, etc.

Nine commercial floats were entered, competing the largest contingent of such floats that Viking has had for some years. Every one agreed that it was the best parade to see for some time.

The school gym, where all the exhibits had been judged the previous day, was opened to the public at 10:00 a.m. Although the number of exhibits was down somewhat, the quality was evident. The art entries from the elementary school under the direction of Mrs. Muriel Hill, transformed the

On of the many fine entries in the Viking Fair parade was the Summer Playground float entered by the F.C.S.S. of Viking. Staff Photo

Waste Plant Plebiscite In Ryley

Residents of the Village of Ryley will have their chance to vote on the hazardous waste treatment issue. A plebiscite on the matter will be held in the Village on Wednesday, August 25th. Councillor Ernie Brown of the Village of Ryley informed The Weekly Review that the Citizens Advisory Committee, which was established in June, requested that the Council hold a vote on the issue. The Committee has been working during the past two months to provide information for the village residents.

As part of their work, the Committee held two sets of seminars, each comprised of three sections. At each of the seminars, staff officers from the Alberta Environment Department were in attendance to provide information and to answer any questions.

Presently, an information centre has been set up in the Village on Wednesday, August 25th. Ryley Council Chambers and is open to anyone from the village or across the County, according to Mr. Brown. The centre is open from 10 to 12 in the morning and from 1 to 3 in the afternoon. It is staffed daily by the Environment Department. Mr. Brown indicated that so far the response to the Committee's efforts has been positive. He said that 174 people out of a possible 300 from the Village attended the seminars. He said this contrasts with the small turnout, about 20 people, according to Mr. Brown, who attended the R.V.A.P.A. meeting which was held in Ryley in July. He said that although there were just over 150 people at that meeting, the attendance by Village residents was very small.

In response to the request by the Citizens Committee, the Council set the plebiscite on the following question: "Are you in favor of the Council of the Village of Ryley supporting a special waste recovery and recycling plant?" The motion on the plebiscite passed unanimously.

In response to a question concerning the results of the County plebiscite held on April 14th, Mr. Brown said that the poll for the Ryley area strongly rejected the County motion which was opposed to siting a hazardous waste treatment plant in the County. This indicates support for the Committee's efforts from the area around Ryley.

As a personal note in response to the plebiscite question, Mr. Brown said that he feels that the people in the towns and villages in the County were disenchanted with the results of the plebiscite. The residents of Ryley will finally get a chance to vote on the issue. He said that the County residents of Ryley will be voting between the hours of 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. on the 25th of this month.

gym wall into a kaleidoscope of color. Children and parents scanned the many pictures for the coveted ribbons.

In the horticulture section (Directors Phyllis Leford and Joan Stewart) the many floral arrangements, vegetable and fruit entries demonstrated the benefits of the recent rains; quite a difference from last year's drought. In the field crop division (Director Ed Leford), the entries were not numerous but the time and effort was evident in the sheaf and grain selections.

Other classes included Fine Arts in painting, amateur photography and open hobbies under directors Viv Erickson and Ellen Leford. Sewing and Handicraft class with directors Kathy Pearson and Lynn Kittle, the Baking Section with Claudia Greavey and Norma Balfour. From Ryley under Sandy Plowman and Elaine Leford and Senior Activities under Valerie Heslop and Verne Ellison.

The Junior Section was especially popular with the 16 years and under group with good participation in quality workmanship. It bodes well for future fairs.

Most commendable was the participation of the seniors of Vicksa Lodge and Extensive Nursing Home. Extensive had a beautiful display of banner articles that included beadwork, basketry, patch work and a covered juke box.

The Puppet Show at 11:00 a.m. and again at 1:00 was entitled "Kids On The Block." Patricia and the Junior League of Edmonton, its purpose is to bring an awareness to children and adults that physically and mentally handicapped people have feelings and needs similar to all and want to be accepted and loved for they too love to work, play and to be given an opportunity to contribute to society. The show is especially geared for Grades 3 level for the women volunteers who presented it found that this age group understood and responded well. The program has until recently been limited to Edmonton but this year is being taken to several rural points. Brenda Petrow had much to do with the show being placed on their agenda. She was very pleased with the attendance at both shows.

Hollyhacking at the Carousal, the live playground and swings interspersed the various children's events.

The penny arcade (Directors Margaret Mann and Donna Brown) drew a large group of interested young, stern and adults who tested their skills at the various games. Most were short on skills but long on fun.

All livestock judging competitions began at 10:00 a.m. There were 9 classes in the beef section with about 30 head of cattle entered. Directors Colin Lang and Gordon Klein and Glen Maxwell. The dairy cattle (Directors Colin Lang and daughter Lisa) competition featured 8 different classes with about 20 head of dairy stock entered.

The competitions in the Light Horse class (Directors Kevin Ladd and Stan White) drew many entries, both in Senior and Junior sections. The Draft Horse judging competition (Directors Stan Zemanek and Frank Sevelik) is fast becoming popular. Most entries in farming became mechanized, horses were definitely on the way out but not so anymore. The heavy horse is coming back, if for no other reason than to be a show horse. Because of the numerous entries in the Horse Classes, judging wasn't completed till 5:30 p.m.

Would you believe that Dianne Pookley and Laura Holland's Novelties Pet Show beginning at 2:30 p.m. had 22 little people entered with everything from dogs, cats, rabbits, goats to chickens and hamsters? The beautiful part of it was that every pet had an outstanding feature that won it a prize. We regret that a list of names of the children is unavailable. Suffice to say the pet show is proving to be one of the more popular events.

Throughout the day, a concession booth manned by Maple Lodge Community Club was conveniently located to serve the needs of the public.

Beginning at 4:30 p.m. people began to gather at the hall to partake of the delicious beef barbecue supper served up by Jerry Smith with help from the various church groups and community organizations. Approximately 600 people were served. Finally, at 5:45 p.m. the heavy horse pull got underway with 5 teams participating. Though it was late, a large crowd was in attendance to witness this ever popular event.

Special thanks go to Anderson Farm Sales for supplying the hay and for tiller for the weight and to Viking Co-op for supplying the truck. Thanks also to auctioneer from Holden, with his sound truck was in attendance to announce all mountains following much the same trail they took in 1937.

In 1937 they travelled in a devised Whippet car and had to adjust the back of the front seat of their Whippet to make a bed for sleeping in the car and motored to Jasper.
It was interesting to see the changes since then. Viking for example had steel light posts down the centre of main street with very little pavement and no water system. Most of the sidewalks were made of boards and at that time sidewalks were considered not proper for young and older women.

The country roads had no gravel and the highways were only gravel. The only thing that was the same on their trips was the snow flowing with water along the highway with a sign "drinking water" on the road to Edmonton.
The road in 1937 was gravel and what might be called wilderness trails was with no compasses. You just had to find a clearing to stop anyplace and there was almost no traffic and the cars then had no signal lights so they had to use the arm signals. Did we even need a drivers licence back then?

There were almost no railings along the highway and no pavement at the Points of Interest.

We went to the garbage dump in 1937 at Jasper to see the black bears. We counted about ten big ones eating and about twenty small ones, mostly up in trees. This trip we only spotted one at the dump.
The trip was quite enjoyable and it is amazing to see the many changes people have made over the years.

Drinking And Driving

One out of every four drivers involved in fatal collisions on Alberta roadways during 1981 was found to have consumed alcohol before the fatal crash, reports Alberta Transportation's Safety Branch in traffic collision statistics released last week.

In its annual statistical review, the Branch stated that over the last three years, the proportion of drivers who had consumed alcohol and were involved in traffic collisions has decreased from 7.8% in 1979 to 7.0% in 1980 and to 6.4% in 1981.

Of all drivers involved in property damage only collisions, five per cent had consumed alcohol before the crash, compared to 13.7% in fatal collisions and 25.6% in fatal collisions.

Only 13.6% of individuals involved in traffic collisions were seat belts at the time of the incident. The Safety Branch statistics showed that people using seat belts had a much lower injury rate than for those not wearing them.

To climax a very successful, enjoyable fair, dancing to the music of Elmo and Louise Merta commenced at 9:30 p.m. and ended at 1:30 a.m.

A great deal of credit goes to Norman Withers, the fair directors, the organizations and individuals who worked behind the scenes and the cooks to keep everyone fed. All added together it made Viking Fair 68 one of the best ever, and certainly not the least were the participants in the many events, without whom there would not be a fair.

Finally, there may be a recession in the economy but there certainly is no recession when it comes to Friends and Neighbors organizing a Fair.

The WEEKLY REVIEW

the August 1987 issue. The living Trees officers have been notified that the money has not yet been received from the government. This left the spouses of the living trees in a state of confusion, wondering how to proceed. The officers have been assured that the money will be received by the end of the year.

At this time of year because it is right at the end of a taxation year, with most taxes being paid, the money has not yet been received.

Council was informed that the Town was about $20,000 short if all bills were to be paid. The Town is not without payments of just over the amount so that they wouldn't be in a deficit position. As Mayor Rankin stated, "The town is in a position where the water department is the worst offender."

The passage of a borrowing-by-law still discussed could be held with Glen and the Town Council. It might be detrimental to the town.

In another matter related to the water, Council decided to remove the $18,000 per year from a motion dealing with the water department. Park which was made last October. As some companies have expressed an interest in buying more than one lot, price per acre was removed.

Letter To The Editor

Everybody is complaining about the bad times we are experiencing. The low unemployment, high interest rates, low productivity, the low Canadian dollar, ever increasing rate of bankruptcies, to name just a few symptoms of our depressed economy, and everybody is ready with suggestions of what our politicians should do to improve our economic situation.

You can listen to these discussions in offices in Ottawa, in beer parlours in Brandon, in airports in Edmonton, and even in front of our local post office in Viking on its restaurants. Everybody seems to have the answers to every problem.

It is interesting to notice, however, that those people, who offer the most simple remedies, promise to be the most logical and the most effective ones, and those who are not exposed to opinions of politicians, or business leaders, or union representatives. They are rather the farmers, the people who have failed in their labour, the kind of people, who kept their clear, unimpaired minds, who are able to judge accurately as well as quickly, what went wrong, and what should be done to rectify the situation.

Why these down-to-earth people with their dry fingerprints, but sharp brains, should trade places with those politicians, who have clear fingerprints, but dull brains. I am not sure, but I am sure that we are not far from the solution.

What you hear in Viking, you can hear in Brion, in Kinle, Iron or Ryli. Namely, that the National Energy Program should be reviewed, that the Foreign Investment Review Agency should be scrapped for a few years, that the Capital Gains Tax should be eliminated, that the Alaska Project should be brought back to life, regardless of present low import prices for oil, that there should be at the least a more balanced budget, and so on and so on.

All this does make a lot of sense, in an endeavor to rebuild our Canadian economy. But it is enough to sit and wait and see, whether this government, or the next one, or the one elected thereafter will do, what seems to be obvious to so many, should be done.

We could say, that we should wait and see, since this is a depression, which more less affects all nations and our interference with the economy of the world is so much negligible, that we should wait until an economic turnaround shows there should be less drastic economic measures.

But will it? There is no guarantee. When we really look at it, a new federal government in itself, or an economic turn-around of the U.S. economy by itself, can and never will be the sole solution to our Canadian economic problems, only then we have had Times Good Times, when we all, every Canadian, maturely recognize that we are facing now one of the greatest challenges ever, namely to act with the greatest responsibility to our country.

These Bad Times are Good Times, when we have learned, to lower our demands and expectations, when we have learned to be prepared, all of us, to work harder, longer and better.

Good times are really good times, for they will have awakened us, to make us see the need to change, to make us see, that we all have to change. By working harder and longer, we will become physically and mentally healthier, and our economy stronger; we will become more competitive; by working for us we will be more productive, just to name a few examples. And all this changed attitude will make us more conscious of different proper priorities for our life.

With this daily in all our minds, we actually start to change our attitude. We can start now, we have to start now, for if we do not start now, the treasure of being alive in a free country.

Council dismissed the delegation and after a brief review, offered the following alternatives:
 (1) Council offers $1,000 per acre for an outright purchase.
 (2) An amount of $2,000 for use of land plus have had remained to the standards of the area.
 (3) An amount of $2,000 for use of land plus have had remained to the standards of the area.

Upon hearing Council's decision, the delegation stated that neither was acceptable. After Horink's statement, the delegation moved that Council advise their lawyer to proceed in whatever manner is advisable.

Learn To Spot Trouble

There are reliable clues which warn the experienced lifeguard that something is wrong or tells them to focus on specific individuals according to Ed Sean, the National Technical Director for the Royal Life Saving Society Canada (RLSSC). "The vast majority of drownings happen in unsupervised areas. If more people knew where these signs mean - and what to do about it - the drowning rate in this country could probably be cut in half."

Most people believe that drowning victims splash a great deal, wave their arms and always yell for help. Not true, according to the RLSSC. "Cartoons, television and the movies have created a stereotype which is very hard to overcome," Sean says. "There are different types of victims, each with certain characteristics that tell the experienced lifeguard what the problem is and how best to solve it."

The cartoon stereotype is based on the behaviour of only one type of victim - the poor or weak swimmer. This person has some swimming skills and may use his arms and legs for support. It is usually at an angle to the surface and might gain attention by waving an arm or a hand.

County Fire Chief Reports

County Fire Chief Laure Waterhill presented the following report to County Council during the August 18th meeting.

On July 18th a fire totally destroyed a barn on the Jack Keith farm just outside the Village of Holden. The fire department had difficulty keeping the County fire truck running and finally had to use the Village fire truck. At the County Fire Shop was closed due to staff illness. It was found that the fire was caused by a foreign substance being added to the gas tank. The gas tank was drained and the carburetor cleaned. The Village office was verbally notified of the problem. The fire truck is now back in service and in many cases the coverage is included with no additional dollar effect on the County resident.

A tractor fire at the farm of L. Hether was extinguished by the Todd's Fire department. This fire was probably started by a electrical plug of lead plus have had remained to the standards of the area. The fire was caused by a foreign substance being added to the gas tank. The gas tank was drained and the carburetor cleaned. The Village office was verbally notified of the problem. The fire truck is now back in service and in many cases the coverage is included with no additional dollar effect on the County resident.

The air horn alarm in the hands of Kinle has been moved from the former Kinle Welding building to the Barker and Oakes service station. This work was completed by members of the Kinle fire department. No formal agreement exists in regards to the placement of the alarm.

Following his report a discussion commenced with regard to the recent decision to charge a fee of $800 for each fire call responded to within the County. Although most Councilors report support for the move, with little or no negative response, Councillor Armitage had received correspondence condemning the move.

Laure Waterhill stated that it is very important for residents to check their fire insurance policies to ensure that the fee for a "fire call" is included in the coverage. In many cases the coverage is included with no additional dollar effect on the County resident.

For those not having this benefit, the cost is minimal with estimates being near $5 cents per $100 coverage. These estimates would cover the cost of the insurance, but necessary to meet with the residents. There are no only five reports to me in the month of July.

The overall objective is to adequately cover the cost of the residents as well as the equipment with the funds being made available through insurance claims rather than from the pockets of the residents as would be the case if tax money was allocated to cover this deficit.

Development

Mayor Boushien informed Mr. Brown that he felt it was unfair for the Town to be charged interest on the cost to date when it was A.H.C. that was delaying the project. Mr. Brown was paying interest on the money spent by A.H.C. to date on the project. Mr. Boushien said that the quicker A.H.C. gets them developed, the quicker they can be sold and the Town recover money to pay the interest.

Mr. Brown said that A.H.C. could go to the project to see if costs would decrease, but he felt that the sewer and water contractors have been "cutting each others' throats" he expects to see some bankruptcies. He also said that he feels the Maton could look at some of the lots. He said that in tight times one looks to defer costs, and that private use of the lots is important.

Phoebe Cumming asked Mr. Brown if the cost of the sewer and water services would be higher if sewer later. Mr. Brown responded in the affirmative and said that the Town would need consent between themselves and the purchaser concerning the cost of adding these services at a later date.

Council expressed concern over the lack of sewer and water services to the commercial lots. However, said that this change the whole idea behind the development of the area.

Mr. Brown said that the only lot selling in this area are commercial lots. However, he said that if a hotel or motel, which badly needs these services, were interested in locating in the area, then perhaps A.H.C. could look at some of the lots. He said that in tight times one looks to defer costs, and that private use of the lots is important.

Canada Post Corporation has taken action to ensure that Canadians living out of side major centres will continue to have a national post service.

The Corporation's responsibility to handle all forms of letter mail has been challenged by a few municipalities and public utilities which are delivering their own bills and statements in the inexpensive-to-serve, high-density parts of some cities.

Concerted efforts have been made by Canada Post to sell municipalities and public utilities on using the post office, according to Canada Post's Vice-President, Corporate Communications, Andre Villeneuve. "Most are doing so, but despite these efforts there are some who continue to opt out because it's less expensive for them. If a few are allowed to bypass the post office and the practice spread it will mean that individuals, small businesses and industries - all Canadians - will suffer," said Mr. Villeneuve.

living in a highly populated area, or who does not generate large quantities of mail will be penalized."

The cost of carrying mail to every corner of Canada can only be kept at a reasonable, uniform level by averaging the costs of the easily-served, high density areas and the expensive, unprofitable routes. "If Canada Post were to lose the inexpensive segment and be left with only the high cost areas the result would have to be prohibitively high postal rates, increasing taxes or profound reductions in service levels," continued Mr. Villeneuve.

When national postal service was first established in 1867 the post office was given the responsibility of providing letter mail service to all Canadians. The Act of Parliament creating the Canada Post Corporation last year transferred that obligation to the new Corporation.

Commenting on the recent post office proposal to every corner of Canada, Mr. Villeneuve said, "The definition does not prohibit incidental delivery of Christmas cards or birthday invitations by individuals. Furthermore, bills may still be paid at a bank, shop or utility office."

"The fact that the post office has taken this action will not alter in any way how individuals have used the post office for the past century," Mr. Villeneuve said.

The third class, believed to alienate hunters, is when the fourth class is when the biological systems are out of equilibrium. An example of this is our inability to control Spruce Budworm in New Brunswick because the spray being used has driven off or killed the natural controls of the insect.

Science is quite clear, classes 1 through 3 are not cases of too many animals or any biological sense. They are simply the people have decided they want Nature to be in control.

Man, the animal, is in Class 4. Until we are prepared to accept our place in and responsibility to the biological system that runs this world there will always be some place where there are too many animals no matter how threatened or endangered they may be. That, by definition, means that we are not the animals are out of equilibrium.

Too many cats eating all the fish! Too many wolves. They're killing the caribou! The elephants are destroying the African grass lands! Too many animals! Snakes, wolves and elephants are either threatened or endangered! How can there be too many of them? The first is when animals threaten human life or livelihood. Australian aboriginals, American sheep ranchers hate coyotes.

The second is when one animal is considered rather deadly and if there were less of them a more desirable animal would flourish. Inherent kill Coy. laws, this belief in mind.

The third class, believed to alienate hunters, is when the fourth class is when the biological systems are out of equilibrium. An example of this is our inability to control Spruce Budworm in New Brunswick because the spray being used has driven off or killed the natural controls of the insect.

Science is quite clear, classes 1 through 3 are not cases of too many animals or any biological sense. They are simply the people have decided they want Nature to be in control.

Man, the animal, is in Class 4. Until we are prepared to accept our place in and responsibility to the biological system that runs this world there will always be some place where there are too many animals no matter how threatened or endangered they may be. That, by definition, means that we are not the animals are out of equilibrium.

Mail System Safeguarded

Canada Post Corporation has taken action to ensure that Canadians living out of side major centres will continue to have a national post service.

The Corporation's responsibility to handle all forms of letter mail has been challenged by a few municipalities and public utilities which are delivering their own bills and statements in the inexpensive-to-serve, high-density parts of some cities.

Concerted efforts have been made by Canada Post to sell municipalities and public utilities on using the post office, according to Canada Post's Vice-President, Corporate Communications, Andre Villeneuve. "Most are doing so, but despite these efforts there are some who continue to opt out because it's less expensive for them. If a few are allowed to bypass the post office and the practice spread it will mean that individuals, small businesses and industries - all Canadians - will suffer," said Mr. Villeneuve.

living in a highly populated area, or who does not generate large quantities of mail will be penalized."

The cost of carrying mail to every corner of Canada can only be kept at a reasonable, uniform level by averaging the costs of the easily-served, high density areas and the expensive, unprofitable routes. "If Canada Post were to lose the inexpensive segment and be left with only the high cost areas the result would have to be prohibitively high postal rates, increasing taxes or profound reductions in service levels," continued Mr. Villeneuve.

When national postal service was first established in 1867 the post office was given the responsibility of providing letter mail service to all Canadians. The Act of Parliament creating the Canada Post Corporation last year transferred that obligation to the new Corporation.

Commenting on the recent post office proposal to every corner of Canada, Mr. Villeneuve said, "The definition does not prohibit incidental delivery of Christmas cards or birthday invitations by individuals. Furthermore, bills may still be paid at a bank, shop or utility office."

"The fact that the post office has taken this action will not alter in any way how individuals have used the post office for the past century," Mr. Villeneuve said.

The third class, believed to alienate hunters, is when the fourth class is when the biological systems are out of equilibrium. An example of this is our inability to control Spruce Budworm in New Brunswick because the spray being used has driven off or killed the natural controls of the insect.

Men More Likely To Drown

Over 80 per cent of drowning victims in Canada are male according to the Royal Life Saving Society Canada (RLSSC). "This figure goes up to 87 per cent in the 15-34 year old age group," says Ed Bean, National Technical Director of the Society.

According to Canada Safety Council statistics, drowning is the third leading cause of accidental death in the country averaging about 1,300 annually. Only motor vehicle accidents and falls account for more fatalities.

"The information we've collected gives us a good picture of who is most at risk and when," says Bean. "If you wanted to predict the circumstances of the typical Canadian drowning you would have a 15-34 year old male who drowned in a boat-related accident in July or August."

The Society's experience indicates that the vast majority of drownings occur in unsupervised settings. "Statistically, the safer place to swim is in a guarded public swimming pool," Bean points out. "Despite the media attention given to drownings in public pools, these are only between 5-10 per cent of the total. Where there's water, there's a way."

Royal Life Saving Society water rescue programs teach prevention, self-rescue and rescue of others. The best advice we can give is first, learn to swim. Second, take life guard training. We have a program for the 10-15 year old that is available in every swimming pool in Canada," says Bean. "Although we certify over 100,000 Canadians every year, it absolutely isn't enough. Parents should make sure that their kids take life saving when they are young - before they enter the high risk group."

The Canadian Egg Marketing Agency announced this month that producer egg prices will go up one cent effective August 30.

The increase is in response to higher feed prices, and technical adjustments, CEMA said. Feed costs have gone up about a half a cent a dozen in the last month. As feed is a major part of production costs, producer prices tend to follow their prices closely. There is also a slight change in the conversion to Grade "A" Large factor.

CEMA sets prices farmers get for their eggs in each province at the beginning of each month, according to provincial producer costs. CEMA does not set wholesale or retail prices.

Pull Ahead With Alberta Purple!

ALBERTA FARM FUEL DISTRIBUTION ASSOCIATION

If you're a farmer, you're eligible for a 31¢ per gallon discount on the purple gas and diesel fuel you purchase for farm use (1¢ per litre).

Since 1974, the Alberta Farm Fuel Distribution Association (AFFDA) has reduced the cost of mixed (purple) gas and diesel fuel for use for farm purposes and equipment. Your vehicle dealer deducts the allowance from your purchase price right at the pump.

To ensure that you're receiving the AFFDA benefit, all you need to do is the following:

- if you're a new farmer, file a Declaration with your bank dealer.
- if you're a new farmer, file a Declaration with your bank dealer.

Each Alberta farmer saves, on average, $1,500 a year through the AFFDA "Alberta Purple" benefit.

Only Alberta farmers pay the fuel tax, plus receive the AFFDA "Alberta Purple" benefit for farm equipment and farm trucks.

Arthur Graham Landers Passes

Arthur (Basil) Graham Landers, the fifth living child of Robert and Adelaide Landers, was born January 30, 1916 on his parents' homestead. He attended the Echo and Lynx schools.

As a young man, he worked out in the Iron and Waterbury areas. During these years he played hockey and baseball with his team. His role in local sports was significant.

In 1959 he rented land in the Echo district and put in a crop. Economic conditions put an end to his venture, and he spent from 1960 to 1968 helping his folks get through the depression.

In September of 1969, Ruth Vanner came to board with him at Echo School. On November 6, 1960 Arthur and Ruth were married. One daughter, Florence, was born May 4, 1968. In 1941, Arthur bought his home in the Echo district. He retired in 1970 but continued to live on the farm.

Arthur entered the Viking Hospital Aug. 8, 1982 and passed quietly away on August 16. He was 75 years of age.

Arthur is survived by his wife Ruth, his daughter Florence, a son-in-law Elmer, and two grandchildren, Colleen and Wayne. He is also survived by one brother and five sisters: Bob of Dryden Valley, Vicky Walmsley of Falmouth, Violet Landers and Mary Prosser of Charniv, Lela Stocky of Westbrook.

Eric Oakes Laid To Rest

Eric John Oakes passed away on July 30, 1982 in the Royal Alexandra Hospital, Edmonton.

Mr. Oakes was born in Cheshire, England on April 5, 1900 and immigrated with his family to Canada and to a farmstead north of Lethbridge in the year of 1908.

He attended the Hill Park school and later worked over the farms, remaining there until his death, interrupted only by time spent overseas during the war.

In 1908 he married Elizabeth Nelson formerly of Jarvis. In 1981 he retired from active farming to pursue his love of fishing and travel.

Even then he was always "ready" to help a neighbour whenever needed as he valued friendship very highly.

Services will be held at St. John's Anglican Church in Sedgewick, conducted by friend and cousin Rev.

Canon Richard Conrad. Interment took place in the "Field of Honor" Lethbridge cemetery.

Eric was predeceased by his parents and one sister. He leaves to mourn his sons: his loving wife Hannah, two brothers, four sisters, many aunts, uncles and nephews, and a host of friends and comrades.

Other callers at the Lodge were Rachel Combs, Sophie Benson, Jane Thengs, Ray and Dorcas Gerber, Laverne and Fred Gerber, Charlene Rasmussen and Mrs. Ted Rasmussen.

Mrs. Stalder is now making her home at Vialta. We hope she enjoys her stay with us.

Several ladies brought home prizes for handicrafts entered in the Fair. Congratulations, we are proud of these achievements.

Memorial Fund?

People die almost weekly in the area, someone dies from any number of causes, either natural or unnatural. The tradition in our society is to show our respect and honor for the deceased by either sending flowers, or by sending money to a fund of our choice. Often, relatives of the deceased will request that in lieu of flowers, donations be made to a particular fund, be it the Heart Fund, the Cancer Fund, the Hospital Fund, or the Community Fund. All of these funds, in their own way, provide needed capital for a wide variety of projects or equipment.

Inevitably one has to wonder which fund most needs the money which is to be donated. Some funds have enough money to carry out their programs and projects without any trouble, while others must certainly lack in this regard. Some institutions which receive donations have to search for ways to spend their money, while at the same time other community projects which are in bad need of funding go without. It is an unfortunate inequity which exists.

Last week, the Viking Recreation Board discussed the possibility of starting a memorial fund for recreation for the area. This is an excellent idea. At the present time, the community is in bad need of a recreational complex for young and old alike. For certain a curling rink is needed, and the town could do with a bowling alley, a recreational activity which can be enjoyed by young and old alike. With every passing year, it seems to get harder and harder to make a start on such a complex. And with the direction which the Town has taken over the past couple of years, with the emphasis on the development of residential and industrial land, and the new water system, municipal funding for such a project has been rejected. That leaves it up to the various organizations in the community to band together if anything is to be done. And one place where the start could be made is in the establishing of a memorial fund for recreation.

To suggest such a thing is not in any way to say that the funds already in existence are not of value and not worthy of donations. Perhaps in some instances the trustees of those funds which have a surplus of funds for immediate needs, or even long term reasonable needs, should consider encouraging people to donate to other funds for a period of time. In this way, badly needed funds will not be sitting in bank accounts making money, rather than fulfilling community needs.

With the establishment of a memorial fund for recreation, a start will be made on a permanent means of raising money which will go towards providing a better living atmosphere in Viking. Once the fund was established, people in the area may even consider bequeathing part of their estate to such a fund. In this way, one's estate remains wholly within their community to be put to use in such a way as to benefit people of all ages.

A fund such as this should be completely removed from the control of the municipal government, and should be controlled by a Board of Trustees who represent all facets of the community. It should consist of town and country people, old people, young people, new people, and long-time residents. It should reflect the community so that a wide variety of ideas can be put into one major effort. And with the discussion at the Viking Recreation Board meeting last Tuesday, one thinks that the Board may be the place to start. Not that the Board should control the fund, for the Board acts only under the approval of the Town Council. And although problems in mixing the fund with municipal policies are not immediately foreseeable, one must plan for the very long term when dealing with such an issue.

The Recreation Board has come up with the idea. Now these people should be encouraged to lay the foundation for the establishment of a memorial fund for recreation. The possibility exists that through donations to such a fund, and through estates left in will, that funds for the development of a major recreation complex, and perhaps other minor projects, could be realized. It is an honorable idea, one which deserves our support.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I read with interest your editorial "Of Similar Kind" in your August 18th issue. Here are some of my thoughts in regards to that editorial.

Israel has never really received freely the support of the Jewish community, but the Israelis - with the combined effort of Jewish financial and political support - have managed to force influential governments in this free world (if this word "free" should be used) to be open for debate) forced this world to support Israel through concess, blackmail, lies and public demonstrations. It started 24 years ago with the demand on Germany for "reparation payments" to Jewish survivors of the First and Second World War by making use of the "guilt feeling" of many Germans, although many knowledgeable historians have quoted a figure of 660,000 dead Jewish people, and not six million as claimed by Israel. It ended so soon that it was almost forgotten by playing the "Under the Stars" card with her neighbors. And with what a success!

Jewish minorities, with the help of the Jewish state have understood and succeeded to take over our democratic institutions. Not only in the United States, but in many other countries as well, Jewish minorities have become the most important if not the most powerful minority group in consequence in politics.

Television, radio and newspaper have been put to work to sway public opinion in the west from any realistic assessment of any situation which might harm the Jewish image to a multi-believe which almost makes you feel to volunteer, fight and die for Israel. With the help of powerful businessmen, often under Jewish influence if not ownership, a propaganda apparatus was established in the western world of which even Hitler would be jealous. Lies, combined with systematic methods of brainwashing, were then used to make the Jewish people believe that "Jahannam" was striving for "World Domination" for the purpose of exploitation. Once it was Nation. Now it is Zionism.

But no parallel can be drawn! Not in all the history of mankind, Israel, a small country with a very poor economy, with a bankrupt economy, invades her neighbors, terrorizes her neighbors, Israel wages wars with the help of her minorities in the western world, with the help of the United States which supplies capital and armaments to Israel, and with the help of just about all other democracies.

We support Israel by being tolerant of her use of excessive force, by being light-eyed in regards to her killing and wounding thousands and making homeless tens of thousands. We support Israel when we do not act to stop terrorists who make and keep hundreds of thousands homeless in Lebanon, who keep intentionally food, water and electricity away from hundreds of thousands of Lebanese men, women and children who are not their enemies, and who do not want to fight a war in their own country against an invader, the American armed Israeli soldier.

We do not only support Israel, but seem to fall for sure as human beings for not speaking up when much needed medical supplies of the Red Cross shipped to Israel are stopped and held by Israeli soldiers. That is not human, when we tolerate it. Be we tolerate it because we have been intimidated and unconsciously conditioned by that Jewish propaganda apparatus.

But our western politicians have some consciences. They "talk" about sanctions against Israel. So as not to lose too many Jewish votes in future "democratic elections", politicians in the U.S. and Canada discuss possible sanctions at length, and later, Alan Romberg, a U.S. State Department spokesman, observes very flexibly that "for all the political, economic and military support the U.S. has provided over the last 34 years, its effective leverage over Israeli actions has been... negligible". In other words, why try to bother.

This attitude will do nothing else but to encourage Israel to continue with her terrorism and aggression. After the P.L.O. it will be directed against the committed Lebanese, the Syrians, the Arabs, the Iranians and the Jewish state.

Van Ee Nominated By W.C.C.

The Vermilion-Viking Constituency Association of the Western Canadian Conservative Party of Alberta nominated their candidate for the upcoming provincial election at a meeting attended by 150 party faithful on Tuesday, August 24th in the Viking Community Hall.

Richard Van Ee, a dairy farmer and father of seven from Vermilion, was successful over R.W. Thompson of Indian Head, who was immediately expressed support for, and requested all to get behind, Mr. Van Ee.

Richard Van Ee pledged to serve the constituency from his home in the Vermilion area and an office in the Viking area.

Recreation Memorial Fund Discussed

The regular August meeting of the Viking and District Recreation Board was held last Tuesday, the 17th.

Following the routine business the Board was informed that no reply has been received from the Viking Curling Club as to their plans regarding application for M.C.R. funds. As well, a formal reply was received from the County on a meeting to determine boundaries for the purpose of recreation taxation. The Board decided to arrange a meeting of the Recreation Boards of Brum, Kinleith and Viking to try to work out acceptable tax revenue boundaries.

Dick Channery reported on the progress of the ball diamond. The project is expected to be finished by the end of the month. The Centennial Park area will be placed between the water treatment plant and the ball diamond fence. The total cost of the ball diamond project, exclusive of wages and excavation work, is expected to be about $4,000. A big saving in wages has been realized, however, through the use of S.T.P. workers who have worked on the project under the direction of Percy Wilson. Some concern was expressed about the state of the Lake Thomas recreation area. It was felt that it is now too late for a work project this summer, so a tentative date of November was set when a permanent deck will be installed, and the area lined up for 1983. Further Education plans were discussed at the meeting and the Board felt that some arrangements should be made for a cross country skiing clinic, aerobic dance classes, a croquet class, and others desired by the community.

Many 4-H'ers, including boys and girls from both towns and the country, are involved in the 4-H Food project. This project is designed to help the community's interest in food by making and eating foods that are FUN!

There are four 4-H food projects which guide the members through a gradual progression from being able to make relatively simple items like grilled cheese sandwiches to more challenging dishes such as "Rabbit Paprika". In several food clubs, the members prepare a meal for themselves and their leaders to show off their achievements. Not only do they have a chance to find out how much fun cooking can be, but they get a chance to eat the results of their hard work.

By taking part in achievement days, the members demonstrate their knowledge and put samples of their cooking out for judging. The only thing better than a 4-H Food Project member is being a food

The need for some project to raise funds for recreation was discussed at length. It was decided to look into the matter of raising these funds through a raffle or lottery. The idea of establishing a memorial fund for recreation was also discussed. Bureaus are made to many worthy funds in the community, but to date, none have been made to recreation projects. It was felt that this could be a very useful way to memorialize to have funds go toward, particularly a Recreation Centre in which a plaque could be placed with donors names.

The honeybee project, like other 4-H projects, is set up in units designed for a gradual and thorough learning experience. This is a very interesting and challenging new project and we at the 4-H office would love to help anyone interested in guiding such a project. The agriculture program deals with the present little creature you've ever seen - the honeybee! In this project members learn how to manage and handle a bee hive and how to collect and market the honey which the bees produce.

The agriculture project objectives are:

- to develop pride and responsibility associated with owning bees.

- to acquire an understanding of honeybee development, production and management practices and acquire skill in executing them by owning, caring for and keeping records of your bees.

Mabel Rugland Celebrates 80 Years

The 8th of August was beautiful, warm and sunny when relatives, friends, neighbors and well-wishers filled the education hall of the Lutheran Church in Viking for a special community birthday celebration for an admirable lady - Mrs. Mabel Rugland 80 years young.

A warm and friendly atmosphere prevailed inside with flowers, candles, decorations and a beautiful display of art made by Vera Halso for the occasion. The artistically decorated birthday cake, by Mrs. Maxine Pugh of Edmonton, and the large decorated birthday cake made a cozy and warm atmosphere inside the hall.

People came from far and near to shake hands and reminisce with Mabel. There were people from Canmore, Tofield, Edmonton, Spruce Grove, Irma, Barle, Hards, Wainwright and other parts.

Pastor Tim Johnson opened the program with greetings and addresses followed by a song by Alvin and Lois Severson. "God Loves His Dear People," with Ida at the piano.

Pastor Jacob Steffen in his remarks said "Mabel has been devoted to serving the Lord and is a very special part of the observance and celebration."

Pastor Johnson introduced Jack and Mildred Hagle who are friends of the Hags. Mrs. Hagle led the group in a sing-song and served very capably as M.C. Congratulatory messages were received from M.L.A. Tom Lysons, Lieutenant-Governor Lynch-Staunton and Premier Lougheed.

George Cottrell, on behalf of the G.V.L.C. Congregation, said "Mabel is a devoted Christian, and has been for many years involved with church work, working for the betterment of all the congregation of G.V.L.C."

Rita Halso brought greetings and good wishes from the L.C.W. Birthday greetings were also received from Hales Pich of St. Albert.

Mr. P. Anderson, Barle, Mrs. Ann Anderson, Barle, and Viola Law, Edmonton, spoke of their Christian fellowship with Mabel.

In her thank-you message Mabel expressed gratitude to Ada, her sister-in-law, for organizing the birthday party. She also thanked the relatives and friends for the much appreciated help.

Mildred and Jack Hagle sang a very appropriate song, "In The Garden," followed by a delightful song by Rita Severson, "How Can I Say Thanks."

All joined in singing the blessing led by Pastor Johnson. The delicious lunch was then served and the people enjoyed the food while visiting and reminiscing.

Mabel's niece, with their pleasant manner, looked after the guest book. Rita Halso greeted all at the door, as well as helping Mabel Thompson to pass the birthday cake around.

Many willing helpers and others pitched in and helped contribute to the happy occasion.

When the party was over, Mabel remarked, "What a day, what a memory" and expressed disappointment that because of ill health, her brother Hag was unable to attend.

She received many birthday cards, good wishes and gifts. The celebration will be remembered and cherished. Along with all the greetings we say "Look backward with thankfulness, look upward with trust, look forward with anticipation."

Alberta Chamber Suggests Alternate Approach

"It seems that the Government of Canada continually directs its attention first to its revenue needs and only secondarily to the health of the economy. It is not possible, that if Government of Canada policy addressed itself first to business health - primarily through less government intervention in the economy - that healthy and reasonably unfettered enterprise could comfortably make fiscal payments to the Government of Canada which, together with the Government's other revenue, would be sufficient for the Government to continue all worthwhile expenditure without creating extraordinary federal deficits."

wrote to Energy, Mines and Resources Minister Marc Lalonde in which he termed the federal government's new advertisement describing the "mosses" of the National Energy Program as both "repulsive" and "misleading."

The Alberta Chamber of Commerce, a federation of 118 Chambers of Commerce in Alberta, is on record as having warned of the possible adverse-turn effects of the National Energy Program from the program's inception in October, 1980.

Mr. Cotter was near his birthday at the time of his passing and had enjoyed a happy and healthy retirement, residing at Vialta Lodge.

In 1916 he was united in marriage to Ann Moorhead.

Together the couple enjoyed farm life and raised their family.

Fred's love of life, nature and animals led no doubt that he enjoyed his chosen way of life in rural Alberta. He battled the 30's while raising his family and had many a story to share with his grandchildren.

Shelterbelts Valuable Conservation Tool

Shelterbelts have been one of the prairie farmer's most reliable soil conservation tools since early in the century. And, although changing farming methods have led to the development of new soil conservation techniques over the years, shelterbelts are still a standard line of defense against the prairie wind.

"Many field shelterbelts were planted in the 1890's and 40's for protection against wind erosion," points out Cathy Skene, head of distribution and development for the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration (PFRA) in Indian Head, Saskatchewan. "With farmers implementing improved agronomic practices, field shelterbelts can play an important role in improved farmland conservation when used in conjunction with other management tools."

The PFRA is a federally funded government agency that provides tree, shrub and technical services. In-cluding financial assistance to farmers to help them evaluate the soil and topography, and to recommend effective shelterbelt planting, says Skene.

The benefits of a well-planned shelterbelt go well beyond reduction in soil drift, she adds. The trees hold snow on fields, which both increases soil moisture and protects fall-seeded crops. They also reduce evaporation and lessen crop lodging during late autumn and early spring. Shelterbelts planted around livestock buildings and houses can also be used to modify the effects of the harsh prairie climate and to reduce heating costs.

Shelterbelts - Move
Moreover, "With all the benefits of shelterbelts, farmers can potentially increase crop yields by planting rows of trees at specific spacing, mainly because the snow retention and reduced evaporation means more soil moisture. Even when you consider lost production on the land used for trees, and crop competition close to the shelterbelts, the overall effect of planting shelterbelts is at the very least a yield stabilizing one," explains Skene.

According to the PFRA, proper planning of shelterbelts is probably the most important contributor to success. Farmers should consider tree spacing, soil type, drainage topography, tree species and prevailing winds. Planting shelterbelts in a way to avoid cutting off the wind from trees only a few years old is essential, she adds, in planting trees far enough apart and leaving room for expansion around the farmstead.

A comprehensive weed control program is essential for success, says Skene pointing out that it's essential for good growth rates and tree survival under severe prairie growing conditions. Weeds compete strongly for moisture, soil nutrients and sunlight, reducing the growth of shelterbelts that are more susceptible to disease and insect infestation. Skene adds, "These hand-controlled sprays are slow carefully directed herbicide applications, he explains.

Spill applications of Roundup in fence rows, shelterbelts and around farm buildings are also becoming more common, as farmers strive to improve the appearance of their farmsteads, and to insure that perennial weeds don't reinfest cultivated land that's been cleaned up, says Michael. "Maintaining good weed control is as important in established shelterbelts as it is out in the fields," he concludes.

Following herbicide application, PFRA recommends summerfallow or no-till for one year to planting trees. The following spring, annual weed seedlings should be controlled with a pre-emergence herbicide of Trifluralin.

"Proper use of herbicides removes the need for hoeing and reduces the amount of cultivation required for proper maintenance of the planting," says Aaron Micheli, weed control specialist for Monast, manufacturer of Roundup. He suggests that since tillage is not a viable weed control option for shelterbelts, farmers should develop a spraying program to control weeds in shelterbelts in these areas.

For shelterbelt and general weed control, Micheli recommends the back-spray sprayer as the most efficient equipment option. These hand-controlled sprays are slow carefully directed herbicide applications, he explains.

Tourism Employs Seniors

The new Senior Citizens' Tourism Employment Grants Program has provided summer employment for 384 senior citizens. The positions are in 95 tourism-related programs through the province.

The seniors were released today by Al "Boss" Adair, Minister of Tourism and Small Business and Jack Sturges, President of the Tourism Industry Association of Alberta. "We have received applications from the tourism firms for $60,000.00 of the $100,000 allocated to the program," said Mr. Adair. "I think this shows an excellent response both from the participating firms and the senior citizens themselves."

The majority of the positions are in the area of travel counselling at the tourist information centres. As well, several senior citizens are employed as tour guides, office assistants and in public relations activities.

Elvies of Alberta's tourism industry seniors have visited the program in this area.

Mr. Sturges thanked the Tourism Industry Association members who are very enthusiastic about the success of the program. "An additional, unexpected bonus has been the superb on-site training the seniors receive at the S.T.E.P. centre."

The residents of Ryley have overwhelmingly supported a move to further study the possibilities of having a hazardous waste treatment plant located in applied and 3 were rejected. The question which was put to the public was: "Do you favor the Village of Council of the Village of Regulating or not?" The results of the poll were: 80.3 per cent in favor of regulating and 19.7 per cent against. An estimated 90 to 95 per cent of the voters were registered in the plebiscite.

Village Councilor Ernest Brown said the results were pleased with the results of the plebiscite and that the Village will try to get started on the drilling of the oil wells as soon as it can pass them.

At a meeting of the Village Council on Monday evening, a resolution was passed calling on the Village of Council to request the provincial government for a permit to drill as soon as the Village could get an easement to drill on the land outside the Village outskirts.

On Tuesday, negotiations were held between Mr. Charles Magnusson for the Hen. Horst A. Schmidt, Minister of State for the Interior, International Trade, recently released trade figures in connection with the meeting with success in diversifying its international trade.

Mr. Schmidt said that in the last five years, consecutive year that Alberta's export growth rate has been the highest in the nation, increases in some sectors are phenomenal by world standards.

In 1961, Alberta's non-agricultural exports amounted to over one-fifth of its gross provincial product, valued at $9.44 billion, outside Canada, an increase from $7.99 billion in 1960.

While the bulk of exports still fall within the natural resource sector, new export signs are coming from other areas, particularly in the manufacturing line with invaluable exports.

Mr. Schmidt indicated he was especially encouraged by the fact that Alberta's exports engineering services, electronic data processing, and other services, where all have shown significant increases over 1960 and 1961. The total value of exports for 1961 was $10.1 million. Equipment for the oil and gas industry led the list, with a 10 per cent increase, amounting to a remarkable 100 per cent increase over 1960. In contrast, a 4.5 per cent rise in exports of natural gas and crude oil, and a 10 per cent increase through the combined value of machinery, equipment and livestock.

Mr. Schmidt said the way is moving in the right direction, business up to 28 per cent of total exports.

The United States remains the largest outlet for Alberta products, but because of the high concentration in other markets the share of total exports to the U.S. dropped from 40 per cent to 35.8 per cent in 1961. In 1961, the second largest customer was Canada with 22.2 per cent.

Mr. Schmidt said that the Government has been making a concerted effort to diversify its export base through trade missions and exhibitions. He identified the following areas which have shown particularly encouraging increases: For instance, machinery exports were up 140 per cent in 1961, and the third largest export market; shipments to the European Community rose 100 per cent by 40 per cent to $127.5 million.

Geographic areas receiving special attention are Latin America, the Middle East, and Eastern Europe and Africa.

The Minister announced that the Government has been particularly successful in the results of the special trade missions as far as exports of machinery and equipment as well as achievement awards for the Government's efforts to honor Alberta companies which have had outstanding success in the export of goods, services or technology and is meant to underwrite the Government's export trade policy in the provincial economy.

"Albertans should be proud of Alberta's achievements in the export field, the best in the world," Mr. Schmidt said. "Our participation by our companies in world trade shows and other international trade missions will further stimulate Alberta's continuously increasing export success."

Mr. Schmidt.

Do You Know The Bible Says

and the few short years of time that remain. Israel as a nation through the centuries of the Old Testament, and up to the birth of Christ failed God so miserably even after all the wonderful things He had done for them, that God allowed them to be taken captive, and God caused the land of Israel to become desolate and unproductive. In those years of the centuries of Israel, some of their Arab neighbors (foreigners) took possession of the Land of Israel (aqueduct) and as time went on they became established and in 1948 it was in the Will of God that Palestine Israel be returned to Israel. The Palestinians claiming it as their home have given Israel problems. Read Zechariah 6 here you will see that God purposed Israel to return to their own land again because His covenant with Abraham still stands good. Their land would become a seed and blossom as a rose. Read Isaiah 38 for this information. God has a purpose for Israel which won't always be pleasant, until Israel acknowledge that Christ is the True Son of God, and the coming Messiah. Israel cannot claim anything except for what God allows her.

God warns the nations of the world and you individuals to be kind to the Jews. That means you and I. God knows all about our troubles. He is going to work out His Will.

George Rauluk Laid To Rest

On Friday August 6, 1982, George Rauluk passed away after a lengthy illness at the Royal Alexandra Hospital in Edmonton. George was born in Coleman, Alberta on June 5, 1919. In 1952 he moved with his family to the farm south of Kinleith, where he resided until the time of his passing. Although George's first love was his family and his farm, he was never too preoccupied with them not to become active in the community. He enjoyed curling and was an avid hockey and ball fan, following both the boys and girls ball teams throughout the summer. George was an active member of the Kinleith Elks and was also active in community projects in Loughleed. His easy going nature and constant good humor won him many dear and close friends, both

U.C.W. To Celebrate 20 Years

The United Church Women are celebrating their 20th Anniversary. Twenty years ago the W.M.S. and the W.A. joined forces to form the United Church Women. The Viking United Church will have a special service of worship on September 8th at 10:00 a.m. in honor of the occasion. At this time new hymn books will be dedicated to the Life Members. These women have made significant contributions to the life of their church and community and it is fitting that we recognize this service.

In keeping with the birth-day theme a time of fun and fellowship will be held at the west campsite following the service. There will be winners for the kids and a pot luck for the adults. In case of bad weather it will be held indoors.

Irma News And Views

Visiting with the Burton and Craig families this week is Mrs. Allen Currie. The use of Jean Burton and Jim Craig, and long time friend of Mrs. Elizabeth Prior, with whom she is also renewing acquaintances.

Jim and Phyllis Craig recently spent some time in southern Alberta, where they attended a reunion of the Association of Plowmen and Tractorists at Langdon. In operation were tractors from 1911 on, all going with clockwork precision. The huge Case steamers made almost no sound - compared with the high-speed engines of today. They were a pleasure to see and hear. Watching the eight-bottom plow, or the old time threshing machines in operation brought back many memories. The use of these was the means of bringing neighbors together on many occasions - a fellowship which is lacking these days of high-speed living.

If you want to see a bustling hive of activity, just drop around to the Irma United Church on Saturday mornings from 10 to 12 noon, where you will see some willing workers setting out succulent vegetables and appealing home baked goodies. At the same time you can enjoy morning coffee and deep dish pie in a friendly atmosphere with your neighbors. So if you're in the market for some fresh produce, home baked breads, tarts and goodies during a busy harvest fall season and perhaps you will find just what you are looking for at the Garden and Home Bazaar held during the next two Saturdays.

James and Mrs. Stead and son Jack from Lethbridge, (formerly of Irma) visited with friends in the Irma area during the week end. All are looking fine. Jim announced that he had celebrated his 88th birthday.

Fred and Mrs. McFadden from Red Deer called in to Irma on Wednesday on their way home from a tour of Saskatchewan where they visited relatives at Fort Qu'Appelle and other points. In Irma they visited Minnie and Jim Jackson and Mrs. Chris Russell.

Minnie and Jim Jackson returned home by bus on Monday evening Aug. 30th after spending two weeks in the Okanagan Valley of B.C. They visited Tom and Frances Mooney at Vernon and also Polly and Mike Cooper. Mike enquired for all his friends and neighbors in and around Irma. We were surprised at how much Mike knew about happenings in Irma until we found that he has been getting the Weekly Review, second hand. At Kelowna we visited Mary and John Martin, found them both in good form and eager for news of Irma and their old neighbors. Peaches and apricots are ripe and we enjoyed some every day. They had ripened on the tree and were delicious.

Services Held For Dick McRoberts

Funeral services were held at the Irma United Church on August 3 for Richard Alexander (Dick) McRoberts who passed away July 29 in the University Hospital after a brief illness. McRoberts' Funeral Home was in charge of all arrangements.

Rev. Anne Gervase Blinn officiated, assisted by pianist Mrs. Betty Parsons and the church choir and Choral Group. Honorary pallbearers were: Charlie Milne, Donald Dunn, Wes Parsons and Rose McFarland. Active pallbearers were Keith Coffin, Ralph Mark, Allan Larson, Joe Burton, Ruth Fletcher, and Larry Mark. Interment was in the Irma cemetery.

Dick leaves to mourn his loss his mother, Ella, now residing in Tofield; his wife, Elsie; a son and daughter-in-law, Alan and Diana; a daughter, and son-in-law, Sheila and Dale Klein of Calgary; three grandchildren, Brandy, Shane and Denise; and two sisters, Mrs. Stan Taylor of Edmonton, and Mrs. John Moore of Tullidge.

Dick spent his life in the Irma district. He attended Albert School, and farmed in the district until the mid 1960's. He became a partner in Coffin and McRoberts Farm Supply, drove school bus for a number of years, and retired from his own fuel agency two years ago. Since that time he enjoyed casual farm work and caretaking at Irma's new curling rink. He actively supported the Chamber of Commerce, and was a member of the Elks Lodge. He enjoyed sports - at one time pitched ball for the Albert team - was an avid golfer, and enjoyed music, recently being a member of the United Church Choral Group.

Summer Feed And Forage Report

Forage crops throughout northern Alberta got off to a slow start due to limited rainfall during May and June. Widespread rain in July prompted growth but also interfered with haying operations. As a result, producers in north central and southern areas are experiencing reduced yields and quality in their 1982 hay crop. Southern and south central areas have reported average yields of generally good quality. These crops are probably reduced in yield compared to last year's due to the cool temperatures that prevailed during May. Haying operations are finished except for a few northern area producers who have been delayed due to poor weather. While the late coming rainfall has increased prospects for a second cut in some areas, other producers are finding their first cut comes off too late to allow for another cut. In this situation the replant will provide a good fall pasture.

Provincially, pastures are in good condition except for the south west corner around Pincher Creek and Claresholm where depleted moisture levels have caused pastures to dry off. Livestock are generally in good condition throughout Alberta. Silaging operations are well underway in most areas with many southern producers using hail damaged crops as forage. Greenfeed is being put up in these areas that had reduced yields in their hay crops.

Compared to the two eastern prairie provinces the Alberta forage situation is not as good. Although their first cuts were average, the prospects for second cuts are good in both Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

Regional Summaries

Southern Region (Lethbridge, Medicine Hat): Favorable moisture conditions earlier this summer provided good growing conditions for first cut hay crops throughout this region. Most districts have reported average yields of generally good quality, however, yields are slightly lower than last year's in most districts. Pastures are drying off around Lethbridge, Warburg, Claresholm and Pincher Creek resulting in some cattlemen looking for adequate pastures. Livestock are reported in good to excellent condition in all districts. The replant alfalfa has started around Lethbridge, Taber, Medicine Hat and Brooks with early reports indicating average yields.

South Central Region (Calgary, Hanna): Haying operations are essentially complete throughout this region with good yields reported. Although these yields are lower than last year's for this region they are of good quality. Silaging operations are continuing and producers are putting up in these areas that had reduced yields in their hay crops.

are putting up greenfeed. Pastures are in good condition in all districts due to adequate moisture levels. With so serious livestock problems cattle are reported in good condition throughout the region.

North Central Region (Red Deer, Wetaskiwin): First cuts of hay have been completed in all areas except around Red Deer where it is nearly complete and around Bowden where haying is progressing slowly. Yields are good but quality varies from fair to good due to frequent showers when the hay was ready to be put up. Silage operations are well underway in most districts. With excellent rain, reduced moisture levels in this region, pastures are reported as good to excellent. Livestock are also in good condition with the exception of some blacking reported in the Wetaskiwin area.

North East Region (Vermilion, St. Paul): While first cut hay has been yielded more than last year, yields are still below average. Quality is only considered fair due to either frequent showers on hay in the window or rain prevailing producers from cutting the hay before it over matured. Haying operations on the first cut are nearing completion in the Bonnyville, Smoky Lake and Vegreville areas while most other districts are finished. Some second cuts of tame hay are starting around the Viking and Tofield areas. Greenfeed is being put up in many areas to supplement the hay supply. Cattle are in good condition in all districts.

North West Region (Edmonton, Barrhead): Dry conditions earlier this summer has resulted in forage yields being reduced from last year's for this region. Yields are generally 1½ to 2 tons or less and only of fair quality. Many producers in the Barrhead, Wetaskiwin areas have been unable to get their haying equipment on the fields due to the rain. While this rain has caused a decrease in quality of hay it has improved pastures and increased the possibilities of a second cut. Livestock are generally considered in fair to good condition.

Pace River Region (Fairview, Grande Prairie, Peace River): Yields in this region reported reduced by a factor of a poor to fair quality due to the dry conditions. Moisture levels earlier this summer. Areas around Fairview, Grande Prairie, Spirit River and High Prairie have had slightly better yields but even these are poor. Second cuts are looking promising due to recent moisture that is reported throughout the region. Pastures vary from poor to good depending on moisture levels. Cattle are considered in fair to good condition with no serious problems.

starting around the Viking and Tofield areas. Greenfeed is being put up in many areas to supplement the hay supply. Cattle are in good condition in all districts.

Go-Ahead Given To Residential Development

The go-ahead has been given to the development of lots in the Longhills subdivision. The decision was made at a special meeting of the Viking Town Council held at the end of August.

At the meeting, Mayor

Rushkin presented figures given to him by Cicon Engineering which put the cost of developing 18 lots on 84A Avenue at $291,000. This cost includes the upgrading of the lots, water and sewer underground services, surface storm run-off, curb and gutter and paving on 84A Avenue.

The estimate is also to include grading of the access to the development which will be along 56 Avenue (the half diamond road), with the placement of curb and gutter along this street. Paving of 56 Avenue is not specifically called for in the estimate, with plans to leave it gravelled at this time.

Council passed a motion which called for the drafting of a by-law which would allow for the borrowing of $240,000. Besides the amount needed for development, the Town also would allow $50,000 to cover the cost of the Longhills land purchase, and $55,000 for purchase of all of the initial development plans for the entire Longhills subdivision as prepared by Cicon Engineering. Both of these latter costs are for purchase and planning of the entire Longhills purchase.

Plans at this point are to complete as much of the residential development as possible this fall, with prepping and landscaping expected to begin shortly. The paving of the Avenue will be left until next year.

Also at the special meeting, a representative from the Alberta Housing Corporation and one from Matson Engineering were on hand to discuss the proposed Redick subdivision. The discussion focused on the lack of water and sewer services to the new area. The A.H.C. representative also discussed with the Council that services are extremely important to this development, but he was also concerned about the total over all cost of the subdivision. He indicated that A.H.C. wanted the subdivision to be a viable proposition, and not to have to spend out of reach for developers.

As a result of the meeting, Matson Engineering was instructed to retain the area and try to provide for partial development of the area with sewer and water services provided.

As well, the A.H.C. representative was requested that the Town do some advertising about the future availability of commercial lots in the Redick subdivision. He suggested that a sign be erected on the site informing people of the new development. Plans are to begin the project in the spring of 1983.

T.V. Suspected Culprit In House Fire

A fire in the lower floor of the Don and Ann Hafso home caused extensive fire damage to one room in the basement and resulted in smoke and heat damage throughout the entire structure.

It didn't take long for the department to get water to the fire. By the time they arrived, the family were in the basement of the home was engulfed in flames and smoke was billowing from the building. The volunteers brought the blaze under control quickly, and then spent a couple of hours ensuring that they had stopped any further outbreaks.

Although the fire was limited to the family room of the house, smoke and water damage was extensive. The heat produced by the fire melted plastic light fixtures on the second floor, and caused damage to the kitchen cupboards.

The only rooms that didn't suffer severe smoke damage were the bedrooms. Rooms that had the doors closed. Otherwise, virtually nothing in the house was spared a heavy dose of smoke.

Because the fire was limited to the family room, actual fire damage included only the contents of the room. But this was news

Pickles - When Something Goes Wrong

There are many factors involved in making good pickles; your water, method used and freshness of produce. Below are some common questions with explanations:

Pickles were soft - these may be eaten if you are sure they haven't spoiled. WHY - too little salt was used, hard water was used (mechanically softened water is not suitable either), produce was not soaked before pickling, blossom ends were not removed and enzymes were present.

Bribe is cloudy - pickles may be eaten as long as there are not other danger signs (bubbles, mold, leakage, souring, sticky or slippery pickles, yeasty liquid, disagreeable smell). If any of these spoilage signs are present, discard contents as they cannot be eaten by humans or animals. WHY - use of table salt rather than pickling salt. Pickles shrivelled - WHY - too much salt was used, vinegar or sugar solution was too strong, too much time elapsed between pickling and pickling (same day is best), pickles were processed too long, water contained too much calcium. If you have had any other problems with your pickles give me a call at 685-8555.

Irma Seniors Hold Meeting

The monthly business meeting at the Drop-in Centre was held on Sept. 1st with a fair turn-out of seniors.

The president Phyllis

Craig called the meeting to order at 2:00 p.m. She said in her opening remarks that it would probably be a short

The president then read a humorous article, entitled "What is a Grandmother?" which was written by a grade three student. It caused much laughter.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and discussed and were carried as read.

The treasurer, Donald

Gunn then gave his report covering the first eight months of the year, which revealed that receipts lagged behind expenditures, however, we are still solvent. The report was accepted as presented.

Cc.-rites were discussed and it was decided that a committee be set up to arrange for a series of card games. Whist and Cribbage were suggested for the winter.

A fall market and book sale and tea was decided upon to be held in the Drop-in centre on October 14th.

4 Good Reasons To Apply TREFLAN® QRS Early This Fall

- 1. MONEY — TREFLAN QRS easily penetrates trash and stubble so you won't have to work your stubble completely down before application. That saves you several workings & with each working costing you at least $2.50/acre that's big savings.
- 2. WORKLOAD — you don't have to wait until after harvest and before freeze-up. Apply TREFLAN QRS early and spread out your workload.
- 3. WEATHER — apply QRS when the weather's on your side. Days are usually better in early September than late October.
- 4. TIME — if you apply TREFLAN QRS early, you'll have time to do both incorporations before freezing. That will save you time and moisture next spring.

The Public Utilities Board has approved a five-cent-per litre increase in the minimum retail price of field milk effective September 1.

This decision is the result of an August 18 public hearing of applications by the three major processors - distributors (Alpine, Northern Alberta Dairy Pool and Palm Dairies) and SIGN Alberta (Support Independent Growers Now) for an increase in the present minimum wholesale and retail prices for field milk produced by the Board.

The application by the processors-distributors was for a five cent per litre increase September 1 and a further five cent increase January 1, 1983 on the wholesale price.

The application by SIGN was for an increase in the margin between the wholesale and retail price of 6.2 cents per litre. The margin up to now has been 8 cents per litre.

Both applications were based on the increased costs of handling field milk products.

The increase approved by the Board is based on a four cent increase in the minimum wholesale price and an additional one cent into the margin between the wholesale and retail price.

The minimum retail price has increased by 7 cents per litre or 10 per cent since July of 1981. Of this increase, two cents has gone to the dairy farmers, four cents to the processors and distributors and one cent to the retailers.

Grain Exporter Cooperation Urged By Canada

Senator Argue, responsible for the Grain Wheat Board, said it is essential that the immediate action to the problem of depressed world grain prices.

Senator Argue told the U.S. Wheat Association annual meeting in Canada that the immediate action to the problem of depressed world grain prices.

"I believe that now more than ever before is the right time for joint action in view of the current problem of high input costs and low grain prices."

The minister emphasized that the objective of export cooperation would be to ensure a reliable and regular flow of grain at prices fair to both producers and consumers.

Senator Argue said that at a meeting earlier this year he made these general proposals known to Secretary of Agriculture John Block.

"The position you as wheat producers take on this issue is of course of major importance," Senator Argue noted that between them, the United States and Canada export about two-thirds of the wheat traded internationally.

"There are only a few main wheat exporting countries, including Australia, Argentina, the European Economic Community outside of Canada and the U.S. so world wheat export cooperation is both practical and possible."

"It is a fact that importing countries are today buying wheat in many instances at prices below the farmers' cost of production so immediate joint action to improve the grain producers' situation is urgent and should be pursued immediately."

Senator Argue noted the Canadian Wheat Board System based on the orderly flow of wheat to world markets readily lends itself to export cooperation. But the United States is the dominant exporter in the key factor in any advances in this area.

"Indeed your country acting alone can have a major effect on world prices. But whatever you might accomplish by yourself, and that could be very considerable, the major exporting nations can do much, much more by effectively working together."

4-H On The Move

By Ed Mason, Regional 4-H Specialist

A 4-H Light Horse Club is a group of people who have a common interest in horses and who are working to improve their knowledge and skills in horse care and management.

And no adults to help him or her out with these tasks. It is the club leader who keeps the club going and keeps on top of new 4-H programs or resources. The best leaders have it up to the members to make club decisions and organize activities but they also know that they may be called on to keep the club on track and to keep the members interested and enthusiastic.

The club leader was quite upset, as why he bothered to do all. A horse standing in the paddock offered the example to those leaders, "4-H is a club you."

The volunteer leader asked up the backbones of the 4-H movement. This is a group of people who have a common interest in horses and who are working to improve their knowledge and skills in horse care and management.

The club leaders receive very tangible benefits for their work with 4-H clubs; the pride of watching youngsters grow to become mature, contributing members of their community, the knowledge that they have contributed to a young person's growth and development and the warm feeling of accomplishment.

One other reward a leader gets for volunteering to help a 4-H club is a chance to go to the annual 4-H Leaders Conference. This year's Provincial Leaders Conference will be held November 14 to 16 in Lethbridge, Alberta.

It is a fact that importing countries are today buying wheat in many instances at prices below the farmers' cost of production so immediate joint action to improve the grain producers' situation is urgent and should be pursued immediately."

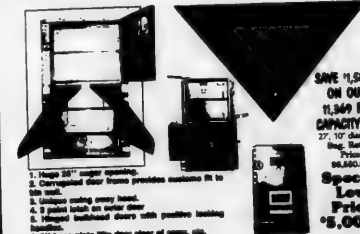

Senator Argue noted the Canadian Wheat Board System based on the orderly flow of wheat to world markets readily lends itself to export cooperation. But the United States is the dominant exporter in the key factor in any advances in this area.

Kinsella-Viking Agree, Bruce To Meet

The Recreation Boards of Kinsella and Viking have reached agreement on possible taxation boundaries, while the Bruce Recreation Board will be meeting in the near future on the Viking proposal. The establishment of boundaries between the areas was discussed at a meeting of the Viking Recreation Board and representatives of the Bruce and Kinsella Boards held last Wednesday.

At the meeting, Linda Welch and Joe Makar represented the Kinsella Recreation Board while Vicky Field and Trish Rolston represented the Bruce Board. The Viking Recreation Board had requested that the three Boards meet so that boundaries could be set to establish areas for a possible recreation tax that would be included in the annual mill rate for the County. This request resulted from a meeting which the Viking Recreation Board had with the County of Beaver Council.

Viking Board Chairman Brian Nordstrom initiated the discussion between the Boards by giving the background information on the Viking Board's meeting with the County. He said that they had called the meeting because the County didn't want to get into a fight over the boundaries and that the County wanted the Boards to arrive at mutually acceptable boundaries.

F.C.S.B. Director Dick Channery reviewed the Viking Board's original submission to the County and the study of the use of recreational facilities in Viking. It was noted that the survey found that there was about a 50-50 split between town and County users.

Following some discussion on the survey, the Makar introduced the Kinsella proposal in response to the Viking proposal. Mr. Makar said that the Kinsella Recreation Board's boundaries were very similar to Viking's, with only about two sections of difference between the two plans.

Mr. Makar then laid out the boundaries as determined by the Kinsella Board. Following some discussion of the proposed line, the Viking Board moved that they accept the Kinsella

Council Responds To B.V.A.P.A. Queries

During the latter part of April, the Council of the County of Beaver, B.C., clarified its position on the Hardwood Waste Plant issue by passing the following motion: "The Council has agreed that they will no longer consider a Hardwood Waste Plant in the County of Beaver". However, during the September 9th meeting of the County Council, the request of the Bruce-Viking Agricultural Producers Association to attend for the purpose of again answering questions on the Hardwood Waste issue.

The two questions put to Council by Don Ronaghan on behalf of the Association were worded as follows: 1. In correspondence with Mr. Jack Cookson, Provincial Minister of the Environment, he indicated that the Council of the County would have to approve test drilling or exploration for the purpose of siting hazardous waste disposal facilities in or near the Village of Ryley. In light of the position previously put forward by this council that they would no longer be involved in the siting of such facilities what will be the position of the Council regarding test drilling in the county for location of hazardous waste disposal facilities in or near the village of Ryley?

2. What type of arrangement is in place at the present time regarding revenues from the Village of Ryley? Does the County have any revenue from property taxes from the Village of Ryley and what services does the County provide to the Village of Ryley?

The Secretary-Treasurer, Gorth Bancroft, responded on behalf of the Council and advised that under regulation as set forth in the Municipal Government Act, one municipal body does not grant permission to another municipal body to annex property. This is handled by the Local Authorities Board who, by order may annex territory. He clarified this by distributing copies of sections 20 and 126 of the Municipal Government Act.

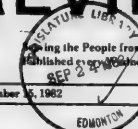

In answer to the second question put before Council, Mr. Bancroft advised that the only revenue received by the County from the Village of Ryley was an education allotment.

Memorial Fund Being Looked Into

Moves have begun on establishing a memorial fund for recreation for the Viking area. This is as a result of discussions held at the September meeting of the Viking and District Recreation Board held last Wednesday.

In discussion on the need for fund raising activities for the area, the Board felt that a memorial fund would be a strong possibility. It was decided that some members of the Board would look into establishing such a fund had not met on the Viking proposal, but that they would try to meet on the proposal as soon as it was made.

The Viking proposal sets the boundary line between the Bruce and Viking recreation areas as being the line between Division 2 and Division 3 from the north boundary of the County to the line between Township 47 and 48, then 4 miles west, then south to split Township 47 in half, then south to meet the County line.

As no agreement could be reached with the Bruce delegation, discussion focused on the need for such boundaries. Mrs. Field said that Bruce has all the recreation tax handle for a small community. Dick Channery felt that establishing a regular source of revenue was a good idea because it would allow the areas to plan ahead. He noted that major facilities were a long-term proposition.

Joe Makar asked if Viking would everybody to go for the tax levy. Eamon Cunningham responded in the affirmative, with it being agreed that it would be a matter of fact across the fence. Mr. Makar felt that all of the Rec Boards could use the money.

County Reviews Transport Issues

During the regular September meeting of the County of Beaver Council a number of transportation related issues were discussed.

Correspondence was received from the Department of Transportation with regard to their improvement plan which is designed to do away with unnecessary approaches from private property to the Highway 619 present highways. In the discussion that followed the County agreed that the plan sounded feasible but that they request that permission from the private land owner be obtained as well as a County Development Permit within County standards and that this project be completed at no expense to the County of Beaver.

Two representatives from Terlich Consulting Ltd. attended the meeting to provide an outline of the upgrading and construction work to be undertaken on Secondary Highway 604

Town Maintenance

One of the very great responsibilities of any Town is to maintain the Town in good condition. This does not mean that everything has to be perfectly ship shape all of the time, but it does mean that the streets are maintained, the lanes are graded periodically, the trees are trimmed, and other such general maintenance items. This requires some organization and planning, and also requires attention on a regular basis.

From time to time recently in Villing, some general maintenance chores have been left undone. There may be various and sundry reasons why this has happened, but examples include the Lake Thomas recreation area, and 51 Street between 58 and 59 Avenues. For the better part of the year, Lake Thomas was not attended to in a manner that would provide for a safe place for people to enjoy the outdoors. If a community takes on such a program, then they should ensure that an area such as this is attended to - otherwise they should shut it down. And 51 Street has been in a very bad state of disrepair since the spring thaw, a period of well over four months. Granted, the Town did spend a few hours one day filling in the holes, but that occurred two months ago with indications that the street would be put into good condition shortly. Two months is not short.

And there have been other occurrences during this summer when things were going to be done by the Town and they are yet to be done. Once an individual taxpayer is told that the task will be undertaken by the Town, it should not take a month for it to be completed. As well as paying taxes towards the future of the community, taxpayers also pay large amounts expecting that these general maintenance functions will be carried out. This is not an unfair expectation on the part of the taxpayer.

If a Town experiences difficulties in carrying out these maintenance functions, then the reason for these difficulties should be determined and rectified. If it is poor organization, then this should change. If it is staffing, then this should change. If it is failure to complete a task then this should be looked into and rectified. Recently, the Town of Villing has been working on providing both residential and commercial areas for the Town as well as trying to get the new water treatment plant into operation. This is highly commendable, for it is development for the future. However, at the same time, the Town has been experiencing problems in getting things done. Perhaps it is time that the focus for the next while be placed on rectifying the situation within the Town that sees basic maintenance functions taking from 2 to 4 months. This is much too long. Perhaps inherent in this problem is a need for a reorganization of responsibilities so as to ensure that the manpower is made available to do the job when it is needed.

south of Tofield. Approximately 3 miles are to be constructed with construction expected to commence within a week or two. One of the problems encountered in the removal of existing black dirt in the road base and its replacement with a 2 ft. clay base. When completed the project will have a 30 ft. surface with a 20 ft. paved top consisting of 2 1/2 inches of loose fill with 1/2 inch of clay on each side. Estimated cost of the provincial project is $400,000.

vices attended the afternoon session of Council and presented a letter to Council with regard to providing better radio communication services in the Villing and Kinross area. The County is now operating on a system with its base tower at Cooking Lake which does not provide adequate service for operators to use one channel in the east end of the County.

Eugene Robinson, representative of Millmans, suggested two alternatives. The most effective, and consequently the most costly would be to erect a 300 ft. tower at of Hildes, or to erect a 90 ft. tower in the Villing area. The County has a tower in the Village of Ryley which is not currently being used and could therefore be put to use in Villing.

However, should Council decide to build a tower in Villing the model would be for operators to use one channel in the east end of the County and switch to another channel to communicate messages to the west end. Council made no definite decision on the matter at this time.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

Education and Economy
In a speech calling for a renewed fight against inflation, International Monetary Fund managing director Jacques de Larosiere called the inflation performance in Japan and West Germany an "inflation miracle" and referred to the United States and Britain as impressive respectively. Encouraging news was even mentioned on a list of industrial nations that had made "important progress on the price front". The IMF annual meeting, which was held in Toronto, was for the first time since its creation in 1944 dominated by fears that countries through default on their debts could cause chaos in the world banking system, which bankers are trying to avoid through refinancing, re-scheduling payments and additional additional required loans.

As a consequence, we will experience a loss and sudden collapse of our economies, which I think would be better off if it is in the long run, since our recovery would start sooner and more forcefully, but we all will face worse economic times than we have now. Really, it doesn't matter, what will happen. Only one thing matters. Not so much that we in Canada make "important progress on the price front" only, but that we start laying the foundation for building a healthy economy, which can last. The foundation is proper housing, at home as well as in school.

The process of education starts not in Kindergarten, not in school, but at home, right after the child is born. The child has to be loved, guided and disciplined, and can be better with the help of mothers, who do not go to work, who do not leave their children more or less unsupervised on the streets. Children need constant guidance and sense of security from their mothers in their early years of life. A change toward less permissiveness has to take place, so as not to lose control of children. Discipline has to be imposed on them. In case where young or not knowledgeable parents do not know what to do morally right or wrong, clergymen, senior teachers or parents, whose children are being brought up properly, could be consulted. It is morally unacceptable, when parents send, value and police permit young twelve, eight or even four year old children to enter movies, which are restricted because of obscenities, vulgarities, violence, perversion.

Some discussion was held on the possibility of asking the group taking over the retraining in High School, similar to a program as envisioned by the American Philosopher Mortimer Adler in his "An Educational Manifesto". The "Padeia Proposal". Adler's conviction is that specialization is the blemish of our time. The program aims at enabling the young to become better human beings and better citizens, not just better at some particular line of work. And that is exactly what we need of our Canadian generation of tomorrow. Germany had before and after the war a similar program, and that of Japan is not much different.

It is time for Canada now, to recognize, that it is not enough, to just put an emphasis on a program to turn out young people who know, how to do their job, but rather to supply the labour market with trained, well-trained people, who bring along the right mental attitude towards work.

To help develop a student better academically, a reform is required. To-day High School disciplines are routinely awarded to students who are functionally illiterate, who are poor in mathematics, and who do not even know the geography of their own province, let alone that of their country, not to mention at a world, just to name a few examples. A reform is required, which instills discipline, single-track academic program with virtually no electives and no vocational training. It is time for Canada now, to recognize, that it is not enough, to just put an emphasis on a program to turn out young people who know, how to do their job, but rather to supply the labour market with trained, well-trained people, who bring along the right mental attitude towards work.

Railway Crossing Safety Viewed

"The Canadian Transportation Commission report on safety of railway crossings may be viewed as a final point, which brings all the problems together for consideration of all parties concerned." Transportation Minister Henry Krugger said recently.

In its report, the Railway Transportation Safety Board recommended to the C.T.C. outline recommendations to improve safety at railway crossings. Mr. Krugger stated that his department is "taking steps to contact the various other levels of government and the railway companies, with a view to improving safety at railway crossings."

The minister cautioned, however, that "implementation of these recommendations directed at the road authorities will be a challenge in complexity, because railway crossings are located in cities, towns, villages, rural municipalities, counties, and other jurisdictions."

Lennox Pulse Furnace

UNPRECEDENTED HEATING EFFICIENCY
The Lennox Pulse gas furnace is the most significant breakthrough in furnace design in over 40 years. It produces heat unlike any other furnace with greater efficiency than ever before possible. Operating on a principle of pulse combustion, small quantities of gas and air are ignited by a spark plug. After the initial spark, combustion feeds on itself, providing unprecedented heating efficiency.

MORE HEAT. LESS WASTE.
If your present gas furnace is over five years old, it is probably in the 55 to 60% efficiency range. Compare this with the Pulse efficiency ratings of 96 to 98%! The difference can mean a drastic reduction in your monthly heating bills - enough to justify replacing your current unit to day, though it still operates. The Pulse furnace is that efficient. Even if your system is a newer "high efficiency" model, your savings are still huge with the Lennox Pulse furnace.

EXTENSIVE RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT
This amazing efficiency is the result of over five years of field testing and research. Lennox technology has made the Pulse furnace easy to install and service. (It can replace any Lennox up to 100,000 Btu/hr. furnace installed in the last 40 years with virtually no alterations in duct, cooling coil or accessories.) For LPC fired models, a conversion kit is required for changeover from natural gas.

The amazing new

Lennox Pulse Furnace

UNPRECEDENTED HEATING EFFICIENCY
The Lennox Pulse gas furnace is the most significant breakthrough in furnace design in over 40 years. It produces heat unlike any other furnace with greater efficiency than ever before possible. Operating on a principle of pulse combustion, small quantities of gas and air are ignited by a spark plug. After the initial spark, combustion feeds on itself, providing unprecedented heating efficiency.

MORE HEAT. LESS WASTE.
If your present gas furnace is over five years old, it is probably in the 55 to 60% efficiency range. Compare this with the Pulse efficiency ratings of 96 to 98%! The difference can mean a drastic reduction in your monthly heating bills - enough to justify replacing your current unit to day, though it still operates. The Pulse furnace is that efficient. Even if your system is a newer "high efficiency" model, your savings are still huge with the Lennox Pulse furnace.

*Efficiency certified and approved by Canadian Gas Institute.

1. Air intake, mixing valve & blower assembly
2. Gas valve
3. Combustion chamber
4. Tail pipe
5. Heat exchanger
6. Blower
7. Puff
8. Exhaust decelerator

EXTENSIVE RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT
This amazing efficiency is the result of over five years of field testing and research. Lennox technology has made the Pulse furnace easy to install and service. (It can replace any Lennox up to 100,000 Btu/hr. furnace installed in the last 40 years with virtually no alterations in duct, cooling coil or accessories.) For LPC fired models, a conversion kit is required for changeover from natural gas.

* Lennox add-on air conditioning coil, electronic air cleaner and power humidifier can easily be added to the furnace for a year-round Total Comfort system.

* The Lennox Pulse furnace has a lot more going for it ... low cost installation, high quality components, easy serviceability and quiet trouble-free operation. This outstanding design is backed by the Lennox reputation for quality, unequalled in over 87 years as an industry leader and innovator.

With the return of students to school, Mom is once again packing lunches. Following are a few ideas to start the year off.

Choose a variety of breads for lunches, whether you're making sandwiches or filling a thermos with chili. Try onion or cheese buns, rye bread, crusty rolls, even hot dog buns are a change.

Instead of a sandwich, wrap luncheon meat around a cube of cheese and fasten with a toothpick. Or roll Bologna around a lettuce leaf that has been spread with mayonnaise. Brain outlin with cheese slices, cherry tomatoes, and yogurt would make a nutritious and fast bag lunch.

Most sandwiches can be made and frozen ahead of time. Avoid fillings such as eggs, luncheon meat, tomatoes and lettuce as they don't freeze well.

Different sandwich fillings take the monotony out of bag lunches. Try deviled ham, liver pate, whipped cream cheese with pesto, olives, pineapple, chives or raisins.

Surprise the children with treats - raisins, nuts, a favorite fruit or even a comic. Getting the kids involved in making their own lunch

Canada has a constitution.

Alberta "Lones"

Guiding is a world-wide organization - the largest in the world - for Girls and Women. The programme prepares Girls for responsible citizenship by means of a value system, where they gain many skills, work in groups, make and carry out decisions, learn about the great outdoors, camping, etc. At the same time, the Girls (and Leaders) make lasting friendships and have fun! The opportunity of travelling to participate at special national and international events and camping is available to both the Girl and the Adult.

Many Girls want to belong to Girl Guides of Canada, but are unable to join an active group. The reasons are varied: they can be too distant, previous time commitment when meetings are held, or there is no group in her area.

Guiding consists of Brownies (ages 6 to 9); Guides (9 to 12); Pathfinders (12 to 18); Junior Leaders, Rangers and Cadets (15 to 17). For any Girl between the ages of 6 to 17 who wishes to belong to Guiding and cannot join an active Unit for some reason - "LONES" is the answer. The Girl participates by correspondence. Opportunities to camp are available to her as well.

Any Girl in the Province wishing to become involved in Guiding may send her name and address to the Provincial Lones Adviser for the Girl Guides of Canada, but are unable to join an active group. The reasons are varied: they can be too distant, previous time commitment when meetings are held, or there is no group in her area.

What does community development mean?

Last year, it meant building a new wharf for Point au Gaul, Newfoundland. Renovating an education centre in High Level, Alberta. And improving a salmon fishery in the Skeena region of British Columbia.

This year it means jobs for over 48,000 Canadians.

The federal government's Canada Community Development Projects (CCDP) will provide $270 million to hire local workers for projects that improve the communities in which they live. Young people, men and women and disabled Canadians, will be building their work skills and experience, while building their communities.

If you have an idea that will enhance the economic or social life of your community and employ three or more local people full-time, visit your local Canada Employment Centre. Applications and program information are available for sponsor organizations, local corporations and cooperatives who've got the experience to organize and coordinate community-based employment programs like CCDP. Job creation is a vital component of the federal government's six and five economic recovery plan.

Tell us what you think community development can mean to your community, and all the people who live and work there.

Applications must be received by September 30, 1982.

Only 53 Per Cent Of Canola Crop Top Grade

A special survey of rapeseed in frost-damaged areas of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba shows only 53 per cent of this year's rapeseed/canola crop will grade No. 1 and No. 2 Canada Rapeseed, United Grain Growers (UGG) reported Wednesday.

Canadian crushers and Japan, the main importer of Canadian canola, use only No. 1 and No. 2 rapeseed. No. 3 Canada Rapeseed and Rapeseed Sample Account Damaged is sold at discount prices in small lots to European crushers, feed mill processors and bird seed processors.

The estimate means almost certainly Canadian crushers will be short of rapeseed in the 1982/83 crop year, and even foreign importers might be hard pressed to find available supplies, said the UGG report.

Last Friday Statistics Canada estimated 99 million bushels of rapeseed would be produced in 1982. The survey was conducted before the late-August frosts in Western Canada and made no allowance for grades.

Normally, over 90 per cent of the Prairie crop is No. 1 and No. 2 Canada Rapeseed, said UGG. Its survey revealed only 52,230,000 bushels is expected to grade No. 3 or Sample with much of it top badly damaged by frost to be salvagable.

Frosted rapeseed contains green kernels that impart a colour to the oil and shortening. Damage from frost is ascertained by crushing 1,000-seed samples and counting the number of green seeds. No. 1 rapeseed can contain only 2 per cent green, No. 2, 6 per cent, and No. 3 up to 30 per cent green seeds.

United Grain Growers estimates 9,180,000 bushels of the top two grades of rapeseed/canola will be harvested in Manitoba, 16,960,000 bushels in Saskatchewan and 32,530,000 bushels in Alberta and the Peace River block of B.C.

The worst damage occurred to frozen Manitoba rapeseed where UGG estimated only 15 per cent will grade No. 1 and 2, followed by Saskatchewan with 30 per cent and Alberta with 60 per cent.

UGG estimated all the crop was damaged to some extent in Manitoba, with 6,960,000 bushels in Saskatchewan and 21,960,000 bushels in Alberta and B.C. not damaged.

In 1981/82, 72,000,000 bushels of rapeseed/canola were exported and the domestic crush was 38,154,000 bushels. The August 1, 1982 carry-over of rapeseed was 28,748,000 bushels. This leaves only 80,978,000 bushels of top grades of rapeseed available for export or crushing during the 1982/83 crop year.

More Alberta Gas for More Canadians.

Joint Alberta/Canada funding creates new markets.

The Government of Canada has a program to create new markets for Alberta's natural gas. And it's funded jointly by the Government of Alberta, under the Canada/Alberta Energy Agreement.

The Distribution System Expansion Program, DSEP, provides grants to gas utilities east of Alberta, enabling them to extend gas service to areas that previously they could not serve profitably. Many of the new customers created by the extended service will be eligible for grants under the successful Canada Oil Substitution Program.

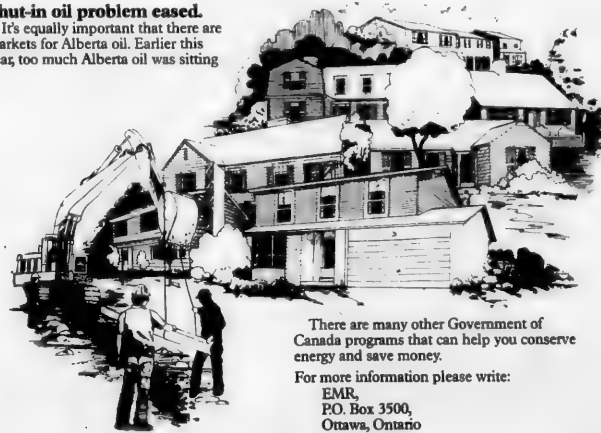

DSEP has been enthusiastically received by the utilities. By the end of 1982, the first year of the program, hundreds of extension projects will have been completed, making Alberta natural gas available to thousands of Canadian families.

Shut-in oil problem eased.

It's equally important that there are markets for Alberta oil. Earlier this year, too much Alberta oil was sitting in the ground because there were insufficient markets for it. This oil wasn't earning money for the people who discovered it, and they need that money to find new oil and help move Canada to self-sufficiency.

In April, the Government of Canada announced measures to ease this problem, and followed it up recently in the National Energy Program Update by facilitating the purchase of Alberta oil by refiners in Atlantic Canada. The problem has eased considerably, but the Government will continue to watch the situation closely and take additional steps if necessary.

There are many other Government of Canada programs that can help you conserve energy and save money.

New Highway Painting Standards To Be Used

Alberta Transportation has adopted new highway painting standards for use on the Province's highways system. Transportation Minister Henry Krueger announced recently.

The revised highway painting standards, recently developed by the Roads and Transportation Association of Canada, will permit more efficient use of Alberta transportation's regional painting. Mr. Krueger said: "It will allow the equipment to be used with greater flexibility and generally improve the overall quality of highway markings."

The new standards will provide painted markings that divide the paved portion of each road into travel lanes of equal and uniform width. Thirty-centimeter wide shoulder lines will be installed at interchange and important intersections to assist the public in locating the exit and entrance points at these locations. In addition, wide-dashed lines will also be installed on all acceleration and deceleration ramps at these locations to advise motorists that they are entering or leaving the highway system.

The Minister said that 1982 will be a transition period for implementing the change in highway painting standards, resulting in all highways being painted according to the new standards and applied over the existing markings. The duplication of markings is expected to remain for only a short period of time until the old ones are worn away. During this transition period, there will be no reduction in the safety aspects of the provincial highway system he added.

Said Mr. Krueger: "By adopting these new standards, our highway painting procedures will become more efficient and with the increased emphasis on improved interchange and transition zone markings, it will also keep Alberta Transportation's road marking program abreast of the other provinces."

Help From The Government

Commenting on Premier Lougheed's recent announcement of plans to assist farmers, small business and homeowners, Ed Motowyl, NPU official said, "Some would view Premier Lougheed's proposals as better than nothing, but it's not going to solve the economic dilemma."

The NPU official continued, saying, "Money from the Heritage Trust Fund has been invested at lower interest rates all along. We've been paying outrageous interest rates to borrow our own money!"

"As homeowners or farmers, we initially have to pay the full interest, then some of us, hopefully, will qualify to recoup the difference between the going rate and the 14 1/2 per cent promised to farmers."

The multi-national institutions are still raising the profits - directly by charging high interest rates and - indirectly through the Alberta government dipping into the proceeds of the Heritage Trust Fund.

"The rich get richer and the poor get poorer a few dollars to keep them quiet," said Mr. Motowyl.

He continued, saying, "There are 4,000 farmers in the Peace River area who are facing near total disaster due to drought, frost and insect infestation. Not one word was mentioned about the government helping these people out."

Ed Motowyl, NPU official for Alberta concluded by wondering how long the Alberta government is prepared to continue to mislead the people of this province.

Do You Know The Bible Says

And ye shall hear of wars and rumors of wars: one that ye be not troubled; for all these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet. Matt. 24:6.

In my last article I mentioned how Israel is very much in Gods plans, and especially now. Israel has waged war against the PLO without too much interference from other Arab nations, and this is why I believe it has all been in the Will of God. Israel has and is waging this war according to their own strategy but they are aware of Gods promises and covenant with Abraham and believe He will abide by this. But they are still rejecting Christ as their promised Messiah, and not until they do accept Him as God set upon His covenant with them. They think they are accomplishing the obstacles that are in the way of their having peace, but there will be no peace to Israel until they accept Christ as Gods true promised Saviour and Lord.

God has promised to bless every nation that treated Israel well and showed kindness to her; and the URA and England have done this through the years, but England has been failing and allowing things against the will of God, so that country has been crumbling during the last 7 decades or more. This morning on Canada A.M. a couple of gentlemen were talking about a book they had written about Canada's rejection of Jewish immigrants during the past 50 years and they got most of their information from Government files. Is it any wonder our Canada is crumbling?

Friends, sin is the downfall of every nation and Empire of the past centuries and it is the same today. Laws upholding sin and corruption. For the wages of sin is death, but the Gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord. Rom. 6:23.

The wage is death for the nation or for every individual who does not confess to God that he or she is a sinner and accept Jesus as their own personal Saviour and Lord of their life. God has promised to prosper the nation which honors Him; and so He also prospers us when we love Him and serve Him. And friend the many ways in which he prospers us is inexhaustible.

Do you know Him as your savior. Do you love him with all your heart.

Council Informed Of Hospital Housing

A fairly short agenda greeted the Viking Town Council at its regular meeting for the month of September which was held last Wednesday. The first item to gain some extra attention was a bill for $6100 for the installation of a coin operated water dispenser at the new water treatment plant.

Council was rather shocked by the high cost of this item with some members noting that they were under the impression from Clon Engineering that the cost would be in the $1,000 range. After some discussion about the liability of such a "trick" to ever pay for itself, Council instructed that this system be removed from the plant. During this discussion, some concern was also expressed about the apparent excessive quality of the equipment that had been installed in the plant. A question arose as to the necessity of these cupboards.

In dealing with the method of payment of the new off site levy for the Roddick sub-division, a letter from the newly formed Viking Economic Development Committee requested that Council lower the amount of the levy from $5,000 per lot to $1,000 per lot.

The E.D.C. felt that every effort should be made to keep the costs of the lots down so as to keep them competitive.

In speaking to the request, Mayor Runkton said that the costs of the lots in the Roddick sub-division will be in the $20,000 range, and felt that the extra $2,000 per lot wouldn't make that much of a difference. He said that the Town was now the victim of a $3,000,000 water treatment plant, and that the extra $2,000 could make the difference in the odd case, but not generally. A motion by Councillor Bird to decrease the off-site levy to $2,000 from $3,000 was defeated, thereby keeping the levy at $5,000 per lot.

A report on the possible sale of the former Jim's Autobody site indicated that no sale was contemplated at this time. Council then decided to notify the Federal Business Development Bank, holders of the mortgage on the property, that Council was moving to have the buildings on the site torn down.

George Ritchie reported that all of the bills for completion of the new hall diamonds are in, with the total cost being $40,548. This includes all materials and labor exclusive of the wages for the S.T.E.P. students.

Mayor Runkton reported that the Board has decided to bid a triplex on the museum site. The Board has selected a plan that includes a 3 bedroom unit and two 2 bedroom units.

The Board plans to act as general contractor for the project with plans to have most of the work done by local contractors. The Mayor said that no final costs have been determined yet, but that the Board would have a better idea once the plans have been approved by the Alberta government.

The Mayor also reported that repairs to the Town fire alarm system are expected very soon, with the total expected to be $170. It was noted that the system is getting more dilapidated and that a new system may have to be looked at, but the repairs would do for now.

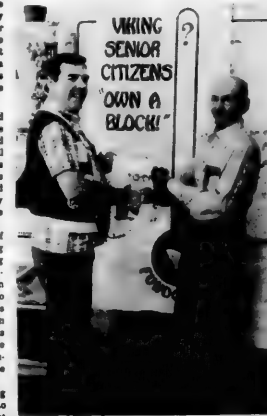

Concern about the lack of adherence to the No Parking signs in front of the Viking Confectionery was expressed. Discussion centred on enforcement of the signs to add Greyhound Bus Lines and traffic movement on Main Street when the bus is in it. It was decided to invite Corporal Mustard to a Council meeting to discuss the problem.

Every year, the Viking School Wildlife Club tends to the planters on Main Street and the flowers at the Town office. In response to their offer, the Council has approved a donation of $100 to the club.

Bill Suddaby (L.), Vice-President of the Viking Senior Citizens' Club receives a cheque for $10,000 from Myrtle Roushman on behalf of the Order of the Royal Purple & Bling and Nevada Fund. The Royal Purple will be one of the local organizations participating in the sale of the new centre.

So Much To Do.....

Traditionally, this time of year signifies the culmination of the year's work. The passing of the summer season into fall brings with it an awareness that the winter season is not far behind, and the winter season is usually recognized as the time when the land lies dormant, and people are looking forward to the new life that comes with the spring.

The next few weeks will see a continuation of the long hours of work that most farmers will be witnessing as they gather what could be a record harvest for the area. And once this work is completed, the time for some well deserved rest will be upon them.

But about that time, the enjoyment of the late fall season will bring with it the telephone calls from anxious people who want to get things underway for the start of the winter sporting season. And thankfully, some of the people who are called will rally to the cause and put in yet more hours of labor to see that these preparations are completed on time. The preparations for the winter sporting season bring together town and country folk who want to see their communities continue as good, sound recreational sites. The key to the success of this lies in the time "volunteer".

This fall, a great number of things have to be done in our communities in preparation for winter. Firstly, there is a wrapping up of the summer sporting season with the maintenance of the ball diamonds in preparation for next year. In Viking, plans are to get a work being going, hopefully of those involved in fastball and baseball at all levels, to complete the raking and painting which the new area requires. It is going to take a good deal of manpower, and everyone who makes use of these facilities should endeavour to get out and pitch in to see that their new sporting area is completed.

Of course, the greatest amount of work which is required at this time of year in all of our communities involves the ice sports. With the curling rinks and skating rinks all needing a good clean-up in anticipation of the new season, a great deal of manpower will be required to fulfill these tasks. Dressing rooms will go a long way.....

have to be cleaned, along with waiting rooms and seating areas. As well, ice surfaces will have to be prepared, ice made, and lines put on for the respective sports. All of this will take time and effort. And few of our communities have the money to pay for these preparations.

This is the time of year that the word "volunteer" becomes very important to the sporting life of our communities. Too often we see people who regularly use facilities during the winter say "no" when requested to help out with the work in the fall. At times, an attitude of arrogance and indifference greets the organizer of these work bees.

Some people have the attitude that they pay their skating or curling or hockey fees for the year and that is all it takes. However, what must be remembered is that these fees would be much higher if it weren't for the work of many people who volunteer their time. And quite often these people have no direct involvement with that particular facility. They simply help out because they are community minded.

There is so much work to do to prepare our facilities for the upcoming winter. And everybody who has any intention of using any of these facilities during the year should make an effort to help out in the preparations. From minor hockey players to senior hockey players, from parents of figure skaters to young curlers and old curlers, all of these people should "volunteer" a bit of their time over the next month or two to see that the costs of maintaining and operating our facilities is kept down. With the savings realized, money can be spent on upgrading facilities or planning for a new facility in the future. An evening or two spent cleaning, or flooding, or painting, or scrubbing will go a long way if we all just do our part. And don't wait for them to call you. Pick up the phone and let your curling club president, your minor hockey president, your senior hockey club manager, your figure skating club president, and yes, your baseball coach, that you will help out this fall. Enough little bits will go a long way.....

Kinsella Recreation And Agriculture Society Meets

Kinsella Recreation and Agriculture held the September meeting Wednesday, September 1, 1982 at the Kinsella Centre.

It was noted there is problem with the roof

INVESTMENT MARKET

Income splitting

By A.O. Miller, McLeod and Young Ltd.

As reader of a previous article on basic planning asks for further explain the benefits of making a nonresident bearing demand loan to son or daughter for living expenses.

Let's have a look at an example. A father is helping his 18 year old son (or daughter) with the costs of going to university. He can do this in one or two ways: provide them with cash which he has earned or he can lend them so that in turn can earn income on the loan funds. The second method could be more cost efficient.

Let's assume the father has $50,000 invested in a Guaranteed Investment Certificate that earns him $5,000 a year (10 percent interest). In the top tax bracket of 30.2 percent he would retain $3,750.00 of the $5,000 — the balance is tax payable.

If instead of earning the interest himself, the father caused the Guaranteed Investment Certificate and loaned the $50,000 to the son or daughter on a demand loan basis, the subsequent interest earned by the son or daughter would be taxed in their hands — at a lower rate. For example, let's further assume the child earns, plus the $5,000 interest, income gives her a taxable income of $11,000. They would retain $7,750.00 of $10,000 — interest earned. When you compare this to the father's retained income of $3,750.00 you have increased the after tax return by $4,000.00 (10 percent interest) when you consider to accomplish this they had to go to the bank and receive a promissory note. Can you afford not to consider this strategy?

Canada has a constitution. How's yours?

which must be checked into. Jim Makar offered to contact a contractor for a proper appraisal on the job.

The fall amount of $1000 for the O.T.E.P. program was used for student employment to improve the grounds and building. Many thanks to those who participated to make it a reality. Problems arose with the sounder-pole unit, which was purchased to refinish the gym floor. The unit did not do the job it was represented to do. Consequently, the executive will be in contact with the firm to settle the problem. In addition, a service tender was received for $100.00 to complete the removal of old

A pot luck supper meeting is to be held in the Kinsella Hall later in October. The date is to be confirmed as yet. Letters will be forwarded to all families who are members of the Society.

The meeting was adjourned at 10:15 p.m.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

COLLEGE APPLIES FOR LIQUOR LICENSE

The Red Deer College has applied to the Alberta Liquor Board for a commercial liquor license, which would permit serving liquor from 10:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. Monday through Saturday.

At present the College can serve for a special permit that allows liquor to be served a maximum of once a week. Last year 18 of these special permits were issued. In addition to this a registered College Club may apply for a special permit to serve liquor more than once a month.

Since Red Deer College is a tax supported institution, we believe that the College need not the College is granted a commercial license is of interest to the public. Do you want your tax dollars being spent to support a college where liquor is so readily available? Will the granting of a license make for better teaching and better learning? Studies show that two hours or two glasses of wine can impair driving ability by 25 per cent. It is reasonable to suppose that teaching ability or learning ability would be impaired an equal amount by an equal amount of alcohol.

What do the parents of the students think? Do they want their young people to have easy access to liquor on campus?

Alcohol/Drug Education Association of Alberta

Work has begun on the renovation for the new bank of Montreal building immediately behind the old bank building. For several days now the digger has been piling up great heaps of soil and gravel.

Tom Copeland's house on the south side of 80th avenue seems to be nearing completion.

Visitors over the weekend with Lorna and Eddie Jackson included daughter Norwood.

The weather for the weekend was ideal for harvesting. Combines were busy in many fields and the work was flying. Many people are busy digging potatoes, which are a wonderful crop this year. Also many are taking in parsnips and carrots. Autumn colors have appeared on many trees. The colors are usual as beautiful. It is hoped that the sunny day weather will continue for at least three or four weeks - six would be preferred by most people.

The Ilmar Construction Co. of Banville, which has been road building on the first three miles of the road to Hardisty for quite some time, have completed their contract and it is a real improvement. The road is finished and gravelled and has all the grading of a real highway. The hills both north and south of the coulee have been cut down very considerably and the coulee portion has been raised.

Get well wishes are extended to Alvin Simulovich who has been moved from Wainwright hospital to a hospital in Edmonton.

Dorlene Tushman and Debbie Hawkins visited Dorlene's grandma over the weekend.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. David Hill on the birth of their second son.

Mrs. Margaret Cook had a new lad for coffee Tuesday evening as a surprise birthday for Mrs. Jerry Tushman.

We are always pleased to see Mrs. Myrtle (Angela) Melanson in Irma visiting with her many friends.

Mrs. Peggy Smallwood is home after visiting her daughters in Calgary.

Mrs. Rick Gulkert and girls visited relatives in Medicine Hat the beginning of the week.

Seniors from Chaurin and Edgerton were also present for this fun filled time. They have a very colorful static group in Wainwright and after the game a delicious lunch was served and much enjoyed by all.

The Irma ladies spent a short while visiting with Mrs. Kate McLean and other former inmates in the Lodge which is adjacent to the bowling green.

Enough Insults Thank You

The following article has been reproduced from the "Alberta Wheat Pool Budget".

The real ambitions of those who advocate "pay the farmer the Crown pay" are beginning to be expressed.
For months those who intend to benefit financially from elimination of the Canadian Wheat Board and those who propose that grain farmers should virtually build the new railroad
West have spoken softly.
Now at last we begin to hear railway spokesmen talk about variable rates for grain and elimination of branch lines. Now we see proponents of the Winnipeg Commodity Exchange system attacking the farmers' own systems as though they were unworthy.

Well, we want to serve notice to Ivan McMillan and Jack Horners and committees of the Western Barley Growers Association that we will call their bets and talk right back. Since when is it wrong for farmer businessmen working together to own their own grain handling system and to want to retain it? Who has demonstrated that closing out the branch rail lines and eliminating district elevators which haul and handle farmers' grain will result in savings or more grain marketed for producers?

The connection between "pay the producer Crown to Regins to receive the Pool proposal, having already decided to turn it down. One suspects that decision had been made in order to keep the pressure on the Canadian Wheat Board and its quota powers.

Those right wing western groups which use the words wheat, barley and oats in their names have led the public attacks on the Wheat Pool. These groups have consistently advocated an "open market", curtailment or elimination of the Canadian Wheat Board and the re-introduction of a system of grain marketing in western Canada which farmers turned away from in 1919, 1938 and whenever their own system was threatened over since.

The farmers' associations, like the United and Alberta Pool, want the parliamentary route in the Glean bearings. They defended farmers' interests at every stage. Now that others are reverting to public announcements which state that the Pool are two-faced and oppressive, let them not be surprised at a challenge.
Let us find out if farm people still do care and will take part.

Now the railways are going to get compensatory rates for grain. They want that and more, plus curtailment of their least profitable lines in the bargain. Railways can act in a greedy manner, aware that it is someone else's responsibility to point out their national duty.

The livestock people have been offered a plan which would deal with their disad-vantage attributable to Crown. One might think that it is all they should care about

Schools Receive Book

This fall all Alberta schools will receive a copy of a fascinating book on Western Canada's wilderness, nature and wild animals.

The book, entitled "Wild Mammals of Western Canada," is a gift to Alberta schools from the Recreation, Parks and Wildlife Foundation. Education Minister Ivan King accepted a copy recently on behalf of Alberta's students.

The photography and text are vivid and easy-to-read, and should capture the curiosity and imagination of our children," Mr. King said. "I highly recommend the book."

Four pictures from the book have been selected for poster reproduction, and should be available later.

Alcohol as an alternative to gasoline may eventually have some possibilities as a fuel. However, at the present time, it is still very early in the experimental stage and is not widely used. Edwin Thornton, with the Engineering and Rural Services Division of Alberta Agriculture had a few comments to make about alcohol as a fuel source and the following article was published in the August 30 issue of Agri-View.

Do You Want To Drink It Or Drive It?

Alternative sources of fuel are receiving a great deal of attention these days. Alcohol is one suggested alternative to gasoline as a fuel. This article looks at some of the problems associated with putting alcohol in the tank and not behind the wheel.

There are two basic types of alcohol, methyl and ethyl.
Methyl (wood alcohol) is used as a de-icing fluid, and if ingested, makes you go blind. Ethyl alcohol is the five part of whiskey and gin.

Both have about half the heating value of gasoline. If you filled your gas tank with whiskey at 100 per cent and managed to get the engine running, it would have conquered the power it would have running on gasoline.
The engine would not run for long either because the sugar in the whiskey would soon coat the pistons, but you would have quite a crowd sniffing the exhaust before it stopped.

To blend alcohol with gasoline (gasohol), the alcohol has to be very pure, 90 per cent, or the water separates out. This purity is beyond the capacity of most farm still. Farm operations may be able to produce it at 90 to 95 per cent with a lot of effort and this can be used directly in gasoline engines with few modifications.
However, the distillation process uses more energy than it produces.

At the moment, the most economical fuel for a gasoline engine is gasoline, or in some cases, propane. Therefore, alcohol should be used in the gas and not in the engine.

What does community development mean?

Last year, it meant building a new wharf for Point au Gaul, Newfoundland.
Renovating an education centre in High Level, Alberta.
And improving a salmon fishery in the Skeena region of British Columbia.

This year it means jobs for over 48,000 Canadians.

The federal government's Canada Community Development Projects (CCDP) will provide $270 million to hire local workers for projects that improve the communities in which they live. Young people, men and women and disabled Canadians, will be building their work skills and experience, while building their communities.

If you have an idea that will enhance the economic or social life of your community and employ three or more local people full-time, visit your local Canada Employment Centre. Applications and program information are available for sponsor organizations, local corporations and cooperatives who've got the experience to organize and coordinate community-based employment programs like CCDP. Job creation is a vital component of the federal government's six and five economic recovery plan.

Applications must be received by September 30, 1982.

Although 4-H is principally a program which provides informal learning experiences for people 10 to 21 years old, you can always see people of all ages busy at 4-H events. In order for young people to learn to do by doing they need assistance of adults to instruct and guide them on the proper way to do their project work. Many people who do not have time to assume leadership responsibilities on a regular basis still enjoy coming out to one meeting a year, to act as a resource person for that evening. Most adults have a special interest or knowledge that can help a 4-H'er with his or her project; this type of helpful assistance is greatly appreciated by 4-H leaders and members alike. A good example is the elderly lady who enjoys sewing and comes out to a clothing club meeting to show the youngsters how to make a teddy bear. Or a retired mechanic who shows automotive members how to properly clean and service a carburetor. If you have a special skill or talent you think would benefit 4-H'ers, call your local 4-H club leader or district home economist.

The 4-H program, although run by volunteer 4-H council members and assisted by the staff of Alberta Agriculture, is largely funded by financial contribution from concerned individuals and businesses. Without funding from large organizations such as the Alberta Wheat Pool and the United Grain Growers, provincial programs such as the upcoming Leader's Conference would not be possible. Many other sponsors help out at the 4-H club level by putting up trophies for outstanding achievement or by helping to fund a club outing or event. Companies and individuals are motivated to donate by the excellence and high value of the 4-H program but it must be remembered that without their financial support this excellence could not be maintained. If you are a 4-H'er or 4-H supporter, please remember to thank your sponsors, as they are a most important part of the 4-H program. A big pat on the back is deserved by all who donate their time and money to the 4-H program; you would not see 4-H without them.

Whooping Crane Migration Studied

The Canadian Wildlife Service asks for the co-operation of hunters during the 1982 hunting season, in helping them to safeguard the Whooping Cranes during their southward migrating period. The Service's biologist, Canadian Wildlife Service, Environment Canada, Edmonton.

The migration of this rare and endangered species usually begins in mid-September, when the Whooping Cranes leave their summer range in Wood Buffalo National Park, Northwest Territories and travel south to winter on the U.S. Aransas National Wildlife Refuge in Texas. Mr. Kuyt cautions hunters to be aware that "whoopers" can sometimes be confused with "leak-alike" species, such as Snow Geese, which have plumage patterns similar to those of Whooping Cranes. The Canadian Wildlife Service is also concerned that at a distance or under poor light conditions, the younger birds could be mistaken for Sandhill Cranes, which can be hunted legally in some areas such as Saskatchewan, with special permits. Hunters should be aware that young Whooping Cranes are brown and white in colour, but white and black like the adult birds.

Both hunters and general observers are asked to report any sightings of Whooping Cranes to the Canadian Wildlife Service. Observers should take note of the number of birds, whether the birds were flying or on the ground, the date, time and location of each sighting, the direction in which the cranes were flying if possible, whether the birds were adults or young cranes. Small family groups with fledgling cranes generally depart the nesting area later than the non-breeders, when chicks are mature enough to endure the long migration journey. This could take place in late September or early October, however it is important that hunters take precautions during the entire hunting season.

Gas Kings Join Beaver Hill League

The Viking Gas Kings will be playing in the Beaverhill Hockey League for the 1982-83 season. The decision was reached at a meeting on Monday evening.

The Viking Gas Kings were represented at the Beaverhill Hockey League annual meeting by Coach Gordon Bodnar and Manager Bill Hodges. The meeting was held in Mundare, with eight teams sending representatives to the meeting.

The Viking move follows a similar move by the Kilian Indians who indicated their intention to join the Beaverhill League earlier in the month. Gordon Bodnar said that economic considerations were the big reason for making a move from the Battle River Hockey League to the Beaverhill League.

Mr. Bodnar said that with Toffel, Ryly and Hodges being in the League and all within close proximity to Viking, that the team would find travelling costs lower than for the Battle River League. He also indicated that a number of players on the Gas Kings last year live in Edmonton, and with the League being situated closer to the City, it would be more economical for these players to play regularly with the team. He also said that it would be easier to accommodate these players with the playing location.

At the meeting, representatives from on hand from Viking, Kilian, Hodges, Ryly and the two teams from Mundare and Andrew. Two teams formerly in the Beaver Hill League, Willemsen and Waskett, failed to attend the meeting and will not be part of the League this year.

At the meeting, Viking made application to join the League and was accepted. The League will go with eight teams, all in one division. The schedule is slated to start on November 6th (earlier than the Battle River League), with 20 games scheduled for the season. This will allow for each team to play every other team four times, with an even home and away split.

The playoff format for the Beaver Hill League allows for the top four teams to enter. In the first round, the top place team will play the fourth place team, with second and third place teams squaring off in the other semi final. All playoff series will be best-of-seven affairs.

Coach Bodnar said that the calibre of their new League should be better than the Battle River League. He said that there are a lot of ex-juniors A hockey players in the league as there are no residency requirements for team members such as those that exist in the Battle River League.

"With local talent, and one or two extra players, the Gas Kings can give any team in the new League a run for their money," stated Mr. Bodnar. He said that the team plans on staying with the League, with a minor recreational program being undertaken to attract a couple of players to bolster the team. He said that the team's primary goal is to provide glory for the local player, and provide the local fan with local hockey players to watch.

The Viking Gas Kings plan to ask for a year's leave of absence from the Battle River Hockey League so that they can try out the new League. The request will be made at the first B.R.H.L. meeting.

The schedule for the Beaver Hill Hockey League has not been set, but teams will be playing on Tuesdays and Saturdays, with the odd game scheduled for Thursdays and Sundays. Ticket prices for the games have been set at $2.00 for adults, $1.00 for Seniors (those aged 18 and 35), and $1.50 for those under 14 years. Mr. Bodnar stated that plans are to have a season ticket price, but this has not yet been established.

The Beaver Hill Hockey League is set up a bit differently than is the Battle River League, in that the League President does not have to be from any specific town in the League. In the B.R.H.L., the Presidency rotates every year, ensuring that no one team is over-represented within the League. As well, the League has a Commissioner who rules on all referee and referee appeals, and the referee is not on the course by the player or team official involved in a League executive committee composed of one member from each team.

With November 6th as a starting date for the Beaver Hill League, Coach Bodnar has already contacted the Viking Caravan Management Committee and was told that the ice would be ready for that date. Mr. Bodnar said that the early starting date is possible because none of the teams in the League rely totally on natural ice in their arenas.

The next full meeting for the Beaver Hill Hockey League will be held on October 12 at Mundare at which time the full league schedule will be ready for the teams.

So, after many years of involvement with the Battle River Hockey League, the Viking Gas Kings will be trying out a new League for the upcoming 1982-83 hockey season.

Irma Seniors Enjoy Bus Tour

Irma seniors headed to the Drop in Centre on Monday morning, Sept. 20th at a few minutes past eight. All 44 of them were seated in the bus and were taken on a tour of the interesting city of North Battleford with the seniors and their families.

The seniors were in various destinations. Also noticeable were the many huge brick buildings.

Finally we arrived at the Boazman Steak House where we all enjoyed a good supper.

The items on the menu were many and varied. The service was good and the seniors got a 10 per cent discount on all full meals excepting the happy hour.

With supper finished, the seniors were taken to the President Phyllis Craig in a few well chosen words thanked the driver for his courtesy and consideration. He was given a hearty vote of thanks as also were the three members of the committee which made the arrangements.

This date we started on our homeward journey at 6:00 p.m. Now this trip home was really something to remember. The sun was shining in the western sky and spreading a golden glow over a vast expanse of clear blue sky. The bus arrived at the Irma Drop in Centre at approximately 8:15 p.m. of the day which will be remembered by those who enjoyed it.

The weather was ideal, the scenery delightful, the driver reliable and the trip was comfortable and we all got home safely and happy.

Council Borrows $1 1/2 Million

The Viking Town Council has approved debenture borrowing of $1,500,000 to build the new water treatment system for the Town. The decision was made at a special meeting of the Council held yesterday afternoon.

The additional funds were needed to meet the increased costs of putting the new water system into operation. Original estimates provided by Chas Engineering called for a total expenditure of $2,000,000 to complete the water project. Estimates for completing the project now are $1,500,000. This is $500,000 over the original estimates.

To date, estimates for putting in the water supply line from the reservoir, as well as construction of the water treatment plant itself, and the in-take required to connect the new system to the old supply lines in Viking.

The cost of the materials for the water line did come in higher than was expected by the engineering firm.

Speculation by some members of the Council at this time is that the increased costs can be found in the transfer purchase at the reservoir site, in the water treatment plant itself, and in the in-take required to connect the new system to the old supply lines in Viking.

Putting Life Into The Years

There was a time in Canadian society when older people were not given the recognition which they deserve. And in many ways, this is still true. In years gone by, this society often treated its retired people as simply having been "put out to pasture", and basically society was supposed to forget about them and even ignore them. However, during the past 10 years or so, we have witnessed a shift in the demography of our land such that now senior citizens are a force which cannot be ignored. And let's be thankful for that.

Following World War II, Canada witnessed a baby boom which saw a very large number of young people dominate the society through the late fifties and sixties. The economy of North America, and even the world, was geared to satisfying the wants and needs of this group. However, the youngsters of the baby boom have now grown up and are raising their own families. And one interesting aspect of their families is that they are smaller than the families in which they were raised, generally, and therefore we are seeing an increase in the average age of the Canadian population.

Couple with this the fact that people in our country are living longer on the average, and we have a situation which sees the shifting of emphasis by the society from the young onto the middle ages and then onto the seniors. As well, one conclusion drawn by demographers about the Canadian society is that the future will continue to witness an increase in the average age and an ever-increasing per centage of the population will find itself in the "seniors" category.

With this increase in the population of senior citizens, we have witnessed a healthy increase in the activities of this group. Of course there is strength in numbers, but beyond this, there has been a wealth of activities and projects initiated and completed by seniors across Alberta. And perhaps some of the best examples are right here along Highway 14. In all of our communities, seniors' centres are either being built or have been built. As well, some very good programs of activities are regularly carried on by and for seniors to provide them with opportunities to live healthier and happier lives in our communities. Also, many seniors are involved with various projects and organizations through which they are able to offer a wealth of knowledge and experience. And it is so good to see these things happening.

In this fast paced society which has been created in Canada, it has been too easy in the past to simply pass by our seniors as they seemed to be treated as though they were merely taking up space. That is unfortunate. But with their growing numbers, it is so satisfying to see the growth of what could possibly be called the "seniors subculture". They are becoming more active, and are providing our communities with initiative and drive. In essence, the times have changed so that now "life" is being added into the "years" of most seniors thanks to their own spunk and a recognition by our society of their rightful place in the sun. Most of us will reach the stage where we can be called "seniors", and the seniors of today are truly pioneers in establishing a place for all of us for the future. Hats off to your efforts!

Alberta Crop Report

Conditions as of September 28, 1982
Wheat and many wheat varieties are again progressing well. Swathing is 90 per cent complete and 90 per cent of the combining has been done. Yields are average with some "best ever" yields reported around Hanna. Quality of grain is slightly lower, and light barley is lower. Three Hills and Alderley may be due to drought and frost. Effects of frost damage has also been noticed around Calgary and Drumheller. Fall seeded crops are a germination and two leaf stage; some grasshopper activity is reported. Fall tilage is starting on fields where crops have already been taken off. Moisture conditions are good and pastures are in fair to good condition. Condition of livestock is good.

Frost was recorded in all regions between September 12 and 14, and damage of earlier frost is now becoming noticeable. The freezing temperatures will have had an effect on grade of wheat, bushel weight of barley and oats. Yield estimates for both barley and oats are lower than first anticipated. Expected yields for the six major crops are: wheat 815 kg/acre (180 bu), oats 680 (17 bu), barley 1080 kg/acre (48 bu), canola/rapeseed 475 kg/acre (21 bu), soy 780 kg/acre (18 bu), and faxseed 550 kg/acre (21 bu).

Regional Reports
Southern Region (Lethbridge, Medicine Hat): Harvest of dryland crops is 95 per cent completed. Irrigated crops have been swathed and 70 per cent are combined. Fields are reported to be average and slightly above in areas near Bow Island and Medicine Hat. Second cuts of top quality alfalfa are bringing yields of 1.80 tonnes/acre (1.5 ton) and good brooks and fields near Lethbridge are yielding 1.0 tonnes/acre (1.1-1.2 ton) at the third cut. Harvesting operations for potatoes, sweet corn, and corn silage are well underway. Recent frost is expected to have caused little damage since most cereal crops are cut, but frost did hasten corn harvest and caused some damage to beans.

South Central Region (Calgary, Hanna): Rain held up harvesting last week but by the weekend, operations were again progressing well. Swathing is 90 per cent complete and 90 per cent of the combining has been done. Yields are average with some "best ever" yields reported around Hanna. Quality of grain is slightly lower, and light barley is lower. Three Hills and Alderley may be due to drought and frost. Effects of frost damage has also been noticed around Calgary and Drumheller. Fall seeded crops are a germination and two leaf stage; some grasshopper activity is reported. Fall tilage is starting on fields where crops have already been taken off. Moisture conditions are good and pastures are in fair to good condition. Condition of livestock is good.

North Central Region (Red Deer, Wetaskinaw): About 70 per cent of oats and wheat have been cut with 10 per cent threshed. Of barley and canola crops, 50 per cent are threshed and combining of fall rye and winter wheat is almost complete. Harvesting operations are further along Highway #1. Good weather the past week has enabled second cuts of hay in areas surrounding Innisfail, Lacombe, Ponoka, and Wetaskinaw. Effects of heavy frost which occurred throughout the region September 12-14 are as yet unknown, however, as commented from Innisfail, "Only crops that were already cut and dried will have totally escaped damage". Determination is a problem in canola fields near Red Deer. Concern has been expressed over nitrate building in greenfeed. Pastures are fair to good.

North East Region (Vermilion, St. Paul): Wheat and oats fields are 70 per cent

swathed, combining is beginning in most areas and well underway around Wainwright. Barley and canola crops are almost all swathed and 20 per cent are threshed. Yields have been good but grade reductions and lower bushel weights are expected in late seeded crops due to frost of August 28 and September 13. Yields of second cut alfalfa are very good around Lac Ste. Anne and, "It appears there will be no shortage of forage in the district due to additional grain crops for green feed". Livestock condition is good. North West Region (Edmonton, Barrhead): In districts surrounding Barrhead, Westlock, and Morinville, swathing is 85 per cent complete while in areas north and to the west harvesting is somewhat behind. Wheat and oats fields are 60 per cent swathed and 8-10 per cent threshed. Of barley and canola fields, 60 per cent have been cut, combining of these and fall rye is well underway. Forage is expected to be in short supply this winter in western districts but around Thurland and Westlock, a considerable amount of greenfeed is being cut. Good late cut alfalfa yields are forecast around Leduc and quality hay has been baled in Barrhead. Frost has caused yield reductions near Athabasca and significant damage to oat fields in the west. Despite this, regional yield estimates are good.

Pacific River Region (Fairview, Grande Prairie, Peace River): Harvesting is general throughout the region with half of wheat, barley and oat fields swathed, and 75 per cent of canola fields cut. One third of the barley and canola has been combined and harvest of fall rye is complete. In some districts up to one quarter of the wheat has also been completed as several producers have been straight combining. Second growth has caused harvesting problems near Eaglehawk and Fairview. Around High Prairie, "Late summer rains, early frosts have also vitiated livestock feed shortages even as they reduced quantity and quality of market grain". Second cuts of hay are reported to yield well around the Peace River, but overall yields are somewhat low.

The true volunteer fire fighters answered two calls during the past week. They were called out south and west to contain a stubble fire on the farm of Turrell Larson. This they did with their usual efficiency and the only loss was a few acres of stubble. On Thursday at about 1:30 a.m. the stubble and the time the call was from the north where a combine on the Jim Hinton farm had caught fire. The fire was quickly extinguished but damage to the combine was extensive.

Get well wishes are extended to Alex Simmonds who underwent surgery on Friday in the University Hospital in Edmonton. Our thoughts and prayers are with you Alex.

Some farmers in the Irma district have finished combining and some have done considerable cultivating in the stubble fields. Fall colors have appeared particularly in the cool-ee. Some trees have already shed their leaves particularly the maples - evidence that fall is really here.

Jim and Phyllis Craig were in Edmonton recently attending the White Heather concert at the Jubilee Auditorium.

A lovely bridal shower was held at the United Church in honor of Miss Jeanne McLevy on Wednesday evening. Jeanne has become well known during the time she has been employed in McFarlane's store. She is the bride-to-be of Doug Larson. Congratulations.

Miss Karen Newton, Miss Leah Glasgow and Miss Kim Olson were home for the weekend.

Congratulations to Carolyn Erickson and Karen Newton for being awarded the $1,600 Rutherford Scholarship for High School Excellence. Current grade twelve students are encouraged to apply for this next year.

Quinte W.I. News

The Quinte W.I. August meeting was held August 26th at the home of Ethel Manahoraki. There were ten ladies present. Rita Stelzer took over the monetary duties for the remainder of this year. A letter was received regarding the handcraft gifts for the 1982 members. Ball call was answered with "how I spent the summer months", and some interesting news items were brought and discussed. The visiting committee reported doing some visiting among the sick, and those for next month are Rita and Ethel. The birthday was brought by Doris Fox and was by Pao.

The September meeting was held on September 28th at the home of Lily Evans. There were nine members and one visitor present. Most of the time ladies were unable to attend due to harvesting being in full swing. Prior to the start of the meeting we tied a quilt that each of the members had placed and assembled two weeks previously.

In the absence of our President the meeting was chaired by Vice President Lily Evans. Word was received that the Quinte W.I. United Annual meeting is to be held on September 28th. We further discussed the handcraft items to be made for the 1982 convention. Some articles were shown and various ideas put forth but nothing was decided definitely at this time. A former member had sent a cash donation in appreciation of past friendships. It was received with thanks.

The visiting committee gave their report; the next ones being Doris and Lillian Arnett. We discussed at length making up bags and filling with them with personal emergency items to be sent to Win House in Edmonton. This is a place where battered women may go to for refuge in an emergency.

gave, and until a more permanent solution is found for their problems. Some sample bags were brought and many ideas exchanged, but it was decided that each member would make one and bring it to the next meeting. Rita is to see about getting the items to put into the bags.

Some plans were discussed for celebrating our 25th Anniversary. (Note it is our 25th, not 26th as stated in my last report.) It was decided the celebration would be in the form of a pot luck supper followed by a card party, which would also serve to open up our card parties for the visitor meet. The date has been set at November 6th, and a committee has been formed to take care of this. The birthday box was brought by Rita, and won by Doris Fox. It was decided we would make a donation to the Viking Seniors Drop-In Centre.

The next meeting will be October 28th at the home of Catherine Evans. Note change of meeting place. Lois Crouse

FARMING THE FUTURE
 Agriculture Research Council of Alberta

Farming for the Future is a commitment of the Alberta Government through the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund to support agricultural research of benefit to Alberta.

Normally, financial assistance is available in two categories: formal research awards and the On-Farm Demonstration Program.

To be eligible for formal research awards projects must have the potential to increase agricultural productivity and improve net farm income as well as enhance the long-term viability of Alberta's agricultural industry. Researchers must demonstrate competence to carry out a formal agricultural research project.

The deadline for submission of all formal grant applications is December 1, 1982.

Separate funding is available for projects primarily oriented toward demonstrating (and/or testing) agricultural technology generated by Farming for the Future and other research programs. While a wide variety of subjects is acceptable, a team approach must be used to conduct projects under the On-Farm Demonstration Program. Proposals are reviewed on a year-round basis and should be directed to your local district agriculturalist.

ATA President Objects To Committee Recommendations

Art Cowley (Centre), President of the Alberta Teachers' Association, was the guest at a noon luncheon at the Viking School last Tuesday. Mr. Cowley later discussed educational issues with Neil Nordquist (L) and Don Gillies.

ATA President Arthur Cowley has expressed his strong objection to two priority recommendations contained in the recently released report to the Minister of Municipal Affairs from the Minister's Advisory Committee on Municipal Finance. "Although the report claims to deal with municipal finance, the recommendations, if approved, would be disastrous for education finance."

The ATA President was referring to the recommendations that would see the levy on commercial and industrial property which raises school foundation funds turned over to municipalities. "While the report suggests that the government assume full responsibility for the SEFF, there is absolutely no guarantee that the lost revenue, which is estimated at $144 million in 1982, will be replaced in total or in part." Cowley also pointed out that the commercial and industrial levy was designed to guarantee a level of equity in local education tax burden, and if the recommendations were accepted it would be lost.

Equally objectionable to the ATA President was a recommendation limiting school supplementary requisitions to a maximum of 20 per cent of the total amount raised by municipalities through the property tax. The recommendation, if adopted, would have school board revenues at the mercy of municipal budgets. "Had such a plan existed in 1980 school boards would have received $62 million less in local property tax. Their only alternative source would have been the provincial government. The recommendation implies that a child's education should be in some way determined by spending on sewers," Cowley said. He concluded, "The proposal is totally inconsistent with any notion of local autonomy."

High nitrate content in feed greatly lowers the oxygen-carrying capacity of the blood and consequently gives the blood a bluish coloration. This does not render the feed useless but it does mean that this feed cannot be used as a sole major part of a ration. Dilution and substitution may be necessary.

Food testing is the best way to avoid problems and a feed testing kit and probe can be picked up at the Rly Office. A fee of $10 gives you a nutritional analysis and a nitrate check which is considerably cheaper than having an animal or two.

Membership For Task Force On Grain Transportation Released

Transport Minister Jean-Louis Poirier announced recently the membership of three task forces established to review and undertake further work on outstanding technical aspects of the grain recommendations on western grain transportation.

The task force will report to a steering committee comprising representatives from all farm groups and the railways who participated in the negotiations conducted by Dr. Clay Gilson earlier this year. The chairman of the three task forces were appointed in consultation with the farm groups and the railways and task force members were selected by the organizations they represent.

John Heads, of the Canadian Transport Commission is chairman of the task force on the issue of freight rate structure. The other members are Bert Berry, United Grain Growers; Allan McLeod, Saskatchewan Wheat Pool; Ken Cookley, Alberta Wheat Pool; Ken Stickleland, Prairie Farm Community Coalition; Robert Brookes, Canada Crushers of Western Canada; Frank Wallace, CP Rail; Stan Hall, CN Rail; David Hackett, Canadian Transport Commission; and Colin Churcher, Transport Canada.

Neal Irwin, of IRI Group Affiliates, is chairman of the task force examining the issues and functions of a central co-ordinating agency. Other members are Jim Manta, United Grain Growers; Ira Munford, Saskatchewan Wheat Pool; William Smith, Alberta Wheat Pool; Lorne Parker, Manitoba Farm Bureau; Bill Cooper, Prairie Farm Community Coalition; Richard Harris, Canada Crushers of Western Canada; Howard Pallares, Unifarm; Murray Cosmick, Manitoba Pool Elevators; Bill Somerville, CP Rail; Doug Fletcher, CN Rail; Henry Roper, Transport Canada; and representatives to be named later from the Canadian Wheat Board, the Canadian Grain Commission, Office of the Grain Transportation Coordinator, and the Canadian Transport Commission.

Joint chairmen of the task force on legislative issues are Mike Farquhar, director general of railways in Transport Canada, and Denis Lafreny of the Department of Justice. The other task force members are Jim Poran, an expert on the Canadian Grain Commission; Dennis Gilson, Grain Group; and a representative from the Canadian Transport Commission.

Mr. Poirier noted that work is also continuing on the question of method of payment and that both the proposal submitted by Dr. Gilson and an alternative proposal developed by the prairie wheat pools will be studied in depth before the end of September. The task force on legislative issues has been asked to submit a report by mid-November and it is expected that the task force on freight rate structure and a central co-ordinating agency will complete their work by the end of October.

The Transport Minister said he is pleased with the progress that has been made on the Western Canada rail capacity issue since the federal government's release of a policy statement in February and that he hopes that the task force are able to complete their work on time in order for the government to introduce legislation before the end of the year.

Robert Ridgeway Gilpin Laid To Rest

On September 5, 1982 Robert Ridgeway Gilpin passed away at the Viking Hospital.

The Late Robert Ridgeway was born at Vegreville, Alberta, October 28, 1904, the eldest son of Mary and Court (B.C.) Gilpin. He lived most of his life on the family farm in the Loveland area, north of Viking. Ridge took his education in the old Loveland school and attended Oile Agricultural College for three terms from 1926 to 1927. United in marriage to Agnes Hein, August 1st, 1935, he continued at the home farm in the succeeding years with his wife and young family - sons Courtney and Robert. Not until 1970 did he and his wife move to Viking. Mr. Ridge retained a lively interest in the farm home and farming, and never missed helping with a harvest for the past 64 years.

Ridge contributed willingly to community endeavours, served many years on the Loveland Cemetery Board; belonged to the Viking Elks Lodge being one of the original members and received his Life Membership; he was a strong supporter of 4-H work and was Club leader for four years; served on the Senior Citizens Executive, took an active part in the Historical Society and Viking Museum work.

Ridge was a very hard worker; a dependable husband and father; a patient neighbor - always quietly ready to help when it was needed. He maintained a life-long fascination with the good earth and his produce. An excellent outdoorsman, his livestock brought him pleasure. Aspects of horticulture appealed to him, as he experimented with tree-grafting in fruit-trees and berry plants. An outdoorsman, in time with nature, he enjoyed hunting in earlier years, long treks by snowshoe in winter and fishing, always. He possessed a wonderful empathy with animals, both wild and tame.

He leaves to mourn his passing his loving wife Agnes; one son Courtney and wife Julie; daughter-in-law Annabel; a brother Vernon of Viking; sisters Mrs. Kathleen Wesley of Edmonton, Mrs. Olive Thompson of Vermilion, Grandchildren - Christopher, Jennifer, and Krista, and many nieces and nephews and other relatives plus neighbors and friends.

He was predeceased by an infant son George in 1907; by his mother Mary Ann in 1939; his father Benjamin Courtney in 1960, his youngest brother Elvira in 1978, and most recently by the devastating loss of his youngest son, Doctor Robert Ridgeway on February 28, 1982.

Pioneer Resident Passes

Mrs. Helma McKay, a long time resident of the Iron District, passed away at the Watervale Auxiliary Hospital on Tuesday, August 31, 1982 at the age of 98 years.

Mrs. McKay was born at Harcourt, New Brunswick on September 30th, 1883. After graduating from normal school in Fredericton, she taught a number of years in New Brunswick.

In 1914 she came to Alberta where two of her sisters had already been teaching. While teaching in Edmonton, she married Clifford McKay on July 6th, 1921 and came to live on the farm south of Irma. To this union three children were born, Donald, Susan and Jack. Mrs. McKay was preceded by her husband in 1967. In 1968 she moved into the village of Irma where she resided for 16 years. In January, 1971 she moved to the Battle River Lodge where she lived four and one half years. When her health failed, she moved into the Auxiliary Hospital.

She will be remembered for her hospitality and her interest in people, particularly young people. She leaves to mourn one daughter, Susan of Winnipeg, two sons and daughters-in-law, Donald and Doris, and Jack and Vera, and one granddaughter Mona. Also left to mourn her loss are many nieces and nephews, the Smallwoods of Irma and many in New Brunswick and elsewhere.

The funeral was held in the Irma United Church at 2:00 p.m. on September 3rd, 1982. Reverend Donna Mann and Reverend Anne Gorvass-Silva officiated. The organist was Marjorie Fischer and hymns sung were "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Amen With Me." The choir sang "In The Sweet Bye and Bye." Pallbearers were Keith Coffin, Jim Craig, Clarence Barker, Charles Reid, Carl Goulsen and Ron McFarland. Interment was in the Irma Cemetery.

the new boiler that's absolutely mind-boggling.

No other gas-fired water boiler or any other boiler can claim these unique cost and energy saving features:

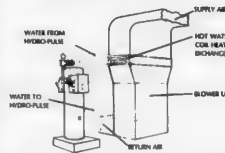

- * Reduces fuel consumption to 35%. Depending on location, the savings can pay the difference between a conventional boiler and Hydro Pulse ... with a minimal payback period.
- * No pilot light needed. A spark plug is used for ignition on the initial cycle only ... saving both gas and electrical energy.
- * No burners needed. Incredible but true. Because of the pulse combustion principle, the need for burners is completely eliminated.
- * No flue or chimney needed. Most of the combustion heat is absorbed by the boiler so that the exhaust is reduced to a safe, low temperature of about 110 - 130 F in the condensing mode. The exhaust is easily ducted outdoors using a small diameter plastic pipe.
- * No complex features. Hydro-Pulse is designed to provide continuous, trouble-free operation. Service, if ever needed, is quick and easy.
- * Steady-state efficiency of 91-94%. This is significantly higher than conventional boiler efficiencies. This means more heat for less money. The Hydro Pulse sealed combustion operation virtually eliminates typical energy losses inherent in conventional heating systems.
- * Seasonal efficiency of 91-94% ... substantially more efficient (savings of up to 35%) than conventional boilers. Hydro-Pulse provides more heat for less fuel ... from heating season to heating season. Real economy means real savings.
- * Reduced infiltration. Since the Hydro-Pulse boiler has a completely sealed combustion system, air is drawn from outdoors for combustion and not from inside the home itself as in conventional fossil fuel heating systems ... thereby reducing drafts and cold air spilling in around doors and windows.
- * Less floor space needed. The 100,000 Btu input capacity Hydro-Pulse boiler (Model A-100 Series) has a diameter of 14" and a height of 48" ... small enough to fit into a closet or utility room.

It can heat domestic water while it heats the home.

A water storage tank with an internal copper coil heat exchanger is available from Hydrotherm for use with the Hydro-Pulse. With a separate zone for heating water, the Hydro-Pulse heats the water within the coil and the coil transfers the heat to the domestic water in the tank. With the benefit of the pulse combustion principle and the elimination of typical flue losses, seasonal efficiencies are higher. Hydro-Pulse can also provide the heat for a warm air system (as seen on right), as well as the heat for domestic water.

It can provide the heat for warm air systems (and heat domestic water as well).

The efficiencies of the Hydro-Pulse heating unit can also be realized in ducted warm air heating systems. Where there is an existing furnace, a water-to-air heat exchanger can be installed above the furnace or in existing ductwork. A new installation requires a Hydro-Pulse heating unit, a water-to-air heat exchanger and a blower unit. Full details are available from your Hydrotherm wholesaler or sales representative.

NOTE: Hydro-Pulse, in its warm air application, can also heat domestic water as shown at left ... a unique advantage.

County Crops About Half Harvested

The snow and rain experienced during the County of Beaver during the past week has put a damper on harvesting activities. According to District Agriculturalist Roddy Warawa, a bit less than half of the crop has yet to be harvested.

Mr. Warawa said that in the western part of the County, 46 to 50 per cent of the crop is either still standing or in swath, while this portion decreases as one moves toward the eastern part of the County.

Of the crops grown in the County, Polish and Argentine rape seem to be closest to being harvested, with an estimate of about 75 per cent of the crop remaining. After this, barley and oats seem to have been brought off earliest, about 60 per cent remaining.

According to Mr. Warawa, the majority of the crop still remaining in the County are the wheats. As well, most of the specialty crops grown are yet to be harvested.

Of these specialty crops, the most extensively grown is canary seed, with about 1000 acres seeded, most of which is already off.

Mr. Warawa said that due to the moist conditions of late, a common topic at the D.A.'s office this past week has been grain drying. He said that indications are that most farmers expect to take the rest of their crop off tough, and then dry it.

Information on grain drying is available from the D.A., and Mr. Warawa reminds farmers to keep a close eye on heating problems caused by moisture migration.

Although it looks like an excellent year for yields, Mr. Warawa stated that generally across the County grain are down from last year. He said that wheat is coming in at No. 2, 3 and silky, rather than the No. 1 which was common last year.

The D.A. said that this decline in grades was caused by the heavy rains this summer, coupled with the early frost in August. He said that at the time of the frost it didn't appear to hurt the crop, but with combining underway, it appears that it did some damage.

Committee Decides On Early Ice For Carena

The ice will be put into the Viking Carena earlier than in previous years. This decision was announced at a meeting of the Carena Management Committee held on Monday night with all players interested in the Carena operation.

Plans are to start the ice plant up today, with flooding to start on Friday evening. With the long weekend at hand, work is to be scheduled for the weekend, with volunteers from all organizations needed to help with this task.

Plans are to whitewash the ice surface again this year, then lay paper liner, rather than painting them or using plastic as in the past.

The meeting was also informed that plans have been made to fix the doors in the ice surface which have caused problems with ponds and sticks getting lodged under them. As well, the penalty box floor is to be built up, and the players' boxes covered with rubber.

Due to increasing costs and the lack of any fee increase over the past few years, the Committee decided to increase the fee to $1,000 per skating session. John Lenta of the Old-timers said that recreational hockey had increased quite a bit in the past few years so the increase was probably justified.

Carena Committee Chairman AN Wincars noted that there were fewer youngsters using the arena now and therefore the financial burden would have to be shifted to the older teams. Besides the gravel fee increase, the Committee decided to increase the individual and family skating fee as well. The individual skating ticket will rise from $25 to $30, and the family skating fee will rise from $95 to $105. The hockey, figure skating, and power skating fees will remain the same as in previous years.

Due to the Gas Kings being involved in the Beaver Hills Hockey League this year, the ice schedule has had to be revamped slightly. For this year, the Gas Kings will be substituted for Tuesday, Saturday and Sunday nights, with the Youngtimers moving to Monday evenings and the Midgets shifting to Wednesday evenings. Final scheduling has not been completed because the actual number of hockey teams has not been determined at this time.

Irma Students Win Scholarships

Three graduates from the Irma High School in 1982 have won Rutherford Scholarships provided by the Provincial Government's Heritage Trust Fund.

Congratulations to Caroline Erickson at Lakeland College, Karen Newton at the U. of A., and Mary Ann Holt at N.A.I.T.

Local organizations have contributed funds to allow two Grade 12 students at Irma High to attend the Terry Fox Memorial Centre in Ottawa. Brett Short, sponsored by the Home and School Association has just returned from his week there and reports a wonderful and worthwhile experience meeting students from across Canada.

Mona McKay sponsored by the Royal Purple, Kinmen and Ehs will attend the Centre in October.

We hope that other Irma students will have a similar opportunity in the future, and are grateful to these organizations.

E. McElbert

Although the first real snow fall of the season had a dampening effect on the spirit of many local farmers, not everyone was sad to see the ground covered in white. These youngsters from the Viking Day Care Centre were obviously delighted with the event and spent an enjoyable morning playing in the snow.

Van Ee Issues Challenge

Western Canada Concept candidate Richard Van Ee said a meeting Monday night in Soderstrom last he challenged Tom Lyness and all other candidates in the Vermilion Viking Constituency to a public debate during the election campaign.

Van Ee said that he is disappointed that the government (provincial) has spent the Heritage Trust Fund on the stock market and caused it to lose profits and not used it at home. "When you see government buy 214,800 shares of Union Pacific at $9.20 per share and now it's worth $3.15 a share, you can't help but be unhappy," he said. "When the government of the day tells us, housewers and farmers will get an interest rebate, which will cost taxpayers instead of issuing the Heritage Trust Fund at 11 per cent and a half year ago when people were starting to have trouble. "No," they have a handout now for two years, then what? The Heritage Trust Fund should have been handled through the Treasury Branches, Credit Union and Alberta loan banks.

Van Ee also stated "at the last election Longhead said give us a mandate. We did just that. When Longhead went to Ottawa he was going to show them how tough he was. He was there a few hours and what did we get? The National Energy Program and one free drink of champagne."

He then went again to challenge the Prime Minister on the Constitution. A few hours later we heard the Constitution was coming home without property rights. The Alberta Native put up less than a better fight than our provincial government," Van Ee concluded.

Open House-Reception Held For Newly Weds

On Sunday, Sept. 19th, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Grits held an Open House-reception in the Haddon Community Hall in honor of their eldest daughter, Debbie and Jamie Pettit who were married August 19th in Edmonton.

Upon entering the hall, cousins of the bride, Mrs. Marilyn Campbell and Mrs. Diane Booth presented the couple with a banner and their attendance.

Albin Lukewski was the Master of Ceremonies for the afternoon program. Seated at the head table with Jamie and Debbie were their attendants, Mrs. Dawnella Stewart and Wayne McMann, both friends of Jamie and Debbie. The program opened with a Solo by Debbie's cousin, Mrs. Wanda Lukewski who was accompanied by Patsy Beach on the guitar. Mrs. Sharon Kropelnicki was commentator calling a little history of Jamie and Debbie's life, while in the background Wayne McMann acting as "Jamie" playing the guitar and Mrs. Norma Sears (Sharon) and Norma also being cousin of Debbie, acting as "Debbie". "Debbie" with her twin daughters Shannon and Charlene as "students".

Reinold and Jean Grinde at this time welcomed their new son-in-law Jamie into the family and presented them with a washer and dryer.

Gertie Miners read a book "History of Debbie's Life" and on behalf of the Grinde family and Uncle and Albert and Lydia Grinde presented Jamie and Debbie with a cheese table and Chair Suite which they were comfortably seated at.

Linda Grinde gave a short reading of "What Is A Sister".

Mrs. Wanda Lukewski was again rendered a Solo accompanied by Patsy Beach. Orland Lehman, cousin of the bride, presented a toast to the Bride and Groom. The three tiered wedding cake was beautifully decorated by Mrs. Kathleen Kowallik.

The two piece towel suit Debbie wore was her mother's wedding suit of over 35 years.

A photo album of their wedding pictures was there for viewing. Jamie and Debbie expressed their gratitude and thanked everyone for coming. Everyone joined in and sang "For They Are Just Good Fellows". Kenneth Zook then said Grace, followed by a buffet style supper which was served to the guests.

A most gracious and enjoyable afternoon was spent by everyone. Jamie and Debbie are residing at Bauman. Debbie is attending Grant McEwan College taking her 2nd year in Early Childhood Education. Jamie is a musician, teaching guitar lessons in Edmonton.

He previously played with a band named "Hyperion" which was interviewed by C.F.R.V. T.V. and will appear on "Spotlight" on Oct. 16 at 8:00 p.m. This band has since been dismantled and a newly formed band is in the making.

At a meeting with Dallas Schmidt, Minister of Agriculture on September 27, a National Farmers Union delegation, including Region 8 Co-ordinator Jean Lesby, Executive Board Member Ruth Venter, and Region 7 Co-ordinator Ed Motowyle, were assured that the Minister is aware of the drought situation in the Peace. He said that they will be using the information given to them by the NFU and as well, their own crop insurance people are in the area gathering data.

The minister and persons working within his department in the Peace have had personal calls from farmers describing the effects of drought, insect infestation and frost damage.

He assured the delegation that all the information and facts would be presented to his colleagues as soon as possible. Mr. Schmidt stated that as soon as a decision is made as to whether there is to be a program for the drought stricken farmer or not, that the farmers would be notified.

The farmers in the Peace have stated that it is imperative that they know if there is to be assistance available so they can seed a 1983 crop. If no assistance is forthcoming, some farmers will have to decide if they should try to sell their farms or try to find off farm employment.

HERITAGE FUND INTEREST PROGRAMS

ALBERTA SMALL BUSINESS AND FARM INTEREST SHIELDING PROGRAM

To provide short-term assistance to small businesses and farm operators during a period of unstable interest rates, the Alberta Government is offering an interest shielding grant. The program will cover the period from March 1, 1982 to March 1, 1984. Small business owners and farmers whose total revenue over the past fiscal year did not exceed $50,000 will be eligible.

If you're the owner of a small business or farm, and you meet the program qualifications, you will likely be eligible for shielding of business loans up to $150,000. To find out if you qualify, check for details in brochures which will be available October 12th.

Something You Can Count On
The program will effectively reduce your business loan interest rate to a minimum of 14 1/2 per cent, with interest rebates equalling a maximum of 6 per cent. In other words, if you are now paying an average of 20 1/2 per cent on your loan(s), the program will shield you by 6 per cent to 14 1/2 per cent.

The interest grants will be paid directly to you at your place of business or farm every six months and should commence December, 1982.

Here's How You Apply
Application forms and brochures giving details on the program will be available October 12th from all financial institutions. You may also obtain them from any office of Alberta Tourism and Small Business or your local office of Alberta Agriculture.

Grain Drying

By the time this article is read by many you, it is my hope that the snow I see on the ground and the swaths lying in the fields are both gone. However, if such is not the case, it is quite possible that this article may be of considerable interest to many farmers in the area.

Those farmers who have access to grain dryers are probably already aware of the advantages and disadvantages of incorporating a drying system into the grain harvesting operation. An earlier and longer harvest season, reduced grade losses and reduced field and weight losses as a result of inclement weather are some of the advantages. With today's large grain bins and the increased possibility of moisture migration and hot-spots causing spoilage, the artificial drying of grain becomes an important factor.

At the same time, grain aeration has become a topic of increasing interest and use of high air volume fans for cooling and for drying purposes is being considered by many farmers. Grain aeration equipment cannot completely take the place of the grain dryer but can be used by itself for cooling purposes or in conjunction with a grain dryer. In some instances, they can also be used to dry grain.

The technology of artificially drying grain is not a very simple one and for that reason, too extensive to go into great detail here. In addition, each farmer's situation is unique and hence, the best system is very specific to each individual farmer. For this reason I will mention a number of publications and services available to farmers interested in drying grain.

Those two publications are available at our office,

Publication #1697, Grain Drying, is an Agriculture Canada publication that explains the grain drying process, the types of dryers available and some ideas on incorporating the system into your harvesting operation.

Agdex #798-11, Movement of Natural Air Through Grain, is a reprint of a Manitoba publication on grain aeration, the types of systems, what they can do for you, and the ways in which they can be used in conjunction with a dryer.

Child Fire Deaths - How They Happen

Fire claimed the lives of 16 children in Alberta last year. What follows are brief descriptions of how these children died. The information was supplied by fire departments and other fire officials in Alberta.

* A two-year-old boy, suspected of starting a fire in his parents' mobile home while playing with matches, hid in a kitchen cabinet while the home burned.

* A four-year-old boy and his one-year-old brother slipped through a fire that destroyed their home. The fire is believed to have been caused by a smoldering cigarette in the living room.

* Hot embers from a coal stove ignited a wood floor in an unfinished farm home.

Investigators believe a four-year-old girl may have had her exit blocked by fire.

* A seven-year-old boy playing in an abandoned shed started a fire. He was trapped inside.

* Two boys, aged one and two, were killed in an explosion and fire that raged their home. Someone had attempted to rekindle a fire by using diesel fuel in a wood heater.

* Two boys, aged three and five, were sleeping in a tent where they had left a candle burning. The tent caught fire. A third boy was injured.

* A nine-year-old boy and his four-year-old sister were overcome by smoke and heat in a fire that extensively damaged their home. Investigators believe the children were playing with matches. The girl was found underneath a bed, the boy between the bed and a wall.

* A two-year-old boy was unable to escape from a fire that burned his parents' home to the ground. It is believed that pipes from a wood heater overheated and ignited highly combustible, interior-finish material in the home. The flames spread quickly.

* A baby girl could not be found in the dense smoke of a house fire. She died on the living room cheerfield, close to where the fire started.

* A 13-year-old boy was sleeping in an upstairs bedroom when fire started in a den downstairs. Two adults were also overcome by smoke and heat and could not escape the fire. The fire was started by smoking materials that fell into a cheerfield.

* A fire, of unknown cause, started on a bed that a baby girl was sleeping on.

* An early morning fire, believed to have started in a furnace room, destroyed a home. A father and his 11-year-old son were overcome by smoke and heat.

Many of these deaths could have been prevented. Protect your family from fire. Have some safety tips for fire prevention at home.

* Install a smoke alarm, or alarm, in your home today. In only one of the above incidents was there a smoke alarm, but it was ineffective because it was improperly located.

Calculating Fire Insurance Premiums

The cost of your fire insurance established by the rates premiums are influenced by the type, size and degree of fire protection services in your community. Most insurance agents check the local fire protection rating established by the Fire Underwriters Survey (FUS) to calculate insurance premiums.

FUS is a national organization financed and directed by the Insurance Bureau of Canada, an association representing 90 per cent of the property and casualty insurers in this country.

The rating schedule used by FUS to establish fire protection ratings measures the basic causes of probable fire in a given area against the basic elements of fire protection. Ratings do not consider past fire loss records, but rather fire potential based on the physical structure of communities including climatic conditions, terrain and business and industry hazards.

According to Jim Morrison, Alberta-Northwest Territories FUS Supervisor, ratings are based on the following criteria: water supply (adequacy & reliability); strength and efficiency of local departments; fire service communications; and fire safety control (building and prevention laws and inspections). The higher the number of points of deficiency in each of these areas, the higher the rating between one and 10.

If a town or city has a rating of 10, there is little or no fire protection compared to potential risk. A class 10 town normally has little or no water supply or no organized fire department. Since normal domestic water consumption requirements are lower, it has been found that a majority of municipalities with fewer than 10,000 population fall into classes of poorer protection (usually rating 6 to 8) than larger centres (usually rating between 3 and 5). No area in Alberta has a one rating.

Says Morrison: "Ratings are done on a seven-year cycle, and quite often even more frequently. Officials in towns or cities who have made improvements in their water supply or fire protection service, should contact FUS to keep their ratings up-to-date. We also make recommendations to communities concerning ways they can improve their ratings."

Improvements in water supply — such as a storage area for large amounts of surface water or increased water pressure facilities such as hydrants — have a significant effect on the rating system. Towns and cities may apply for assistance from Alberta Environment to improve their water supply.

The training and experience of a community's fire-fighters and availability of firefighting equipment are important factors also in determining fire protection ratings. To assist communities in improving fire protection services, Alberta Labour operates the Alberta Fire Training School at Vermilion to provide firefighters with training in such areas as firefighting, pump operation, fire investigation, fire prevention, fire service instruction, building construction for fire services, and fire officer leadership.

No registration fee is charged for the training. Room, board and required textbook and classroom materials are supplied to those candidates who are members of a municipal fire department. Volunteers who take courses are encouraged to share their knowledge with other members of their departments.

The school also offers on-site training courses to departments demonstrating sufficient interest and commitment to a course. Many fire departments have established their own training programs based on the courses offered by the Alberta Fire Training School.

"Formal training of firefighters, and a department's own training and practice sessions definitely affect the ratings of communities," says Morrison.

"A central dispatch system as well as mutual aid agreements with adjacent fire departments is taken into account, too, when a fire protection rating is established," he added. According to Morrison, examples of rural fire departments that have good fire protection ratings include the county of Strathcona and County of the County of Lethbridge. Individual community ratings can be obtained from officials at town offices.

Kids Learn Escape

Don't be surprised if your school aged youngster comes up to you one day suggesting practicing a home fire drill. The child may have been in one of the school classrooms many of the Alberta fire departments are not visiting in an effort to teach children about fire safety at home.

In Spruce Grove, for example, the fire department has developed its own "Staying Alive" program that is presented in two-hour sessions in community classrooms. The county's building fire chief, fire prevention officer and firefighter were responsible for putting the program together.

Fire Chief Larry Tebb says younger children are more receptive to fire safety information. Which is why "Staying Alive" program has been geared for children between grades one and seven. Tebb believes children as young as three can be taught to escape fire by themselves.

He also believes that parents should not underestimate the importance of home fire drills.

"It may seem silly and you may wonder what the neighbors will think, but with fire drills you're planning how to save lives," Tebb says.

"Parents often don't want to practice because they think a fire will not happen to them. But fires do happen. I hate to say it, but our firefighters are getting busier all the time."

Tebb says that once families have an escape plan in place, they should stage fire drills several times a year.

CRAWL LOW IN SMOKE!

In a smoke-filled room, your first instinct is to dash to the door. DON'T! Drop to the floor — then crawl to safety. If you're in bed, roll to the floor and crawl to a door or window.

Where there's smoke — there's danger.

Seniors Flea Market

Irene New Harrison staged a flea market and luncheon in the Droppa Centre on Saturday afternoon starting at 9:00 p.m. When the doors opened the room soon filled to capacity and buying was brisk. The table which had been piled high with bread, cakes, muffins, jams, jellies, etc., was soon almost cleaned out. Tickets on the side table sold well and when the draw was finally made, Dorcas Coffin was the winner. Donated was the gentleman who made the draw. There was much socializing, much laughter, and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves. The ladies who worked so hard preparing and getting the room ready and tables set up were very gratified. The committee in charge wish to extend thanks to everyone who helped in any way to make the project such a success.

Viking Council Goes After Another $½ Million

The Town of Viking is seeking once again to borrow just over ½ million dollars. This time the money is slated for the Loughlin subdivision.

At a special meeting in the Viking Civic Centre held last Friday morning, Council gave first reading to a money borrowing bylaw the amount of $667,000. First reading was necessary so that an application for debenture borrowing could be made to the Local Authorities Board (L.A.B.).

Only part of the $667,000 will be used for the actual development of the residential subdivision. The borrowing package can be broken down into three parts. The first part totals $65,000 and is designated to go to Cloon Engineering for the detailed plans for the development of the Loughlin land purchase.

Earlier this year, Town Council decided that the Town should purchase the plans so that it would have the option of developing the area as it sees fit. As Cloon Engineering had developed the plans and thus owned them, Council was required to pay $65,000 for the purchase of these plans. If the Town had not purchased the plans, then it would have been necessary to retain Cloon Engineering to complete the subdivision. Cloon would receive payment of the $65,000 by cost additions to the project as it progressed over the years.

The actual construction work on the subdivision is estimated at $611,000, the second part of the debenture package. This amount includes the pregrading of the area for 17 lots, the underground services for the lots, the paving of the subdivision street, curb and gutter along this street as well as along the access road (the ball diamond road), graveling of this road, and the signal survey work for the subdivision. The estimates for this work were prepared by Cloon Engineering.

The remaining amount, or $100,000, is for the purchase of the Loughlin land. This purchase was completed about 2 years ago, but the money used was taken from general revenues at that time. The idea of the borrowing is to replace this money into the reserves of the Town.

However, Council is not sure if the application will be approved by the L.A.B. One of the requirements of such an application is that the project must be approved before funding is approved. Since the Town has already purchased the land, and the purchase was not approved by the L.A.B., the application may be rejected because the Town included the land purchase sum.

The reason that the Local Authorities Board requires that they approve projects before okaying funds is to ensure that municipalities do not initiate projects, then have to be bailed out by the government afterwards. If the L.A.B. does not approve the application as it stands, the Town is expected to re-submit it without the land costs included. As the entire Loughlin subdivision is one project, Council is hopeful that the L.A.B. will take this into consideration and approve the total borrowing application.

This is the second time within a month that the Town has assumed, or is attempting to assume, a debt of over $½ million. With the water treatment system debt, Council expects to repay this debt through an increase in the mill rate. With this latest debt for the Loughlin subdivision, the Council is hopeful that sales of lots in the area will make an addition to the mill rate unnecessary.

Also at the special meeting, Council decided to not purchase an extra generator and pump which had been used on a rental basis at the new water reservoir. The system could have been used in a back-up capacity to pump water into the reservoir or to pump water from well to well without using the transfer pump-house located at the reservoir.

With the wet year, and the fact that the reservoir is nearly filled to capacity, Council felt that the purchase was not necessary. The reservoir, when full, holds a three year supply for the Town, and thus normal pumping with the system's pumps is expected for the near future.

And with the water system, it is still not operational, being over a year behind schedule. In anticipation of starting up the new system, the old reservoir in the Town is being used up so that the old reservoir can be cleaned. If it were to dry up before the new system came on stream, water from the new reservoir could be pumped into the old reservoir on a temporary basis.

Council is hopeful that the necessary tie-line will be completed soon so that the new system can be put to use.

With the coming of winter, Mr. Ron Erickson and the Viking School Wildlife Club were busy this past week removing plant debris from the mainstreet flower boxes.

GOVERNMENT BUSINESS KEEP OUT!

It's Your Government Not Theirs

Behind Closed Doors

The Conservatives think that Government business is none of your business. Under Tory rule, Government has become arrogant, callous and secretive. After eleven years of power, Government is now locked behind closed doors. Government has become Tory business and none of your business.

A Select Few

The result is a Government which benefits only a select few through patronage and selective government contracts. That hurts Alberta. While Albertans suffer the effects of a collapsing health care system, economic mismanagement, small business failure and rising unemployment, the Tories act as if nothing has changed. This must be stopped. With your help, it will.
Tell the Tories, it's your Government, not theirs.

Feed Freight Assistance Program

As many farmers may have already heard, the Feed Freight Assistance Program for 1982-83 has just been recently announced by Agriculture Minister, Dallas Schmidt. Farmers in the County of Beaver No. 9 are again eligible for assistance with freight costs. Dates that the program will be in effect are May 16, 1982 to May 30, 1983. Basically, the program is very similar to last year, except for the following major changes:

1. Maximum assistance to an individual, corporation, partnership, proprietorship, or organization is limited to a) $8,000 or b) the maximum allowable freight calculated on the basis of herd inventory. This year, a new item in the program is that there is a maximum allowable limit per animal.

2. No payment will be given on the first 20 miles as was the case last year. In addition, a variable rate has been calculated based on mileage over 20 miles. Hay or straw qualifies for 20 cents per ton per mile for the first 100 eligible miles and 10 cents per ton per mile for anything over 100 eligible miles. Pullets or coops are 9 cents and 4 cents and eggs are 19 cents and 6 cents. Those rates are for one way loaded shipments. 3. Wherever possible, actual weight of the forage on a scale ticket is preferred. If this is not possible, estimates will be accepted. However, if this is not possible, estimates will be accepted. However, the Administration reserves the right to impose maximum weights per bale where estimates are used.

4. The information needed to fill out the application is slightly different from last year. Necessary information includes: a) receipted freight bill; b) type or quantity of feed purchased; c) receipted invoice of the hay purchase or certified true copy; d) date of purchase and delivery; e) full name, address and phone numbers of vendor and purchaser.

5. Farmers who haul their own feed are still eligible.

6. A new feature of the program this year is that, in special cases, where hauled stock has been loaded to the feed, rather than vice versa, farmers may also be eligible to claim assistance as if the feed were hauled to the animals.

Brochures on the new program should be available at the same time this article reaches the newspaper. Application forms should be in our office in late October or early November.

If you have any questions regarding the program please feel free to give us a call.

Irma News And Views
 We were surprised to see Walker Littlewood in Irma on Friday, but we were sorry to learn that he was on his way to the funeral of a brother-in-law at Lone Lake, B.C.

 The weather this weekend was really encouraging. Combines were moving again as well as balers. Bright sunshine and a stiff cold breeze blowing a few more days of this weather will soon bring harvesting to an end for this season.
 Alfred Walker and Jim Jackson paid a visit to Mary and Bert Armitage on Saturday evening. The boys, Donald, John and Ben, assisted by Victor Carter were busy combining and drying grain.
 Albert Jackson of Edmonton has spent several days in the district helping his brother Eddie. He returned to his home on Sunday morning.

Short Agenda For Irma Seniors

The regular monthly meeting of Irma New Horizons Club was held as usual on the first Wednesday of the month, Oct. 6th. The meeting was called to order at approximately 2 p.m. by the president Phyllis Craig. She welcomed those present and remarked that there was not much business and this would be a short meeting.
 Minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. Then the treasurer, Donald Gunn gave his report which covered the period from Sept. 1st to Oct. 6th. The report was received as presented.
 We then had a report on the Fire Warden and on held in the Drop-in Centre on Saturday last week. This revealed that it had been a very successful venture and a vote of thanks was given to the committee members who worked so diligently to make it the success it turned out to be.
 The question of purchasing new drapes was brought up and discussed. It was mentioned that black drapes could be used to darken windows when we had a picture show replacing the cardboards that are now used. It was also stated that we should try to make the Drapes as attractive and as comfortable as possible. However no action was taken on this subject.
 The next item up for discussion was that of covers for the card tables. Several members had complained of difficulty in picking up cards off the bare tables. Edith Cockcroft produced a sample of material and it was agreed that we purchase material and make covers. A committee was appointed to take charge of this.
 The President then said how pleased she was with the results of the Fire Warden and the success of the picture show.

4-H Conservation Award Presented

Spreading the message of conservation to Albertans is important to Heather Jackson of Millarville. For her efforts 17 year old Heather was awarded the Great MacEwan Conservation Award for 1982.
 Heather was the award as a result of her efforts at the 17th annual 4-H Conservation Camp near Water Valley, Alberta and for her work done with the Millarville Multi 4-H club which she's been a member of for five years.
 Each 4-H member at the camp chooses two of a possible five areas to study and Heather's project was judged to best reflect true conservation for and involvement with our natural heritage.
 Heather will be invited back to camp in 1983 to share her experience with the new campers.
 The Great MacEwan Conservation Award is sponsored, like the 4-H Conservation Camp, by TransAlta Utilities Corporation and Alberta Power Limited. Named after Dr. MacEwan because of his special contributions to conservation in Alberta, the award was presented to Heather by the Honorable Frank Lynch-Staunton, Lieutenant-Governor of the province of Alberta, at the 21st annual Junior Citizens of the Year Awards luncheon in Edmonton, September 26th.

Embryo Transplants

Embryos taken from cattle infected with bovine leukemia can be transplanted to healthy cows without transmitting the disease.

This finding is the preliminary result of a joint study undertaken by Agriculture Canada's Animal Diseases Research Institute in Nepean, Ont., and Lethbridge, Alta.

The knowledge could open up the possibility for livestock producers, whose herds become infected with the disease and require slaughtering, to establish a replacement herd without loss of valuable blood lines.

Parental Involvement

During the next few weeks in the communities in our area, figure skating, power skating and hockey registration will be tackled in order that organized programs for the youth of our communities can be carried out over the winter months. New executives will be, or have been picked for the various organizations which will operate these organizations for the upcoming winter months. With the basic organization having been done, and the registrations completed, the work of the parents is just beginning.

Every year people volunteer to sit on organizations to run these activities and are faced with some difficult decisions. And every year, parents sitting on the outside of the organization criticize and complain about what is happening. It is very important that one gets involved when it comes to their youngsters activities. It is important that we let others know how we feel about fee increases, schedules, activities, etc. when decisions on these matters are being made. It isn't valid to wait until others have attempted to do their best, then complain.

This is the time of year that we should be attempting, as parents, to become actively involved, either as coaches, supervisors, or workers, in the organization which is trying to provide our children with activities. By getting involved at the start, we know what is occurring in these organizations and can immediately if we think things aren't running properly. And our involvement should be responsible in that we must accept that in our society, the majority decision, once all arguments are heard, is the final decision.

Holden Council Organizes

A organizational meeting of the Council of the Village of Holden was held in the Village office on Wednesday, October 6, 1982.

Following the call to order at 7:00 p.m., nominations for the office of Mayor were called for. Councillor Shihinski was the only person nominated for this position when the Administrator declared him as the Mayor by acclamation for the ensuing year.

Mayor Shihinski then took official oath of office as Mayor and took over the meeting at this time.

He then called for nominations for deputy mayor. For this position Councillor Daniels was nominated and was also elected by acclamation for the position of deputy mayor for the ensuing year.

It was moved and carried that regular meetings of council be held the second Wednesday of each month at 7:00 p.m. in the Village Office.

It was decided on a motion that the Village continue to use the services of the Royal Bank of Canada in Holden, and that the Mayor & Deputy Mayor and the Village Administrator have signing authority.

The council department and committee appointments were reviewed. It was moved and carried that the Council department and committee appointments remain the same as last year.

The meeting adjourned at 7:30 p.m.

The Referees' Clinic which will be held November 6th and 7th was discussed following the election of officers. It was felt that a fee increase for the clinic was appropriate this year, with the fee being increased only for those people over the age of 16 years. The fee will be $10 for those 16 and under, and $15 for those over 16 years. The two day clinic is annual event on the first weekend of November, and a good turnout is hoped for from Viking and surrounding communities so that referees will be available for the upcoming season.

The possibility of holding a Coaches' Clinic was also discussed, with a decision made to contact the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association to determine if they have any openings for the upcoming year.

Junior players and their parents will turn out on these two nights to register and pay their fee. On the same evening, figure skating will be holding their registrations in the Caron as well.

With the Minor Hockey Association expected to pay more this year for Caron rental, a decision was made to increase the fee.

Dog Control Confronts County

Correspondence from a resident of Lethbridge, Alberta in the western section of the county, opened discussion regarding the implementation of some form of "Dog Control" regulations in the County.

The correspondent indicated that numerous dogs are ledged in the area with a number of them uncontrolled.

In the particular case cited, the writer's children must pass property where dogs are not controlled and walk at the road side for school bus pick-up. The children are afraid of the dogs and the writer is concerned for their safety.

Councillor Warner concurred with the content of the writer's complaint and felt something should be done.

In the discussion that followed, most councillors agreed that there was a problem.

Garth Bancroft suggested that one of the best solutions would be to implement a "No dog in the County" law stating "no dog in the County of Beaver is allowed to run at large". The follow-up procedure would be to have a dog-catcher on a monthly basis whereby the patrol would be conducted on a designated day in a designated area, or have a dog catcher on a call basis. In this case anyone with a complaint could contact the County office who would then contact the dog catcher.

Council tabled the matter until their next meeting in order to have more lengthy information on which to base their decision.

Students Visit Colony

On Tues. Oct. 12, the Grade 3 class of the area school enjoyed an afternoon "Field Trip" at the Helt Institute Colony.

The weather co-operated making the 2 hour tour very pleasant. The class was accompanied by their teacher, Mrs. Ansley, and mothers, Mrs. Jamison and Mrs. Leticia Copeland.

Tour guides Barbara and Madeleine Tschacter took the group to see every part of the colony.

This included viewing the kitchen, dining room, laundry facilities, church, school, carpenter shop, huge garage with all its modern conveniences, dairy, hog barn, chicken barn, and feeder steer corrals.

The pupils were especially interested in the egg collector and cleaning apparatus, also the baby pigs and ewes. They thanked their guides and returned to school but happy after their informative tour.

On March 8, 1930 Mabel married Harry Frandrick and the young couple lived on a farm near Center until 1938, when they moved north into the Viking area settling near the Cowbridge school. Later they moved south of town, living for a year on the farm.

The Rosegarland W.I. group swung into action for the fall season by having a meeting at the home of Erlene Suddaby, September 14th at 8:00 p.m.

Nine members and one visitor answered the roll call - selecting a high light of the summer. All members seemed to have enjoyed the holidays.

The group decided to continue with the scholarship race: the Viking Awards night October 16th.

After the birthday draws and pennies for friendship Merle Weder and Erlene Suddaby served a delicious lunch and the members enjoyed a happy social hour.

October 2nd was also a busy afternoon for the Rosegarland W.I. group. Seven members and a visitor Mrs. Helen Ruschke accompanied us to the home of Mrs. Olga Chilbeck south of Vegreville for our monthly meeting. The usual business was taken care of, and a motion approved the sending of a donation to the Unitarian Service Committee.

Margaret Hill gave an educational paper on the revision of new Social Studies program. This report dealt with the "pros and cons" of content and basic teaching methods.

Annie Androsch won the door prize - a beautiful cushion woven and finished by her hostess.

Mrs. Mary Chilbeck joined us for a most satisfying lunch which included a very tasty quiche.

It was very pleasant to be so graciously entertained by our friend and former member.

Thanks so much Olga.

relatives and friends. Prayers were held Monday, Oct. 23 at 8:00 p.m. at the Holy Ghost Ukrainian Catholic Church at Holden. Divine Liturgy was held Oct. 26 at 10:00 a.m. at the Assenion Ukrainian Catholic Church at Koprivnik with Rev. O. Zacharyuk officiating and interment followed in the church cemetery.

Funeral Administrators and Directors were in charge of all arrangements.

A very good crowd attended the annual Auction Sale at the Holden complex. This year the sale lasted longer than usual due to a lot of items of western wear being added.

A record number attended the fall turkey supper at Holden Community Hall last Sunday. Members of the United Church prepared the lovely meal.

Bingo is held each Wednesday evening at 8:00 p.m. at the Holden Complex.

Ladies of the St. Gregory's Roman Catholic Church will hold their annual fall supper at the church parlors on Nov. 7 from 5:00 to 7:00 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Ron-also celebrated their 11th wedding anniversary on Sunday, Oct. 24.

Mrs. Annie Pouke celebrated her 90th birthday on Sunday, Oct. 24. Open house was held in her home with members of her family coming to wish her the best.

Kinsella W.I. News

The October meeting opened with the repetition of our pledges by all of us.

We decided to hold a Halloween party in the Kinsella Hall on Saturday, October 30th from 2 to 4 p.m. All children are welcome.

We had Betty Oakes show us how to decorate cakes. She showed us how to make flowers from icing as well and also gave us many good tips on how to decorate cakes.

An interesting paper was presented by Muriel and there were 10 members and five visitors present.

The birthday draw was won by Muriel.

Lunch was served by Barbara and Helga Oakes and was much enjoyed by all.

Bruce News

Guests at the home of Grace Gormley for Thanksgiving dinner were her grandson Graham Moore of Prince George and his fiancée Heather McDonald of Vancouver, her daughter and son-in-law Jess and George Matchett of Lethbridge, granddaughter Betty Lou Laing of Edmonton and sons Don and Dave Laing and their families.

Grace also enjoyed a visit recently from her brother Stan Pooler of Kelowna.

With harvesting on the way to completion, fall events will soon be in full swing. There will be a Beaded Tree Ornament course in the Bruce Community Centre on Tuesday November 2 and Tuesday November 9 from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. The fee is $6.00 and Evelyn Corlies will be happy to take your registration if you phone 688-2512. Instruction for the course will be Claudia Williams. After all there are only a few shopping days until Christmas (that is without Sundays). Before you shop for that Christmas turkey, however, plan to attend the Property Show on November 13 sponsored by the Bruce Agricultural Society. Supper will be followed by a dance with music by the Starliners.

It's good to see Frances Mies and Peter Thackeray home again after spending some time in the Viking Hospital.

Then Collette Thurlston of Irma came to stay with Auntie and Uncle Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Greenwood while her mother has gone to get a baby sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Holt accompanied their friend, Mr. and Mrs. Art Ziegler of Vegreville to the Red Barn Saturday night where they enjoyed the music of the Esouardis.

Growing Together

New Frontiers

The NDP is committed to Alberta farmers. That's a commitment we take seriously because agriculture is vital to Alberta's future. As part of that commitment the NDP will institute a New Frontiers Program to open up five million acres of new agricultural land throughout the province. We will work with farmers to develop a workable Farm Income Stabilization Plan.

Mainstreet Alberta

The Alberta NDP will work together with local governments and business people to revitalize and renovate Alberta's smaller cities and rural towns. Mainstreet Alberta will make your town an even better place to live, shop, do business and raise a family.

A New North

The NDP will work with Northerners to develop the North the Conservatives have forgotten. We will complete northern rail links from the Peace Block to the West Coast. Working together, we can build a new North and make Alberta work for you.

Seniors Hold Meeting

The mid month meeting of Irma New Horizons Club was held in the Drop in Centre on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 20.

Three ladies enjoyed playing whist, while one played scrabble. There was a noticeable shortage of male members at the meeting, as can be gathered from the following:

Men's high score went to Doreen Coffin, and men's low to Evelyn Greenwood. Ladies High was taken by Mildred Smith, and low went to Mildred Bridgman. Gertrude Matthews was the winner of scrabble.

Lunch and socializing brought the meeting to a conclusion.

Irma News And Views

Visiting at the Grims last Thursday was Mrs. Gerry Terry of Hardisty and Mrs. Gerry Gwin of Ponfident, B.C.

Mrs. Annie Spring of Lloydville visited with the Ludwig Satres and the Larson family. On Wednesday she accompanied Peggy Fleming and Goldie Larson home.

Mr. and Mrs. David Crab and family visited Bertha's folks at St. Paul on the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bruce and friends of Minerva visited with Mrs. Alex Smallwood on Sunday.

Relative from Irma, Amelia, etc., helped Mrs. Widdon Sr. celebrate her 86th birthday on Friday.

Several Irma folk were in Kinross Friday evening to enjoy the beautiful annual supper put on by Kinross ladies.

Congratulations to parents and grandparents of two new members. A girl for Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Thorpe and a boy for Mr. and Mrs. Al Gulka (see Colleen Cressler).

While her mother and two brother in hospital, little Alex Gulka is company for Grandma and Grandpa Craig.

Miss Harriet Anselme and Mrs. Gertrude Matthews are hospitalized in Viking.

We regret to report the passing of Mr. George Harter, Saturday night. His stay in hospital was very brief. George has resided in the Irma district for a number of years. At one time he worked for Alex Smallwood. Later he bought a 1/2 section east of the Irma Cemetery. The last number of years his head has been rented and he has resided in "the small house" on the Archie Cook farm.

On the afternoon of Monday, Oct. 25th, half a dozen Seniors, assisted by Kenny Veer, loaded Jimmie Craig's truck with the news print which has been accumulating in Jackson's garage for many months. Jim Craig and Jim Jackson are heading for Edmonton on Tuesday forenoon to deliver the papers to Allied Papers at 1804 - 180 Ave. Edmonton. The proceeds are the property of the Irma New Harmsen Club.

Back to the weather again. We have again been enjoying beautiful fall weather. Hoping the nice weather will continue for a few more weeks, which would help shorten the coming winter.

Your correspondent made a trip to Sedgewick on Thursday, Oct. 21st, and was surprised to find that snow still under a blanket of snow, 6 to 8 inches deep. The snow extended north and east for 8 or 9 miles then tapered off. Some of the Sedgewick streets which have been recently torn up for installation of a storm sewer are really a mess. Irma district was fortunate in escaping this snowfall last weekend.

We are glad to report that Alex Smallwood has recovered sufficiently to be moved from the University hospital, and is now recuperating in the Waterwright hospital.

The new Bank of Montreal building is rapidly taking shape and will be covered in the very near future. It should be an imposing edifice, judging by the large windows, and high peaked roof, etc.

Ringette-A Winter Sport For Girls

The playing area used for Ringette is an outdoor or indoor ice rink of the type that is used for ice hockey. Two blue lines (hockey blue lines) are the main rink markings. The goal area is designated by a half circle with radius of eight (8) feet. The same type of net is used as hockey. A line consists of nine to eighteen players, with six players on the ice at a time-two forwards, one centre, two defence and a goalkeeper. The game is divided into two fifteen minute periods of stop time. An approved Ringette stick used to pass, carry and shoot a rubber ring. Defence sticks are covered red and they may not enter their own defensive zone. The centre has a white stick and she is the only player that can go anywhere. The goals use a hockey goal stick. There can be no intentional body contact and all the rules are designed with the safety of the participants in mind. Slashing, checking, body checking, cross-checking, tripping and holding are some of the violations which result in a penalty.

To begin the game a free pass is used. The referee places the ring in the visiting team's half of the centre circle. After the referee blows his/her whistle, the player taking the free pass must pass the ring out of the circle within five seconds. She may not touch the ring again until it has been touched by, or touches another player.

The offside rule stipulates that a player cannot skate across either blue line while in possession of the ring. She must pass the ring to a teammate across each blue line and may not touch the ring until it has been touched by another player. A goal may be scored from anywhere on the ice providing it does not violate any of the blue line or goal crease rules. The rules require each player to participate in each of the two periods, allowing all participants to ice.

There are six age groups for Ringette: Petites - 10 and under; Tweenes - 12 and under; Juniors - 14 and under; Bantams - 17 and under; Dubs - 18 and over; Ladies - 20 and over. All ages are as of December 31st of the playing season.

Hallowe'en Quiet

"Quiet, very quiet!" That is how all of the R.C.M.P. detachments along Highway 16 responded to an inquiry about Hallowe'en activities in their area.

Constable Maeda of the Wainwright R.C.M.P. Detachment said that except for the basic pranks common at Hallowe'en, it was very quiet in their area.

Constable Sanderson of the Viking R.C.M.P. Detachment reported that it was very quiet in Viking, with only some isolated incidents of spray paint damaging some people's property. He said that the regular bunch of pranks were carried out, but that it was to be expected and still very quiet.

And Hallowe'en was also pretty quiet at the west end of the County of Beaver. Constable Christensen of the Tofield R.C.M.P. said that it was pretty quiet in their area. He said they had some fire on back roads, but that there were no problems in any of the towns that amounted to much.

As Constable Sanderson put it, "It seems like Hallowe'en is returning to what it was the many years ago, when Hallowe'en pranks were things of fun and not to be destructive". From reports from along Highway 16, it looks as though he is right.

Although the exact nature of the mail stolen is not known at this time, one specific set of items known to have been taken by the thieves was the keys to the

Armed Robbers Hit Mail Truck

The 100th Street Canada Post truck was robbed last Friday morning by two armed robbers as it stopped at Ryley on Friday morning.

While the truck was stopped at the Ryley Post Office at about 2:00 a.m. Friday morning, two masked robbers, armed with hand guns, confronted the two Canada Post employees travelling with the truck. The two employees were tied up and the robbers worked at their objective.

According to Constable Christensen of the Tofield R.C.M.P., the two robbers did not take all of the bags of mail that were on the truck.

What was stolen has not been determined at this time, but Postal authorities in Edmonton were working on attempting to determine the contents of the bags that were stolen.

The robbery was reported about a half hour after the perpetrators had made their getaway. One of the Postal employees managed to get free and contacted the authorities.

Although the exact nature of the mail stolen is not known at this time, one specific set of items known to have been taken by the thieves was the keys to the Post Office along Highway 16. Because of this, the regular daily mail deliveries have been rescheduled. Viking Post Master Al Wilmer said that the change in times should only last until the end of this week. He said that until all of the locks are changed along the route that the truck was driving, all deliveries and pickups must be made during daylight hours, and local Post Office staff must be on the premises when the truck makes its stop.

Until further notice, the mail truck will be delivering mail coming from the east and picking up mail headed west at 9:00 a.m. Mail coming from the west and heading to eastern locations along the line will be sent out at 4:00 p.m.

No word has been released by the R.C.M.P. as to the nature or extent of their investigation into the Friday morning robbery, but Constable Christensen said that they are continuing their investigation.

P.C.'s Take Area

The Progressive Conservative candidates in the constituencies of Vermilion-Viking, Wainwright, and Vegreville will be joining 72 of their fellow party members in the Alberta legislature this fall.

In the Vermilion-Viking riding, incumbent Tom Lyons easily defeated three other candidates to retain his seat in the Alberta legislature. Mr. Lyons defeated candidates from the W.C.C., the R.D.P. and the Social Credit Party, with his nearest rival running about 1000 votes behind.

In the Wainwright constituency, a new face will take his seat on the government side. Robert (Bert) Fletcher defeated three other candidates also to retain the seat for the Progressive Conservative. Mr. Fletcher ran up against candidates from the N.D.P., W.C.C., and Liberals.

Incumbent John Hainik also easily retained his seat in the Vegreville constituency. Mr. Hainik's nearest opponent trailed him by over 2000 votes in the 5 candidate battle.

Coffin Reappointed In Irma

The Organizational Meeting of the Council of the Village of Irma was held in the Irma Village Office on Wednesday, October 20, 1982.

Present were Councillors Coffin, Copeland, Dempsey and Larson. Also present was Municipal Administrator, D.D. Cressy.

The meeting was called to order by Municipal Administrator D.D. Cressy at the hour of 7:10 p.m. and the council appointments are as follows.

Councillor Doug Coffin was re-appointed to the position of Mayor for the ensuing term of office. Also re-appointed was Dr. Ron Dempsey to the position of Deputy Mayor.

It was decided unanimously that the Village continue to conduct its banking business at the Irma Branch of the Bank of Montreal.

Bank members were also appointed to various committees.

The People Have Spoken!

The people of Alberta have spoken with a very loud and clear voice. The voters of Alberta have overwhelmingly selected Premier Lougheed's Progressive Conservative government to govern the province for the next four years. And even with the tremendous victory, it feels as though there was a lot more opposition during this campaign than in the previous 10 years. This election had some excitement to it, even though the end result was more solidly Conservative than in previous years. In this election, there was a glimmer of hope for candidates of other parties that maybe, just maybe, they would be able to overcome the Tory election machine and snatch a victory away from the overwhelming favourites.

And although the next four years will probably be very dull from within the Alberta legislature, the happenings outside of the Legislature could be very interesting. With Peter Lougheed fully intending to step down as leader of the P.C.'s during the next four years, the political infighting to replace him should heat up very early in this government's term in office. As well, there should be a general re-evaluation of the political scene in Alberta by those candidates in the old and new political parties who went down to defeat. What was seen as a possibility for election by these parties ultimately ended up in an increase in the percentage of the popular vote for the Conservatives. And the popular vote is an important statistic in an election such as ours. And the percentages must be evaluated against the percentage of voters who actually turned out to vote in this election. Albertans are notorious for not voting during a provincial election, with percentages as low as in the fifties of total possible voters.

Congratulations must go out to all candidates who took the initiative to attempt to become the representative of the people of their riding. Often just the winners are congratulated, but all of the candidates must be recognized for their efforts in providing the voters with alternatives. Having alternatives from which to choose is what makes our democratic system work. And if the voters choose to elect a lopsided majority into the legislature, that is their right. The secret ballot provides no guarantees as to what people will do once they stand in the polling booth. The uncertainty of the election in whatever terms is important to the system. And the efforts of all of the candidates and their supporters is what creates this uncertainty. The voters have spoken and each one that did is to be commended for their effort in getting out to vote. That single act is what makes us so fortunate compared to most other people on this earth.

ATTENTION Bruce, Viking & Kinross Service Areas Of TransAlta Utilities

Weather permitting there will be a Power Interruption from 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Sunday, November 7 affecting the Bruce, Viking & Kinross service areas of TransAlta Utilities. Holden.

This power interruption is necessary to enable TransAlta Utilities to perform system improvements and pole changes.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:
 I'm wondering how many people who own land, particularly farm land are as angry and frustrated as I am.

Hunting season has blasted through its first week and whether people hunt or not really is none of my business SO LONG AS they stay OFF of my land.

We have always posted our land against hunters, but that is not to say that these "sportsmen" have not ignored our signs and driven over, there and stomped over it anyway. Even to the point of opening closed gates which have signs on both sides of them.

Since when does a hunting license entitle its holder to trespass on private property? Perhaps as part of qualifying for such a license, there should be a reading test to see if they can read and if they can, do they know what the signs mean. I do not want hunters on any of my land and there are others who feel the same. In my case when the sign at the fence says "NO TRESPASSING", what it means is "STAY OFF MY DAMNED LAND". For those who ignore signs, hope you get the message.

Brush Talk

With the onslaught of winter activities and Christmas hustle and bustle comes a refreshing new season in the art world. Clean brushes, fresh canvases and the least of corporate makes the artist's blood race and puts the Viking Art Club in high gear.

This year again the art club has the use of the Rec Room on Wednesday afternoons for their workshops and lessons. They will be meeting informally for the next six Wednesdays from 1 to 5 beginning November 3. The use of all necessary supplies is being offered to any new or prospective members for these workshops. Senior members are willing to lend a helping hand, to criticize, to encourage and to assist in the search for hidden talent. All is free of charge.

Paul Braud will instruct members for the art club again beginning January 1st. Mr. Braud is a popular landscape artist and critic from the Department of Extension, University of Alberta, an artist with an exciting impressionistic style. Even the most hesitant brusher moves across canvases in an exciting manner in his presence.

The art club's work has been well received in this community as can be seen by the paintings and sketches hanging in homes, offices and the hospital. Painting is an exciting venture, and the invitation to join us on Wednesday afternoons, free of charge to warm up for formal lessons in January.

For further information call Gabele Rasmussen at 398-2198 or Betty Klein at 398-2441, though no registration is required for the Wednesday workshops and is open to anyone.

THIRD ANNUAL PYROGHY SUPPER

Grade 7 students from the Walwright School Division met in Irma for a session on the soccer field. Grade 8 & 9 Irma students were in Walwright and Chaurin for sports events as arranged through the School Division's Sports Council.

Theatre 75 To Present Fall Program

For the first drama production in the new Walwright and District Community Centre, Nov. 6 and 7, Theatre 75 is presenting three performances, "A Salute to Rodgers and Hammerstein", "A Sound of Music", "South Pacific", and "Shogun". These are tied together with narrative by Stuart Iverson. There is a solo, a duet, and small and large ensemble numbers. The quality of music in this show is breathtakingly lovely and you will be able to live again: some of the scenes from your favorite Rodgers and Hammerstein show. The Musical Director is Brenda Haurick and the Accompanist is Betty Foley.

The last number "Little Nell" is a melodrama and dates back to the late nineteenth century. The characters in this play have a sympathetic feeling for the part they are playing. The villain, when he is in character is very villainous; the heroine is typical of women portrayed at that time and is without a mind of her own and is easily influenced. The mother and father would willingly sacrifice their daughter for their own gain. The result is heartily amusing. This play is directed by Wabshen Laird.

For an evening of variety, of fun and nostalgia, come to Theatre 75's fall performance. Further details can be found elsewhere in this paper.

When you're looking for ways to protect your family, think of permanent life insurance. It's one of the most unselfish things you'll ever buy. You don't buy it just for yourself. You buy it because there are others who need you as much as you need them. That's life.

Irma News And Views

Get well wishes are extended to Jack Veer, who had the misfortune to fall one day last week and an x-ray revealed that he had a few cracked ribs, so he is still under treatment in Viking Hospital.

The new Bank of Montreal building had the shingles laid during the week. Windows and doors are installed and a start made on the brick work. There is much speculation as to what will become of the old bank building which has served the district for so many years.

Jimmie Craig volunteered the services of himself and his big truck to deliver the accumulation of scrap metal from Jackson's garage as reported last week. Six sons and Kenny Veer loaded the truck on Monday afternoon, and on Tuesday morning at 8:30 a.m. Jimmie and Jim Jackson left for Edmonton and arrived at Allied Papers at approximately 11:30 a.m. The papers weighed 10,400 lbs. and on account of being over 6 tons and having a hydraulic dump on the truck they were paid for at the rate of $40.00 per ton. The two Jims had dinner at Sherwood park on the way home. There is now plenty of room in Jackson's garage for more scrap metal, but please be advised that catalogues and glossy papers are not suitable and must be otherwise disposed of. Please do not waste newspaper, as every ton which is recycled saves the destruction of evergreen trees. We have recently seen some bundles and boxes of newspapers in the pit at the refuse ground.

Kenny Veer and sister Marilyn was in Edmonton over the weekend helping Barbara move to her new quarters. On Sunday Lorna and Lorraine Smith installed her new digs.

Anyone wishing to see a flock of swans can do so by going south under the truss bridge, one mile east of Irma, go south three miles and in the big slough on the west side of the road, a flock of swans has been overwintering around there over the weekend and were still there on Monday afternoon.

Lorna and Eddie Jackson had a successful farm section sale at their farm one mile east and three south of Irma. The sale started on Saturday morning at 11:00 a.m. and ran continually until 4:30 p.m. The weather was ideal and a good crowd was in attendance. Every lot was sold and prices satisfactory.

Strawberry Plains W.I. ladies done a good job of catering during the sale.

Mrs. Mary Newton, Director of Region 7, Hazel Orzechowski and Mrs. Inshell Panton are attending F.W.U.A. Convention, November 3 and 4 at the Westin Hotel, Edmonton.

Mr. Archie Cook returned after a visit with relatives at the coast.

Mrs. Harriet Faulkner of Minburn visited her friend Mrs. Gannan Aubrey Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Costall and boys of Edison visited friends over the weekend.

Mrs. Ann Keivert of Didsbury, niece of the late Mr. George Harder spent a few days at the Irma Hotel.

Attending Mr. Harder's funeral Wednesday in Wainwright were his brother,

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harder of Didsbury, his son Ed Harder of St. Albert; Mr. Henry Harder's daughter-in-law Irene of Sherwood Park and Mrs. Ann Keivert.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Barber and several family members of Inisdale, Mr. Murray Platt of Minburn, Mrs. Dorothy Barber and sons were among the many relatives and friends attending the funeral of Mr. Alex Smallwood.

Sympathy is expressed principally to Mrs. Helen Smallwood, Velma, Dorothy and Jason on Alex's passing. Mrs. Norma Lakatos of Spruce Grove was down for Alex Smallwood's funeral.

Echo Rodino

Last week Mr. and Mrs. Robert Greenwood and Lori enjoyed a trip to Edson where they visited relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Errol Buckett and family of Wainwright spent a few days visiting the Bauer farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Greenwood enjoyed having Mr. and Mrs. Jim McIntyre of Fort Albert, B.C. visit most of the week. Wednesday evening Maxine and Tom entertained several friends and relatives who had come to visit with the McIntyres.

Harriet Faulkner visited Sunday at the Phil Hogg home south of Kinross.

Joe Hoki returned home this week and with several friends that had attended college at Vancouver with him. Sunday they all enjoyed watching Joe play hockey.

Wainwright, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hoki also attended the game to watch as Joe is once again a member of the Wainwright Blues hockey club. Good luck on a new hockey season.

Visiting with the Mackowick family this weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Pete Topchinski of Edmonton.

Harriet Faulkner had the pleasure of Clara Lander at Calgary call in for a visit. Clara was accompanied by Ivy Moller of Kinross.

Three friends - or strangers - made their rounds on Halloween evening in Viking.

No, they're not last minute candidates for yesterday's election, but this foursome enjoyed their own form of "campaigning" over the hallways on weekend. Staff Photo

Carena Snack Bar Report

With winter here again, the arena seems to be the focal point in town. Once again we who use the arena have the job of keeping the snack bar running smoothly and efficiently.
 As games have already started, I have already called on some families to work their shift for the winter.
 This year the alphabet is being split at the half way point in names - this hits "L". We will run L - s and A - K. Thus everyone should hit a completely different week than they did last year.
 Starting with the first of December to the first of March we have 16 weeks to cover. 16 volunteers are needed to each take one week of being the "A" person and do the planning to arrange the weekly list of people into games.
 Please call me by the end of this week if you will be a "phoner" as I would like to get the names posted very shortly. My number is 880-2440. D. Hodgins

Fifteen good reasons to feel confident about Alberta's future

The fifteen young people you see above share a very strong, common bond. Through their individual initiative and sense of responsibility, they have each been accorded the honour of...Junior Citizen of the Year.

It's an award of which to be proud. And one that inspires confidence in the future of our province, our country.

Through their unselfish contributions, each of these young people has made a vital contribution to his/her community. A contribution that has been recognized and appropriately rewarded.

The Alberta Junior Citizen of the Year Awards are co-sponsored by TransAlta Utilities, which is proud to have had the opportunity to salute the courage and determination of our young people for twenty-one years.

Rural Lifestyles To Be Examined

On November 5 and 6 the Vegreville Association for the Handicapped will be hosting a seminar examining rural lifestyles for handicapped people. This is an annual event of the Alberta Association for the Mentally Retarded, and will be held in Vegreville for the first time. Approximately 100 association members, parents and professionals from across Alberta will be attending.

The purpose of the workshop will be to provide the participants with the steps necessary to establish services in a rural community. Such subjects as transportation, schooling, advocacy and residential options will be addressed.

The first half of the seminar will be led by Mr. Rob Richards, with the Southern Alberta Community Living Association in Lethbridge. He possesses a great deal of experience in co-ordinating services for the rural areas around Lethbridge.

The second half of the day will feature residential options. A panel of speakers will present a range of options available to the mentally handicapped, and each option will be fully investigated.

If anyone wishes to attend this seminar, please contact the Vegreville Association for the handicapped office at 686-3441 on October 25. We hope to see good local participation.

The water level in the old reservoir is gradually dropping as the attempt is being made to use up all of the water so that the old reservoir can be closed.

Eggs Down—Decline Started?

Canadian Egg Marketing Agency General Manager, Jean Brassard announced in Ottawa recently the start of what the Agency predicts may be softening farm egg prices.

Effective Monday, October 11th, the price farmers receive for a dozen grade A large eggs will drop two cents to 11 cents.

Brassard explained that, "sharp decreases in feed prices, combined with lower interest rates, have reduced the cost of producing a dozen eggs for Canadian egg producers. CEMA's pricing mechanism passes any savings in cost through to the price farmers receive."

Brassard stated, "Unfortunately lower feed costs indicate that many grain farmers will have a tough year. Some are predicting that they may not even recover their costs."

Brassard noted, "Current harvest conditions are good in most parts of the country. Most feed analysts predict continuing lower prices for feed grains. If this holds, and is not offset by increases in other costs, then Canadian eggs can expect lower prices in the months ahead."

Brassard cautioned however that, "It is up to wholesalers and retailers to ensure that these price reductions are passed along to consumers."

"Egg farmers are certainly doing their part to meet the national need for price restraint," Brassard concluded. "The price they receive for a dozen eggs is actually 8.5 per cent below this month than it was in October."

CEMA sets at the start of each month the price farmers receive for a dozen grade A large eggs. This price is established by comparing the cost of a farmer's feed to produce the egg. The formula is currently the subject of a public inquiry by the Federal government's National Farm Products Marketing Council.

The Report of the inquiry is expected to be published this fall.

Garden Wedding In Irma

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Parsons

On August 21, a garden ceremony in Irma united Lane Macfadyen, daughter of Clair and Lynn Prior, and Leonard Francis, son of Wes and Betty Parsons, in marriage.

The double-ring ceremony, conducted by Rev. Anne Gowans, Bism, was at the home of the bride's parents.

Following the procession, at to "Endless Love", the bride and her father entered to the strains of "Ice Castles". Lane wore an off-the-shoulder tulle gown accented with tiers of scalloped lace at the bodice and skirt bottom. The lower tier extended into a train. Her three-quarter length veil was held in place by a wreath of white roses, and she carried a cascade of lilac and white orchids.

Maid of Honor was Kirby Prior, with bridesmaids Mary Gullman, Lori Fenton, Carolyn Erickson and Nola Pierce. The bride's attendants were identical dresses of lilac satin crepe with handkerchief hemlines and spaghetti straps, topped by white lace jackets. White picture hats with lilac, and cascading bouquets of white and lilac orchids completed the ensemble.

The Flowergirl Robin Gullman and Carry-An Gullman were matching white crystal dresses with tulle train. They carried baskets of miniature orchids and had wristlets of miniature orchids in their hair.

Ceraine and Kirstal Prior, the bride's twin sisters, carried the train. They wore identical middie dresses with spaghetti straps, covered by jackets of white and lilac cotton. They wore wrist corsages or orchids.

The groom wore a black tuxedo, with grey jacket accented by black trim. His white boutonniere carried a lilac orchid center.

Leonard was attended by Jojo Jensen, Geir Volmestad, Wayne Leckow, Shane Bakke, and Dale Nilsson. They, along with others Allan

Fenton and Mervin Pirken, were identical grey tuxedos with black trim.

The mother of the bride, Lynn Prior, wore a lilac afternoon dress accented by a corsage of white roses with the orchids. Mother of the groom, Betty Parsons, wore a plum afternoon dress with a corsage of pale yellow roses.

A reception in the Irma Curling Club followed the garden ceremony, with Tessa Bennett and Terry Lynn Kirkman looking after the guest book. Unique decorations included original drawings by Jojo Jensen.

Mother of Ceremony was Rick Gullman, and he also introduced the grandparents present: Mr. and Mrs. Ted Prior, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Nicholson, and Mrs. J.C. McLean. The toast to the bride by Rose McFadden was responded to by the groom.

A dance completed the evening. The first evening, with an Open House the next day at the home of the bride's parents. After a short honeymoon in southern British Columbia, Leonard and Kirby Prior will move into their home in Irma.

Irma History Book In Progress

A meeting of the History Book committee was held at the Drop-In Centre on Thursday, Oct. 28 to get the book underway after a partial summer recess. A few stalwart members carried on during the summer months sitting through the early copies of Irma Times.

The History Book committee appreciates any memorial donations received. They issue receipts and inform the donor's next of kin. As we are not a registered organization, there is no registered number on the receipt.

Historians are slowly coming in, but interest is picking up. We feel encouraged to get letters from far away places where people can give us information of former residents by their land owners or hired hands.

Keep the histories coming in. We anticipate a busy winter.

Hallowe'en At Irma School

On October 28, the students in Irma school left and were replaced by scary ugly, odd-shaped creatures who all joined together in the gymnasium after dinner for a masquerade party put on by the Student's Union.

At one o'clock the students from grades one to twelve were judged for the best costume with prizes being awarded during the party. After the judging was done, grades one to four were paired off with costumes from grades nine, ten and eleven who were judged for their older "brother" or "sister".

The activities for the afternoon commenced at about 1:30 p.m. There was bean bag throwing at a bull's eye, pumpkin, ball throwing at its cane, apple bobbing, and eating an apple off a string. Special attractions were a haunted house, and fortune telling by the "Wicked Witch of Aztec".

The activities concluded with everyone joining in dancing the popular Bird Dance and various old time dances such as waltzes and polkas. All in all, the afternoon was enjoyed by all who participated.

Best costume winners in each grade were as follows:
Grade 1 - Robert Ward;
Grade 2 - Aaron Ishik;
Grade 3 - Jennifer Fulton; Grade 4 - Shava Jones;
Grade 5 - Brooke Jamison; Grade 6 - Troy Hanson;
Grade 7 - Shannon Haller; Grade 8 - Carl Polton;

A Good Link

Last Friday, report cards were sent home from the Viking School, and enclosed in these report cards was a letter about the possibility of initiating a Home and School Association for the Viking School. Parents were asked to indicate their feelings toward such a possibility at the Parent/Teacher interviews which are being held this week at the school. And hopefully parents will indicate their full support for such a venture.

Home and School Associations can be extremely helpful links between the school and the parents. Too often parents feel alienated from the place which occupies about as much of their child's time as does the home. Too often parents do not know what is going on at the school, or don't know how they can help out at the school because they are seldom asked to get directly involved in the life of the school. And yet, it should be very important to every parent that they take an active part in helping the school in their community to function in the best possible manner. In this way, they are helping to ensure a better education for their child.

The people of the Viking area can simply look to the east, to Irma, to see an active Home and School Association. It has worked over the years "for" the school, so that the environment for the students was improved. Numerous valuable educational and social items have been purchased for the Irma School by their Home and School Association. And it is just one of the many across the province which work along these lines. Too often parents "send" their child to school to get educated, while forgetting that their responsibility in the process is just as great as that of any other person involved in the process, including the teachers and students. A Home and School Association enables the parents to become directly involved in the life of the school, an involvement which is important because it is "their" child that is "at stake" in the educational process.

While Home and School Associations can be very beneficial, they can also have the potential for disastrous results. A Home and School Association should not allow itself to become involved in the administration of the school. The day-to-day operations of schools should be left to the Board of Education and the school administrators, but that does not mean that the Association should not be involved with the school's operation. If general policies of operation are of concern, then attempts should be made to clarify and perhaps even change these policies through the proper channels. But what no school needs is an Association which feels that it is in charge of the operations of the school. We elect Boards to handle these matters, and these should be left to these Boards.

The greatest function that a Home and School Association can play is a positive role in helping the school to be a better educational environment for the students. It can also work to keep parents informed of happenings in the school, and can work as a unit to make improvements in the school. It can be an excellent link between the home and the school, and is well worth the try.

The above picture poses questions in the minds of many Viking residents. Was the above roof damaged wilfully, or was it the result of an uncontrolled wildfire having difficulty negotiating the corner.

structure is either 4 or 6 1/2 ft. high depending on the room available. The audience sits on a carpeted floor, leaning against bookshelves to view the interior of the dome. Twenty-eight primary students or twenty-two high school students or adults can be accommodated.

Out of the 35 shows given each week, a large majority are for students. Since the unit must be set up indoors (it is neither proof nor fire resistant), and since it is preferable to be close to the school population, the Mobile Planetarium is usually located within a school building - either a stage, gymnasium or library - although other sites can be used. In the past, it has been set up not only in schools, but at museums, ice hockey rinks and an abandoned fire house. Three nights a week, public shows are given, and all programs are free of charge. There is also a 20 cm. Celestron telescope which may be taken outside after the evening performances, provided the weather is suitable.

The intimate nature of the Mobile Planetarium makes the elaborate taped productions of larger facilities inappropriate. The audience for the most part does not have an opportunity for monthly visits to see a variety of programs. Therefore, the greatest possible use is made of the planetarium projector itself. The shows aim at an introductory level - based on a partial sky survey which relies on the excitement and interest of the ideas themselves rather than on mechanical gimmicks. The shows are given live, and are as interactive and flexible as circumstances permit. Kindergarten and first grade programs usually take about 36 minutes, while those for higher grades and for the public can last over an hour.

The season's night sky is used to familiarize the audience with astronomical objects and their significance. Broad themes are introduced throughout the show: the dynamic and ever-changing nature of the universe, some of the differences between stars and their evolution, the groupings of stars from small to vast systems, the immensity of interstellar space, and the fact that our astronomical knowledge is based on discoveries made by people of many different cultures. The constellations serve as frames of reference to introduce such important objects as star clusters, nebulae, supernova remnants and galaxies, as well as star wars. Sites are usually scheduled during the summer prior to each school year. The community visited and the area it serves should be large enough to warrant a star at least four weeks. However, all requests for planetarium visits are given consideration. For further information, please contact: Alberta's Mobile Astronomy Project, Alberta Natural Resources Science Centre, Box 118, Sherwood Park, Alberta, T8A 2A8. Telephone 427-9486.

Police Report

The Viking Detachment of the R.C.M.P. wish to advise that they are in possession of a "breakdown" car. The car is approximately 8 ft. by 8 ft. in size and is thought to be off a crusher or a rig. The item was found along Highway 14. The owner can retrieve same by contacting the Viking Detachment.

During the past week the police report one vehicle accident in the area which resulted in damages in excess of $600 and a single vehicle accident was reported. A complaint was received regarding a vehicle fire. No injuries resulted from the accidents and galaxies, as well as star wars.

Sites are usually scheduled during the summer prior to each school year. The community visited and the area it serves should be large enough to warrant a star at least four weeks. However, all requests for planetarium visits are given consideration. For further information, please contact: Alberta's Mobile Astronomy Project, Alberta Natural Resources Science Centre, Box 118, Sherwood Park, Alberta, T8A 2A8. Telephone 427-9486.

A request to alter the existing multi-lane subdivision agreement structure was presented to County Council at their regular November meeting. Making the request on behalf of Don Haddy was a representative of Principle Savings and Trust.

While the agreement is a clause that stipulates that road construction must be completed to County standards prior to the registration of the lots under the provincial planning act. In their request, Principle Savings and Trust asked that due to a somewhat slack market at the present time, they would prefer to hold off on the immediate construction of roadways.

However, as a considerable amount of money had already gone into the project they hoped to complete registration of the lots prior to the deadline set by Alberta Planning.

Principle Savings and Trust asked Council to consider a change in the agreement which would allow them to complete registration prior to the building of adequate roads. They offered the County just ownership of the properties which they felt would ensure that all conditions of the subdivision development agreement were met prior to the sale of the individual lots.

In the decision that followed, Council was unanimous in their decision not to accept the proposal. Council felt that they were not in a position to assist in a matter of private enterprise.

In other matters, Jerry Albert brought Council up to date on the work being conducted on Hwy. 684.

Competition tests have shown very favourable results with the new construction having a very sturdy base. Total figures for the 3 mile government project has been estimated at approximately $815,000.

A home recently built in Kinross and purchased by Mrs. Landers, was brought to the attention of Council. Apparently there is no access to the lot from the undeveloped back alley.

Property lines are also in question. In view of the numerous problems Council agreed to engage the services of a legal surveyor to determine the exact positioning and legal right of way.

The conflict of ownership of a small parcel of land at the site of the Kinross Nuisance grounds remains unsettled. Although the County agreed to return the site to standards set by Alberta Environment when they were informed that they had made use of property not belonging to the County, the owners did not accept this proposal.

They felt they should be reimbursed for the time which the land had been used. As a mutually agreeable solution was not reached, a "Notice of Intention To Expropriate" was placed in The Weekly Review on October 30 and October 27. However, as the owners had not received notification prior to publication, the public notice was deemed invalid.

A decision arose with regard to landfill sites throughout the County. It was agreed that the present arrangement whereby the Towns and Villages provide the land and the County is responsible for the excavating is mutually agreeable and need not be revised.

Council dealt with a property taxation matter from the Hamlet of Bruce. An objection was received from Louis Hadden of Bruce who felt he should not be responsible for frontage tax as he had not requested, nor is he receiving water or sewerage service. Upon investigation Council found that a formal application had not been received and that his property is not a part of the Bruce Hamlet plan. Therefore, even though the service line runs to the front of his property, he is not responsible for frontage tax as assessed.

The financial statement of the Indian Regional Area Centre was discussed by Council. A letter advising that their financial status would be reviewed during the planning of the 1983 budget will be forwarded to the executive of the office.

The Great Drug Roundup

"The Great Drug Roundup" which began November 22, 1980 is a program which encourages Albertans to check their medicine cabinets for old or dated medications. We suspect that many people have a variety of drugs lying around which are no longer useful...but which are potentially dangerous, especially to young children.
 For example, a few pills left in the plastic vial become immediately dangerous if a prescription as instructed by the doctor. Or perhaps there's half a bottle of cough syrup which was bought several years ago.
 For the next two weeks

Albertans will be encouraged to return these prescriptions and over-the-counter drugs to their local pharmacist for safe disposal. In doing so, they can help to reduce the number of accidental poisonings which occur each year in Alberta. 1979 - the latest year for which we have figures - showed 4,041 poisonings. Of these, 1,000 people were hospitalized and 80 died...including a child under five.
 Moreover, there were more than 3,800 children who had to be treated by physicians in 1979 for accidental poisoning. Having his or her stomach pumped in a very frightening experience for a young child...and it doesn't make sense or do it for very good either. It is also a procedure which carries certain health risks.

 There are over 200 pharmacists throughout the Province who will be collecting the drugs for their safe disposal. These pharmacists will also be distributing 300,000 coloring sheets to young children, thus encouraging parents to talk to their children about drugs and accidental poisoning.
 During "The Great Drug Roundup", public sessions on drug safety will be organized in some communities. And, people will be encouraged to talk to their family, pharmacist or community health nurse about drug safety.

 All pharmacists will have a limited supply of a Federal Government kit called "Poison Proof" their homes, and Alberta Social Services and Community Health Plans to issue a revised edition of its pamphlet on accidental poisoning.
 We also hope that "The Great Drug Roundup" will generally make people more aware of the possibilities for accidental poisoning in their homes, not just from drugs but also from many household products.

4-H On The Move

4-H volunteer leaders are an essential part of the 4-H program. They work directly with the 4-H members and it is their enthusiasm and hard work that keep many local 4-H clubs going. Being a 4-H leader is not as easy task and often can be very demanding. Many people help with 4-H clubs for one or two years and then drop out. Every year there is a 50 per cent turnover in 4-H leaders. The reasons vary, but a lack of knowledge about the 4-H program and poor leadership skills are two very common ones.
 In an effort to help 4-H adult volunteers feel more confident and rewarded with their roles as 4-H leaders several district 4-H units are sponsoring a 4-H Parent's Awareness night. This will be an evening where ALL adults involved in a 4-H club can attend. It'll be the resource person and the following areas will be covered:

1) 4-H Structure and Line of Communication
 2) "First Things First" for 4-H adults - a slide kit which covers everything a 4-H leader needs to know to be successful.
 3) Importance of Program Planning - how to make a program plan at the start of the year can keep your members interested and active.
 4) Meeting Skills - the film "Meetings, Meetings, Meetings" points out in a humorous way how to run a successful meeting.
 5) Calendar of 4-H Events - a trip thru the 4-H year identifying all the programs for adults and youth.
 So far the following workshops have been scheduled.
 They will be held from 7 - 10 in the evening.

November 18, Recreation Centre, Chetopa; November 20, Stockade Centre, Leduc; November 24, Alberta Vocational Centre, Lac La Poudre; November 28, Regional High School, Ft. St. John; November 29, Delta School, Delta; January 10, 1983, Old Timers Hall, Wainwright.

Schools Meeting Draws Large Crowd

The Holden School gymnasium was filled Monday night for a meeting on the future of the Holden and Rykley Schools. The public meeting was called by the Board of Education of the County of Beaver, the first of two to be held on the issue.

Board Chairman Hjordis Armitage opened the meeting by explaining that with curricula, and subsequently government grants declining in the County, the Board needed new directions if the present level of programming was to be maintained. Just over 200 students and approximately $800,000 in revenue have been lost by the County in recent years.

Schools' Superintendent Fred Reinhold emphasized that no decision had been made on the future of the Holden and Rykley schools. However, as a result of a government study into the Holden and Rykley Schools, the Board would have to make a decision on future use of the two facilities.

Two hand-outs were given to the audience, one a copy of a survey on the Tofield, Rykley and Holden schools prepared by the Department of Education, and the other a gathering of pertinent data on the County schools. Mr. Reinhold explained the second document to the audience, which showed that total operating revenues had increased 88 per cent from 1975 to 1982 ($3,972,886 to $6,066,848) while total expenditures had increased 66 per cent ($4,145,540 to $6,066,848). In 1976 deficit financing was practiced, while the attempt is being made to balance the budget in 1982.

With the area of major concern being the high school programming, a chart on costs per pupil re: professional salaries at the high school level showed that the per pupil cost at Tofield was $1,391, while Viking was $1,586, Rykley at $1,890 and at Holden $1,979. With the high costs in the Rykley and Holden schools, the Alberta Education Survey examined a number of alternatives, such as continuing the present system as is, or providing junior high in one centre and high school in the other, or providing intermediate courses in one school and general diploma courses in the other.

Mr. Reinhold explained five program alternatives for the two schools, and then opened the meeting to questions. Don Rongstad questioned whether or not the County had approached the Alberta government for funding. Mr. Reinhold said that this was done through the Alberta School Trustees Association. Dyanne McKee questioned what the

A large crowd, consisting mainly of concerned parents, attended a meeting at the Holden School on Monday evening to discuss the future of the Holden and Rykley Schools. The meeting was called by the Board of Education of the County of Beaver to inform county taxpayers of the serious financial difficulties being faced by the two schools.

Board simply didn't raise taxes, as people were more important that dollars. Mrs. Armitage suggested that not everyone would agree on increasing taxes, but that the Board must get the best value for those dollars.

In response to a question, Mr. Reinhold informed the crowd that the Government has not approved funds for a new school in Holden. He said that the Board is spending the minimum on repairs on the Holden school as they are waiting until the final decision about the school's future is made. He said that in the event that a new facility were built in Holden, the Government would not fund the project 100%.

Roberta Schweitzer, representing the Future of Holden School Committee, presented the results of the Committee's surveys on programs offered in the Holden School. Mrs. Schweitzer said that surveys had been given to 170 families, 80 junior high students, and 70 senior high students.

Water Problem Discussed With Land Owner

At a previous meeting, Viking Town Council analysed the flooding problems resulting from the dam recently constructed on the Iron Creek. The dam was effective in the securing of a lasting water supply for the Town of Viking but it also resulted in the flooding of pasture land owned by Bob Wesley.

Bob Wesley was in attendance at the November meeting and in his presentation to Town Council, voiced disappointment at the lack of response, concern and co-operation of Council during his recent predicament which came about as a result of the damming of the Iron Creek.

He stated that from the onset of the flooding situation until the current meeting, Mayor Rushton was the only one who had spoken with him. He questioned whether Council was aware of their responsibility in the matter as the Town had not received written authorisation to dam the Iron Creek.

Mr. Wesley continued by stating that he had lost the use of his pasture land, had the additional expense of purchasing feed, something which he will have to continue with until such time as the land can be re-seeded and new growth established.

Bob Wesley informed Council of the estimated costs and procedures of re-seeding recommended by the District Agriculturist. However, he felt Council would have to correct the situation before going to the expense of re-seeding, as another flood would have the same effect on the new grass. He noted that the District Agriculturist had informed him that no variety of grass will withstand the effects of water coverage of considerable depth for a period of more than five days.

Mayor Rushton spoke on behalf of the Council and assured Mr. Wesley that Council was fully aware of the problems and greatly concerned. However, they had not taken any action as they had been advised that their actions could jeopardize their position or violate the conditions of their insurance from a legal standpoint.

With regard to the construction of the dam Mr. Rushton stated that he personally had been of the opinion that permission was received from Water Resources to proceed with the project.

When questioned as to what would be satisfactory compensation for his losses Bob Wesley replied that he would have to wait and see what action the Town undertook to correct the situation and at what time they were able to do so, before he was in a position to determine the extent of his loss.

Mayor Rushton advised that although he couldn't say exactly what will be done, Council would do everything in their power to rectify the situation.

Aces Start With Full Deck

It's hockey time again, and once more the Aces will be icing a strong team in the B.R.H.L. The league underwent a few changes over the Summer with Viking and Kilam joining the Beaverhill League, but Wainwright has joined up once again and figure to have a competitive team. The rivalry between Irma and Viking will be missed, but there are likely some fans around who can remember the bedlam that used to break out whenever the Wainwright Commandos came to town and although they are now the Wainwright Rustlers, things probably won't change much.

Hardy Longhead, Sedgewick Dayland and Ronald will provide the rest of the entertainment.

The Aces have had quite a turnout of players so far. Returning forwards are Laz Parson, Ricka Burr, A. Fenton, Dale Tomlinson.

Jim Owen, Jay Fenton, Gary Phillips, Dale Miller and Gordie Orzechowski. New faces up front are Kevin Mackay (back from the Bisons), Greg Fischer (back from N.A.T.L. Oskipka), Gord Holt (in from the hills) and Bob Foley from Wainwright.

Returning defencemen are Ray Tomlinson, Morgan Jones, Kent Gubras, Greg Fischer, and Marvin Hilt. Turk Gubras, who had taken on a years leave of absence is also back, and looking forward to once wreaking havoc on the blue line.

Ivan Reeson and Shane Heller will guard the nets.

Players not returning are Darryl Nilson, Wayne Low, Bruce McKinlay and Garret Mackay is still not sure where he will play.

Rick Gelliker is back at the helm as coach. Dave Prior has resumed his job as team president. Eric Nissen is once again the manager, and Mel Pomroy and Mole Parsons have returned to look after the equipment.

First league game is Nov. 24 when the Aces travel to the Shoe Box to play Sedgewick. Then on the 27th they are back home to take on the Wainwright Rustlers.

The rumors that Gordie Orzechowski in N.H.L. bound are unfounded as work commitments will keep him pretty close to home all winter. See you at the game!

From The Ground Up

District Agriculturists

The following article on the winter feeding of calves was originally published in the September 28, 1981 issue of Agri-News. Though more than a year old, the concepts this article discusses are still applicable for 1982.

Winter Feeding Calves

Before you choose a winter feeding program for your calves, you should decide what performance you hope to get from them, the level of weight gain you want, which feeding program is likely to be the most profitable, and how interest rates will affect your profile. You should also know how much feed you have on hand and the quality of that feed.

In the past cattlemen have used feeding programs for calves that are designed to enable them to gain weight at a rate of 0.5 to 0.8 kg per day. Such a program is still appropriate for calves going back on grass the following summer and for those which must be grown out before going on full feed.

Some cattlemen are now aiming for a daily gain of 0.9 to one kg. Large growthy calves, especially cross-bred animals from the European breeds, can gain weight rapidly and still reach an acceptable slaughter weight and grade A1 or A2. Anytime who is feeding calves on milk from the British breeds can feed them a little higher rate of gain.

However, a feeding program that will produce rapid gains should only be used if the calves are going to remain in the feedlot until they go to slaughter. If they are going to be marketed as feeder cattle, a program that will produce moderate gains should be considered because most buyers discount fleshy cattle.

Compensatory gains on grass are higher for calves fed to gain 0.6 kg during the winter than they are with higher winter gains. Hence, calves that will be going on to grass in the spring should be fed to gain only a modest amount of weight.

When deciding on your feeding program keep in mind that feed costs per kg of gain generally diminish as the rate of gain increases. If you are operating on borrowed money, remember the cost of borrowing the money is constant regardless of whether the calves gain 0.5 or one kg per day and that it represents a substantial additional expense. You should also estimate your likely selling price when setting up your feeding program.

You would probably find it helpful to discuss the market situation with your local district agriculturist, livestock market analyst or a representative of agricultural and to get a copy of the publication entitled "Winter Feeding Programs for Beef Cattle and Calves" published by Alberta Agriculture, which contains sample ration for calves being fed to gain at various rates and sample rations for wintering beef

The Irma Arena Board has received several complaints in regard to the lack of free skating time on Sundays. In previous years it appeared that the ice was not being used to full advantage during free skating time so we shortened the time from 2 to 5 on Sunday afternoons to 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. Would anyone who disagrees with this schedule let your feelings be known to a member of the Arena Board. We would like the ice used to the fullest extent. Thank you.

Darling accompanied her daughter and son-in-law Darin and Dave Brown of Edmonton to Red Deer, Sask. to visit grandparents. Colleen Brown who is on the second leg of her Kailash trip. They along with Colleen and her friend, Sylvia Leonard, drove to Saskatoon on Sunday and spent Monday there shopping for winter wear for Colleen. They returned to Red Deer Tuesday afternoon where Sylvia and Colleen rejoined their group and the Browns and Darin Darling continued on to Irma.

Mrs. Edith Conforti arrived home Friday night after a good visit with relatives and friends at the West Coast.

Mrs. Elsie Courtman of Camrose accompanied Mr. Brown from Irma to Red Deer to see her sister and other relatives.

A lovely miscellaneous bridal shower was held Sunday afternoon at the United Church for Miss Anita Newton. Bride-elect of this week. Though it was our coldest day registering 30 below F. in the morning the warmth of the atmosphere in the church made up for it. Miss Karen and Anita Newton and Mr. Steve Sheehan were at Newton's for the week end.

Miss Lori Robinson of Edmonton attended Anita's shower. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Sheehan and Edna of Ft. McMurray were weekend guests of Edna's parents. Congratulations to Mr. Edson Fenton who celebrated his 60th birthday Nov. 25th.

Many have been ill with the flu in town. Mr. and Mrs. Randy Newton went to Edmonton on Sunday to visit sister Michelle Pyle. Bob Desnoy arrived home from Hardisty hospital on Saturday after spending almost a week under tests and treatments there.

We have noticed the names to Alberta Wheat Pool about Nov. 2, 5 in course of distribution. On inquiry we were informed that Lorne Fuder was doing the work.

Chester Bartholomew from Sundre drove his wife Isabel and mother-in-law Minnie to Irma on Friday evening, Nov. 18th. He had met the two ladies when they landed at Calgary airport on Monday, at 9 p.m. They were returning from Ireland where they had spent two months visiting relatives and friends. They reported having a very enjoyable time, in spite of much rain and some cold snaps.

Joyce and Ron Tippo entertained a household of guests on Sunday, Nov. 21st in honor of Joyce's mother and grandmother's return from their trip to Ireland. Dinner, buffet style was at 12:30 and all the trimmings. Tea was served in the afternoon. Supper was served at 6 p.m. in attendance were the following:

Isabel and Chester Bartholomew left for home on Monday forenoon intending to visit their daughter Lois and family at Rimbye estate.

The current cold snap, with the mercury dropping to minus 24 degrees Celsius has reminded most of us that winter is here to stay.

Check the outside of your home for openings where cold air enters and catch them! Weather strip all door joints if required.

Check the air flow of your gas furnace. If it's dirty, replace or vacuum it, depending on the type.

Be sure your hot water temperature setting isn't too high. Normally 49°C (120°F) is about right. If you have a dishwasher, 50° (122°F) is required.

If you have a woodburning fireplace, be sure the damper is closed tightly when it's not in use.

Kinsella Seniors Visited

The Kinsella Home Seniors enjoyed a visit from the Sedgebrook club on the afternoon of November 4. Twenty-three seniors from Sedgebrook came and we had a very nice afternoon, talking, playing shuffleboard, pool, cards and just visiting.

Dining was a new game to them but quite a few of them played a couple of games each. Later in the afternoon a couple of Sedgebrook gentlemen decided to teach two of the Kinsella ladies how to play shuffleboard. These men were in the hall when the Kinsella ladies had their shuffleboard before but have never laughed so hard while watching these consecutive games which were played in the hall.

Sedgebrook has at least one. Kinsella held the usual card party on November 17th. We had 8 tables of whist players and 4 people playing shuffleboard. Winners at cards were: Ladies first prize, Joan Pless, second, Myrtle Armstrong.

men; men first, Wilfred Pyke and second Ed Evans. Lunch was served by Eric and Betty Olfertson. Kinsella Seniors have been visiting to Sedgebrook on November 18th. These visiting to Sedgebrook, which is something a lot of us have never tried, are to be there at 8:00 a.m. in the afternoon.

Those who like cards can play at the Seniors' Centre. On December 1st, Kinsella Seniors are going out to supper at the Honey Pot in Waterfront at 8:00. Several hope to take in the card party at the Waterfront Old Timers Hall at one o'clock that afternoon.

There will be no card party in Kinsella in December as that is the night we have our Christmas Party and gift exchange.

The next card party at the Kinsella Seniors Centre is on January 19, 1983. We had a table at the Pine Market on Nov. 20th and did quite well. We always have a few bazaar items on hand.

Prize went to Agnieszka Johnston, Ken Bird, Jenny Bird and Doris Fox. Two other prizes were given out during the evening; these were connected with the number 28 and were both won by Russell Dennett.

After the cards were put away the lunch was again spread out and everyone relaxed and visited over a cup of coffee and lunch.

35 Years For Quinte W.I.

A near capacity crowd gathered at the Legion Hall on November 8th to help the Quinte W.I. celebrate their 35th anniversary. Falls began to arrive shortly after 6 p.m. for the pot luck supper, which was served just before seven. Four charter members were present and they were asked to come forward and receive corsages. They were Betty Dennett, Lillian Evans, Elsie Denzel and Alice Holmes.

Also receiving this honor was Marguerite Wilborn, who is our District II Director. Marguerite brought greetings from the County Council and also did some reminiscing about Institute and anniversaries.

Betty Parsons, our Constitutionary Secretary, also sent greetings but was unable to attend. Congratulations were also extended from Rensselaire and Shady Cove W.I.

Quinte W.I. was formed on July 4, 1947, with assistance from Mrs. Harriet Rolins of Viking. Twelve members joined at that first meeting, which was held at the home of Alice Holmes. Alice was also their first president.

Membership has remained at twelve to fifteen during the years. The first function that these ladies carried out in 1947 was to move lunch at the Woodbrook auction sale. Many other functions and friendships have followed since then.

After the supper was cleared away, tables were prepared for the Court which followed - over seventy ladies stayed to enjoy an evening of cards.

They Must Be Good....

A very important aspect of government at any level is that there be coordination between the decisions made by those who have been selected to make policy decisions and those who have been hired to put these policies into action through daily, on-the-job decisions. This is true at any level of government, but it becomes more important as one travels down the ladder of government levels in this nation. The importance increases mainly because the decisions made at a municipal level are of a more personal nature, as they quite often directly affect people within the respective municipality. Policy decisions about water rates, street cleaning, road grading, weed control or garbage disposal can all affect us daily, and thus the municipal politician is more directly put on the spot on a daily basis. As well, the administration of these policy decisions by municipal officials also comes under closer scrutiny than do administrative decisions by provincial or federal government bureaucrats. Because of this, it is important that municipal employees fully comprehend the intent and spirit of policy decisions which municipal politicians have made.

The making of decisions at the municipal level, whether it be policy decisions or administrative decisions, is a risky business. It is risky in the sense that decisions must be based on a good understanding of the situation, i.e. the information surrounding a particular situation, coupled with an extra heavy dose of good, old fashioned common sense. At the local level it is very easy to see results of policy decisions undertaken by local politicians, either directly through actions taken, or indirectly through the inevitable rise of our tax notices every year. It is relatively immediate, and actions can be taken by the electorate to either return or replace those who presently serve. And it is ultimately these local politicians who "pay" (politically) for the operation of the local municipality. And this is what is to happen in our system. If we deem them to have done a good job, we can return them. If not, we replace them. They all know that one of the two results stems from the public's perceptions of the municipalities' operations. But these perceptions about the municipality also include the municipalities' employees. If town workers seem to be doing a good job, the politicians are rewarded. If not, they are penalized. Thus it is very important to the political life of a municipality that the politicians have a firm hand on the actions of their employees.

From time to time, decisions are going to be made that won't satisfy or please everyone in municipal government. That is a fact of life, and a fact that both politicians and employees must accept. But as long as these decisions are based on knowledge and common sense, they need not worry. The problem is that at times, some decisions at a municipal level lack common sense. And even more frightening is the fact that these decisions may be based on personal vendettas by the decision-makers. This is a frightening situation, no matter how insignificant the decision at a particular time. In municipal situations, personal likes or dislikes should never enter into reasonable decision-making. If it does by politicians, we should ensure the shortness of their tenure. If it does by employees, the politicians should ensure the infrequency of these kinds of decisions. Public life is just that, public, and one must accept the fact that criticism is going to be levelled at some time or other by someone. If the individual cannot handle the criticism, and then uses their office to "get even", that individual should be either straightened out, or tossed out.

most recent additions to the company's business generating plant in 1979 and 1980. One major reason for the rising cost of new plant is inflation in construction costs, which has been running consistently higher than the Consumer Price Index. In addition, the bulk of the financing for the Kinsella plant construction had to be raised during a period of historic high interest rates.

Under Alberta regulation, all these costs incurred during construction can only be included in electric rates when new facilities start providing service. The start-up of Kinsella in 1988 will release these "stored up" costs and is a major reason for the company's application. Customers have been sheltered from these costs until now.

At just over $1 a day for the average residential bill, electricity provides good value for the price. Through its 71 years TransAlta has kept down the cost of producing electricity. In fact, the company's rates excluding the impact of inflation have declined over the years. Still, TransAlta continues to encourage the wise and efficient use of electricity by means of an energy management program which helps customers manage their electrical consumption. Continuing productivity improvements combined with cost-cutting measures demonstrate TransAlta's commitment to fight inflation and to continue as the lowest cost power producer in Alberta.

Car Heater Cords

TransAlta Utilities is again offering its customers an opportunity to control utility bills through reduced electric consumption this winter.

The utility is marketing the Power Saver, a vehicle extension cord which incorporates a thermostat to sense the temperature of the engine coolant. Mounted inside on the heater hose without messy tools, the Power Saver delays the operation of the block heater until the engine cools to below minus 6.7 degrees Celsius.

TransAlta originally offered Power Saver to customers and employees in 1980. Nearly 10,000 units were distributed, and although planned as a one time effort, customer response has convinced the company to sponsor another Power Saver program.

Aces Off To A Good Start

The Aces journeyed to Sedgwick last Wednesday and came away with a lopsided 15 - 3 victory. Les Parsons, Gord Holt, Turk Gullbra, Al Paxton and Bob Foley all chipped in with one helper.

Ivan Rezon was steady in net, allowing one goal each period.

The Aces had 5 minor penalties to Sedgwick's 7 minors in what was a fairly rough game. The Rebels have a small club and like to use the small ice surface to their advantage by skating fast and hitting into, but the much heavier Irma crew continually frustrated them at the blues line and into the boards. The biggest problem was right back in the net.

The Aces had all night was trying to stick heads around the heavier net that came in under a gate on the north side of the arena. I think the Zamboni must have stalled them and stalled the ice.

A good sized crowd was on hand to take in the game on Saturday night when the Wainwright Rebels came to town. The Aces came away from this one on the right side of a 15 - 3 score.

The first period featured some very fast skating and hard hitting. Irma led 8 - 0 at the end of the period, mostly due to Ivan Rezon making several outstanding saves on shots that were from point-blank range.

Then in the second period, Dan Foley scored two goals in his first shift, and Wainwright was right back in the game. It was short-lived though as the Aces let go with a barrage of shots at the Rebels. Chris Pfisterer scoring eight goals in the second and four more in the third period. Wainwright's Alvin Miller managed one more marker late in the final frame.

The line of Bob Foley, Gary Phillips, and Kevin Mackay completely devastated the Rebels picking up 10 points between the three of them. Kevin Mackay fired in 4 goals and added 3 assists. Bob Foley and Gary Phillips drove in 9 goals and 6 helpers. That's not bad considering it's the first time they've played together. Jay Paxton scored twice, and singles went to Jim Owen, Garret Mackay, Ray Tomlinson, Turk Gullbra and Gord Holt.

Morgan Jones had 3 assists, Kent Gullbra and Martin Holt each had two, and Al Paxton, Gord Orzechski, Dale Nilson, Jim Owen, and Brian Burr added single.

Christmas Activities At Irma United Church

Many Christmas activities are beginning to take shape within our groups at Irma United Church during this joyous and busy season. The various choirs - senior, church group, teen and children's choir are busy practicing special music with the Teen Choir meeting at noon hours on Wednesdays now. Both the Teen Choir and the Church Group plan to participate in the Waterwright Choral Concert on December 18.

The Sunday School teachers will have a "Sweet Truck" candy table in the Legion Hall on December 11

In conjunction with the Santa Dean Christmas Tea. We would very graciously accept donations of candy this day, or if you don't make candy, we would appreciate your patronage. Also featured at our table that day will be some "Dough Dolls and Angels" made by some of our teachers and the grade 7 and 8 classes.

Our Christmas Communion service is planned for December 12, at which time, our Youth Group will dedicate a national tent to the church.

Our church has an event filled day planned for December 19 when the White Gift and Children's Service will be held at 11:00 a.m. followed by a pot luck dinner at noon. The "White Gifts" brought by everyone will be given to the United Church Bazaar Centre which is a centre providing meals, shelter, and clothing, gifts, friendship and fellowship to some very needy people.

Gifts could include, non-perishable goods, towels, mittens, socks, toques, or money. Special music by our choir is planned for this white gift service. Following our pot luck dinner, a family lay ride and carol sing is planned for the afternoon with hot chocolate and a specially decorated Christmas birthday cake to be enjoyed in the mid-afternoon.

Our Christmas Eve Candlelight service is planned for 7:00 p.m. on Dec. 24 featuring music by our choir.

The grade 7 and 8 classes enjoy meeting on a bi-monthly basis, sometimes for a dinner meeting, studying their faith as Christians, and making crafts. These two classes have a joint Christmas party planned for December 18 after school.

The Youth Group continues to meet and are proud of a very successful Ballroom skating venture this past summer. Many of them were fortunate to hear the presentation in Waterwright of Father-Love of Suco Homes.

Highschool Basketball Teams Look Good

Viking Senior Boys basketball team had its first workout on Thursday, November 25th, with eleven boys turning out. It looks like a good year for the team as it will be the tallest team in the league.

Some changes have taken place in the Norwest league with the addition of Sedgewick High School teams and a switch in games to Thursday nights with girls games at 8:00 a.m. and league games in on December 2nd with Viking heading Sedgewick.

Mr. Nordquist, coach of the Norwesters, is looking forward to a successful season with some great potential on the boys team. The senior boys roster at present consists of Dean Servodich, Jason Channey, Larry Greenwood, Greg Klein, Dennis Larva, Virgil Macdonald, (exchange student from Brazil), Bill Sevcik, Mark Sevcik, Dean Simmonds, Jim Stufank, Mike Watson and Frank Thane.

The Viking Senior Girls basketball team under coach Ping Pon will also be looking forward to a successful season. "Our goal this year will be to win the regional and get into the games which will be held in Tisdale in March." The team this year is not extremely tall but is very quick and mobile. Holden Briefs Presented to Board Meeting

Representatives of both the Future of Holden School Committee and the Holden Students Union presented briefs to the Board of Education of the County of Beaver at their regular meeting yesterday in Ryegate.

Roberta Schweitzer, Future Committee spokesperson, handled the initial presentation to the Board of Education. She outlined the three major areas of concern (a) the building of a new Jr. and Sr. High School in Holden (b) the programming of courses for the maximum benefit to students and (c) financing of schools, capital and operating.

In providing more detail Mrs. Schweitzer used a prelative approach and asked the Board to evaluate the entire situation. She stated that the school was in many ways the hub of the community. The students identify with their school and take a great deal of pride in it. As well, the school is the focal point for the conducting of a number of club activities such as Scouts, Girl Guides, Future Education Classes, Pro-Natal Classes and other club organization meetings.

Mr. Schweitzer also felt that the concern over the decreasing enrollment was not all that crucial at the moment and viewed the predicted enrollment as relatively stable with only a slight decline. To emphasize her point she noted that the Village is seeing a steady growth in population and in the business community with 40 businesses and over 25 service clubs and organizations within Holden.

With regard to the consolidation of the Holden and Ryegate Schools Roberta stated they see that route as a "no win" situation for all concerned. She felt it would result in a loss of student identity as well as create extra housing costs and a great waste of time.

Non Mulick related a number of concerns with regard to capital expenditure and operating costs. He emphasized that the Board should strive for the most effective use of money and questioned the necessity of allocating operational dollars for the employing of non-teaching personnel or moving librarians.

The committee was of the opinion that teachers who work with the students on a daily basis could adequately meet the counselling needs of the students and that individual teachers and principals could work together to determine their schools library need. This in effect could release personnel to instruct in a more basic course.

In continuing Mr. Mulick related that tax dollars should be dispersed on an equal basis. He noted that the people of the Holden area had watched other centres build or rebuild while little or nothing was done in Holden in view of the fact that they would get a new structure rather than spend money on routine upgrading. He also questioned the allocation of funds to other schools for recreational which he felt could not be classed as basic need situations such as the removal of the walls at the Viking School to enlarge the room used for art and music.

The committee recommended that all possible provincial assistance be obtained in order that both Holden and Ryegate could continue to operate as separate identities. As well it was felt that the two schools could work together to provide a good variety of course options at the high school level. For example Holden and Ryegate could utilize the Industrial Arts and Home Economics facility at Ryegate. Holden has an excellent facility - the Beaver Arts Centre which could be used by both schools for drama and art without any capital expenditure.

Looking to the future, the committee felt that Holden could offer a complete computer sciences program which could be incorporated into the construction of a new Holden School with specialized instructor and adequate equipment.

The committee urged the Board to enhance all possible provincial assistance beginning with the 4 M.L.A.'s representing our county. Four students from Holden School, accompanied by Principal Ed Ryhance, also attended the Board meeting. Wayne Marko, President of the Holden High Students Union made a presentation to Council inviting them to consider the needs of the students when making their decision regarding Holden School. Marko stated that the students take a genuine pride in their school and have a sincere measure of appreciation for the school. He advised that an opinion poll was conducted to determine the students feelings on the issue and it was clear that the students want the school to remain open.

The students felt that larger schools did not offer a great degree of personal help and that the extra time spent on travelling from one centre to the other would be a point of aggravation for many as they are already riding for an hour or more. Students living close to the north or south boundaries have commented that they may as well go to Vegreville, Mandaree or Daykin to school.

The student representative made mention of the inadequacy of the existing heating and the freezing rooms, flooding of the school and other problems.

The Holden and District Chamber of Commerce held their Christmas Dinner and Dance on Saturday evening, December 4.

The turn out for the event was excellent with a great number of people from the Holden sector as well as the community in general on hand.

What About Some Praise!

Every year we hear and read the same type of stories about people in general. Most often these stories are about the bad things that happen in people's lives, and about the bad in people. It seems that too often we are quick to look for the negative in people, both young and old. But too often, it is the youth of our communities that we are quick to judge in the negative, far too often the only news we hear is bad news.

All we need to do is look around at the young people in this area to see that all is not bad. In fact, there are a number of projects and activities that the young people are carrying on that indicate a real commitment and responsibility as members of our communities. Recently in Irma, the young people of the Irma School organized and operated a number of projects and raised over $2,000 for the Terry Fox fund. A front page story in this issue of The Weekly Review relates how the students of the Viking School have committed to sponsoring a foster child in the Philippines. And down the line, some students from the Holden School prepared and delivered a brief to the Board of Education of the County of Beaver on Tuesday. This brief expressed the students' concerns over the school situation in Holden and the possible solutions that have been suggested. Another example is occurring now in Ryley where the young people of the area are sponsoring the Santa's Anonymous and are helping to gather presents for those less fortunate at this time of year.

Only one example from each of the villages and town in this immediate area. And yet the list could be quite extensive. Not only are there group projects, but individuals are helping with youth groups, with hockey teams and skating groups as coaches, and as volunteers in many other capacities. They are out there doing a job, and a very good job of responsible actions.

Mr. W.H.!

It's that time of year again. The time of year when Mr. W.H. (Winter Hockey) comes out of the woodwork to take his annual place in "working" with minor hockey. And it's also the time of year when all minor hockey executives must be prepared to put young or old Mr. W.H. in his place.

Mr. W.H. isn't the regular hard-working, conscientious, responsible, good-natured, and likeable parent that gets involved just to help out. No, Mr. W.H. is the type of person who has to either be complaining about how the organization is run, or be running down someone who is trying to make an effort to get something done. Every year in our communities we have young people and older people alike who take on jobs of coaching, running organizations and refereeing hockey so that our youngsters, and yes, Mr. W.H.'s youngsters, can enjoy the sport. And every year, Mr. W.H. has to "shoot off his big mouth" in an ignorant manner whenever a coach's decision or a referee's call does not suit him.

Perhaps what Mr. W.H. needs is to himself get involved as a referee or a coach and end up on the receiving end of the type of abuse that he hands out. Or perhaps Mr. W.H. should have to see his son up to the point of tears after someone like himself was abusive because Mr. W.H.'s son didn't make the "right" call in the hockey game that he was refereeing.

The sad thing about Mr. W.H. is that he does show up to hockey games at times and does fulfill a useful function, either helping with the youngsters, or keeping score, or working in the booth. All that probably needs to be done to Mr. Winter Hockey is to have someone put him in his place. And thank the Lord that there are people involved in our minor hockey organizations who do put Mr. W.H. in his place. We need him if he is going to work "for" the sport, we don't need him if he is going to be ignorant water, cooking and feeding chickens and pigs. He can be depended upon to babysit his younger siblings.

Both parents came from neighboring towns in Northern Luzon. Due to poverty and far distance of school, the father completed the sixth grade and the mother completed the fourth grade. They met when the father went to the mother's place as a hired farm helper while the mother was a farm helper. They were married in the native cultural rite after a brief courtship and stayed with maternal aunt's house for almost a year then settled on their own independently. They stayed in the location for three years.

The family tills and owns a small portion of land on the mountain side in which they plant corn, sweet potatoes and vegetables and paly. They barely harvest 5 cav-

as of corn and at least 5 cavas of unshucked rice per year. The father works as a hired farm helper, too, and they tend native chickens and a pig. Their total monthly income from all these efforts is equivalent to about $27.14 a month which is mostly spent for food and fifteen per cent is spent for educational needs of the children and medicine. They could hardly meet all their needs.

The family lives in a mountainous area about an hour hike from the natural highway through rugged terrain. The house is elevated about four feet above the ground and a ladder is used to enter the house. It is made of mud grass and bamboo. It is a narrow multi-purpose room with two narrow doors serving as windows. Clothes are kept in carton boxes. A few beddings, grammat, and a letter written by Vance Blawie requesting costs on the construction of a Viking symbol be forwarded.

Viking Chamber Considers Hall Sign

Seventeen interested and concerned members were on hand for the November meeting of the Viking and District Chamber of Commerce which was held at the Viking Burger Queen.

Again the possibility of erecting a symbolic shrine to commemorate the Chamber's survival was brought before the meeting. It was agreed that the Chamber erect a policy stating that the Chamber not donate to charitable organizations to which individuals and business in town donate on a personal basis.

A request by the Chamber to the Alberta Lung Association was brought before the meeting. It was agreed that the Chamber erect a policy stating that the Chamber not donate to charitable organizations to which individuals and business in town donate on a personal basis.

Carol Maxwell reported on a visit from Mr. Bill Fowler, Zone Director, and relayed his compliments to the Chamber Chairman and the attendance at the local meetings. Mr. Fowler stated that he would be willing to attend one of our meetings if he could be of assistance.

The Chamber Christmas Promotion committee reported on their progress and a number of members volunteered to assist with activities for December 19th.

Just a reminder that the local businesses will be open to meet your needs on Monday, December 13 and 14th and will remain open until 5:00 on Friday, December 17th. There is still an entry form at the businesses participating in the 1982 Christmas Promotion. Beaver Market is now open and Jenny Bird requested a donation on their behalf in order to purchase Christmas decorations. This was readily agreed upon by those in attendance.

Will Rasmussen brought to the attention of the Chamber.

Christine Mackay, Adele Story, Herbert Kist, John Rurka, Ken Foss, Steve Stokowski, John Hrabec, Marcel Z. Gies, and John Agoskosi.

The treasurer is Mary Hewitt and secretary Janet Kist. The meetings for the Agricultural Society will be held the third Monday of each month at the Holden Complex.

which they have had to put up with and therefore left a new school was well deserved.

In general, the Holden students felt they had not been getting their share and concluded by thanking the Board for hearing their presentation and hoped they had contributed to a positive decision.

In reviewing the morning presentations the Board of Education entered into a discussion at which time Nestor Semotich, Holden's Village representative made a motion that a new addition be built for Holden Jr. and Sr. High and that Ryley Jr. and Sr. High remain operational.

that they must consider it before making any decision.

Victor Romanuk amended the motion on the floor stating that it be tabled until the Board's Financial statement. This was unanimously supported.

A motion by George Knudsen that the Minister of Education be approached to assess their financial status met with the Board's approval. He felt that the situation being faced by the Board was not unique to this County, but was very typical of the economic times we are currently in.

A committee consisting of George Knudsen, Horrie Armistead, Fred Reinhold and Garth Bancroft will undertake this responsibility.

Norsemens Victorious Over Sedgewick

Last Thursday Viking's Senior High Basketball team won their opening game of the season 38 - 34 against Sedgewick. It was a slow start for both teams with only a 2 - 2 score at the end of the first quarter. Action picked up in the second quarter and the Norsemens built up a lead which they never relinquished. All players saw game time. Several players made significant contributions to the team win. Top scorer was Mike Watson who did some strong work off the boards. Top rebounder was Bill Sevrick who played an especially strong game and was second leading scorer in the game. Dennis Lawes probably saved the game in the fourth quarter with his ball handling ability and not up came excellent scoring plays throughout the game. In the fourth quarter the Norsemens had to adjust their defense to slow down Sedgewick's Ritchie Olson who scored 17 points in the second half.

Couch Nordqvist played happy with the team's performance on their first outing, the experienced players showed up very well and we hope that by season end the rest of our players will have gained the game experience they need to make the same kind of contribution as our more experienced players.

This Thursday the Norsemens take on Ryley, the most experienced team in the league. Ryley's team which won the County last year lost only one player from last year's team.

The entire game was one which could have easily gone either way with only a few points separating the two teams at the end of each quarter as evidenced by the following scores: First quarter score was 2 - 2, the second quarter score was 17 - 13 and the third quarter score was 29 - 25 while the final score at the end of the fourth quarter was 36 - 34 in Viking's favor. Point getters for the Viking squad were M. Watson with 18, B. Sevrick with 11 while D. Lawes hit the hoop for 7, J. Stodach scored 3 points and L. Greenwood netted 2 points.

Bill Sevrick of the Viking High School basketball team grew up for a shot in their contest against the team from Sedgewick Central High last Thursday. The Viking team won by a score of 36 to 34. Staff Photo

The Irma History Book committee is still seeking for family histories. Those are coming in slowly and we do appreciate what we are receiving.

We would ask anyone who is writing Christmas letters to friends to ask them for histories. Many people don't realize we are making a book and many need to have their memories jogged to get their histories in.

Day Care Happenings

You haven't heard us from so far away; it's not that we had nothing to report, it's just that we've been so busy. At present we have 19 children registered and some enjoy our facility on a full time basis - others are regular part-timers, and still others visit us occasionally. Anyone else interested in benefiting from our program is completely welcome anytime, for a few hours or all day, as long as Kathy or Marianne at 336-6990 are notified prior to your arrival. Apart from receiving excellent child care, your child will benefit from the atmosphere of the centre, the company of other children and the stimulation of our program. We at the Viking Child Development Centre truly believe that children learn through playing and that a child's play is his work. Through our program, we take every opportunity possible to satisfy the children's curiosity to stimulate their overall development, to increase awareness and to develop concepts.

Our theme for Sept. and Oct. was "Community Helpers". The children learned a great deal about the people in their neighborhood and what they do.

Our first visitor was Chew Pon who taught the children several exercises, explaining the importance of physical activity to one's health. The children displayed great dexterity and interest and now continue these exercises routinely. More emphasis will be placed on "exercise" again in January during our "Health" month.

Bill Kamphuis hosted the children at the Fire Hall where the fire trucks and equipment. We hope they'll always remember never to play with fire.

The police station held many surprises as the children had their fingerprints taken and hands photographed. They inspected the jail cell and police car, tested the stress and revving lights and saw a highway flare being lit and extinguished. They've learned that a policeman is a friend and send their special thanks to you, Constable Ian Sanderson.

The Veterinary Clinic tour guided by Dr. Glen Nordstrom sparked many questions and the children were have loved to take that little kitten back to the Day Care Centre with them. Along the theme of "caring for the sick", one of the dolls came in and showed films of the Life Park and the Honolulu Zoo. These were very much of a highlight to the program. Thanks Garry.

Another film was also presented by Dr. Brian Norstrom. It was all about the importance of proper dental care. Thank you, Brian for the Toothbrushes, Trident gum, and Healthy Teeth coloring books. You'll be happy to hear that tooth brushing after lunch has become part of our regular schedule.

Admission to hospital can be emotionally traumatic to a child, but thanks to the Viking, R.N., some of those anxieties have been alleviated. Kathy observed the children and the things they might see in a hospital. Trying out the stethoscope and dressing up in operating room gowns, caps and masks was fun!

Thanks, Kathy for the same tags and the special little packages of nursing supplies to make our dolls and babies feel better.

Special thanks also go out to Grandma Almagro for opening the library for us and allowing us to pick our favorite books to read.

Various businesses were also visited this fall. We thank all the business people for their cordiality and for taking the time to answer our numerous questions. During our walks to these various places, the children learn about their town and about traffic safety. The City Car staff and parents extend a request that all drivers watch out for the children as much as the children watch out for them. Please remember that they are still learning and are still unpredictable.

The last week of October meant preparation for Halloween. The children made paper plate masks, jello lanterns, paper tape spiders and learned a few spooky rhymes. A little trick or treat was brought October to a happy ending.

November is nutrition month. The first week was milk week. The children made butter and assisted in making ice cream. They visited a farm and found out where milk really comes from. They send a special thanks to Donna - milking a cow is fun!

During the second week, the children helped prepare their own fruit and vegetable snacks, made vegetable prints for crafts and learned how fruit and vegetables make them "glow".

Week 3 was "meat week". The children made meat substitute snacks. We really appreciated the time Stephen's mom took to show us around the Meat Market.

During this final week, the emphasis will be on the "bread group". Playdough is always fun, bread muffins will be a special treat and the highlight will be a trip to the Bakery to shop for bread items.

December will be a busy and exciting month preparing for Christmas. Obivious to the rush and haste it is for groups, the children will be learning new songs, making Xmas decorations, creating Xmas presents for their loved ones and if course, visiting Santa Claus when he comes to town. We'd love to have your Xmas cards and greetings sent to the Viking Child Development Centre. If you're planning to discard them.

The centre has just received eleven sturdy footstools made by the residents at Extensicare. Thank you very much!

Further Education is a non-credit learning opportunity for adults. These opportunities are organized through Further Education Councils and receive grant support from Advanced Education and Manpower to help keep tuition to a minimum.

Now, you may ask what is a Further Education Council. The Council consists of a group of individuals representing various organizations throughout the county that are involved in offering non-credit courses to adults.

Through the Further Education Council development, in co-operation with the recreation co-ordinators, courses are co-ordinated throughout the County.

Our Further Education is hosted by the County of Beaver Hills and includes an extensive list of service co-ordinators.

Would you like to join us? We welcome any interested people or organizations. Just contact the co-ordinator, on any Tuesday or Thursday between 10:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. at 666-4770 and she will let you know the date of our next meeting.

If you have any suggestions for courses contact your nearest community representative. We also have catalogues from Lakeland College, Alb.

about University and some University of Alberta courses. If you would like information on any of these please contact your co-ordinator. Watch your mail box for our Spring 1983 Brochure as they will be mailed out on January 4, 1983. If you do not receive your copy, call the Further Education

Profile: Cheryl Hafso

Cheryl Hafso, a member of the Viking business community is not originally from Viking but is happy to have established a business and raise her family here. Cheryl admits to being a bit of a "city gal" and laughs as she remembers her first attempts at being a "Farmer's wife".

Cheryl was born April 17, 1951, the only daughter of Gordon and Mary Euse of Edmonton. Cheryl and her two brothers were raised in Edmonton and Cheryl's schooling commenced at Canora Elementary and was completed at Jasper Place Composite High.

During her school years Cheryl was never one to sit around and let life pass her by. She was always in the midst of school activities and was a member of a number of the sports teams. She enjoyed the friendly competitive atmosphere on the volleyball court, softball field, or other gym sports.

During her late teens Cheryl met Vern Hafso at a Reformation Rally. At the time Vern was working with youth in a Lutheran Church Program. On the 20th of December, 1969, they exchanged vows.

Vern and Cheryl spent a few years in Edmonton and moved to Viking in 1974 when Vern returned to make his living off the land. Two sons were born to the Hafsos. Jason who is now eleven years of age and Todd who is seven.

Although Cheryl enjoyed her move to Viking and subsequently the move to the farm, she missed her friends and the busy life she had grown up with. She busied herself with creative projects and soon decided the time was right to go ahead with a "long-term" plan of raising her own store. Vern, experienced in the field of sign painting encouraged her and two combined their talents and opened a small craft and sign painting business on main street.

In 1977 an opportunity arose to expand and the Hafsos purchased Rhea's Sewing Centre. In time they expanded the premises and brought in a carpet line as well as clothing and linens. Cheryl's creative nature and genuine interest in people were not only an asset to her business but to the community. She became involved with the Viking Brownies and served as a leader for a term. With her interest in crafts she became an experienced member of the Viking Fair Board and accepted the responsibilities of Handcraft Director for a time. Her involvement with the Further Education Pregram led to her becoming an instructor in the art of macramé and chocolate making at various locations throughout the County.

Sports still have a place in Cheryl's busy life and she has been an active member of both the Viking Curling Club and the Viking Comets.

Recently Cheryl has taken an interest in the Viking and District Chamber of Commerce and is heading up the 1983 Christmas Promotion. Cheryl has also found time to revive an old pastime and is once again taking piano lessons, an activity she really enjoys when she is not busy with the business of Sunny Days and Beans.

Vixons Win Home Opener

The Viking Vixens won their home opener with a score of 36 - 30. All members of the team put in a solid performance. Mary Lynn Lang a Grade 10 student led the team with 16 points followed by the veteran

Elaine Rasmussen with 16. The Vixens were never in trouble and lead throughout the game. Coach Pon was happy with the team's performance although the some press didn't work as effectively as planned and the team had to drop back into a game. The game was played very aggressively with a few more games things should get much better. The point getters on the team were Mary Lynn Lang with top points for a total of 16, and Elaine Rasmussen with 16. Marlene Sivik came through for 4 points with Melanie Forts. Wendy Sullivan and Sheila Winter each hit the hoop for 8 points while Lisa Lang scored only once.

The first game of the year for the Viking girls' basketball team was against Central High School of Stodwick, with the Viking team coming out on the top end of the score.

Viking Women's Basketball News

This year has seen the beginnings of a women's basketball team in Viking. The girls playing the year are: Connie Sivik, Linda Welch, Norma Pon, Lorna Rabby, Val Carrington, Karen Barber, Carolyn Downman and Alana Stodick and are coached by Bob Hollingsworth.

It is unfortunate there are no existing leagues in the surrounding area, however, that hasn't deterred them in finding some action. They were able to find a game with Forestburg Phenoms. Although they lacked the height that Forestburg had, they made up for it in drive and spirit. It was a one-on-one battle from the beginning which finally saw the Forestburg girls come on top with a score of 36 - 30.

Points were scored by: Lorna R. - 12, Norma P. - 4, Linda W. - 5, Val C. - 4, Alana S. - 3 and Sheila B. - 1.

The invitation was returned by Forestburg. On Nov. 28 they travelled to Forestburg, determined to win this time. However the underdog team bounced the Viking team was to make this a difficult task. Injuries were sustained by two of the players which put them out of action for a while and another had been fouled out of the game.

With no spare left, they quickly lost control of the game as the pressure and strain was to give the Phenoms a big advantage over them. The game ended with the Viking team being defeated by a score of 44 - 34. Points were scored by: Norma P. 11, Linda W. - 8, Lorna R. - 5, Connie S. - 4, Val C. - 4, Karen B. - 2, and Alana S. - 2.

Congratulations to Minnie 75th birthday on Dec. 6th.

She recently spent two months, along with daughter Isabel visiting relatives and friends in the Republic of Ireland.

The weather remains mild, with an extreme cold to date.
When we watch the snow-cyclonic blizzards etc. in the U.S.A. and other parts of the world, it drives us to the conclusion that Alberta is not too bad a place to live after all.
Minnie Jackson had a phone call on her birthday from her niece Ella Jackson who operates the telephone exchange at Balmainey.

Nenagh, Co. Tipperary, Ireland. On Wednesday night, the Anna journeyed to Balmainey to attend the Wednesday Ball at the Silverchopiers Hall at the Sil-verchopiers. When the flashed camera, Irma had justly a 12-5 victory in the penalty field shoot.

Irma was awarded in the game, but Rosalind kept it close until the third period when the Anna finally pulled away. Bob Foley scored on his first shift assisted by Kevin Mackay and Gary Phillips. Then Gary Phillips found one in after collecting a goosmouth pass from Kevin Mackay. Rosalind battled back with two markers.
Kurt Gullera rounded out the scoring in the first period with a hard shot from the point. Gord Holt drew the goalie.

Aces Chalk Up Two More Wins

Last Wednesday night, the grey rover picked up his stick but went straight to the referee and it was wisdom again.

When Hardisty visited on Saturday night, the Aces handed them a 12-5 defeat.

Irma explained for seven goals in the first period.
Three were scored in the first three minutes. They added three more markers in the second, and two in the third. Bob Foley picked up another hat-trick and three assistants, Kevin Mackay, Len Parsons, and Gurnet Mackay each added double.

Singles went to Gary Philips, Morgan Jones, and Gord Holt. Brian Berry had the assist parade with four.
Gary Phillips had three.
Kurt Gullera, Gord Holt, and Kurt Gullera had two each, and Dale Wilson and Jim Owen picked up one apiece.

Ivan Bacon had a nice night in net making 17 shots while Anna first 48 at the other end.

The Aces always seem to have one bad period for penalties receiving 12 minutes in the third period and 17 minutes overall. Hardisty had none.

Irma is on the road for their next two games. They head to Watrous on Wednesday, and expect a tougher game from the Hawks this time around. Then on Saturday they are in Lough-dale, to take on the Long Runners who have apparently improved over last year.

Up The Stairs
When will teams learn that the worst thing they can do is run at Turk Gullera and sit him up. In Rosalind, he is a player so hard, it blew the guys glove right off his hand. Turk should bunk a horn or blow his light before he hits some-body like that!

Brent Fisher received a one game suspension after a mix-up with the ref in "goose where". The ref claims that Brent spit on him. What happened was Brent spit in the air and the ref ran into it with his chest.
Really! See you at the game.

Hats Off To The Real Workers!

It's that time of year again, the season to be jolly. Every year, December becomes a month to remember for the tremendous fellowship which people enjoy during the Christmas season. It seems that no other month can compare to this one for the number of parties, both private and public, which are held in recognition of the end of the year. As well, this month enjoys probably the biggest party excuse of any other time of year - New Years. From weekend to weekend throughout December, it is easy to find oneself engaged in fellowship and merriment with a wide variety of people.

And as we reflect to appreciate a wide variety of things at this time of year, the one real important thing that we should be appreciative for are the people who organize and work so that these parties and gatherings can be enjoyable. Whether it be private parties, staff parties, or community parties, for each and every one of them, someone has spent a great deal of time to see that we have a good time. And of them, we should be very appreciative.

But we're not talking about the people who say let's have a Christmas party, or a New Year's party, set a date, then sit back and expect something to happen. We're talking about the people who get out and plan, organize, work and encourage people to take part in the party at hand. Some of these parties are fund raising activities as much as anything else in our communities. As noted in this issue of the paper, some communities have planned a New Year's dance for the people in their area, and are looking forward to them. They are welcome to attend. A lot of planning and hard work has just begun by these people, and much more will be done before it is all over.

It seems that in certain organizations and/or clubs in our communities, some people like to initiate activities, then sit back and expect the people to attend, even though little "real" work has been done to make the venture a success. As each new year reminds us, time travels on, and no organization which hopes to hold a successful activity can live in the past. People today want to know what is happening, and want to know what they are getting for their money. The days are gone when people "rallied round the flag" so to speak just because something was happening.

Most people in our communities realize that a good party or dance requires hard work and good salesmanship to make it a big success. And it is to these people, the ones who do "real work" to make their particular party or event a success from year to year that the proverbial hat is tipped in recognition. Keep up the good work. The community appreciates you!

Bablitze's Hold NFU Positions

The National Farmers Union held their Thirtieth Annual Convention this year November 29 to December 3. Results of the election saw Wayne Easter step into the National President's position. Mr. Easter lives on a farm in Prince Edward Island.

The new Vice President is Ed Motoway, who farms near Westlock, Alberta. Darlene Anderson from Manitoba is the Women's President (same as last year) and another farm as Women's Vice-president will be Elaine Driver from Saskatchewan. The Junior President's position was filled by Greg Farion from Vegreville, Alberta, who held the position of Junior Vice-president last year. Junior Vice-president for this year will be Kathy Hendrickson from Prince Edward Island. As for Alberta, John Oberg has stepped into the role as National Board member and has been named 7 Co-ordinator. Mr. Oberg lives and

Mazankowski Says Federal Government Failing Farmers

Speaking in the House of Commons on Bill C-146, the Farm Loans Interest Rebate Act, Don Mazankowski, M.P. accused the federal government of failing to provide the critical assistance to farmers. While supporting the interest rebate plan authorized by the Bill, Mr. Mazankowski said, "It will probably only affect 1,000 farmers in the whole country. We should be dealing with a measure to help about 20,000 farmers."

Stating that 964 farm bankruptcies had been recorded between January and October 1982, an increase of 50 per cent from the previous year, Mr. Mazankowski claimed that interest costs were just one component of the problem facing producers. "Farmers have been caught in what I would call a devastating squeeze between high input costs and low product prices."

"In my view, government is the biggest culprit in driving up farm input costs," he continued. "When we look at the price of feed in Canada we find that 90 cents of it comes from federal tax. Mr. Mazankowski also stated that animal tax (taxes have now reached $1.50/100 lb) and he cited a Palmer Wheat Growers' Association report that put total farm energy taxes at $10 per acre."

Recalling the Minister of Agriculture's unfulfilled promise to provide farmers some relief from energy taxes, Mr. Mazankowski said:

'Farmers In Crisis'

The National Farmers Union Thirtieth Annual Convention will take place November 29 to December 3 in Saskatoon. Approximately 400 members from across Canada will gather at the Beesborough Hotel.

Among the major issues to be discussed will be the proposed Market Access Program and the National Meat Act.

There will be a report on the "Employment Practices of Farm Women" project and also work done to date on a "Farm Finance Survey".

A panel entitled "Crown Change and Feed Grains

Policy will take place during the convention.

The federal Ministers of Transportation and Agriculture have been invited to address the meeting.

There will also be several other speakers including: Saskatchewan Agriculture Minister Eric Bernstein; Lawyer Louise Delisle; President of the University of Saskatchewan Dr. Leo Croft; and Senator Haan Argue.

Parents Question School Policy

During the regular December meeting of the County of Beaver Board of Education a delegation of five valued citizens expressed their concerns over problems at the Vilnius school.

Vice-Principal Ethel Peep responded on behalf of the school and strongly objected to one of the worst points. She felt that in dealing with younger children it was more appropriate to use the term 'lost' or 'misplaced', rather than 'stolen' by someone by mistake. She also stated that if the school should be notified and that all efforts would be made to locate the item.

Principal Jim Clarke stated that without specific information as to what the school policy was, it was difficult to say that such an investigation would not be permitted. He stated that the school's policy was to be sought before him.

The group felt strongly that some investigation was necessary to determine just what the school's policy was.

George Lambert, director of the Vilnius school, stated that both of Edmonton have been practicing with twelve local men, (seven teens and five boys) for several weeks and are now inviting ladies of the community to join for practice beginning January 7th, 1983.

These practices will be held in the music room of the Vilnius School beginning at 8 p.m.

The choir is very grateful for a grant from the local F.C.S.S. office which will enable us to buy the required music and to pay other costs, without having to ask the individual choir members to meet these costs as in the past.

It is hoped that two other members will be presented.

It was also pointed out that the school's lost and found box was always overflowing with articles and even though there is constant assistance as a number of articles go unclaimed and are left over.

Hilda Armstrong, Chairman of the Board advised the delegation that the matter appeared to be strictly a school problem and that with proper communication the problem could be adequately handled at that level.

With regard to the matter of children being taken outside during winter weather, Principal Clarke assured the parents that this policy was put in action when winter weather permitted and objected strongly to the allegation that children were being taken outside without the parents' return to the school to use the washrooms. his position by stating that outdoor activity when weather is inclement provides a healthy stimulus for the younger students. He felt that this was not an issue of discipline and that it promotes social adjustment and is generally a healthy and acceptable procedure.

In reference to the young students being taken outside before classes commence, Mr. Clarke stated that although the doors to the school are open at 8:30 the school does not encourage town students to be at the school at that time. Should students arrive prior to 8:30 on occasion and their entry is asked, they are permitted to enter by way of the main entrance.

Angie M. Armstrong concluded that the problem was strictly a school matter and advised the parents to take their concerns directly to the school where she felt an open discussion between the parties concerned, would eliminate future problems.

In other related matters the Board looked into the change of location from Andrus' to Fountain Tire for the holding of the proposed construction school buses. Although the price difference was minimal the Board took into consideration the fact that the buses will not have to cross the railroad tracks, making the procedure somewhat safer and at times quicker in event of having to wait for crossing train. A decision was made to fuel these buses at Fountain Tire in the future.

The resignation of George Sandmiller of Vilnius was received and accepted by the Board. The Board also approved the recommendation that Mr. Sandmiller be placed on the list of spare bus drivers for the Vilnius area and called when needed.

A further recommendation by Fred Reinhold, Superintendent of Schools and Mike Yachuk that Mr. Sandmiller not be replaced by a full time journeyman employee but rather a part-time person when needed, was also approved by the Board.

Kinsella Seniors Busy

Kinsella Rose Seniors seem to be as busy as ever these days. On November 24, twenty or so of us went to visit the Sedgewick Seniors. In the forenoon most of us tried our luck at bowling courtesy of Sedgewick; then back to the Drop-In for a delicious hot meal. There was a large variety of food and most of us must have gained weight that day.

During the meal they surprised us by announcing they had decided to give a prize to the lady and man from Kinsella having the highest average in the bowling. Hilma and Cammer were the lucky winners. In the afternoon most of us played cards, a few played shuffleboard and pool as then of course we ate again. Kinsella got in on the prize again as Phyllis McBride took first in whist. Even after a full day most of us turned out that evening at our own Centre, dining, etc. On November 28 most of us took in the Open House for Ed and Catherine Evans for their wedding anniversary. November 29 at one or a little after, several of us, plus three Seniors from Sedgewick arrived at our Centre to meet Martin Brown and learn a bit about floor curling. Kinsella Seniors purchased two sets of floor curling racks so now both dining and floor curling are available.

December first we visited Wainwright Seniors in the afternoon and played bingo, shuffleboard and pool. Wainwright from our club in Stags were Nellie Teasman, Albert Whitford and Cammer Garvie. Wainwright seniors served us a lovely lunch after which some of us did a bit of shopping before meeting at the Honey Pot for supper. Sixteen of us tried our hand at floor curling and the others put up our Christmas tree and decorated it.

Our last business meeting of the year is on the 8th with our Christmas Party set for the 15th with lunch and gift exchange on December 15th. Adult visitors are always welcome and anyone wishing to join, our age limit is 65 for the senior session.

Our next card party will be on January 15, 1983. See you there.

Senior Citizens' Home Improvement Program

The Minister of Housing, Larry Shabon, recently announced applications are now available for the new Senior Citizens' Home Improvement Program which provides a grant of up to $5,000 to assist homeowners in repairing or improving their own homes. It is expected that about 60,000 senior citizens households will qualify for assistance over the 4 year term of the program. The estimated total cost is about $150 million over 4 years.

Application forms can be obtained from Treasury Branches, Chartered Banks, Participating Credit Unions and other financial institutions.

Mr. Shabon said, "All senior citizens homeowners who own up to 100,000 per year are eligible, including those who have participated in the Alberta Pioneer's repair program. The amount of the grant is dependent on income. Senior Citizens with a maximum of $15,000 or less gross annual income are eligible for a grant of up to $5,000. Those earning $15,000 to $17,500 may receive $2,500 and seniors in the $17,500 to $30,000 category are eligible for a $1,000 grant. These government grants will subsidize our senior citizens to maintain their independence in their own homes as long as possible. The grants will complement other government programs designed for senior citizens."

Mr. Shabon stated that an additional benefit of the program is the projected increase in economic activity and employment in the home repair and retail sector. Some 1,600 jobs are expected to be created in Alberta as a result of the program. To qualify for a grant, a person must be 65 years of age, a widow or widower aged 55 to 64 years, must have been a resident of Alberta for at least one year prior to the date of application.

4-H On The Move

I hope every senior 4-H member in the Northeast is starting to think about applying to attend Selections 1983.

What is Selections? It is a unique educational experience incorporating a variety of small group discussions, and each year revolves around a theme of interest, and benefit to all young people. It is a chance for 4-Hers who have been members for several years to try for award trips. These trips are a reward for all the years of effort they have put into being a 4-H member.

This year Selections will be held April 28th to May 2nd at Olds College, Olds, Alberta.

The reason I'm writing this now is because interested 4-H members must apply early in January. You are eligible to apply if actively enrolled in 4-H in the 25-30 club year, are 15 years of age or older as of January 1, 1983 and have not previously won a major award at the program.

If you're interested in representing Alberta at a number of educational award programs such as National 4-H Citizenship Seminar in Ottawa, National 4-H Conference in Toronto, Northwest Territories Exchange or Montana State Congress in Bozeman, then this is the program for you. You'll meet 144 4-Hers from across Alberta, by working with them in group discussions, playing sports, dancing and just plain 'goin' around.

To apply, simply send your Personal Record Form to by January 15, 1983. Send one completed form (including 1982-83 completed to January 1, 1983) for each year of 4-H membership. Make sure your leader signs them all.

To all the readers of my column, may your Christmas season be joyous and bright with good wishes from all. To all Merry Christmas!

The president of the Bruce Ford called the meeting to order on Nov. 29 at 7:30 p.m.

The 4-H pledge was recited by Suzanne Koppel. It was decided to have a bake sale on Dec. 9 before the bingo which the club served coffee for.

Viking Women's Basketball Wins Tourney

The Viking Women's basketball team travelled to Foreburg on Dec. 8 to participate in a tournament. Including the host team, Foreburg and Dryden Valley.

The first half ended at 41-38. In the second half, the Vikings hit some key baskets which were made which went unchallenged to lead the Viking team to a 70-46 victory. Points were scored by C. Anderson who netted 16, M. Pen who scored 14, L. Welch who chalked up 10, M. Lang also hit the key shot for 10 points while L. Rabby hit for 7, V.

Carriington came up with 8 and K. Barber and C. Clavich each hit for 4. C. Clavich scored 8 points while A. Stoddard came up with 2. This advanced them to the final against Foreburg. It was a stand-off between the two teams for the third time this year. The rivalry between the two teams resulted in very aggressive play. It was a tight contest which saw a tie of 25-23 at the end of the first half. Near the end of the second half, everyone was flipped by the tension that filled the gym. The score was tied with a little under a minute showing on the clock. In the last seconds Lorna Rabby stole the ball to make a breakaway which gave the Viking team their second victory. Final score was 42-40. M. Pen and C. Anderson tied for high point leaders in this game with 10 points each. L. Rabby scored 8 points while C. Clavich, V. Carriington and M. Lang each netted 4. K. Barber and A. Stoddard scored 2 apiece while L. Welch scored a lone point.

Many thanks to Cheryl Anderson and Mary Lynn Lang for playing with us in this tournament. Hopefully we'll see more of you. Also, we would like to thank P. Pen for coaching us, unfortunately, Rob was unable to make it.

A Family Christmas
Often around Christmas time when we're rushing about looking and shopping we work ourselves into a stressful state and almost forget what the season is all about. We must remember that Christmas is a spirit. Spending time with our families goes further in preparing the spirit than does baking an extra dozen cookies.

The best part of Christmas is preparing for the event, not just the gift giving. There are a number of things you can do with your family to share in the fun and joy of Christmas. As a family, you could...

... make paper chains or string popcorn and cranberries for the tree.
... make your own gift wrap. Brown paper and white paper are easy for children to handle. Make special Christmas cards for grandparents from pictures, cut-outs, ribbons and other trim.

... bake Christmas cookies using a plain sugar cookie dough. Children love to decorate.

Have an afternoon Christmas party and invite the neighbors. Make it a toboggan or skating party and include everyone.

... practice singing Christmas carols and persuade friends or older people who cannot get out.

Have everyone in the family write a few Christmas cards.

Whatever the activity, make an effort to include the whole family (although this doesn't always work). Remember it's the simple, fun activities that both children and adults cherish as memories years later.

Vialta News

On Monday, Dec. 13th, the Viking C.W.L. ladies were at Vialta to serve a delicious lunch at 8 p.m. Afterwards everyone enjoyed the singing of Christmas Carols. Thank you ladies for the time spent with us.

Monday evening, the Gidsons were here for a Christmas Program which was enjoyed by one and all. We appreciate your coming.

We would like at this time to say thank-you to all our friends for taking time to visit during the year. We all join in wishing you a joyous Christmas and health and happiness during 1983.

Mr. Ed McIntosh spent Sunday with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ziegler spent the week-end visiting with family and friends.

Elks Lodges Hold Successful Workshop

The District 14 Elks Lodge met at Kinsella on Wednesday, December 8th, 1982.

The meeting was called to order at 8:00 hours by District Deputy Bro. Bill Johnson who welcomed the members present and went on to introduce the out of district visitors. Grand Chaplin, Bro. J. Blinston, Sherwood Park, 2nd Vice President, Bro. Don Fowler, Red Deer; Past Provincial President, Bro. Calton Fraser, Fort Saskatchewan; Provincial Sec. Treas. Bro. Francis Thompson of Red Deer. After the reading of the minutes District Deputy Bro. Johnson asked the exalted ruler of each lodge to give a progress report. Bro. Johnson asked all the exalted rulers to try to arrange joint installation in the spring. The meeting was then turned over to past President, Bro. Calton Fraser who conducted the workshop.

Grand Chaplin Bro. J. Blinston spoke on the new constitution telling the brother Elks to read and use the new constitution to better themselves. Bro. Blinston stated that the new constitution was written in today's language as well as giving the rules of the order.

The speaker went on to deal with the book of ritual, stating that there were 10 rules of the order and challenged us to read them again and again. Provincial Sec. Treas. Bro. Francis Thompson spoke on some of the many duties of a Lodge secretary.

First, to make lodge aware of all correspondence, 2nd, to keep us up to date record of what goes on in the Lodge, as well as membership records, and 3rd to work close with the Exalted Ruler but do not take over from him.

Second Vice Provincial President, Bro. Don Fowler spoke on memberships stating that District 14 had a 2.5 increase in members and there were 60 life members. Bro. Fowler suggested several ways to get new members and how to make them feel wanted and willing to take part.

Bro. Fowler concluded with the challenge of every member to get one more new member.

A bounteous repast served by Kinsella Elks Lodge concluded the meeting. Bert M. Hill Publicity Director for District 14

Ryley Girls Defeat Viking Vixons

Last Thursday, December 9th, the Vixons travelled to Ryley for a league game against the Ryley girls basketball team.

The Ryley team looked good and executed their best plays very well and by half time they ran up the score to 18 - 10 and never looked back.

The Vixons seemed to be very frustrated and kept turning the ball over to the other team.

The scores for the game were Mary Lynn with high points of 7 followed by Elaine Rommel with 6. Wendy Sullivan hit the hoop for 4 points while Sheila Winter and Mariene Slavik each scored two points.

Ryley's top scorers were Cheryl Andrusik and Rhonda Knudsen with 10 each.

The top defensive rebounders for Viking were Mary Lynn Laug with 8, Wendy Sullivan and Rita Wesley with 2 each. Top defensive rebounders were Mary Lynn Laug and Mariene Slavik with 5 each.

The next game will be played in Viking against next years County Champs - Tofield Titans. Game time is 6:30 p.m. See you there!!

Norsemen Notes

Experience overpowered Viking's Senior High Boys basketball team last Thursday as the Ryley Bulldogs secured the Norsemen 88-50.

The Norsemen look forward to a return match in the New Year as some more experience should make a considerable difference in the next game's outcome. Bill Berwick had his best game this season being the games high scorer with 20 points, 4 of his points were from the free throw line as a 97 per cent free throw average. Mike Watson was strong in the game getting a lot of rebounds and 10 points. Jason Channey had the top shooting percentage going 5 for 8 and a 100 per cent accuracy rate. Frank Thase did some good work on the boards and is quickly developing his basketball skills.

This Thursday the Norsemen beat the Tofield Titans who are winless this season but are also developing a young team. The game began with the Vikings playing at 6:00 and the Norsemen about 6:05 p.m.

The scores for Ryley in their game against Viking were as follows: Willis Point and Doug Wilde each got 10 points. Chris Clarke hit the hoop for 6 points while Lennie Lashier was one behind with 8, and Ken Marner, one behind Lennie with 4. Dwayne Gero and Darrell Holmstrom each netted 1 point.

The Viking scorers were Bill Berwick out in front with 20 followed by Mike Watson with 15. Jason Channey hit the hoop twice for 4 points while Jim Stufank hit it once for 3 points, while Dennis Leves managed a single point.

The Bulldogs led all the way throughout the game as is evidenced by the end of quarter scored. They were ahead 18-8 at the end of the first quarter and half time led by a score of 30-20. At the end of the third quarter, they were ahead 47-30 and at the end of the fourth and final quarter they led by a score of 86-40.

Irma New Horizons Enjoy Christmas Party

The Irma New Horizons annual Christmas party was held in the Drop-In Centre on Wednesday evening, Dec. 8 at 8:00 p.m.

Supper was ready and as usual it was served buffet style. The table was loaded to capacity with all the ingredients for a gourmet meal.

The President, Phyllis Craig started proceedings by welcoming everyone and in a few well chosen words hoped everyone would enjoy the meal and the program which would follow.

When the meal was finished, dishes washed, and chairs arranged, Edith Grist took over as M.C. and called upon Georgina Enger, who was in charge of the choir group and community singing. This was good and was enjoyed. Musical selections were rendered by Jack Hilt, Ernest Rae and Marney Burns and loudly applauded. Lillian Copeland also gave a piano solo.

The star turn however, was a skit by Donald Gunn, Minnie Jackson and Jimmie Craig entitled "Farewell to Uncle John". This drew gales of laughter.

Ervel Greenwood thanked all who had contributed to the meal and Edith M. Roberts, on behalf of visitors thanked the lunch committee members and the entertainment committee for such an enjoyable evening.

Happy birthday was sung for Ernie and Joan Rae, in honor of their birthdays and also were honored for their 50th wedding anniversary. The committees in charge were indeed to be commended for the event which went off without a hitch and everyone went home happy after joining hands around the hall and singing "Auld Lang Syne".

Aces Split Pair

Aces were handed their first defeat of the season when they travelled to Wainwright last Wednesday night and came away on the short end of a 6-4 decision. The Rustlers came out hustling and hitting and beat Irma to the punch for most of the game. Aces made a good effort but things just would not go their way. The score was tied at two after the first period with Bob Foley scoring assisted by Gary Phillips and Kevin Mackay, and Len Parsons winning the red light helped by Kent Gullbra and Garret Mackay. Late in the second,

Gary Phillips put one in assisted by Brent Fischer, but Wainwright had fired in three before that and added another before the end of the period. Irma got more in the third when Brent Fischer drilled one in from the point. Kevin Mackay and Bob Foley drew the assists.

Irma hosts Loughheed's 10. Irma hosts Loughheed on Wednesday night, and the Rustlers A's are paying a visit on Saturday. Up The Blues Ray Tomlinson insists that the scale on his knuckles came from fighting, but everyone knows they come from the ice when he skates. Those are the longest arms I've ever seen. Ray claims he's good to swing through trees with tool! And once again, opponents are having a hard time removing Garret Macktruck from the front of the net. He just parks there and idles all night long. See you at the games!

Council questioned whether the lack of drainage in recent years had been compounded by the farming operations of some of the landowners in the crossing of the ditch with farm implements.

In dealing with accounts covered by the County, Council was assured by the County Engineer that the security of submissions turned in by some of the County taxpayers. Following a general discussion the matter was tabled and is to be reviewed at the upcoming Public Works Committee meeting.

A recommendation was put before Council by Jerry Albert that Council consider the possibility of brush removal at the edge of slough areas along the railroads that are slated for upgrading during the summer. He felt that this could be handled much easier and more economically during the winter months. This matter will also be dealt with in detail at the Public Works meeting.

A grant for the purpose of employing an Alberta Disaster Services Co-ordinator is again available to the County of Beaver.

As former secretary:

Robert Cross had indicated that he was interested in taking on this responsibility. Council Member Macwell made a motion to re-litigate Robert Cross as the Alberta Disaster Services Co-ordinator. However the motion was defeated.

After further discussion revealed that a co-ordinator must be named at that time in order to retain the grant an amending motion was put before Council to retain Robert Cross as setting co-ordinator and that the Disaster Services Committee meet with the co-ordinator to determine the needs. This motion met with unanimous approval.

Water Plant Bills Causing Concern

Problems with the costs of building the water treatment plant took up most of the time at the December meeting of the Viking Town Council.

In dealing with the accounts payable, bills for work by Plus 9 Construction on the water treatment plant met with lengthy wrangling as Council questioned whether or not these bills should be paid. With the entire water system now about $600,000 over cost,

Mayor said that it was the Council's responsibility to pay the bills if they were just, but to not pay them if they weren't. Councilor Cummings suggested that Council should have had, or should have someone on the job who knows what's going on. The hiring of a consulting engineer was mentioned.

To this suggestion, Mayor Rasmussen indicated that the Town was paying Olson Engineering of Edmonton $14 million to look for the Town's interests, but that they don't seem to be looking after these interests. Councilor Rasmussen said that he can't see the Town hiring a consultant to watch the engineers that are working for the Town.

Mayor Rasmussen suggested that Olson Engineering is working for the convenience of the contractor, not the Town. He noted that recently when digging through the barn at the old reservoir, the angle of the ditch was changed to suit the contractor, not the Town. He said that they have to watch what water problems at the old barn are just before the water system comes up every month, yet nobody seems to know what they're all about. Councilor Rasmussen agreed with the Mayor's unjustified bills shouldn't be paid, but said that Council should be doing something to resolve the matter. Councilor Rasmussen said that Council should let Olson know how they feel about the bills, but that he certainly would not want to pay the bills now.

A suggestion by Councilor Cummings that Council give the matter to somebody and let them handle it resulted in a discussion.

Malowany Still President

It's Just Like Driving A Car!

At the December meeting of Council, a lengthy "in camera" session was held to discuss a request to review two decisions made by the Administrator. When the session was over, the Council had reached a "consensus" that they would support the Administrator's decisions on both matters. Council's position on this matter can be better appreciated if one reviews the problem they faced.

Throughout last spring and summer, a large number of jobs were not being attended to in the Town of Vilting. Holes were being dug and left open, roads weren't being graded, and other jobs were being started, then seemingly never finished. This was combined with the councilors, who are the policy makers for the Town, having to fulfill many duties usually assumed by a town administrator. Eventually, the deteriorating situation led to Council's decision to try to get the Town Administrator to make decisions with respect to her position as Administrator. At that time, a meeting was held with the Administrator to try to iron out the problems with decision-making, or lack of it. From that meeting came a renewed spirit concerning the Administrator's job. The fact that these meetings had been held were reported in this newspaper. However, in discussions with some council members, it appears that what they saw as a definite lack of administrative decisions in the past has pushed them into supporting just about any type of decision now, and perhaps in the future.

At the December meeting, the Council was requested to review two decisions made by the Administrator. One decision made was that the newspaper would not be informed of special meetings. The paper had requested that we be notified so that we could keep the public better informed. The second decision was to not allow the paper to review correspondence so that we could keep the people up-to-date. The Administrator had denied this access even though the paper had been doing this for nearly five years. Now neither of these decisions are of a major consequence to the newspaper. If the Council doesn't want the public to know when they are holding meetings, or to let the public know what they are doing in their meetings, that is up to them. And with the type of informational correspondence that the newspaper reviewed, most Councilors would probably let this matter can be better appreciated if one reviews the problem they faced. The decisions were not major. What was major was one of the reasons which the Administrator gave for her decisions. In a discussion with the Administrator in November, she informed the Weekly Review that she made the decisions because she "doesn't have to do either of these things," and that she was "upset with some of the stories that the newspaper had been printing," namely the end of October story on the problems with the Town administration.

When some members of the Council were informed of these reasons, their reactions were phrases such as "childish," "ridiculous," and "I don't understand why she's doing it." And, in last Wednesday's meeting, they supported her decisions. In discussion with some Council members after the meeting, the feeling was that they were having such problems with the lack of Administrative decisions before, that they felt that at this time they had to support her decisions. Although some rather thin, but valid, reasons can be given for the decisions, what it appears that these decisions were made because of a personal problem. And personal problems must never enter into dealings that public servants have with members of the public.

The concern here is that the Council, because of their strong desire to have the Administrator finally start making major decisions, will overlook the basis for some of the decisions made. It is good that they are helping her along in her job, but they must not let their decision as a public body decision which reflects on the Decision-making is a skill and an art. Some people learn to do it well, some people do it poorly, and some never learn how to do it - just like driving a car!

led in the Mayor suggesting it be given to a lawyer. He and the costs of such a study could be recovered if it was discovered that the Town paid a large amount on the project that was not necessary.

Councillor Evans noted that most of the problems have come from the treatment plant. This is the only part of the project that the Council is acting as general contractors for, with work on the project being handled by Cline Engineering. The Mayor noted that Cline underestimated the cost of the plant by $600,000, so it was tough to have confidence in them. He said that no many things hang cropping up with the project all the time that he was getting fed up with it.

Councillor Ritchie suggested that the Mayor call a new firm should review the contracts and see whether or not the bills were in line. Council decided to arrange a meeting date with Cline Engineering on the bills, and decided to meet before hand to determine their major concerns about the entire project. Council also decided to withhold some of the bills payable on the project until the meeting was held.

One of the bills outstanding was for the coin water disposal system which Canada Valve supplied to the Town for the new plant. Canada Valve requested that the Town pay their bill ($6,000) as they had supplied the item as requested.

As revealed in previous Council meetings, Council had received a lot of items to be included in the water plant, and the $6,000 water disposal machine was included in the last prior to its being supplied, along with the cost. However, some of the specific item was billed, and Council thought that the cost was excessive and decided not to pay for the item. Council originally thought that the system would make the pump of water by truckers, etc. under if the system was in place, but its cost was excessive.

Discussions on the matter included a suggestion by Councillor Evans that Council may have made a mistake in not installing the system since water sales have been quite good in the past few months. Whether the absence of drilling in the area lately, other Councilors felt that the trend wouldn't continue. The bill remains unpaid.

A request for an extension by Ross Hansen Contracting on an offer to purchase was agreed to by Council. The firm is seeking to buy a site in the East Industrial Park for about $100,000 and here noted that the offer to purchase be extended from April 1 to June 30. Ross Hansen noted that there were still problems with the firm parking in the area on Main Street in Vilting. Councillor Stephenson said that the one should be enforced as the buses were having to park in the middle of the street, to him. Councillor Evans suggested that the Town either enforce the zone or take the signs down. A motion by Councillor Bird that the Town write to the R.C.M.P. and ask that they enforce the no parking zone for the bus was passed unanimously.

A draft agreement for the lease of the property on which the new Senior's Centre is located has caused the Senior's some concern. Because of this, the Senior's have engaged lawyer Bob Roddick to draft a new agreement for their behalf.

Councillor Ritchie said that the agreement drawn up for the Town by Broun's Print of Edmonton was of concern to the Senior's. He said that they weren't satisfied with a few things in the 10 page agreement.

Mayor Stephenson was both surprised that the Senior's had gone through the Recreation Board with this matter, and said that the Senior's should have come to Council. He said that he was surprised they had to go to the Recreation Board to place over a few years, the Physiotherapy Association was looking to have the Senior's move to a location so that they could make their surroundings a bit more pleasant.

Following a lengthy discussion on the matter, the Mayor informed the Weekly Review that the Council would still have the Administrator's decision. The representation by the newspaper was allowed on the matter.

After business, Council responded to a letter by the Vilting Physiotherapy Association by agreeing to a 2 year lease of the old Senior's Centre, once they have moved into their new facility. Having to move from the old location so that they could make their surroundings a bit more pleasant.

Hospital Staff Housing

On Schedule

The Staff Housing Project situated on 8th Avenue just north of the Hospital is on schedule with a tentative completion date of March 31, 1983.

The triplex will use the accommodation scheme which has plagued income levels of the hospital staff over the last number of years. All units are self contained - the cost and rent include having two bedrooms and the middle unit with three bedrooms.

Provincial or local tax funding is not required as the Hospital Board has sufficient money from other sources to cover the entire construction cost. The funding was made available by way of a loan from the late Julia Mann and from the proceeds of the old hospital property which was sold by public tender.

WILDLIFE

Stephen Best

Endangered species?

One frequently asked question of those attempting to preserve wildlife is: "Is it endangered?"

It is an easy question to answer if you are talking about whooping cranes where only a few still exist in Norway and whooping cranes. But what about the animals in between - when does an animal become "endangered"?

The term "endangered" used in science and in most international treaties, is threatened with imminent extinction throughout its range.

form them of any special meetings which the Council held, and that the Review be allowed to review, remain, non-confidential correspondence received by the Town. Both of these requests had been denied by the Town Administrator in November. At that time, she noted that she didn't have to do either of these things, and that the Review has been reviewing the correspondence for nearly 5 years now, but also informed the newspaper that she was upset at the stories that had been in the paper on the administration of the Town.

Following a lengthy discussion on the matter, the Mayor informed the Weekly Review that the Council would still have the Administrator's decision. The representation by the newspaper was allowed on the matter.

Christmas is the loveliest time of the year. Even the most sophisticated seem to get caught in the spirit of the season. They go to the stores to buy, smile at children whose faces show the widest-eyed wonderment when pressed against festive store windows, and even drop contributions for side with Santa.

All of this often comes upon pleasant thoughts of Christmas past. This is a wonderful inflection of the Christmas season that make the holiday season so special.

There are so many customs, brought from all over the world and from all periods of history, that have become a part of our Christmas customs.

Music is an important part of this holiday. One of the most popular of all the carols is "Silent Night." It is a hymn which by accident became an organ solo.

Joseph Mohr, a poor priest in the Austrian Tyrol region more than 180 years ago, was upset when the old organ refused to play the hymn he felt his faithful parishioners.

Almost everybody has a special place where memories of past Christmas are kept. Sometimes it is a crumpled card from childhood, a card, a toy or a piece of the Christmas season.

While the practice side of one's custom may say this is the year to give something useful, the other side will say this is the year to give something different.

Anyone can give a gift certificate, clothing or a book. With just a little imagination, gifts from which to choose.

They are from the wonderful world of beauty, and are especially appreciated for Christmas gifts. Called "Limited Editions," these gifts have been specially packaged and designed by cosmetic companies.

As the impulse to give is just a limited number, so it is a wise idea to shop early. You could the weeks and count away with stunning, unusual gifts that will be most welcome under any tree.

There is a wide price range, as well as a selection that is tailored for any budget. Revlon has had success with Limited Editions before. Due to popular demand, they have designed some of their most popular fragrances in items that are marvelous for Christmas gift giving.

What is more traditional than the Christmas Tree? This perennial favorite is the theme for the world-famous Charlie products. The Charlie Christmas tree look embodies the fragrance as well as matching that powder and other items. They are attractive looking gifts, will please, and are all modernity period.

The romantic fragrance of Joanne combines old world enchantment in a formulation for today's women. Fashions this season place the emphasis on the soft, romantic look, making this an ideal choice.

This Christmas season, Joanne is offering a special limited crystal decanter in a limited edition of 1000 pieces. Each piece is individually etched with his number and the date.

For the romantic, sentimental women, such a bottle makes a favorite among her souvenirs. In addition to the fragrance, Joanne's sachet and body silk take make unusual gifts.

Women on your Christmas list are not the only ones privileged to receive Limited Edition. Char, a favorite of many, is presented in Limited Editions this year.

The masculine bronze and blue packaging is enhanced by the contemporary gift sets. Again, there is a wide range from which to make a selection.

For any man on your list. Traditional or modern men, they all like this.

We've seen and heard many Christmas seasons to enjoy and remember the spirit, and the love of the most traditional and inspirational of all.

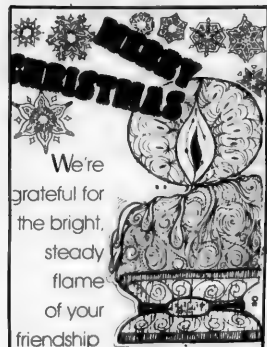

A Merry Christmas and Happy New Year is wished to all our friends and neighbors. Instead of sending Christmas cards, we have given a dose to the Local Benefit Fund.

HOW SMALL BUSINESS CAN BUCK THE TREND THIS WINTER

If you operate an Alberta business with gross annual sales of up to $3 million, you could be eligible to buck the trend this winter and hire extra employees under P.E.P. — the Priority Employment Program.

P.E.P. makes it possible for eligible small businesses to recruit up to 30 new employees and pays 50% of their wages up to a maximum of $2.50 per hour.

New employees must be Alberta residents, at least 16 years of age, and legally entitled to work in Canada.

The employees to be hired are not to have worked for the company as of December 1, 1982.

Proposals for maintaining existing employees may be considered on a case by case basis.

Jobs should offer full-time employment for a minimum of 3 months and should provide skills that assist employees in finding permanent employment.

Some employees may also qualify for assistance to retain staff through on-the-job training.

P.E.P. funding starts January 3, 1983 and ends April 30, 1983.

Applications will be accepted until January 17, 1983. Obtain brochures and application forms from regional offices of Alberta Manpower and Tourism and Small Business. Application forms and brochures will be available after December 15, 1982.

Fall Through Thin Ice

You never know when you could be called on to save someone's life — like someone who has just fallen through thin ice.

The longer the person is in the icy-cold water, the shorter his chances are of surviving. If you don't act quickly, numbers can set in and the person won't be able to hang on to the ice. On the other hand, if you're not careful rescuing, you could break through the ice yourself. The Canadian Red Cross Society Safety Services advises you to keep your distance at first. The ice may not be thick enough to hold you up either. Tell the person who's fallen in to grab as far up onto the ice edge as he can and tell him to kick his feet like in swimming. The kicking motion will help keep him afloat and it's possible he might be able to swim right up onto the ice.

If there's anyone around, yell for help. If there isn't, quickly look for something you can use to help pull the person out to safety. It can be a tree branch, a hockey stick, a belt, a scarf, a jacket or anything. Then lie down on the ice and slowly crawl towards the hole. Whatever you do, don't walk. When you lie down, you distribute your weight over a greater surface.

When you get close enough, extend whatever you are holding out to the person in the water. Tell him to keep kicking his feet. This will help propel him out while you're doing the pulling.

If there's no help around, and you're absolutely sure you can't use something like a tree branch or a scarf, use your arm. But you've got to be very careful you aren't pulled in.

If there are people around, you can form a human chain, and the first person in the link can either extend something or use his arm.

After you pull someone out, get him warm and dry as soon as you can. The next thing to do is to get him to a hospital, even if the person says he's "OK". He may be suffering from shock or from the effects of hypothermia and not know it.

If you fall in and there's no one around to help, try very hard not to panic. Grab as far up on the ice ahead of you as you can and kick your feet behind you so your body becomes horizontal. Then slowly swim, slide or roll up on the ice. Keep trying if you don't make it the first time.

When you get up on the ice, don't stand up. Crawl a number of yards away from the hole. If you can't get into dry clothes right away, keep your wet clothes on. They will protect your body from the cold until you can change into something dry.

For more information on winter ice safety and hypothermia, phone Red Cross Safety Services at 486-3888 in Edmonton.

Norsemen Notes

Viking Norsemen improved their game record to two wins versus one loss with their 40 to 35 victory over a protesting Tofield Titans squad last Thursday. After building up an 18 to 4 first quarter lead, the team hung on when the Titans had a strong third quarter, putting on a full court press which gave the Norsemen a lot of trouble and closed the gap to 8 points during the quarter.

Greg Klein had a very strong first quarter before getting into foul trouble and rejoining his team. Algis Dill Sevelik and Mike Watson were top point getters while Frank Thane and Brent Hoyland pulled down rebounds at both ends of the court.

Results of the league standings after the first two weeks show Bill Sevelik and Mike Watson in the top seven scorers, with the Norsemen in second place in the Eastern half of the League.

In the Tofield game, Viking led 18 to 4 at the end of one quarter, 37 to 14 at the half, 36 to 30 at the end of the third quarter and hung on with both teams scoring 5 points in the last quarter.

Scoring for Viking were Bill Sevelik with 18, Mike Watson with 8, Greg Klein with 7, and Jim Steinhilb. Virgilio Manente and Brent Hoyland with 5 points each.

Calories Produce Needed Heat

Four eating habits can leave your body with a lack of calories to produce heat. Red Cross youth reminds parents that children especially need nutritious, well-balanced meals during cold weather.

Although hot drinks are best in cold weather, adults should avoid caffeine before and during an outing. It'll give you a sudden burst of energy, then fatigue. More information on coping with the cold is available from Red Cross Youth.

In response to requests from various groups associated with advanced education, the provincial government has committed itself to studying post-secondary participation patterns among Alberta students.

It is expected the Participation Study will be completed within 14 months. The steering committee for the Participation Study is comprised of 15 persons: four from Alberta Advanced Education and Manpower, five from boards of governors or senates and three students representing post-secondary institutions.

The steering committee will be chaired by Dr. Bastiaan Boersbergen, an education planner with the Planning Secretariat of Alberta Advanced Education and Manpower. Other committee members representing the department include: Bryce Ball, director of Program Services with the Students Finance Board; Dr.

Asela Gabryelorgis, a research officer with the education unit of the Planning Secretariat; and Alan Hallman, liaison to the Minister's office. Public representatives of post-secondary institutions include: Reed Alnsworth, member of the University of Lethbridge senate; Douglas Brimacombe, member of the Northern Alberta Institute of Technology board of governors; Dr. Tom Leadwell, member of the University of Alberta senate; Bill Lord, chairman of the Great MacEwan Community College board of governors; and Keith R. Swinson, member of the University of Calgary Senate.

Three student members of the Participation Study Steering Committee include: Peter Christensen, Students' Association president at Grant MacEwan Community College; Al Kysers, Students' Association president at the Southern Alberta Institute of Technology; and Joanne Styne, a graduate student at the University of Alberta.

The committee's objective is to determine participation trends among broad groups of Albertans, based on gender, cultural and socio-economic backgrounds, and whether post-secondary students come from rural or urban backgrounds.

The objective will be attained through a detailed examination of 1971, 1976 and 1981 Statistics Canada census data, and other available sources of information.

In conjunction with the Participation Study, the steering committee also will examine the historical and projected patterns of tuition fees relative to total costs faced by students participating in post-secondary education.

The committee's first meeting will be held November 8, 1982 in Edmonton.

A skit on the "real meaning of Christmas" was performed by the Grade 5's at the Holden School Christmas Concert held last Thursday at the Beaver Regional Arts Centre.

Medically Speaking

The time may soon arrive, in Alberta and some other provinces, when getting a bit of blood or clenching an injured arm will not be sufficient reason to evade having a blood alcohol reading done. Drunk and impaired drivers have frequently bypassed the breath test following an accident in which they have been injured because the need for medical attention took precedence.

The Alberta Medical Association and the Canadian Medical Association have recently endorsed firm resolutions which urge governments to change the current situation. At its annual general meeting in Edmonton, the A.M.A. suggested that as a condition of obtaining an initial driver's license or renewal thereof, the individual must consent in writing to allow the taking of blood by qualified medical personnel for the determination of blood alcohol level where deemed necessary by law enforcement personnel should be protected from liability by the law.

In British Columbia, proposed changes to the Motor Vehicle Act will give police officers the power to require drivers to provide blood samples for analysis. The driver need not consent to having the blood taken and the sample may be obtained even if the individual is conscious.

The proposed B.C. law states that the blood may be taken only by a doctor, nurse, or registered lab technician. The doctor can refuse if he or she feels the procedure would endanger the patient, but this would seldom be the case.

Blood alcohol levels can be readily determined. They are consistently used to assess acute alcoholism. Hospitals have tended to discourage doctors, and particularly interns, from drawing blood for the police. It was feared that his patient would claim assault and sue.

There was also the real possibility that the later, emergency room nurse, and lab technicians would all have to appear in court to swear that the blood in question actually came from the accused.

Hospitals, particularly smaller ones, did not appreciate being staffed repeatedly for this reason. The interns didn't complain. They liked receiving witness fees.

Physicians will be in a bit of a dilemma. Many feel that their role is treating patients, not acting as an agent for the police. On the other hand, most recognize the need to do everything possible to reduce the damage caused by alcohol related accidents on the road.

Miss Evelyn White Honoured At Reception

A retirement party for Evelyn White was sponsored by the Irma Co-op store early this month in recognition of her 28 years with the establishment.

Twenty eight years of faithful service were recognized recently when Miss Evelyn White was honored at a reception in the Irma Co-operative Store. At the time she joined the staff in 1954, Vic Torsness was manager, and other staff members were Milt Fahner, Ernie Owens and Georgina Enger. Since then, there were about 180,000 - this year they will be $1,500,000.

During the reception, Evelyn had the opportunity of meeting many old friends, and said that it was a real trip down Memory Lane. The guest of honour was presented with a gift certificate by Mrs. Phyllis Craig on behalf of the Board of Directors. A beautiful floral arrangement graced the table where one hundred and eighty guests signed the guest book.

On behalf of the Board of Directors, Mr. A. Archibald, Chairman, presented Evelyn with an engraved gold watch. He spoke of the many years of faithful service she had given to the store and the public. Mr. M. Fahner, Manager, presented her with a beautiful engraved tray from the staff. He spoke of the many years of congenial association with the numerous staff personnel who had worked in the store during Evelyn's period of employment. She has been a most dependable staff member, and her efforts have been appreciated by those with whom she has been associated.

Refreshment tables were centered with two large cakes, baked by Mrs. Lorne Jackson, and beautifully decorated by Mrs. P. Craig. The staff provided delicious refreshments, and Associate Directors Mrs. Lorne Jackson, Mrs. Doreen Hill and Mrs. Phyllis Craig served tea and coffee throughout the day.

The Directors would like to thank the manager and staff, and all who called to congratulate Miss White, for making this a fitting and enjoyable tribute to twenty eight years' service on the part of a faithful employee.

Educational Tax Monies Dispute Settled

Education Minister David King recently announced a settlement of the dispute between the Fort McMurray public and separate school boards over the repatriation of educational tax monies.

The Fort McMurray Roman Catholic School District earlier this year alleged that the City of Fort McMurray had incorrectly apportioned "undeclared" corporate assessment between the public and separate school boards for the years 1980 and 1981.

A 1979 amendment to the School Act required that for 1980 and subsequent years, the "undeclared" corporate assessment be apportioned between the public and separate boards on the basis of their respective shares of resident pupils.

An inspection team of officials from Alberta Municipal Affairs and Alberta Education found the allegation to be true, since the City of Fort McMurray did not implement the required change until 1982.

As part of the settlement,
Mr. King has directed the transfer of approximately $787,304 to the separate board from the public board.

This is the total amount the separate board would have been permitted to request for 1980 and 1981, had the correct assessment apportionment been made.

To effect this transfer, the minister declared the Fort McMurray Public Board eligible for a grant of $679,266 which would have been payable in the public board had the tax apportionment in 1980 and 1981 been done correctly. This payment is a Corporate Assessment Loan Grant, intended to compensate public school boards for the loss of corporate

Orderly Marketing Of Grains Supported

The election results gave a clear perspective of how grassroots farmers feel about the commendable job the C.W.B. is doing in marketing their grain.

Mr. Oberg further stated that commodity groups and open market supporters appear to be in the minority, which is reassuring considering that farmers' needs for single desk selling has never been greater.

The recent elections of the Advisory Committee for the Canadian Wheat Board saw a positive indication of Western Canadian farmers' desire for orderly marketing, commented John Oberg, Alberta's new National Farmers Union Regional Co-ordinator.

Mr. Oberg was especially pleased that the three new committee members all support orderly marketing of grains and oilseeds.

BRTA Holds December Meeting

Fifty-two members of the Bette River Tourist Association (BRTA) met in Millie on December 9, 1982 for the regular monthly meeting. Represented were the municipalities of Beulah, Camrose, County of Camrose, Chasmin, County of Leduc, Castor, Dayland, Devan, Donald, Fort Saskatchewan, Hay Lakes, Irma, Leduc, Millet, Stettler and Wetaskiwin. Also present were member representatives from the Leduc and Wetaskiwin Chambers of Commerce and the Federal Business Development Bank from Edmonton.

The gathering enjoyed a lovely dinner hosted by the Village of Millet, and held at the Millet Community Hall. Millet Mayor George White welcomed them present.

Early in the meeting it was reported that, in connection with a request that a permanent information centre be built in Consort, the Hon. A. Adair advised that his department cannot justify the construction and operation of a centre in Consort until such time as the traffic through the Consort area becomes sufficiently high to warrant a permanent site and make the centre cost-efficient.

BRTA President Lindsay Smith of Stettler, who represents BRTA on the Beulah Lake Action Committee, updated members on the activities of this committee.

Project Chairman Wayne Alexander of Camrose was given the green light to order several Battle River County Banners, items which include beach towels, mugs and badges. All items will be imprinted with the colorful Battle River Lucky Duck and will be available for resale to BRTA members.

Association chairman Robert Brown of Leduc presented three new resolutions, all of which were approved for presentation to the Annual Meeting of the Travel Industry Association of Alberta.

BRTA is asking that the Government of Canada grant an exemption to federal and provincial registered and incorporated non-profit tourist associations, from the sales (9) per cent Federal Sales Tax on the manufacture of printed goods. The Association is also seeking for increased publicity and awareness in connection with the use of our safety vests for children and for the use of seat belts.

Members also approved to have five on-going resolutions submitted by BRTA to the Provincial Legislature for action over the past year, retained in the 1980 TIA/ATA Policy Statement. They include: Upgrading and Extension of Highway No. 8; Upgrading of Highway No. 41; Construction of Anthony Henday Tunnel; Provincial Government Garbage Closures; Reduced interest rates for seasonal tourist oriented businesses.

The 1982 Travel Industry Association of Canada's (TIAC) Annual National Conference is scheduled to be held in Vancouver, B.C. This important gathering of private and public sector tourism industry leaders will take place February 20-25. The working theme of the TIAC Conference is "A Nigger Blue of the Tourism Pie." BRTA President Lindsay Smith and Manager Sylvia Gosses will attend the TIAC Conference. BRTA is an affiliated member of TIAC.

In other business matters, it was decided that BRTA would participate in the Fort Saskatchewan Trade Show to be held May 6, 7 and 8, 1983. Battle River Country promotional literature will be distributed.

In connection with promotional literature it was reported that all copy for the 1982 Battle River Country Visitors' Guide is now at the printers and the 25,000 one guide and 50,000 zone 5 Lure Brochure should be off the press early in January.

Manager Chasmin reported that, through the Battle River Tourist Association (BRTA), the government funds was obtained for the 1982 operation of non-government information centre within Zone 5. The amount obtained was based on the requests from the respective communities involved. Resolving assistance through the Summer Temporary Employment Program (STEP) and the Senior Citizen Tourism Program (SCTP) via BRTA were: Camrose Chamber of Commerce, Town of Leduc, Sherwood Park Chamber of Commerce, Town of Viking, Wetaskiwin Chamber of Commerce, Town of Beulah, Town of Castor, Co. sort Chamber of Commerce, Town of Sedgewick, Stettler Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Helen Hay from the Circle 8 Historical Society presented President Smith with two volumes of "PIONEER PATHWAYS" depicting rural Wetaskiwin. The histories will become part of the BRTA Historical Library which now houses over one hundred and fifty local Zone 5 histories.

The way we figure, this Christmas is going to be the best one yet! Hope it adds up to lots of smiles!

What Gift Is This

by Margaret Holliman Amidst the bustle of gift wrappings and presents of different shapes and sizes, I stood with a mixture of emotions. The present I'd just opened was a pair of red and white striped socks, which were tucked into a Christmas card box, along with fifty cents. This particular gift prompted more than the usual kind of happy smile, that one feels after receiving a gift. This was a gift of friendship and of love. Wrapped in that little box was a lesson in humility and sweet scented remembrances.

The gifts I'd wanted and had received for Christmas sat unnoticed, as I held up the pair of socks and commented on their nice shade of red. I was aware of the meaning of "truly giving". I felt like crying and wiped away a tear, as memories touched me through a haze of green groves hung with tinsel and shiny reflecting two ornaments.

Reflecting, as though from a golden space, hanging from the tree, looked with glimmers of red and green and silver, I saw the giver of this gift. She was the mother of a class 1000 chain of mine. She and her family didn't have money for extras, in fact, hardly enough to get by on. They were poor, even to my standards, as far as material things in life were concerned. I saw again their country home furnished with only the bare necessities, and smelled the aroma of her tantalizing dishes of substantial food that were mostly home raised or grown. She made use of nature's garden. I recalled red puff balls and rabbit daisies, wild duck and prairie chicken, served with a unique flavor of seasonings which abundantly adorned her table during my numerous visits. I saw her stirring up a batch of apple fritters each time her daughter and I walked the five miles to visit at farm after school to visit.

I had acquired a feeling of sharing and of being a part of her family. In a sense, it was as if stepping out of pavement and into home-stead days - of times when material things in life weren't of first priority. I shared in pulling fallen trees out of the poplar bluffs for firewood. I remembered the hot summer days scented with sweet clover and new mown hay as we picked mushrooms and wild berries. I thought of their little farm, still being worked with horses. I gave thought also to their means of transportation - I saw the scorch team and the old democrat left behind in the dust, as cars whizzed past.

As I folded the socks and laid them back into the box, I thought about my feelings. I felt most of us were missing something in life. I really did love being with them. However, I reconciled myself to the fact that if I really lived their way, could or would I be grateful and happy with what I had, no matter how little. Would I be satisfied and make a success? Would I feel equal to others with more? I know down deep within myself the answers to these questions answers to these questions.

And so, wrapped in that little box, was a lesson in humility and sweet scented remembrances. The pair of red and white socks and the two quarters were given by a lady, who had stretched a dollar to remember me -- A kid, who shared her way of life on odd days and weekends, who laughed with her and that family, and shared in tasks and family news. A care products, such as Goody's wide-toothed comb or a unique Hot Curling Brush that, with the help of a blow dryer, quickly makes a hair style look festive. Romantic accents include fashion combs or decorated box pins.

Young girls love laminated metal barrettes bearing hearts, lovebirds, and ice cream cones or colorful plastic barrettes in animal shapes. Twin bend ponytail holders with clovers, elephants, happy faces and other designs are also popular as are unique unbreakable Fiesta Super Combs swirling with color.

And don't forget the men on your list! Goody has goodies for them, too. Goody's breakable combs and simulated wood hairbrushes.

On Christmas Eve, the most enchanted night of the year, tell the enchanting lady in your life that she's unique in all the world.

How? Forget practical, down-to-earth gifts. Make her spirit soar with a present that appeals to her soul, her senses, her psyche: something frankly luxurious.

Open The New - Down With The Old

The official opening of the Bank of Montreal building in Irma took place on Wednesday at 10:00 a.m. on Wednesday, November 18th.

In the presence of Bank officials and a fair crowd of customers and friends, Butch Fischer M.L.A. cut the ribbon and declared the new Bank of Montreal building officially open for business.

The guest book was signed by those attending and many pictures were taken. This nice new facility, which seems small when compared to the old building on the inside is very roomy and was much admired. We were told that the old building was built in 1916.

After the opening, coffee, tea and cake was enjoyed. Open house continued during normal banking hours.

On Wednesday and Thursday the old Bank of Montreal building was readied for demolition, with several strands of heavy cable being wrapped around it at three different heights.

These preparations were viewed on Wednesday afternoon by quite a number of bystanders. A rumor circulated that a winch truck was to arrive at any moment to pull the building down. However, the rumor proved false and many were disappointed. The winch truck did however arrive on Friday morning and it was then that the building was pulled down in a very short time, down came the building.

It became a pile of rubble and the backhoe then proceeded to pound the rubble and reduce it to a consistency which could be handled by the front end loader.

It was then loaded and hauled away and by Saturday evening very little, except the concrete foundation of this old landmark remained.

Participating at his first official opening as an M.L.A., Butch Fischer was called on for a few words and to cut the ribbon. Staff Photo

Stay Warm In Winter

Layers of Clothing trap warm air around the body, creating an insulating effect. This can be achieved easily and fashionably by, for example, wearing a sweater over a shirt. One advantage of dressing in this manner is that the layers can be adjusted for varying conditions. A shirt or jacket neckline can be opened or closed to regulate body temperature. The outside layer can be removed when indoors or when exercising heavily, and be replaced whenever needed.

"It is not difficult to protect yourself from the cold," says Susan. She recommends wool and down as the best fabrics and emphasizes the importance of keeping the extremities warm. Mitts are warmer than gloves. A good toque will not only protect the ears from frostbite but can also help to keep the whole body warm. 40-60% of body heat can escape from the head.

Red Cross Youth, a Department of the Red Cross, has put together a booklet entitled "When Temperatures Drop" explaining the problems faced during cold weather and how to deal with them.

We're all smiles at the thought of your continued faith and trust. You can depend on our personal interest in serving you now and through the years to come. Thanks.

Aces Rack Up Two More Wins

The Aces are rolling right along and have added two more wins this past week.

On Wednesday night, the Hughenden Jets paid a visit and lost 8 to 2. The shot on net were even at 35 a piece, but Aces proved more accurate with theirs and say good scoring chances the Jets had were thwarted by Ivan Bacon. In the first period and Shane Holler in the last two frames. Irma scored four unanswered goals in the first. Bob Foley started things off assisted by Gary Phillips and Kevin Mackay. Then Gary Phillips put one in assisted by Morgan Jones and Kevin Mackay. Kevin Mackay scored the next two helped by Bob Foley twice and Morgan Jones and Gary Phillips once.

The second period saw the Aces fire in five more. Gary Phillips got his second of the night assisted by Kevin Mackay and Ray Tomlinson, followed by Brian Burr who scored on a neat backhand shot. Gord Holt and Jay Fenton drew assists on that one.

Then Marvin Holt scored his first goal of the season when he let go a blast from the point that neatly picked the corner after it ricocheted off of two shin pads and bounced twice on the ice. She was a deluxe. Dale Nelson drew the assist.

Kevin Mackay completed his hat trick and capped a six point night when he scored late in the period assisted by Gary Phillips and Bob Foley. The Jets scored once in each of the last two frames.

Irma took five minor penalties to Hughenden's two.

It was a thriller on Saturday night when the Roseland A's and about 75 stalwart Irma fans made their way through the fog to take in the game that ended in a 4 to 2 victory for the Aces.

The game was quite a contrast to the first outing those two teams had, and featured fast skating and plenty of hard, clean body-checking. Ivan Bacon had an outstanding game in net, getting the Bruins in 34 Roseland shots. Irma took 15 shots at the other end.

Roseland came out flying and held the lead at the end of the first period with two unanswered goals. Dale Nelson got things started for the Aces midway through the second when he put one in from close range helped in from close range assisted by B. Burr and G. Holt. Late in the period when he collected a Brian Burr pass and converted it into a goal. The third period saw Aces come out hustling and within two minutes Gord Holt plucked in the winning goal after he dug the puck out from under the sprawling Roseland goalie. Len Parsons and Brian Burr drew the assists and they both played strong games considering they each had this doctor's orders to sit this one out due to shoulder ailments.

Then the play went from end to end with lots of scoring chances for both teams until with three minutes left, Gary Phillips drilled in an insurance marker assisted by Kevin Mackay and Bob Foley.

Roseland had one minor penalty and the Aces were caught for seven.

Aces head to Hardisty on Monday night and then host Swelgwick Braves on Wednesday. They only have one game between Christmas and New Years, that being a home stand against the Dayland North Stars on the 29th. And if you plan on taking in the Aces New Year's Eve Dance, better get your tickets soon because they're going fast.

Up The River

At the party following the Saturday night game, Marvin Holt was awarded the "Silver Sow Award" (which is similar to the Leo Neesman hog-calling award) for reporting above and beyond the call of duty. The presentation was made by Ray Tomlinson and Jay Fenton, who figure this event things up for all the hogwash. Mac has been putting in the paper about them.

Have a Merry Christmas!

Premiers' Xmas Message

As the Christmas season approaches, we recognize that it is a difficult time this year for many Canadians due to our current economic downturn. However, most in Alberta are more fortunate than those in other parts of Canada and we should therefore be thankful for our many blessings.

To my wife Jeanne and me, Christmas is a time when our family is reunited. We spend the time with family and friends. It is also a time of year when people everywhere put forth extra effort to further peace and understanding.

We in Canada are very fortunate, for we enjoy freedoms that many countries of the world do not. Let us not forget those who suffer poverty, hunger, repression and persecution and pray that they will one day enjoy the same quality of life that we sometimes take for granted.

Albertans are possessed with a particular spirit of goodwill and generosity towards others, so reach out and help a friend or neighbour who is less fortunate or whose family is not near at hand.

On the behalf of all my colleagues at the Alberta Legislature, my wife Jeanne and my family, I sincerely welcome this opportunity to wish each and every one of you a Christmas filled with joy and friendship.

Bright and Merry Christmas

Do You Know The Bible Says

Do you know the Bible says in Rom. 12:13, I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God. End quote.

As we present our bodies to Jesus for His service. For some people the practice of giving presents at Christmas is a means of communicating God's great gift expressed so beautifully in John 3:16. For God so loved that He gave... I'm afraid, however, that in all the hype and excitement of trying to please others with material things, we can very easily lose sight of the real meaning of the day. God gave, and that's why we have the day. A gift given by each one and rejected in seeking about of displaying our unity against the kind giver. This is what many are doing today with Jesus, God's Son. Many expensive gifts are still being purchased and given for this Christmas, but the gift that is much more precious, that costs us nothing is withheld from that All loving One Who first gave of His best. That gift, OUR BODY, that we so selfishly withhold from the Lord to do with as we please could be used to a much greater advantage if it were presented to God to be under His control and for His glory. As He has control, He came "All things to work together for good" not only for His glory but for our own progress through life.

Strange, isn't it that most of us give gifts to all but the One Whose birthday we celebrate. A good question we may ask ourselves is this: "What am I going to give Jesus this birthday 'Christmas'?" If you are not saved, the thing He desires most from you is a believing heart. Why not put your faith in Jesus' sacrificial death on the cross, so you gift of salvation from the Lord. It's only reasonable that we present ourselves to Him. It's the one Christmas present that truly fits the occasion.

Give your all to Christ. He gave His all for you! Can be saved from your sins? But if you have accepted Jesus as your Saviour already, then you can give

Our fond thoughts of you will sparkle from one end of Christmas to the other. Warm thanks.

Story About "Home On The Range"

HOME ON THE RANGE is a new Alberta cookbook with a difference.

It's a combination of recipes, stories and old pictures which together tell the story of an earlier time in Alberta's history—when men were men, and women were women and women were cooks. The recipes include traditional and tasty food like your main pie, rhubarb crisp, jelly roll and cabbage rolls. The stories touch on such subjects as cooking for the thrushers, berry picking expeditions, the ever-lasting pancakes made by backhoe homesteaders and the dark side of the coin.

The authors are all members of the John Burrows family of Dinosaur in the Peace River country. Three live in the north. Mrs. John and Mrs. Jim Burrows of Dinosaur and Mrs. Karen Burrows of Grande Prairie. They collected the recipes and did most of the editing. The idea of a cookbook came about when the women of the family decided to do something positive in the lives of all the bad news that's hitting farmers and small businessmen these days. Rather than to complain, they decided to tell the story of the farm and what a farm means within a community in another way—through a cookbook.

Thus, the recipes include the first cake that John Burrows learned to bake when he came to Canada in 1908—the boiled raisin cake which is a million, better-tasting, eggless marvel that worked well then and still works for today's cooks.

Homesteaders relied on the boiled raisin cake because they couldn't always get eggs, butter and milk. Nowadays we can still rely on it because we can't always get milk. Besides, it's remarkably tasty.

HOME ON THE RANGE is available in bookstores or by writing Homestead Publishing Ltd., Box 304, Box G, Calgary, T2A 3G4. Send $12.95 per book plus $2.00 per order for shipping and handling.

An old English tradition: toasting from Wassail Bowl

Wassail is derived from the Anglo-Saxon expression "Wa Hail"—your health. For centuries, the Wassail Bowl was drunk in England with much ceremony and exchanging of holiday greetings. The custom was to common throughout the country that "wassailing" came to mean any kind of Christmas toast.

Old-time ingredients
 The old-time recipe for the Wassail bowl was a heated combination of ale, cinnamon, ginger, nutmeg, lemon and orange which was poured into a heated bowl. Toasted bread and roasted crab apples were added.

Today, even in England, the contents of the Wassail Bowl can be any kind of punch which means ready to serve and so friends when they drop in on Christmas.

Santa came to Bruce last Saturday night where he received his usual enthusiastic welcome.

The evening got underway with a pot luck supper at 6:30; 180 people were on hand to sample the wide variety of food.

Following the meal, several youngsters participated in a short program which included piano selections, Christmas carols, Ukrainian dancing and a skit by the 4-H girls.

Naturally the highlight of the evening was the arrival of Santa Claus who brought treats for all the children.

Hope your holidays are crammed full of the treasured gifts of Christmas. Thanks for your faith and trust.

4-H On The Move

Program Planning, the key to a successful 4-H year!
What is program planning? It is the process of thinking about what you want to do in your club during the year. A builder would not think of building a house without a blueprint. A program plan to a 4-H club is much like a blueprint to a builder. It can be used as a guide to your activities to help prevent error and waste. It helps show how the parts fit together and whether the activities are worthwhile.

Hopefully the following steps will help your club have an easier time of program planning.

1) Set up a program planning committee. This committee is made up of two adult leaders and the club executive.

2) Consider your club situation. This means reviewing last years activities and identifying those that were successful, those that were unsuccessful and why. Think about members the number, then age, where they live, what they do and their participation in other organizations and activities. Consider other community activities, don't duplicate them.

3) Establish club goals.
They are a statement of purpose and should outline what your club wants to accomplish. They may be quite specific such as "to have $50 for our club tree" or they may be general such as "to make a contribution to our community".

4) Once goals are established, you should determine what activities will meet these goals. A variety of activities makes a more balanced and interesting program.

5) Plan the program. An outline of the proposed program plan should be prepared and presented to the club. After the club has discussed the plan and made any changes, it is a good idea to provide every member with a copy.

A friend of mine named Paul received a new automobile from his brother as a Christmas present. When Paul came out of his office on Christmas eve, a street architect was walking around the shiny new car, admiring it.

"Is that your car mister?" he asked.

Paul nodded. "My brother gave it to me for Christmas."
The boy was astounded.
"You mean your brother gave it to you and it didn't cost you nothing? Boy I wish..." He hesitated.

And Paul knew what he was going to wish. He was going to wish he had a brother like that. But what the lad said jarred Paul all the way down to his heels.
"I wish," the boy mused,
"that I could be a brother like that!"

Paul looked at the boy in astonishment, then impulsively added, "Would you like to ride in my car?"

After a short ride, the urchin turned and with his eyes aglow, said, "Mister, would you mind driving in front of my house?"

Paul smiled a little. He thought he knew what the lad wanted. He wanted to show his neighbors that he could ride home in a big car.
But Paul was wrong again.

"Will you stop where those two steps are?" the boy asked.

He ran up the steps. Then in a little while Paul heard him coming back, but he was not coming fast. He was carrying his little polio-crippled brother. He sat him down on the bottom step, then sort of squeezed up against him and pointed to the car.

"There she is, Buddy, just like I told you. My brother gave it to me for Christmas and it didn't cost him a cent.
And some day I'm gonna give you one like it...then you can see for yourself all the pretty things in the Christmas windows that I've been trying to tell you about." Paul got out and lifted the little lad to the front seat of his car. The obnoxious older brother climbed in beside him and the three of them began a measurable holiday ride.

That Christmas Eve, Paul learned what Jesus meant when he said, "It is more blessed to give..."

From all of us at the Ryley District Office, have a very Merry Christmas and a Joyful and Prosperous New Year!

Don't Let The Flu Get You Down

Influenza has often been referred to as "the last great plague". It remains the only pandemic disease of man that modern science has not yet been able to conquer.

Scientists categorize influenza outbreaks on the basis of how widespread the disease is. The first category - the pandemic - is a worldwide spread of the disease striking millions of persons. The epidemic, the second category, is a spread of the disease in restricted areas. The third category, endemic, is a local outbreak of the disease in a community. The disease, itself, is typed according to the virus causing it: Type A, Type B or Type C.

An Annual Outbreak Influenza is the most frequently occurring disease in North America today. Each year, thousands contract this disease and hundreds die from its complications. The effects of the flu can be devastating even during the non-epidemic years.

The last major flu epidemic in North America, in the winter of 1968-69, involved 51 million reported cases of Hong Kong flu; 25 per cent of the population of the U.S. was affected. More than 27,796 persons died due to complications resulting from the virus. Sixty-six million work days were lost. Overall, this bout cost the North American economy approximately $3.5 billion.

Three Types of Virus Until 1918, scientists believed that influenza was bacterial in origin. After study of the "Spanish influenza" victims, scientists turned to the hypothesis that a virus might be the cause.

At first, scientists believed that human influenza was caused by only one type of virus, now called A. However, a second type, B, was discovered in 1940 and a third - C - was identified in 1947. Scientists also believed that only Type A virus and those acquired immunity is not enough protection to prevent persons from contracting the disease when a major change in the influenza virus occurs.

Flu Symptoms The influenza virus enters the respiratory tract in airborne droplets and lodges in the nasal passages. Symptoms begin to appear within 24 to 48 hours and develop quickly.

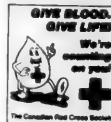

Flu symptoms include: fever; muscular aches and pains; headache; dry, hacking cough; nasal congestion and sore throat. Flu victims often complain that their eyes tear, or have a burning sensation, or are highly sensitive to light.

Fever usually lasts two to three days, but sometimes persists up to five days. As the disease progresses, other symptoms including headache, weakness, and lack of appetite occur. While it takes two to four days for the symptoms to begin subsiding, it takes some patients a week or two before the coughing stops and they start to feel better.

While the elderly have the lowest incidence of influenza, they also have the highest fatality rate. Particularly susceptible are persons who have chronic debilitating diseases, such as heart disease or diabetes affecting the lungs.

Don't just stand there... go out and have yourself a MERRY CHRISTMAS!

AADAC Initiates Interagency Xmas Campaign

The Solicitor General's department and the Alberta Motor Association have joined AADAC (Alberta Alcoholism and Drug Abuse Commission) in delivering to Albertans the Christmas message, "Here's to the true holiday spirit."

The message, which is the theme of AADAC's Christmas media campaign, is being endorsed by the Solicitor General and the AMA in printed advertisements.

"AADAC is pleased to be able to work with the Solicitor General and the AMA on this special Christmas campaign," said Leo Skirrow, Executive Director.

"We realize that probably no one agency can alone solve the problem of alcohol abuse rather, by working together, we have a much better chance of achieving a lasting situation."

Alternatives to drug and alcohol abuse during a period of peak indulgence can be found in the joys and satisfactions that arise from friendship, family relationships and valued traditions, says the message.

"At Christmas, we celebrate the traditional human virtues found in friendship and family relationships. Few things are as damaging to them as the overuse of alcohol. Yet somehow, Christmas has, for many, become a time to over-indulge," said Mr. Skirrow.

"We are trying to get people to re-examine their behaviour in light of the true spirit of Christmas and our traditional values."

By initiating interagency cooperation, AADAC hopes to increase exposure to reach those who drink and drive.

"Even though people are clearly aware of the horrible consequences of drinking and driving, the number of drinking drivers is alarmingly high and the resulting tragedies continue unabated. AADAC is committed to exploring every possible way to achieve the solutions to this preventable social problem and is working towards this end in cooperation with interested groups and agencies," added Mr. Skirrow.

School Renovations Proposed

The Council of the Village of Irma met in regular meeting in the Irma Village office on Tuesday, December 7, 1982. There were five Council members plus Administrator D.D. Greasy present.

All accounts were approved for payment for the month of November.

A motion was made and passed that correspondence from the Manitoba Vermilion Health Unit, advising that the Health Inspector will no longer be collecting water samples. All samples will now be collected locally and forwarded for analysis.

The foreman's report was accepted on a motion.

Mr. Keith Graham was present at this time to present a proposal for additions to the Irma Hotel. In this proposal the seating area on the bar would be increased and a new restaurant would be added to the east end of the existing building. Mr. Graham referred to the present tax structure and utility service costs and asked council to consider some concessions in these areas if he does proceed with the proposed addition. Council thanked Mr. Graham for his presentation and he took his leave from the meeting.

Three building permit applications were approved at this meeting.

The administrator advised that there have been some requests from some organizations and individuals to be exempted from the garbage collection fee. After some deliberations and a re-assessment of the fee structure, it was decided that no concessions be granted.

Councillor Dempsey advised that the Waterwright School Division is considering renovations and some modifications at the Irma School, and that the Recreation Board has approached the Board to consider provisions in the design whereby the gym and library might be available for community use. The Recreation Board suggests that a joint use agreement be drafted that these facilities might be better used. Council's support is requested for the proposed joint use agreement and it was decided that they support, in principle, the proposed joint use proposal.

The proposal of the Irma School Gym and Library facilities. Councillor Copeland submitted a report from the solid waste incineration meeting held in Waterwright on December 1, 1982. In attendance at this meeting were representatives from the rural and urban municipal authorities within Municipal District of Waterwright, Alberta Environment, Vermilion Vermilion Health Unit and Underwood McLean Ltd. Consulting Engineers. The study as prepared by the said firm was reviewed; however, it was agreed that additional copies of the study are required that all council members may assess the matter. It was agreed that another meeting be held early in the new year to further assess the proposed incineration of solid wastes within the Municipal District of Waterwright. It was decided that Council support the concept of solid waste disposal on a regional basis within the said municipal district.

Christmas, Kids And Cars: Sometimes A Deadly Mixture

Motorists should be aware that the Christmas season for students is now underway and lasts until January 2nd. The Alberta Motor Association (AMA) says that good driving habits are probably more important during this time of year, than at any other.

AMA Public Relations Manager Art Price says key roadways, heavy holiday traffic and children excited with the Christmas season often combine to result in serious injuries or fatalities.

Price points out that motorists should exercise extra caution near parks, playgrounds, and other recreational areas where children playing with sleds or toboggans often shoot across a roadway without warning.

Youngsters may also foolishly try to indulge in the often fatal exercise of hitchhiking rides on the rear bumpers of cars and skidding along the icy roads.

"Motorists should take it upon themselves to notify the proper authorities if they encounter such incidents in an effort to prevent

In addition the Auto Club reminds motorists to adjust their speed according to road and visibility conditions.

"Remember, it takes nearly 10 times as long to stop on ice as it does on dry pavement," Price says. "Possible fatalities," says Mr. Price.

Greeting cards as we know them today date back only 180 years or so, but the traditions that led to them go back thousands of years. Ancient Egyptians, for example, celebrated the New Year as a time of nature's rejuvenation. Early Romans observed the Feast of Lupercalia, which evolved into our Valentine's Day.

While Christmas has been celebrated for centuries, it wasn't until the 19th century that people began widely exchanging written greetings with artistic design.

Until that time, the only people whose friends received a Christmas greeting were those who could read and write and could afford to pay a messenger to deliver their sentiments.

This was to change by the mid-18th century. By then, many people were learning to read and write through free public schooling. Thousands of people were earning money on jobs provided by the invention of machines during the Industrial Revolution. The printing press had been invented and was making printing easier.

The First Christmas Card

With the passage of the Penny Postage Act in England in 1840, which allowed anyone to send a letter anywhere for a penny, the price of mailing letters was finally within the reach of almost everyone.

With all these social developments, the custom of exchanging Christmas cards became popular. In 1843, the first commercially printed Christmas card was created. It was designed by artist John Calcutt Hersey for London businessman Henry Cole.

The original Christmas card was divided into three panels with the main illustration showing adults at a family party raising wine glasses in a toast. The panels on either side showed two of the oldest traditions of Christmas—feeling the hungry and clothing the needy. The card bore the now classic greeting, "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to You!"

Original specimens of the first Christmas card are now extremely rare and valuable. Only a dozen are known to exist.

Within a few years, several printing companies in England were producing Christmas cards. By 1876, Christmas cards had come into their own in both England and North America.

Christmas cards evolved as the years passed. During the Great Depression, many people sent cards instead of gifts because money was scarce. One 1937's card depicted a grandfather remarking: "This isn't what I'd like to send, ain't being poor a crime...but perhaps I'll have a million bucks to send to you next time!"

When World War II came, Christmas cards became very patriotic. Special cards were created for servicemen overseas and showed Santa holding the flag. "Across the miles" and "Missing You" sentiments expressed the sombre reality of the day.

Modern Day Christmas Cards In 1970, the first prayer said from space by the Apollo 8 astronauts on Christmas Eve of 1968 was printed on a card. In the late 1970's, contemporary cards showed Santa jogging and playing tennis. These cards were specifically designed for people except up in the fitness craze.

Today, Christmas cards include hundreds of finely crafted cards featuring innovative designs and unique processes. Consumers can choose from boxed cards with festive Mappins, Puppets and Betty Clark designs to popular inventions such as Norman Redwell and Corrie and Ives.

Canadian artists have also become involved, with cards by Frank Panchard, Alan McLaren, Clarence Gagnon and many others.

This year consider what sending a Christmas card can do: it can warm a heart, light up a face, tickle a funnybone, surprise a child, renew a friendship, create priceless memories and start a tradition.

Christmas Cards: Tradition

'Duck' Into Battle River Country

At a recent meeting Battle River Tourist Assoc. members rallied that the promotional theme for 1983 would be "Duck Into Battle River Country." Association Project Chairman Elaine Alexander of Canmore presented a detailed report to members which encompassed numerous suggestions and ideas which could enable the Battle River Tourist Association to continue promoting the virtues of travel in the Battle River Tourist Zone in 1983 is an expanded manner. At the same time, the suggestions could generate an additional source of revenue to the Battle River Tourist Association and its members.

The theme chosen is associated with the Association's Mascot, "Battle River Lucky Duck." Alexander said that "This ambassador of good will, friendship and hospitality to the Battle River Region should be given greater prominence." He laid out various advertising variations encompassing the theme "Duck Into Battle River Country" which could be incorporated into radio and print advertising.

Alexander was given the green light to obtain job quotes on three specific revenue projects detailed in his report, these being beach towels, Lucky Duck badges and Lucky Duck marmalade coffee mugs. Total cost of the proposed souvenir projects would be close to five thousand dollars ($5,000). It was pointed out that the 1981-82 souvenir sale project met with a great deal of success and netted the Association over $4,000 in profits. Items are wholesaled to members at reasonable cost and they, in turn, do the retailing. All items are of high quality and apparently sell very well.

Other recommendations in the report were that, due to the popularity of the Annual BRTA Spring Cavalcade, perhaps Battle River Tourist Association consider the promotion of a second cavalcade to occur in the fall.

Upon hearing the glorious message, shepherds and the Wise Men came to worship and adore Him. This Christmas let us rejoice and celebrate, as we too, proclaim the King.

A new educational tool has been added to the schools in the County of Beaver. A purchase of 24 Black Apple Computers in late October has resulted in each of the schools within the County having at least one computer to be used for educational and administrative purposes.

Adopt-A-Grandparent Program Pending

As a notice to all community members, if there is enough interest generated, an Adopt-A-Grandparent program will be started here in Viking.

This new service for the elderly in the Villa Lodge and Kinsmen will involve any students that wish to donate some of their time to such a worthy cause.

Time involved will probably be a minimum of one-half to one hour, one to two nights a week. This will be the decision left up to the students and the grandparents.

Students will be performing duties such as reading to the grandmothers, playing games with them, or simply talking with them and spending time with him or her.

The elderly people involved here need love and affection. Many have no family and few people with which to share their love.

Donating some of your time to another person reaps many benefits, such as personal satisfaction and fulfillment, and the sense of gratification you get when you know you've made someone's life better.

For more information, to apply, or to comment on the program, please call Rhonda Shippy at the Viking school at 826-3887 and weekdays from 8:30 to 5:30 except Tuesdays.

A third use for the computers have come to the schools in the County of Beaver. A purchase of 24 Black Apple Computers in late October has resulted in each of the schools within the County having at least one computer to be used for educational and administrative purposes.

The purchase of the computers was made possible by a combination of factors. Firstly, the cost per unit was reduced by Alberta Education from $2500 to approximately $2500. Then, the purchasing Boards were allowed to spread the cost of purchase over 3 years. And finally, the money saved through an energy savings program throughout the County schools was made available for the purchase.

Fourteen of the 24 computers are to be utilized in a sharing program among the schools. The other ten will be permanently located in the various schools, with 1 computer and 1 printer in Seagr School in Tofield, 2 computers and 1 printer each in the other schools in Ryley, Tofield, Holden and Viking, and 1 computer and 1 printer located in the County Office.

Presently the 14 shared computers are spread across the County schools. Starting in September of this year, these 14 computers will be shared between Ryley and Tofield for the 1st semester, and between Holden and Viking for the 2nd semester.

With the tremendous growth of the use of computers in today's society, plans are to use the new computers in a variety of ways.

Firstly, a computer literacy program at all grade levels is planned. The objective is to teach students what computers are, what they can and cannot do, how to use them, and some basic on how to program them.

At an advanced level, Computer Processing courses will be taught at the high school level beginning February 1st of this year. The Viking School hopes to pilot the new courses next school year. These courses should give students a good working knowledge of computer use for both personal and business purposes, including word processing.

A third use for the computers is to assist the teachers in their regular instruction. The computers can aid in enrichment, for remedial work and to motivate. This aspect makes use of mostly preprogrammed materials which teachers can modify in order to use current material.

Each of the schools will also be able to use the computers to aid in administration. The computers will be used to store and access students marks along with demographic data. Budget procedures will be computerized as well.

Adult Education will also benefit from the computers in each of the schools. As early as next Tuesday, two evening courses in computer literacy will be offered at the Viking school under the guidance of Viking Math teacher Olive Zwiarschke.

A Computer Steering Committee headed by Fred Reinbolt, Superintendent of Schools has put in place the objectives, policy and implementation guidelines for the County of Beaver schools. Inservice workshops and central program purchasing are also co-ordinated by this committee. The Committee members are Floyd Irwin (Tofield, Business Ed.), Victor Petrus (Ryley, Industrial Arts), Jim McGaughey (County Librarian), Lyle Andrusky (Holden, Junior High), Ray Stokarski (Viking Elementary), Neil Nordquist (Viking, School Level Administration), and Fred Reinbolt (Committee Chairman).

The Viking School will experiment with an inservice workshop for all staff on Tuesday, January 11 starting at 2:00 p.m. Students will be let out 2 periods early this coming Tuesday. The first session will run from about 2:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m., with an early evening session from 7:00 to 9:00 also planned.

The public is invited to have a look and try the computers. It's as easy as calling the school and making an appointment.

The Viking Lions Club continue to live up to their motto "We Serve" in the Viking Community with a presentation made at a recent Lions Club meeting.

Three 14" colour television sets were presented to Mr. Al Wilmer, Chairman of the Viking General Hospital

Board of Trustees. The television sets are for the benefit of those patients who are confined to bed and are unable to watch television in the day dining room.

The money for the sets was part of the profit realized from the Lions fund raising projects.

Fund Raising Program Introduced

As we begin the New Year, the Viking Minor Hockey Association is also beginning a new fund raising lottery.

With increased costs for ice rental, equipment and the like, and decreased revenue, Viking Minor Hockey is hoping for support in this venture.

The lottery will pay out a total of $1,500 in prizes as follows: Early Bird Draws of $250.00 each will be made on February 20, 1983, March 31, 1983, April 30, 1983 and May 31, 1983.

The final draw of $400.00 will be made on June 30, 1983.

Each ticket sold will be eligible for all 5 draws. Only 200 tickets have been printed.

Tickets are $20.00 each and can be bought from Viking Minor Hockey Executive and coaches or at Ritchie Appliance. Thanks and good luck!

A New Outlook

1983! A New Year. And even though as we experience new year after new year they all seem to take on the same meaning, this year could be something different. It could be the year that things get better. But then again, how could they get very much worse.

With interest rates dropping, and unemployment rates rising, it is very easy for the individual to get very confused about what is happening in this country. With "inflation" supposedly our number one enemy, the Liberal government stood by the high interest rate policies of the Bank of Canada and watched as business after business, farm after farm went bankrupt, and as more and more and more Canadians became unemployed. And contrary to the belief of some people, there simply are not jobs out there for people. By discouraging spending and investment, the Canadian government has seen well over 1,000,000 Canadians who want to work unable to get jobs. People who have been laid off either temporarily or permanently will never be able to recover what they have lost during this period in their lives. All they can do is look to the future for possible improvements.

What this nation needs is a new outlook. Let's get rid of the doom and gloom, and get some confidence in our abilities. We can't undo the past, but we can improve the future by having a more positive outlook on 1983.

Convention To Be Held In Mid-January

About 400 delegates are expected to attend the 19th annual convention of the United Farm to be held January 19th to 24th at the Westin Hotel in Edmonton.

The morning of January 19th will be taken up with registration, and meetings of commodity groups will occupy most of the afternoon. Reports of the president and board of directors and ratification of convention procedures and committees will take place in the evening, followed by a meeting of region and district officials. Young and new delegates will also meet the same evening.

Present economic conditions that have forced many farmers into desperate situations will, no doubt, receive the attention of convention delegates. Input costs have continued to rise despite the federal government's five and six percent concept, while producers' prices are static at best, and in many cases, sliding downward. The crisis situation has prompted a renewal of collective bargaining proposals in some areas and delegates will be asked to give resolutions on this subject very careful study.

Subjects related to land use are also high on Union's list of problem areas. Mis-use of good agricultural land continues unabated without apparent concern by the provincial government, which has also failed to move ahead on recommendations made by the Select Caucus Committee on Surface Rights, whose report was generally well accepted by the farm community. Water and waste disposal also remain as high priority matters with the farm organizations.

Policy review and development is a major part of convention business and will be on the agenda each day, which starts at 9:30 a.m. Election of president and vice-presidents, posts presently held by Howard Falenberg, Stan Bell of Carstairs and Ralph Jaspersen of Spruce Grove, will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, respectively. Among guest speakers scheduled to address the convention are L. Fjorbo, Alberta Minister of Agriculture; Eugene Whelan, Federal Minister of Agriculture; Henry Krongstad, former Alberta Transport Minister now assigned special responsibilities in water management; Paul Baber, Vice-Chairman Farm Credit Corporation; and Glenn Flaten, President of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture. The Canadian Wheat Board will also be represented at the convention.

Holden Elementary Christmas Concert

Holden Theatre was filled to capacity on Thursday, Dec. 16 as it was the scene of the Elementary Christmas Concert. Students and teachers from Kindergarten through Grade 6 have been busy preparing for this program.

Lana Belsa, a Grade 6 student, acted capably as Minister of Entertainment, presiding over the singing of "O Canada." Mrs. Morelli's Kindergarten class performed a finger-play number and sang "I Love You" and "Jingle Bells."

Mrs. Klein's Grade Three class acted out a skit entitled "The Real Meaning of Christmas" and sang "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

Mrs. Hamak's Grade One sang "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer," "The Color Song," and "We Wish You a Merry Christmas." The Grade Four Class, accompanied by Miss Welman, sang carols and acted out the "Nativity Scene."

Next, Mrs. Holt's Grade 2 class, in their bird costumes and hoods, performed the popular "Bird Dance". Accompanied by Mrs. Bell at the piano, they also sang "Jingle Bells" and "Deck the Halls."

Holden News

The Holden Good Times will be sponsoring a hockey tournament at the Holden Complex with eight teams participating on Friday Jan. 16th, Saturday, Jan. 18 and Sunday, January 19th.

Mr. Arthur Kain of Fort McMurray visited family and friends at Bruce and Holden.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Strickland of Westlock formerly of Holden are receiving congratulations for the birth of their second child, a daughter Jacqueline Amy, a sister for Byron, born Dec. 22 at Westlock. Proud grandparents are Joe and Anne Melnick of Holden and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Strickland of Ryley.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lusk and family are visiting relatives in California.

Mrs. Jenny Crowe is back at the Holden Lodge after Christmas holidays.

Marilyn Komarsky of Saskatoon spent the Christmas with her parents.

The Grade Five's, under the direction of Miss Wilkins, explained the many traditions of the Christmas season in a play entitled "Christmas Around the World."

Miss Klein's Adaptation Class portrayed four Christmas scenes. Grade Two students dressed in choir gowns and accompanied by Mrs. Bell, helped sing "Frosty the Snowman," "Away in a Manger," "Jingle Bells," and

"Have A Holly Jolly Christmas."

The last number on the program was a play by Mr. Tomashovsky's Grade 6 class, "All The Time In The World," portrayed a young man's invention of a time machine and the consequences the inventor faced when the machine moved ahead in time to the year 2700.

Teachers and students should be commended for the time and effort spent in preparing for this very successful program.

Many thanks to Lana Belsa, our M.C. for a job well done. A special thanks also to Dale Lusk, and Russell Guelphouse, our lighting and sound production team. Dale and Russell gave up class time to assist in practice and did a terrific job of operating the stage lights.

Thank you for attending their visit in the near future. Mary and Bob promised to go over in 1981, and they did and reported having a very enjoyable time visiting relations and friends in both England and Ireland. Jim and I also promised to go, but were not so specific about the date. Later we decided to take a trip in the fall of 1982. But when the time arrived to make arrangements for tickets, I decided that he didn't feel well enough to make the trip. I wouldn't think of going alone, so our daughter Isabel volunteered to accompany me. She had been over with us in 1979 for six weeks and had made many friends.

At this point I want to say that there was much rain while we were in Ireland and many times much fog in the mornings. We had periods of sunshine some days, but never for long periods.

Our nephew, Billy Jackson brought his mother and sister and made to visit us several times. Saturday, September 19th, we didn't arrive until 10:30 a.m. on an Air Canada 747, and landed at New York John F. Kennedy Airport at 3:00 p.m. From there we were transferred by bus to Air Lingus (Irish International Airlines) and flew to Shannon, Ireland, on a 747 with 400 passengers on board. We were treated very well. The food was superb. We were in London and to town to get our hair done. That morning we watched Princess Grace's funeral on T.V. That evening we watched a good Irish musical program. Oh, by the way, we saw a good show on the plane from New York. It was "The Golden Pond" and was much enjoyed.

Isabel and I went to the house work. Also had her hands full milking and looking after her 20 cows and feeding calves for dinner. Two chickens for dinner (about five dollars). Roscoe is a very old town and we were told that it is the most industrialized town in the Republic. It has a beco factory (the first co-operative beco factory in Britain) which has been operating since 1908. It became famous for it's sausage which were served for many years on British railways. It also has a meat packing plant where cattle and sheep are slaughtered. A Chemical factory (Ariston) which is run by a German firm, a Knackery plant where dead animals are processed into dog and cat food and hides are shipped for making leather. They also produce ingredients for fertilizers.

We made Jim's old home our headquarters. It is named Fort William on account of an old Danish fort which is situated just south of the house, a large two-story affair. The house is over a hundred years old, and was built by Jim's Uncle, Edward Jackson. It is still regarded as a comparatively new home. From there we were taken to visit Violet Mosey, at a place called Drummer. She had just her husband a few months previous while he was packing a silo with a tractor and front loader. The tractor overturned and he was killed. He was dead when they reached the hospital. Violet was left a widow with four children, three girls and a boy. We found Violet has taken her loss very bravely and her and the children were carrying on the farm operation.

On September 22nd, Jack took us for a drive into the Silver Bloom Mountains, a very scenic spot. We got lost and came down the other side of the mountains. We finally arrived at the home of one of Jim's grand-nieces; Gladys and her husband Joe Johnston. They have retired from farming and turned the farm over to the son. Joe has gotten very ill and gets around by the use of two canes. The son and wife live on the bottom level of the house; Gladys and Joe live upstairs which is fitted up in good shape, with bathroom, kitchen, two bedrooms, and a big comfortable living-room. Two Months Visit In The Emerald Isle

Two months visit in the Emerald Isle was a very successful program. Many thanks to Lana Belsa, our M.C. for a job well done. A special thanks also to Dale Lusk, and Russell Guelphouse, our lighting and sound production team. Dale and Russell gave up class time to assist in practice and did a terrific job of operating the stage lights.

Thank you for attending their visit in the near future. Mary and Bob promised to go over in 1981, and they did and reported having a very enjoyable time visiting relations and friends in both England and Ireland. Jim and I also promised to go, but were not so specific about the date. Later we decided to take a trip in the fall of 1982. But when the time arrived to make arrangements for tickets, I decided that he didn't feel well enough to make the trip. I wouldn't think of going alone, so our daughter Isabel volunteered to accompany me. She had been over with us in 1979 for six weeks and had made many friends.

At this point I want to say that there was much rain while we were in Ireland and many times much fog in the mornings. We had periods of sunshine some days, but never for long periods.

Our nephew, Billy Jackson brought his mother and sister and made to visit us several times. Saturday, September 19th, we didn't arrive until 10:30 a.m. on an Air Canada 747, and landed at New York John F. Kennedy Airport at 3:00 p.m. From there we were transferred by bus to Air Lingus (Irish International Airlines) and flew to Shannon, Ireland, on a 747 with 400 passengers on board. We were treated very well. The food was superb. We were in London and to town to get our hair done. That morning we watched Princess Grace's funeral on T.V. That evening we watched a good Irish musical program. Oh, by the way, we saw a good show on the plane from New York. It was "The Golden Pond" and was much enjoyed.

Isabel and I went to the house work. Also had her hands full milking and looking after her 20 cows and feeding calves for dinner. Two chickens for dinner (about five dollars). Roscoe is a very old town and we were told that it is the most industrialized town in the Republic. It has a beco factory (the first co-operative beco factory in Britain) which has been operating since 1908. It became famous for it's sausage which were served for many years on British railways. It also has a meat packing plant where cattle and sheep are slaughtered. A Chemical factory (Ariston) which is run by a German firm, a Knackery plant where dead animals are processed into dog and cat food and hides are shipped for making leather. They also produce ingredients for fertilizers.

We made Jim's old home our headquarters. It is named Fort William on account of an old Danish fort which is situated just south of the house, a large two-story affair. The house is over a hundred years old, and was built by Jim's Uncle, Edward Jackson. It is still regarded as a comparatively new home. From there we were taken to visit Violet Mosey, at a place called Drummer. She had just her husband a few months previous while he was packing a silo with a tractor and front loader. Buffalo Coulee W.I. Annual Report

The Buffalo Coulee W.I. held its regular meetings during 1982. We had one special meeting in January to draw up our Program for the year.

We had an enrollment of 18 members. The average attendance was 9 members and our visitors averaged 1 per meeting.

Money of the W.I. was raised by Mrs. Helen Hilt and Susan, sale of cards, prize for a feast in the Irma Parade and tea and drew money each month.

Donations and gifts

throughout the year were made to Treasurers of Orange and Avonlea Christmas parties, gifts and cards sent to the sick in hospital and also to the bereaved, a gift to a retiring officer (secretary). Cookies for Valentine were sent to the elderly and also to hospitals and lodges. Delegates expressed in the convention were said, Pensions for Friendship.

Twenty five dollars was sent each month to each of the following: Canadian Red Cross, Heart Fund, Red Cross, Cancer Fund, Irma School Board, Multiple Sclerosis, St. John's Ambulance, C.N.I.B. and Cystic Fibrosis. The 1982 dues were given to us by Strawberry Plains W.I. on our 36th Anniversary was given to the Advertisers Playground in Irma.

Activities for the year 1982 included the following. In January our entire was an enjoyable supper at the Steak House in Watervliet. We are making quilts among the members as such ones have been made. We also

One of the more exciting hockey games of the year took place last Thursday evening when "King's All-Stars" (old-timers of the past) took on the Viking Chukchukhuk (old-timers of the present) in a game of skill and finesse. With this type of action, who needs a visit from the Russians?

Strawberry Plains Christmas Party

The Strawberry Plains Christmas party was held in the Irma Legion Hall on Wednesday evening, Dec. 22nd. Supper was served buffet style at approximately 5:30 p.m. There was the usual assortment of delicious dishes, meat loaf, meat balls, chicken, beef, etc., plus salads, baked and mashed potatoes, vegetables, jellies, beans, pickles, etc.

When all had eaten to repletion, the dishes picked up and washed and the floor cleared, Lorna Jackson in a few well chosen words welcomed everyone on behalf of Strawberry Plains W.I. The hoped everyone had gotten enough to eat, and that they would enjoy the program which had been arranged. The first item was a carol sing with Emma Gullerud at the piano and Lorna leading.

Next was an episode of "The Haw" enacted by Doreen, Lorna, Alvin, Debbie, etc. This was comical and drew much laughter.

A skit "Good Bye Uncle John", by Lorna, Minda and Doreen was enjoyed and applauded. Next was a reading by Doreen Hill "A letter to Santa". Minda also did one entitled "Once More The Time Has Come".

Lorna and Minda presided over raffles in which most of the adults and some juniors took part. This was hilarious and caused much amusement.

Lorna then conducted a song sing "Furthest In A Pure Trust" with Debbie at the piano. This was a lot of fun.

When the singing was finished, a very talented Santa arrived amidst much cheering and clapping. He distributed the gifts which were many and they received. Orange, candles and nuts were distributed and much socializing was enjoyed. Thus ended another enjoyable community event.

This article is written mostly from memory, and so if any one has been missed, I can assure them it is not intentional; and if it's deemed necessary, I apologize to any slightly party.

Aces Still On Top

The Aces are leading into the new year with 10 wins and 1 loss under their belt. Since the last report, they have played three games winning all of them.

On the 30th of December the team headed to Hardisty and came away with an 11-5 victory. The point-getters for Irma were Bob Foley and Dale Nissen with 2 goals and 5 assists each. Jim Owen, Len Parsons, and Kevin Mackay with 2 goals and 1 assist each, and Al Fenton with 1 goal and 1 assist. Gary Phillips picked up 4 assists, Morgan Jones and Ray Tomsland added 2 each, and Bruce Fisher and Garret Mackay helped on one assist.

The Aces don't really give you a true picture of the game as it featured lots of end to end play. It's just that the Aces' sharp shooters seem to be able to find the net from every angle and distance. Hardisty also had a brilliant game getting the puck by Shane Heller who had a steady game in net.

Aces had 11 assists to the Stampeders' 5.

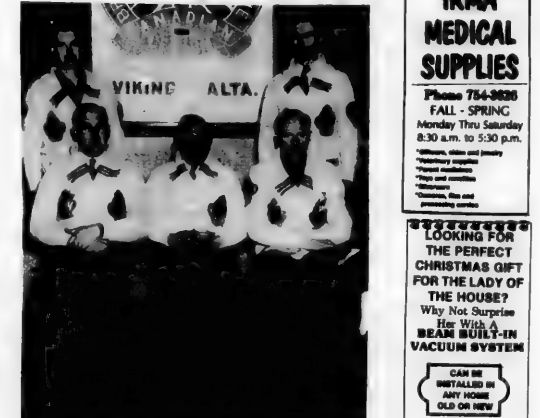

On the following Wednesday, the Aces headed the Hardisty, Salmon and Belmont teams on an 11-2 defeat. There is no game scheduled available at the moment but in a quick summary of the game, "It was a blow-out."

District Agriculturists

HAPPY NEW YEAR FARMERS!

The winter season draws mindless feelings for farmers. To some it means fighting the snow and cold while hauling feed to cattle. To others it means a break from the farm and a holiday down south. For all farmers it provides the time to catch up on records and upgrade skills.

Upgrade Your Skills.

Technical upgrading is necessary in today's agriculture to remain a viable farmer. Farmers can acquire or improve their skills in agriculture activities by participating in skill training programs. Alberta Agriculture offers a number of basic manual skill courses: welding, plumbing, wiring, carpentry and mechanics. If sufficient interest is shown for a particular course, the District Agriculturist will request it.

Two courses have been requested in our district. If we have enough registrants the Carpentry I course will be held from January 17 to January 28. The Welding II Basic and Advanced Courses will be held March 21 to April 1. Call the D.A.'s office now and register.

The instruction of these courses allows the student to practice under qualified supervision. Skill training benefits your farming operation.

This year our region is hosting the Alberta Farm Buildings Course. The content includes choosing a site, construction, heating, insulation and utilities. The registration deadline is January 7, 1983 and the course begins on January 21, 1983. Registration forms are available at the D.A.'s office.

Participants of the course receive their lessons in the mail and may be involved in regional workshops on the topic. Home visits are signed for farmers. Take advantage of this convenient learning opportunity.

For better For Less. No matter how much you spend on food these days, you can find ways to not only cut costs but also to eat better. That's the true why you're cooking for yourself or a family of six.

1. Don't assume fresh is always cheaper. Keep an eye on these items which often cost less when canned. (The amounts you save are fresh: potatoes, lemon juice, Brussels sprouts, beets, spinach, peas and lima beans.

2. Know what the health food stores offer. Often these stores do good sources of hard-to-find items and for grains in bulk. Use beans and wheat germ as hearty economical substitutes for crumbs, crusts and nuts.

3. Plan at least one meal a day a week. Small amounts of animal products from cheese, milk or eggs will supplement the nutritional value of seeds, grains or beans. Try to buy meat with brown bread or minestrone soup with kidney beans or peas.

4. Make your own mixes. Ask for the Agriculture publication "Easy Mixes" which has recipes for cookie, cake, pudding and quick bread mixes. Minestrone and hamburger stretchers and coatings for meat cost a fraction of store bought mixes.

5. Change your thinking about desserts and snacks. Have dessert only occasionally, and only if you have the time to make it yourself. For snacks, substitute popcorn for potato chips and nuts in the shell for buttered nuts.

6. More ideas on cutting food costs are available in this issue. District Home Economist, phone number 685-8855.

Viking Council Starts Looking For Answers

Initial action has been started by the Viking Town Council to try to determine which of the remaining bills should be paid on the new water system, and why that new water system is about $500,000 over the estimated cost.

At a special meeting of the Council held last Thursday evening, Council decided to establish committees to study each of the contracts involved in the water project so that they would be better informed when they had a meeting with the engineering firm for the project, Cicon Engineering of Edmonton.

In dealing with what should be done about the outstanding bills on the project, Town Administrator Lydia Hanson informed the Council that Ron Chapple of Cicon is willing to attend a meeting at Council's request to discuss them. Councilor Bob Evans said that Pius B. Construction, who worked on the treatment plant have also asked that they be allowed to discuss their bills with the Council, a total of just over $14,000.

Councilor George Ritchie could see no reason for meeting with any of the individual contractors for the project, as he felt Council's discussions should be with Cicon as they were working for the Town. Mayor Ruskon concurred, but felt that it was necessary to have an audit of the project before a meeting with Cicon.

Council has engaged an accounting firm to provide a breakdown of the costs for each phase of the project. This audit is expected to be completed before the end of January.

Some discussion was held on the possibility of having a lawyer attend the meeting with Cicon in case there were any questions of legal liability with respect to any of the contracts. Mayor Ruskon felt that a lawyer would have to go into the entire project to fully understand the problems.

Councilor Maurine Stephenson wondered if the bills for Pius B Construction were coming in at estimates. Mayor Ruskon said that he didn't know because the auditor is working on the breakdown for each phase at the present time.

Councilor Pete Cumming indicated that the proper way to find out what had happened was to go through the contracts and see if the work was done. Bob Evans noted that the major problems seem to lie with the water treatment plant itself, as most of the other phases (the reservoir and the pipeline) came in near estimates. A committee of Maurine Stephenson, George Ritchie and Pete Cumming will study the reservoir, pipeline and transfer pump-house contracts, while the remainder of Council will handle the treatment plant contract. The committee will be studying the contracts so that they better understand them for their meeting with Cicon Engineering.

Following this decision, Council met with Brian Anderson, Town Foreman, to discuss the new water system. Foreman Anderson told Council that pretty well everything on the project has been completed. He said that there were some minor operational problems, but that these were to be expected with the start-up of a new system.

Mayor Ruskon noted that there seemed to be very hard water in the system last week. Mr. Anderson said that this was caused by the alum feed pump being left on while the plant was shut down, resulting in an abundance of alum. He said it is working out the system now.

Boardmanship Workshop Support Rejected

Financial support of a Boardmanship Workshop was being rejected by the Viking Town Council. This decision was reached after a lengthy discussion at last Thursday's special meeting of the Council.

The Boardmanship Workshop was to be sponsored by both the County and the Town and would be attended by Councilors and Board members from the County and Town. At a previous meeting, Council had rejected support because they felt it was too costly. However, further discussions with the seminar operator, who is from the United States, resulted in a drop in price.

With the cost now set at $2,500 for the two days of the seminar, Mayor Ruskon felt that Council should re-evaluate its decision on funding. The breakdown was that the County cover $1,250 of the cost while the Town would cover the same amount. Of the $1,250 to be put up as the Town's portion, the F.C.S.S. Board was going to pay $600, with 20% of this coming from Town coffers, and the remaining 80% coming from Government grants. Mayor Ruskon informed the Council that F.C.S.S. Director Dick Channay had conducted a phone survey and received 4 yes votes and one no vote concerning F.C.S.S. funding of the Workshop.

Councilor Bob Evans, an F.C.S.S. Board member, noted that his vote has been the only no vote, but he was against such funding. He said that it was an awful lot of money for one person. He felt that the F.C.S.S. money could be used in this community, rather than $1,250 being taken out of Town by the American instructor. He felt that it was too much money for what the Town could get out of it.

Mayor Ruskon noted that the Council's portion of support would only be $650, as F.C.S.S. was making up the rest. He said that the Workshop can provide good ideas for Councilors and investment in the community. He said that if Council had spent anything on conventions or seminars as of yet, then it wouldn't be justified, but that because Council hasn't spent money on this, that Council should support it.

The Mayor said that the Council needs a workshop. He said that it is an expense that is not necessary, but is an expense for the good of the community. He noted that the budget last year allowed for $2500 for such things, but Council has only spent about $600.

Councilor Pete Cumming said that Council has to not down on things like this first in a year that Council is discussing "employee wear (overalls)".

Councilor George Ritchie said that in his association with the Recreation Board, he would like to see the Board attend the workshop. He said that if the Workshop operator has the recommendation of some people in Town, Council should take a good look at him.

Mayor Ruskon noted that the individual running the workshop had done so before in Viking, and that he was a working session. He said that other municipalities seem to have little restriction on these types of programs, and that he felt that Council should go ahead with it.

Joe Is Woel

Sometime toward the end of this month, the Progressive Conservative Party of Canada will hold its annual convention in Winnipeg. A good deal of attention will be paid to this convention because a "vote of confidence" will be taken on Joe Clarke's performance as leader of the party. At the last vote of confidence a couple of years ago, Joe got only 2 of every 3 votes from his party's members, definitely not an overwhelming vote of confidence in a party leader. In order to be effective, a leader should garner at least 80 per cent of the vote, and maybe even more.

What will most likely happen is that Joe will get a large enough vote to maintain his position as leader. And that is unfortunate. One of the realities of our time is that the leadership of political parties has become a major factor in their success. Voters view the leader as the representation of his party. And since Joe became leader of the P.C.'s, he has shown little that would instill confidence in him personally as a leader. Now some of you are saying, "But he's better than Trudeau." But let's not compare him to Pierre. For more than likely, Pierre will not be around for the next election.

Presently the P.C.'s enjoy a wide margin of support in the popularity polls over the Liberals. But this is in spite of Joe, definitely not because of him. To the P.C.'s, Joe is woe, and they should select a new leader, one who will instill confidence in Canadian voters, now so that they can properly prepare to sit as the next government of Canada.

Business And Farm Interest Shielding Program Extended

It was announced recently by Al "Bosmer" Adair, Minister of Tourism and Small Business, that the benefits of the Alberta Heritage Fund and Small Business and Farm Interest Shielding Program will be extended to small businesses whose shareholders have been involved in personal loans for the specific purpose of obtaining capital for these businesses.

Regulations declaring personal loans to incorporated businesses to be ineligible were revised when the program administrators noted that many small businesses, unable to borrow funds directly, had obtained needed capital through personal loans taken out by their shareholders.

"We've revised numerous inquiries about the kind of shareholder loan," Mr. Adair said. "After mulling the situation during the first month of the program, the decision was made to respond to the needs of these small businesses."

Under the newly revised regulations, a shareholder loan may qualify if it was made by a financial institution to an individual who has been a shareholder in an eligible corporation prior to

August 31, 1982. The loan must have been made for the specific purpose of earning income from an active business of the corporation and must have been used to the benefit of the corporation during all or part of the period commencing March 1, 1982 and ending August 31, 1982. The Small Business and Farm Interest Shielding Program is a part of the Government of Alberta's Economic Recovery Plan. It is designed to provide shielding down to 14.5 per cent interest to qualifying small businesses and farmers. "We've processed over 16,000 applications and paid out over $5 million since the inception of the program," said Mr. Adair. "We have dealt directly with the financial institutions and the small business and farm interest community has been most favorable," he said.

Rosegarland W.I. Reports Busy Year

Our 1982 year got away to a slow start due to cold weather which caused the post payment of the January meeting.

At our February meeting Betty Parsons our Constituency Convener - who spoke to us regarding the Associated Country Women of the World - made up of over 9,000,000 members. This group will hold their world conference in Vancouver in 1983. A donation was sent to the Telereana show - an activity which benefits the handicapped.

Our March meeting was devoted to planning for the Constituency Conference being held in Viking. An interesting report was given by a delegate who had attended the Conference held at the Grey Nun's Centre.

In April we were busier as at the Viking Conference. A gift was chosen and donated which will help defray expenses of the Vancouver "World" meeting. A birthday party held at the Extensicare centre was the highlight of our May activities. The grade one classes kindly entertained on our behalf and refreshments were also served.

In June we were busy - a donation was made to the Viking Fair board. Our delegate gave an informative report of happenings at the Provincial Conference in Oshawa. Our Educational Committee members were also chosen.

Another birthday party was also held. This one in July for Jay Suddaby - one of our senior members. This dear lady was ninety years old and is still contributing to our group.

After holidaying in August, September saw us back in the groove again. Kelly McVittie was presented with our annual Scholarship. We also remembered with love the passing of our dear member Rose Gieski.

Mrs. Olga Childbeck a former member who now lives near Vegreville hosted our October meeting. Socializing and fellowship was the theme of this gathering - but we did make a donation to the Ukrainian Service Committee.

November we contributed to the W.I. Office fund. We also planned our Christmas get-together. Mrs. Marguerite Withers visited us and brought a message of encouragement - an director of Division two.

December the month for parties, the Rosegarland W.I. members, their spouses and friends gathered in the Senior Citizens Centre for a "Polka" supper. It was a most enjoyable evening to a close.

During the year the members prepared and presented educational papers of wide and varied interest. Sympathy and get-well cards were sent when necessary.

Rosegarland had a membership of fifteen ladies. We held nine meetings with an average of 9 members and 2 visitors attending per meeting.

Once again we look forward to the challenge of a New Year, namely 1983.

Peter Miciak Rink Wins Farmer's Bonspiel

The Peter Miciak rink of Bruce captured the Championship event at the Viking Farmer's Bonspiel held last weekend. A total of 88 rinks entered the bonspiel which ran from Thursday to Sunday evening.

The Miciak rink defeated the Dave Galley rink in the Championship final. Finishing third in this event was the Gordon Maxwell rink, while the Blinley & Agnew rink finished fourth.

The second event was won by the Russ Copeland rink of Irma. The Copeland rink was defeated by the Henry Hader rink in the 3rd event final.

Finishing third in the 3rd event was the H. Place rink, while the R. Swanson rink finished fourth.

The Greg Andrusch rink of Viking took top spot in the 3rd event of the Farmer's Bonspiel by defeating the Keith Currie rink in the final. Third place went to the Speed Maxwell rink while the Don Suddaby rink finished fourth spot.

A special thanks to the following for their donations to the Farmer's Bonspiel: Viking Texaco, Kelly's Hardware, United Grain Growers (U. G.), bottom yield group, arranged 40 bushels per acre. Remember that this is the bottom portion of the top 40% selected by the A.A.

Your support is very much appreciated. Congratulations also to the incoming crew as many of the curlers agreed that the ice was the best they'd ever curled on in Viking. Perhaps it was the good weather, or as Ducky claims it's the Iron Creek Water. Thanks also to all the curlers for a job well done.

Barley Production Survey

During the early part of 1981, D.A.'s from many areas were asked to select a number of top barley producers from their respective districts to participate in a barley-cannola production survey. Three hundred and twenty-five barley growers were selected and each was asked to complete an extensive forty one page questionnaire that dealt with all the aspects of barley production.

The data was then statistically analysed and the effect of abnormal moisture was eliminated from the data by selecting only those farms that received adequate rainfall. Two yield groups were established. The top yield group averaged 94 bushels per acre and the bottom yield group averaged 40 bushels per acre.

The following are some of the conclusions drawn from the survey results and some of these are rather interesting.

Top producers: 1) Place less emphasis on doing as much fall work as possible to save valuable time in spring. Therefore, fall application of fertilizers and her-icides are considered very important.

2) Seed into a firm seed-bed.

3) Harrow after seeding to achieve better seed to soil contact.

4) Seed on or before the third week in May or as early as possible, taking into account soil temperatures in abnormal years.

5) Use modern feed varieties (increasing the possibilities of making) and consider those varieties with lodging resistance.

6) Seed at 1 1/4 to 1 3/4 bushels per acre and emphasize the use of pedigreed seed.

7) Use high rates of nitrogen and phosphorus, with sulphuric ammonia being the most common source of nitrogen.

8) Achieve a uniform stand of seedlings with vigorous early growth which produces a heavy plant population.

9) Use triallate (Avadon) for weed control and rely on post-emergent wild out chemicals primarily as back-up.

10) Seriously consider tank-mixing to broaden the spectrum of broad-leaf weed control.

It is very important to note here, that any one of these factors by itself was not responsible for placing a farmer in the top yield bracket. The high yields are attributed to a combination of all the management practices, however small they each may be. Also important is the fact that not all these observations will apply to every farm. Each situation is unique and potential yields are extremely dependent upon the farmer's ability to recognize the effects of each factor on his own farm operation.

REMINDED: We will have room for registrations for our Carpentry Course starting on January 17. The fee is $70 and the course will be held approximately 1 mile north of Tofield. Please call us if you are interested.

29 Attend Workshop

Twenty-nine board and council members from across the County of Beaver attended the Boardmanship Workshop at the Viking General Hospital on Sunday and Monday. The workshop was handled by Richard Wittmeyer, President of Wittmeyer and Associates, from the United States.

Mr. Wittmeyer ran two five hour sessions, one on Sunday from 8:00 to 9:30, and the other on Monday from 9:00 to 2:00. The boards participating in the workshops consisted of the Viking F.C.S.S. Board, the Viking Town Council, the Viking Recreation Board, the County of Beaver Council, the County Board of Education, and the Tullif Hospital Board.

The program is structured to deal with how members of boards should interact during board meetings. Various topics covered in the sessions included the structure of the board and its impact on the community, the board and its relationship to policy setting and decision making, and the responsibilities of board members to the community and to themselves.

Half of the cost of the workshop was picked up by the County Council, while $800 of the remaining $1200 was supported by the Viking F.C.S.S. which passed a motion for this support at its meeting last Friday night.

Viking Hospital Administrator Rod Krizek, who co-ordinated the workshop for those involved, said that efforts are underway to secure the remaining $800 from other sources. The Viking Town Council rejected a motion for this support at a special meeting on January 8th.

In discussion with the participants at the two days of board meetings, Mr. Krizek reports that all participants felt it was a very worthwhile project.

Ernie Pearson, Executive Director of the Centre for the Elderly, said that the Centre for the Elderly is looking for a new building to house its services. He said that the Centre for the Elderly is looking for a new building to house its services. He said that the Centre for the Elderly is looking for a new building to house its services.

A total of eight individual board members were selected by Council. Representatives from each of the firms were present for the opening of the sealed bids. Prior to the awarding of the tender, Council considered the matter of fair and adequate payment for the rental of land on which to stockpile gravel. A motion by John Warner that such landowner be paid the sum of $200 per year for the use of his lands for this purpose, was passed unanimously.

Mr. Henry Heis and Mr. Lloyd Werbowksi, the District Engineer and District Superintendent of Alberta Transportation were in attendance at the December meeting to discuss funding in regard to secondary roads throughout the County. The Council was informed that a number of cutbacks and restrictions are being implemented.

Following a review of the financial status of the Beaver Regional Arts Centre in Holden, a motion was passed to undertake the responsibility of payment of utilities for the Centre for 1983 up to a maximum of $6,000.

A request for financial assistance by the Holden Historical Society for producing a history book was declined as it is not County policy to provide assistance in such ventures. Provincial grants are available for this purpose for approved publications. However, Council agreed to assist in gathering information about such assistance be necessary.

Monday's session of the Boardmanship Workshop at the Viking General Hospital involved participants from across the County. Nine were on hand for Monday's session while 20 attended the workshop on Sunday afternoon.

Killam Withdraws From B.H.L.

The Killam Indians have withdrawn from the Beaver-Hockey League. The 1982 total received by the Killam team for outstanding the second season was $800 assessed to the B.H.L. During the B.H.L. schedule to date, the Killam Indians had received a number of suspensions due to penalties received on the ice. In one incident, a Killam player has been suspended from the B.H.L. for life, and from the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association, which governs all organized hockey in the province, until June of 1984 for hitting a referee.

To date, Killam had also been fined a total of $200 by the B.H.L. for players receiving game misconducts. The League rule calls for a $10 fine for all game misconducts resulting from fighting majors, exclusive of those which occur during the last ten minutes of the game. The 1982 total received by the Killam team for outstanding the second season was $800 assessed to the B.H.L. During the B.H.L. schedule to date, the Killam Indians had received a number of suspensions due to penalties received on the ice. In one incident, a Killam player has been suspended from the B.H.L. for life, and from the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association, which governs all organized hockey in the province, until June of 1984 for hitting a referee.

Mr. Kozmarzky said that the Killam team's withdrawal was accepted by the League, and the team's performance bond has been returned, as all fines have been paid to the League. He said that the league will continue with its original schedule, with game scheduled against Killam being treated as a bye.

Alan Fredericks, President of the Killam Indians Hockey team, said a number of reasons caused their withdrawal from the League. He said that the first reason was that the other teams in the B.H.L. would not want a decent team to pull out of the League, and would only send 6 or 8 "goons" for the games. He said this resulted in the League providing little competition for the team.

Because of these two reasons, Mr. Fredericks said that the team couldn't get ready for Provincial playoffs which got underway next month. The Killam team will be entering the Provincial Intermediate A-B playoffs. He said that they will get their competition by playing exhibition games against teams from Bonnyville, Leduc, Lacombe, Drumheller and other such centres.

Mr. Fredericks also said that the team continually had problems with the refereeing and that the League wouldn't back the team. He said that this also led to their decision to pull out of the League.

County Awards Gravel Contract

The County of Beaver awarded the Centre for the Elderly a contract for 1983 up to a maximum of $6,000.

A request for financial assistance by the Holden Historical Society for producing a history book was declined as it is not County policy to provide assistance in such ventures. Provincial grants are available for this purpose for approved publications. However, Council agreed to assist in gathering information about such assistance be necessary.

The election of officers for the Viking and District Chamber of Commerce was held at the Viking Civic Centre on the evening of Thursday, January 27 at 6:00 p.m.

The committee working on the hall sign project related that Dan Lehend, President of the Viking Ag-

Chamber To Elect New Officers

of our community. Lane Carrington informed the meeting that it was not possible to give an estimate on the project until such time as size and proportions were determined. Lane Carrington has volunteered to assist in obtaining this information.

The matter was tabled until the January meeting. The committee working on the hall sign project related that Dan Lehend, President of the Viking Ag-

Society had been contacted and that the Ag. Society has no objection to the Chamber going ahead with this project. Local sign painter, Vern Willes will be contacted with regard to costs and materials.

President Bill Giroux requested that a letter regarding the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act be forwarded to Mr. T.S. Mosher. Input would be appreciated on this matter. A hearing has been requested for January 1983. The final details for the 1982 Christmas Promotion were dealt with at this meeting.

A bill was received from Father Kuster regarding the materials for printing of the Crossroads Charter for the past three years. Les Ottosen moved and Lane Carrington seconded a motion.

Irma Aces Win Four More

The team has really been flying lately and added four more victories to their already impressive point total. When laughed paid the Aces a visit they went home on the losing end of a 25-1 wipe-out. What can be said about a game that has 20 goals scored in 17? The Lougheed boys had a grand total of 96 shots taken at him while Shane Hollar put the brakes to 12 and that about sums that one up.

It was a much more entertaining game when the Aces travelled to Hughesden to take on the Jets. After making their way up the "fury flights of stairs" the Aces jumped to an early lead when Gary Phillips scored unassisted. Dale Wilson added another shortly after when he dished the Hughesden goal after being set up by Greg Fischer. But, the Jets battled back with two markers before the end of the period. This was all they would score for the remainder of the game though, as Irma Bates and the Aces defence stopped them time and time again.

Greg Holt put the Aces ahead midway through the second frame with a hard shot from the slot, assisted by Garret Mackay. Then Kevin Mackay picked one in assisted by Gary Phillips and Bob Foley.

Kent Gullbra had the only goal in the third period as he scored in the 11th minute. This is a date change from what was printed in the Christmas newsletter. Because of facility rental problems we had to move the date to one week later. It will be held at Birch Bay Ranch, British Columbia. Lake out of Sherwood Park. Previous winter camping experiences is not necessary as we'll be sleeping inside. Activities will be outdoors and may include penalties in the fast skating affair. Some mention should be made of Al and Jay Fenton who handled the penalty killing chores and their relentless checking kept the Dayland power play bottled up.

Len Parsons led the assault with four goals and

Last Saturday night the Aces headed to Sedgewick for their third encounter of the season and dropped the Sabres a 20-4 defeat.

With seven minutes left to go in the first period the score was already 10-1. The goal scorers were Kevin Mackay with 5, Bob Foley new games, snowbunting, cross-country skiing, outdoor cooking and a key ride against - 63, and goal tenders average - 3.53.

The second camp in the Wilderness Skills Camp held on March 18, 19 and 20th. The local will be a picture in the St. Paul area. Previous winter camping experience is a definite asset as sleeping accommodations will be outside in survival type shelters. This is an opportunity to learn and practice basic winter camping and survival skills including equipment selection, fire making, shelter building, outdoor cooking, wilderness crafts.

Application forms have been sent out to 4-H members, leaders and district home economists in the Christmas newsletter. To apply you must be 14 years of age or older as of January 1, 1983. The deadline for application is February 1, 1983. Apply early as only so many people can attend.

Come get away from it all and join us as we experience "The Great White North".

and Jim Owen with 2, and tricks. Kent Gullbra, Garret Holt, Greg Fischer and Len Bates with two each had a single to Gary Phillips. The assistants are too numerous to mention.

Ira Bates and Shane Hollar divided the net saving time.

The line of Bob Foley, Kevin Mackay and Gary Holt have been bombarding the score sheet since the start of the season and lead the league in scoring.

For data, Foley has 65 points, Mackay has 50, and Phillips is a close third with 32. They don't seem to be slowing down.

Some team stats after 13 games: goals for - 104, goals against - 63, and goal tenders average - 3.53.

The 4-H winter camp is the first of its kind in the result of two years of planning. A joint effort by Lethbridge, Fairview, Olan, and Lakeland College, with support from Alberta Advanced Education and Alberta Agriculture, the courses were developed to meet the needs of farmers who wish to manage such aspects as accounting and animal production records with the assistance of computers.

Lakeland College micro-computers will be used in the course. These micro-computers are similar to the many models now on the market for home use, so the course is ideal training for any farmer considering purchase of a home unit.

And, it's been rumored that Shane Hollar has been approached by a film director to make a job as "Toto" double on the T.V. series "Fantasy Island", but he has declined to stick around.

It's raining that "there's a place for four foot tall goal tenders in senior hockey". See you at the games.

The 4-H winter camp is the first of its kind in the result of two years of planning. A joint effort by Lethbridge, Fairview, Olan, and Lakeland College, with support from Alberta Advanced Education and Alberta Agriculture, the courses were developed to meet the needs of farmers who wish to manage such aspects as accounting and animal production records with the assistance of computers.

Lakeland College micro-computers will be used in the course. These micro-computers are similar to the many models now on the market for home use, so the course is ideal training for any farmer considering purchase of a home unit.

And, it's been rumored that Shane Hollar has been approached by a film director to make a job as "Toto" double on the T.V. series "Fantasy Island", but he has declined to stick around.

Jim Hemphill 80 Years

During the festive season Mr. Jim Hemphill celebrated his 80th birthday. A large number of friends and family gathered to wish him well. Much visiting and a lot of reminiscing took place during the day.

Home for the occasion were Margaret and Dennis Horgan of Red Deer, and Shirley and Allen Horgan of Edmonton.

Evelyn Nolan of Telford, a long-time family friend came and had supper with the family.

On the following day Jim Hemphill Jr., and son Murray of Richmond, B.C. came and stayed for a couple of days, to visit with the folks.

Later in the week, Granddaughter Mrs. Stella Walsh and her two children Mary and Dennis came to wish Mr. Hemphill many happy returns of his 80th year.

Mr. Hemphill received a large number of gifts and cards which helped to make this a most memorable occasion.

Irma History Committee Requests Assistance

Every Thursday morning finds a number of dedicated ladies gathering at the Drop In Centre in Irma to work on the History Book.

We are gratified to find more interest is being shown and some very good histories are coming in. However, the local townspeople are rather lazy to come forward with their stories. Most feel that they don't have anything to contribute which is not the case. Everyone has done something to put in our book, even if it's only to raise your family tree.

Again we appeal to anyone who is writing friends who formerly lived in Irma to mention the history book and tell them we'd like a story of their life.

Viking Vixons Review

The last two weeks have been busy ones for the Viking Vixons, playing four games, two of which were during a tournament in Sedgewick.

On Thursday, Jan. 6, Viking was in Sedgewick and beat the Sedgewick girls team 40 - 10. The girls played heads-up basketball with Mary Lynn Lang leading the scoring with 10 points, followed by Elaine Rosmahel with 10. Our players dominated shooting, rebounding and overall passes. This greatly contributed to such a wide score margin.

On Saturday, Jan. 8, the girls played Hughtenden and Provost. Losing the game against Hughtenden 25 to 16, the girls weren't playing quite up to par. Elaine Rosmahel led the scoring with 8 points, and Mary Lynn Lang came in second with 6.

Loss of the game was credited to inattention, rebounding and shooting.

In the second game against Provost, the Vixons rallied and scraped by with a win of 30 to 28. Both teams played well, and the spectators had quite a treat as the game was close right down to the last few seconds.

Dominating the scoring was Mary Lynn Lang with 13 points, followed by Elaine Rosmahel with 6. Scoring was evenly spread in this match, and there was a lot of fouling. At one time the referees had to reprimand both teams, and while Viking might have beaten Provost with a wider score margin, Provost made 9 out of their 21 free shots.

The fourth game was played Thurs., Jan. 13 against Ryley. The Vixons played very well, and led Ryley the whole game with a final score of 41 to 34. The girls had excellent rebounding, passing and offense in general. Although shooting could have improved, the Vixons played a good overall game.

Mary Lynn Lang got the most points with 16, followed by Elaine Rosmahel with 14. Viking made only 21 out of their 38 shots, and 0 out of 7 free shots. The Viking Vixons are now tied with Ryley for first place.

Kinsella Seniors Expect Busy Winter

The Kinsella Seniors are looking forward to a busy winter especially if our weather continues as mild as it has been so far.

We had a very nice Christmas Party on Dec. 16th with our usual gift exchange. The supper this year centered around a huge turkey donated by Bert and Mary Arncliffe and cooked by Jean McIn.

There was some excitement in the Hasket that morning when word got around that there was a light on in the Seniors Centre at a very early hour. However it wasn't a break-in, just Jean snoring the turkey! With Christmas and New Year's falling on Saturday there was less activity at our Centre than usual although some of the members had taken visitors down for a few games.

On January 12 we held our Annual Meeting and Election of Officers with the following elected: President - Tommy Hurray; 1st Vice President - Harold Place; 2nd Vice President - Evelyn Greenwood; Secretary - Allan Barker; Treasurer - Catherine Evans; Directors - Violet Lancaster, Mary Arncliffe, Charles Twomen, Annie Kjerfve, William Rawluk and Jack McKie; Publicity Convener - Hilma Garvie; Historian - Irvy Moller.

All were elected by acclamation.

The card party is Jan. 19 at 8:00 p.m. with the usual Trump Whist, but scrabble, shuffleboard, pool, etc. are available for those who don't like cards. These card parties are open to all adults, not just Seniors.

Grain Exports Moving At Record Rate

Senator Heman Argue, minister responsible for the Canadian Wheat Board, said today grain has been moving at a record setting pace in the first five months of the 1982-83 crop year.

Senator Argue said grain exports on Dec. 31 will be about one million tonnes ahead of last year's record pace from all ports. He said exports as of Dec. 18 totalled 11.8 million compared with 10.4 million tonnes last year at the same time.

"All those workers and companies involved in grain movement during this period deserve to be congratulated for a job well done."

He said Thunder Bay unloaded about 17.5 per cent ahead of last year with new records having been set in both October and November.

The minister noted that grain clearance for the week ending Dec. 18 were a record 646,382 tonnes. Movement at Thunder Bay has been trouble free thus far in the crop year. The St. Lawrence Seaway officially closed Dec. 18. Senator Argue said the Canadian Wheat Board is again planning a winter rail program to meet coast and St. Lawrence elevators. He said the volume of movement has not yet been determined.

He said things have returned to normal at the west coast ports of Prince Rupert and Vancouver after the 17 day work stoppage in October. Unloads in December are averaging 3,000 per week and grain handlers are compared with 11.8 to the same period a year ago.

He said the Canadian grain industry continues to be one of the few bright lights in an economy hard hit by world recession. Western Canadian farmers are to be congratulated for an outstanding production year.

"Export volumes have remained high and sales have been found for much of the 1982 crop by the Canadian Wheat Board. Even though international prices are not as high as we need, this excellent sales record will reduce the impact of the downturn in farmers."

The minister said the board is even finding a great deal of interest in the substantial quantities of hard grade wheat on Prairie farms, which resulted from an early frost last fall.

"The board is taking this higher quality of Canada feed grade wheat and marketing it as 'special bid'." They have met these particular samples to 80 different countries, including South East Asia, and are confident they can sell large quantities.

Senator Argue said the momentum that has built up during the first five months of the crop year makes it likely that last year's 38 million tonne export record can be equaled given good winter weather.

The minister said he will be watching with interest the deliberations of international farm leaders at a meeting in Houston, Jan. 12, which is expected to discuss ways to bolster producer returns.

Council Votes Land For Complex

A request on behalf of the Viking Fair Board and the Viking Curling Club has been approved by the Viking Town Council. At its regular January meeting, Councillor Ritchie reported that the Curling Club and the Fair Board had approached the Recreation Board with a joint venture proposal for a facility that could be used for curling and for the Fair activities.

Mr. Ritchie said that the groups wanted the land at the old Ruskas loading station next to the new water treatment plant.

In response to the request, Mayor Hunkin said that he would like to see the Council take some time on such a decision. Councillor Ritchie replied by saying that a lot of talking had already been done on the matter, and that the committee involved with the project had done a lot of homework. She said that there was some urgency to their request as they would like to know if they have the land so that they can get the preliminaries out of the way before spring. She said that she would like the Council to think seriously about it right away.

Councillor Ritchie informed the Council that the committee would like a one-acre parcel, as the building they have planned is about 210 ft. by 70 ft. He also said that the committee would like access to any and all lands which may have been done on the site.

Councillor Ritchie said that he had no reservations about making a motion that evening, and thus moved that the old Ruskas loading station land be leased for a future multi-purpose facility to be developed by the Viking Fair Board and the Viking Curling Club. The motion passed unanimously.

In other business, the continuing story of the costs of the water treatment system took up some time as Council discussed the accounts to be paid. Some concern was registered by a couple of councillors over the money left by Bramham Construction when they bored a hole through the burn of the old water reservoir so that it could be hooked into the new system. Bramham was paid about $25,000 for boring the hole through the burn and tying into the line from the new treatment plant. However, in looking over their contract, it was found that the Town was responsible for cleaning up.

The amount of approximately $14,000 owed to Pines 9 Construction also came up again, this time as an item of information. Due to the dispute over the bill, Pines 9 has undertaken to enter into arbitration so that they can receive payment from the Town.

In a report from the P.C.S.S. meeting, Councillor Neil Kewen informed the Council that P.C.S.S. has a proposed budget of about $65,000. Of this, the Town would be responsible for $11,171, with the rest being received by way of Alberta government grant.

Surface Rights Hearing Held

An open Surface Rights Hearing was held in the Viking Community Hall on Wednesday, January 19, 1985 at the request of landowner Arlene Wadley of Viking.

Mr. J. Letty and Mr. F. Martin of the Surface Rights Review Board were in attendance to hear the case between Arlene Wadley and Signals Resources.

Arlene and son Wayne, who currently rents the land, were represented by Gilchrist Consulting Services while David Cusack of Canadian Land Masters represented Signals.

The original documents between the two parties dated back to May and July of 1977 and contained an agreed upon land compensation of $800 per annum for size, well site road and 8 sq. ft. around the well head and was based on an acreage of 4.5 acres.

The Board members questioned David Cusack as to whether or not a review was customary after a five year period. Mr. Cusack replied in the affirmative. When questioned by the Board, both parties agreed that any revision which may be undertaken should take effect May 31, 1982.

In mid-September of this year, David Cusack met with Arlene Wadley and offered her $1,500 per annum.

Ms. Wadley was somewhat surprised by the offer. Continued on Page 2

A number of Viking parents and teachers attended the organizational meeting of the Viking Home and School Association on Wednesday, January 19.

A steering committee has been set up for the establishment of a Home and School Association for Viking.

The general format of a Parent/Teacher Association would be Principal messages which could advise of new programs available to students, general operations of the school, and any other information to which parents might have some input.

A meeting could also have a guest speaker for an evening and an opportunity for parents to interact with teachers.

Mr. Neil Nordquist, Principal, spoke on his experiences with a Parent/Teacher Association in a school where he taught. He felt that the association was very beneficial to each member of the organization.

Projects, such as playground equipment/building, helping to organize Sports events, etc., and general assistance to the school.

The meeting ended with the formation of a Steering Committee, comprised of Neil Nordquist, Gertrude Ziegler, Lucy Jackson, Jerry Walker and Carol Taylor. This committee will be responsible for the drawing up of a constitution and act as a nominating committee for the election of officers.

Viking Basketball Team Challenges Ryley

Exciting action was seen at Ryley on Jan. 19 when the Viking Women's basketball team took on last year's gold medal winners at the N.E.A. Winter Games.

Viking started off slowly while Ryley quickly pulled up a 14 point lead within the first few minutes of the game. This only proved to Viking that they would have to match the Ryley team in their aggressiveness on the boards as well as high percentage shooting. The half saw Ryley ahead by a slim margin with a score of 34-35.

Viking knew that they had to break Ryley's strong offense by concentrating on effective double screens. Once they were able to accomplish

Wheat Pool Delegates Meet In Irma

The annual Alberta Wheat Pool delegates meeting was held in the Legion Hall at approximately 8 p.m. on Monday evening Jan. 27th.

The attendance was disappointing, but what it lacked in numbers was made up by the interest evidenced by those who were present.

The Delegates, Stan Chey, south from Wainwright, with the assistance of fieldman Henry Johnson, and the use of slides gave an interesting talk on the operations of the Alberta Wheat Pool over the years, and particularly dealt with the proceedings of the annual delegates meeting in Calgary in November. It is at this meeting that Pool policies are decided by the 19 delegates. A number of questions were asked and answered.

Kinsella Seniors Hold Card Party

January 19 found thirty-two people playing Whist at the Kinsella Seniors Centre. The nice weather this winter helps bring people out.

Winners at cards were as follows: in first place for ladies was Edna Pyke, with Ivy Miller a close second. For the men, Charlie Tassman came in with the highest score of the evening and Annie Kjerfving playing as a man got second prize.

A very nice lunch was served by Muriel and William Hawlik and we all enjoyed a gab session over coffee.

We were pleased to have a few younger people present as these card parties are open to all adults. Where else can you get an evening of socializing plus lunch for less than $2.00!

The ladies of the Kinsella Seniors are getting ready to place a quilt top.

this coming week so should have a quilt made before long.

Remember our card parties are held on the third Wednesday of each month and visitors are welcome any time we meet. Quite a few of our members can be found at the Centre every Wednesday and usually on Saturday too. Unlike most Senior Citizens Clubs we meet at night o'clock in the evening, not in the afternoon.

The Viking Curling Club held their annual Bobby Burns Dance on Saturday with a good crowd in attendance. Social activities were vibrant and the beef and hamburger supper was delicious.

One of Viking's long time residents, Mrs. Damer Anderson journeyed from Toronto with friends for the special occasion. At supper Mrs. Anderson carried the bagpipes, which was piped in by Eric Siddons and Jack Blake from Daysland.

Many out of town guests attended as we are one of only a few towns still having a Bobby Burns celebration. Thanks go to all the committees for a job well done.

Saturday was also a busy day at the curling rink with 4-H members and families enjoying their annual curling day. Parents and children of all ages were having a ball. Hopefully many of these young 4-Hers will be our future curlers.

It's Bonspiel time and many of our members are once again enjoying the fellowship of other clubs. Curling last week in Inverness.

were the 10 teams shipped by Dave Maxwell, Gary Lantz, Rick Plot, Speed Maxwell and Henry Hahn. Congratulations to the team of Henry Hahn, John Andrushev, Lane Carrington and Roger Bernatchek who won the third event.

Curling for the Legion in Wainwright and winning the senior division were: Lawrence Toward, Harold Place, Don Place and Alverna Rasmussen.

The regular division was also won by a Viking team consisting of Speed Maxwell, Lou Kelly, Mick Halse and Sanford Hanson. Both teams now advance to the District playoffs at Vermilion on Feb. 12th.

Congratulations to the team of Garret Edstrom, Rick Maxwell, Kevin Martin and Mike McLean who won the Junior Men's Zone. They will play again on Feb. 12 in Edmonton. Good luck boys.

Don't forget the Curling Fun Night on Jan. 28 at 7 p.m. See you there. If you missed any curling news please phone us at 336-5439 for our next report.

Checkstop Statistics Show Dramatic Results

Police activity during the recent holiday season increased dramatically with a lower per centage of charges laid for impaired driving, according to statistics compiled for this year's checkstop program.

Police agencies in Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat and Camrose, along with R.C.M.P. detachments throughout the Province, report that they checked off approximately 108,715 vehicles at 1,182 check points. A total of 388 charges were laid for alcohol related offences - a ratio of one charge for every 284 drivers stopped.

The scope and success of this year's checkstop program became more evident when compared to last year's totals when just over 35,000 vehicles were checked and approximately 340 drivers were charged - a ratio of one charge to every 108 drivers stopped.

In assessing this year's program Graham L. Harle, Solicitor General, said: "It is certainly encouraging to see such a dramatic increase in the number of vehicles checked and yet find the ratio of charges dropping to less than half. Hopefully this trend will continue since it appears that more and more Albertans are becoming aware of the seriousness of combining alcohol and vehicles."

"The various police departments and agencies in this province deserve a lot of credit for the fine job they have done on checkstop."

And indeed, so do the various media who have played a significant role in heightening awareness of the program for all Albertans.

this much ONE DOLLAR

Of Your Heating Dollar?

If your present gas furnace is over 5 years old, it's probably in the range of 55-60% fuel efficient, which means that you're losing up to 43% of available heat.

Compare these figures to the new Lennox Pulse furnace - it's 98-99% fuel efficient.

The Pulse operates on a principle of pulse combustion, the most significant breakthrough in heating technology in 40 years, providing unprecedented heating efficiency. The result is lower fuel bills. In many areas, the Pulse will pay for itself in 2-3 years.

In addition to the 1 year warranty on the heat exchanger, the Pulse is eligible for the up to $800 Government Incentive Grant, as well as home renovation grants. For more information on the most efficient gas furnace on the market, contact:

New Horizons Hold Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Irma New Horizons Club was held in the Drop-In Centre on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 19th. Owing to the President Phyllis Craig being absent due to illness, it was agreed that Donald Gunn conduct the meeting.

Our Secretary, Orvi Darling was also absent and Edith Gunn volunteered to be Secretary Pro Tem. Edith read the minutes of the 1982 annual meeting, which, after some discussion and a slight correction was adopted.

A report written by Phyllis (the president) was read by the Secretary. It was very comprehensive and covered the previous year's operations in detail, and in a very interesting manner. It concluded by saying she enjoyed the experience of being President, and went on to express her thanks to all the committees and all the officers and members who gave her so much help and encouragement. The report was accepted with thanks.

There was no Secretary's report but the meeting was informed that a report would be forthcoming at another time.

The treasurer's report was given by Donald Gunn, and copies of the financial statement and Auditors report were distributed. This indicated that our club is solvent, to say the least.

Thinks L. Saire gave a report of the delegation which attended the Recreation meeting on Monday evening, Jan. 17th at which the club's delegation told the Recreation committee that the club didn't feel justified in asking for a grant at this time, but would certainly appreciate help from some younger people when we decided to repair the east end of our building as some of our seniors are becoming less athletic as time progresses, and would prefer to see some younger people climb the ladders. Help was promised and this report was adopted.

The other committees reporting were Recreation,

Lunch, Winter Parties, Craft Parties, and finally the nominating committee, which reported that the Secretary and Treasurer had both agreed to carry on for 1983 and Alma Eager was nominated for President and Minnie Jackson for Vice President.

The chair asked for further nomination from the floor. Men were forthcoming, so Alma Eager was declared elected President and Minnie Jackson as Vice President. Donald Gunn is Treasurer and Orvi Darling is Secretary for 1983.

Helen Smallwood was elected to the board to replace Minnie Jackson.

The annual meeting adjourned at this point and our new President took the chair. Edith Gunn read the minutes of the last regular meeting. These were discussed and the matter of cleaning out the eastern portion of our building came up.

It was suggested that this matter be left to the building committee and it was pointed out that no such committee had been set up.

Nominations for a building committee were called for and there, namely, Edith Gunn, Harold Fisher and Jim Jackson were nominated and declared elected with power to call.

The meeting adjourned and some members left to attend a birthday party for Mildred Smith and others enjoyed cards, lunch and socializing.

Harry Turner Celebrates 90 Years

On Saturday afternoon, Jan. 22nd, the Alliance Community Hall was the scene of a most unusual birthday party put on in honor of H.H. (Harry) Turner's 90th birthday.

Harry who has been described as "an excellent gentleman" has been an outstanding citizen, who has farmed in the Alliance district for 60 years and is still active and interested, and in remarkably good shape for his years.

He served as a soldier in the 1914-18 war and has been an active member of the Royal Canadian Legion. The Legion had a colour party presenting flags in a colourful ceremony. They also presented the guest of honour with a plaque for his many years of endeavour in the Legion. The Legion members in presenting the plaque, said: "You never got the rank of Captain, or even Sgt. Major, but you were a darn good Private".

As well as farming, and interest in the Legion Harry was a delegate to the Alberta Wheat Pool for many years, where he served with distinction. He was interested and worked for Co-operatives and many community activities.

George Brailwaite, Second Vice President of the Alliance Wheat Pool spoke of Harry's many years of service to the community.

Several others also addressed the overflow gathering, all praising Harry Turner for his efforts on behalf of his fellow man. The chairman read a number of telegrams, some from important persons such as the Hon. Lynch-Staunton, Lieutenant Governor of Alberta but some were from the humorous side. Local Curlers To Provincials

Three local curlers are on their way to the Provincial Curling playoffs as a result of the Northern Alberta Curling Association playoffs held in Edmonton this past weekend.

In the playoffs, the Paul Devlin rink, which curl out of the Durrick Golf and Country Club in Edmonton, won the A event of the N.A.C.A. playoffs. Two local farmers, Don Haden and Doug Dubey, and local lawyer John Hunter, curl on the Devlin rink.

In their first game, the foursome defeated Wayne Haden 4 to 3 on Friday afternoon. In the Friday evening draw, they came out on top and of the 16 qualified 7.5 score over Tim Reed in 8 ends.

On Saturday afternoon, the Devlin rink defeated the Gill Brosens foursome 7 to 4, then kept on the winning streak with a 7 to 6 extra-end victory over the Kevin Byrne rink on Saturday night.

The Devlin rink consists of Paul Devlin as skip, John Hunter as third, Doug Dubey as second, and Don Haden playing lead. The A event berth put them into the Provincial Playdowns which start at the International Curling Club in Edmonton on February 9th and run until the 13th. They will be joined by the Neil Kowal rink of Grand Centre and the Pat Ryan rink of Edmonton as the other N.A.C.A. representatives, along with 8 rinks from the Southern Alberta Curling Association and 2 rinks from the Peace River Curling Association.

Pay T.V. For Viking Delayed

Pay T.V. for the Town of Viking has been tentatively rescheduled and an expected date of completion of the installation of equipment has not been released.

Darlene Rudy, C.T.V. representative, advised The Weekly Review that Pay T.V. service has been held up awaiting the arrival of satellite equipment and its subsequent installation. The television company had expected to have all operations in order prior to the end of February.

However, Darlene Rudy stated that the company is in receipt of defective equipment from their American manufacturer and the company will be ready to install their service as soon as the replacement equipment is in their possession.

She further advised that billing procedures will not be underway until the service is actually received.

"The public demand for Pay TV is very high, but we can still deliver the service within 30 days of subscribers placing their orders," assured Ed Polanski, C.T.V. President. He says the cable company is targeting to connect Pay TV in at least fifty per cent of the homes in Viking.

To promote the successful installation of Pay TV, C.T.V. designed a program to encourage the maximum number of subscribers to come to a very low cost. "We are offering the public

Viking Police Respond To Chase

A bit of excitement was caused last Thursday afternoon in Viking when two R.C.M.P. patrol cars roared up Eld Avenue and crossed Main Street with their sirens blaring. This excitement occurred about 4 p.m.

Speculation among on-lookers ran rampant, and it was not until some time later that the reason for the excitement was revealed.

The two Viking detachment cars were responding to a call for help from the Vegreville detachment concerning a threatening occurrence. At about 8:30 a.m., a theft of gas from the Royal Park Service Station just west of Vegreville was reported to the Vegreville R.C.M.P. A description of the vehicle was received and officers put on alert.

While on patrol, Constable John Lewis stopped a vehicle of similar description near Levey at about 8:35 p.m. While approaching the car, the driver, the same occupant of the vehicle, stepped from the car and pointed a high powered rifle at the officers.

According to Corporal Kees Kihari, no verbal threats were made, and when the suspect got back into his car, a high speed chase began.

Being informed of the incident, Corporal Kihari called on the Mainville and Vermilion detachments to help in the apprehension of the person involved. According to Corporal Kihari, the Viking officers heard the call and responded to help in covering the suspect which made to Highway 16 to see the vehicle turned south.

With the other detachments responding, the vehicle was chased into a roadblock just west of Mainville. At the roadblock, the driver smashed his vehicle into one of the two police cruisers which had established a roadblock. The suspect vehicle ended up in the ditch.

As a result of the incident, a 19 year old Edmonton man, Martin Abbot, appeared in Vegreville Court on Monday and pleaded guilty to four charges - theft under $300, criminal negligence in the operation of a vehicle, pointing a firearm, and possession of stolen property, as the vehicle that he was driving was reported stolen in Edmonton. He is to be sentenced on February 14th.

To promote the successful installation of Pay TV, C.T.V. designed a program to encourage the maximum number of subscribers to come to a very low cost. "We are offering the public

It's Human Life At Stake!

During the past few months, a controversy has been dogging the Alberta Medical Association. It revolves around the referral system of medical practice. The basics of the controversy revolve around heart patients, and particularly those in need of open-heart surgery.

It seems that there are one or two top heart specialists in Edmonton who handle the vast majority of the heart surgery patients. They have attained this demand through years of hard work and dedication, no doubt. The one or two doctors who do most of the surgery have a waiting list of something close to a year if someone wants to have any major heart surgery performed by them. And for many patients, this type of wait is fatal.

Some interesting information comes to light when one looks at the reports on this situation. Apparently, this type of wait situation occurs only in Northern Alberta, as the Edmonton area hospitals handle a much larger volume of patients than do those in the southern part of the province. A report last year out of Edmonton indicated that some very excellent heart surgeons are available with only a short wait in Calgary hospitals. Thus if a patient is in need of major heart surgery, all they need do is travel to one of these doctors to the south. A second report just recently out of Edmonton is that there is at least one other qualified heart surgeon in the Edmonton area who has a waiting period of only a month. For heart patients, this shorter waiting period could mean the difference between life and death. So if this information is available, why the controversy?

The controversy lies in the referral system and the manner in which some doctors are handling it. Recent reports in the Edmonton Journal indicate that some doctors feel it is up to the patient to ask about all of the alternatives open to them with respect to medical care beyond that of their immediate physician.

The reports suggest that the patient should have to ask all of the pertinent questions to get the proper information on which they can make a decision about their future medical care. Well this is total nonsense! And it is a cop-out by some doctors. Rather than take the responsibility of providing their patients with all of the necessary information voluntarily, some doctors seem to be hiding behind a wall of patient ignorance. How many of us would know what questions to ask with respect to the proper treatment of a major medical problem? We basically are at the mercy of the practicing expert in the medical field, and over the years have supposedly built up some kind of trust in this expert's judgment and advice. And yet from the reports coming out of Edmonton, one has to question the validity of the judgment which some practitioners are displaying.

Doctors should know the situation in their field - the medical field. If there is more than one surgeon practicing in a particular specialty, then the referring physician should make the patient aware of the alternatives. And this information should be volunteered, not commandeered. The doctor should make every effort to provide the information on the alternatives, then help the patient to make a decision on what course of action they should take. For major problems such as the necessity of heart surgery, this type of advice and counselling becomes so much more important, and possibly a matter of life and death.

The fact that such stories even appear today puts a bad light on the medical profession in general, and an even worse light on those who are not informing people of their alternatives. The referral system is much valued, and needed in our specializing society. Through it we get better care and treatment. But it must be done with the patient in mind, and then only as part of a full disclosure of the alternatives.

Pay T.V. Delayed

"Subscribers do not have to buy any additional equipment in order to receive Pay TV service," advised Mr. Polanski. "All TV sets will be able to receive all the channels currently available on QCTV's cable system plus the two extra pay channels which begin February 1st," added Mr. Polanski.

Only "C Channel" and "Superchannel" will be scrambled and technicians will install descrambling devices on the cable line at every Pay TV subscriber's home so they receive the unscrambled picture and sound on their TV set.

Jostling descramblers can be done quickly with appointments, because QCTV's technicians do not need to enter a home to connect Pay TV service.

After a descrambler is installed, subscribers will receive Pay TV on all their in-home, cable-connected extra TV sets, at the same cost. "That is, there is no extra charge for a pay channel received on more than one television," clarified Mr. Polanski.

Considering advantages of the subscription program underway and the limited QCTV chose for Pay TV, Mr. Polanski is confident about achieving the company's high goals. "We have fifty per cent of our subscribers in the first year," he predicts. Retiring the cost of other forms of entertainment.

and keep Pay TV subscribers. Mr. Polanski says he believes the economy will be in a position to order the service.

"Traditionally, cable service has been very recession-resistant," he said. "People tend to stay home and rely on home entertainment. Cable TV, as a service, goes higher up on the economy scale down," he said. "Faced with a limited budget, people look at entertainment alternatives and cable TV provides great value for the whole family," continued Mr. Polanski. "It is our view that the more difficult the economy becomes, the more people will turn to cable TV services like Pay TV are," he said, comparing the cost of other forms of entertainment.

Four boys and four girls teams representing the Lamont, St. Paul and Ashmont will take to the court on Saturday morning at 9 a.m. Some exciting basketball should take place and it looks good for a championship final between Ashmont and their "G1" center and the Norwegians.

Research Labs Fight Heart Disease

Alberta is doing its part to help combat heart disease, the number one killer in Canada today.

Research labs in Calgary and Edmonton are at work on 65 projects to join the rest of the country and the world in trying to find solutions to the disease that tragically cuts down so many in the prime of life.

The research lab in Calgary, as an example, was set up in 1960 and in just 14 years has risen from 0 to 17 projects.

All of these projects are important, not only to the thousands of Albertans already suffering the effects of heart disease, but to the many others who have the potential of contracting it.

One study in Calgary is looking at the problem of sudden cardiac death by examining, among other things, the heart's electrical system which the heart of people who have had life-threatening irregularities in their heartbeat.

Another project examines the role played by small chemical molecules (peptides) produced in the brain on the behavior in the heart.

Research has already paid off in large dividends. The overall death rate from heart and blood vessel disease for people under 65 is down 53 per cent since 1968.

But heart and blood vessel disease is still the leading cause of death in 50 per cent of all Canadian deaths each year. Research still has a long way to go.

It can only continue with the financial help of all Albertans.

Advisory Committee To Meet In Wainwright

The Minister's Advisory Committee on Further Education will meet with members of the public at the Old Timer's Hall in Wainwright on Thursday, February 3 from 7:30 p.m. until 9:30 p.m.

The Further Education advisory committee is one of six educational committees reporting directly to the minister of Alberta Advanced Education. Other committees advising the minister include: College Affairs, Technical/Vocational Education, Student Affairs, University Affairs, and Native People's Education. The Native People's Education advisory committee also reports directly to the minister of Alberta Education.

The Minister's Advisory Committee on Further Education deals with adult education. And this often involves the problem of bringing education to adults living in Alberta's remote regions. During past meetings, the committee has listened to proposals on technology-assisted learning, Telford, teleconferencing and computer-assisted learning (CAL).

The committee also has assisted individual Albertans trying to improve their education. On a number of occasions over the past few years, individuals have expressed a difficulty or problem encountered with attempting to further their education. The committee often has been able to advise these individuals about taking correct steps for obtaining additional information about returning to school.

Groups, Associations, or individuals wishing to meet with or submit proposals to the Further Education advisory committee at the February 3 meeting should telephone Mr. Dan Coupland (tel. 477-8851).

Pools More Concerned With Profits

The Prairie Wheat Pools have become more concerned with company profits than what is best for grain producers, says Gordon Reid of the Western Barley Growers Association.

Reid, a Crowsnest area grain producer, indicated that "The Pools' eleven hour support of the so-called Argus proposal for CROW freight rate change reveals their true interests."

The Pools stand to gain by denying farmers a choice of how they sell grain and by keeping low export freight rates that force grain into their elevators.

The Western Agriculture Conference (WAC) voted recently to support Senator Hanson's proposal which is purported to initially double grain producers' contribution to moving grain and pay the CROW benefit to the railways.

The Pools have decided to support a vague proposal that has never been explained or researched. They're looking out for the interests of the existing grain handling system."

The Western Barley Growers Association is confirming its support for the Gibson recommendations. The Gibson package was worked out after months of consultation and compromise among farm organizations. It is the only credible solution to an extremely complicated problem.

The future of Western agriculture, including barley, which is Western Canada's second largest crop, involves more than just exporting grain. The Gibson package gives grain producers a better chance to respond to future opportunities.

Viking Curling Club Holds Fun Night

The Viking Curling Club held its second Fun Night on Friday evening. Two four and games were played with high points going to the team of Pat Erickson, Gary Butler and Mark Cummings.

The "hard luck" prize went to the Cheryl Halse team. Todd Halse was the youngest curler and Harold Pardy the eldest, both received small gifts. The door prize was won by Penny Amundson. If you weren't there you missed a good time.

The next Fun Night is planned for Feb. 11 so mark your calendar. Admission is only $1.00 and coffee is free. Where can you get a better deal than that?

Curling at Tofield last week in the Mixed Console Playdowns were Vera and Cheryl Halse with Bobby Swietzer and Doris Harty. They were runners up in both the A and B sections.

Congratulations.

This weekend saw three Viking teams at the Bruce

Ladies Bonspiel. Congratulations to the teams of Karen Cummings, Pat Erickson and Rhonda Cummings who all brought home prizes. Karen placed 2nd in the first event; Pat won the trophies in the second event with Rhonda settling for third place also in the second event.

Curling in Edmonton this weekend in the Northern Alberta Men's Playdowns with Paul Devlin were John Johnson, Doug Dobry and Ducky Halse. They qualified in the A section and now advance to the Provincial Playdowns in Edmonton in February.

This week is the Open Mixed Bonspiel in Viking and the ice is keen so there should be some good curling to see. Curling starts Thursday evening and finale go on Sunday. If you aren't curling join us anyway for coffee and some good homemade pie.

Next weekend is the County School playdowns so good luck to our junior curlers.

Anyone interested in some curling lessons? We are hoping to get the Curl Canada team to come and give us instruction. This is a perfect opportunity to learn the correct way of sliding and delivering the curling stone. Dates will be announced later.

FACT: A sheet of curling ice is 148 feet long and 14 feet wide and each curling stone weighs 42½ lbs.

Norsemen Notes

The Norsemen have extended their season record to 7 and 5 with victories over league leading Ryker, Telford and Vermilion. On the 18th of January the boys played a very solid game to gain a 42 - 38 victory. Substitute coach Rob Rolinson took the Norsemen to Forestburg on the 18th and gained a split losing 64 - 57 to a very powerful Forestburg team and then beating Vermilion 49 - 38. League play continued on the 20th with the Norsemen defeating Tofield Titans.

Tkaczyk Rink Wins Bruce Ladies' Bonspiel

Joan Tkaczyk of Bruce skipped her rink to victory in the A Event at the Bruce Ladies' Bonspiel held last weekend in Bruce. The Tkaczyk rink, with Evelyn Corliss, third; Ellen Collison, second; and Colleen Warren, lead, were one up on the 9th end and managed to secure another point on the 10th to defeat the Karen Cummings team from Viking. Mackay of Holden placed third and Hawkins of Bruce was fourth in the Grand Challenge event.

Pat Erickson of Viking captured the trophies in the second event when she edged out the Leanne rink from Holden. Curling with Erickson were Phyllis Laford, third; Jean Stewart, second; and Claudia Glynn, lead. Third spot in this event went to R. Cummings of Viking and Linda to Erickson of Holden.

Lead of Bruce with Arlene Field curling third, Trish Reestman, second and Marie Chrystian, lead, defeated the Tenast-Urmak quartet from Vegreville to win the third event. Third place in this event went to the rink of Schwanitz of Holden and fourth by Bailey of Viking.

The usual Bruce hospitality was in evidence at the banquet on Saturday night and again on Sunday when a spectacular came to the rescue of a visiting skip who had the misfortune to discover that she had just made like they used to be. A member of the Bruce rink was the lucky recipient of a rubber tree raffish off during the Saturday banquet. Trophies in the A event were donated by Rudy's General Store, while Jim Warren and Bruce Shell Services donated the trophies in the second and third events. Donations were also received from Pauline Services, Field Electric, Geoff's Trussing, Ken's Kew Service, Bruce Women's Institute and Bruce Hardware.

In curling action where the rink won, the rink of Ken Heber, skip; Peter Mielke, third; Ron Heber, second; and Bud Hammermeister, lead won the Rutherford Men's Open Bonspiel on Sunday, Jan. 30. Three rinks from Bruce were entered in the tournament.

spiral. The photo supplied of this winning team was too dark for reproduction in the newspaper.

Adding a bit of color to the ice surface in Bruce at the Bruce Bonspiel recently were a team of "Clowns" from Bruce. They were certainly the best dressed curlers at the bonspiel. This photo too was too dark in the background for reproduction in the newspaper.

A Year Of Difficult Decisions

Trustees agree with the Minister of Education, David King, that 1983 will be a year of difficult financial decisions in public education. Increases in fiscal operation grants for public education have plunged from 14.1 per cent last year to 1.9 per cent this year, at a time when local school boards are still trying to cope with rising costs in student transportation, utilities, instructional resources, and debt charges. Clearly, school trustees and school boards will need to establish priorities for spending to offset the greatest good for the greatest number.

People in other professions have adapted to a deepening recession over the last two years while Albertans have only recently become conscious of the sudden reversal of their economy. All sectors are being hit equally and their expectations in recognition of this changing economic climate.

As Mr. Evans, President of the Alberta School Trustees' Association points out, "Trustees have been examining their mandate to provide programs and services for students and are exploring ways of accommodating needs in the face of increasing public expectations. On January 11 and 12, a large assembly of school trustees gathered in the City of Banff to attend a conference entitled, 'Educating With Restraints'."

CATTLE SHOWING
KIDNAPERS PRACTICE

Cattle showing takes practice. But qualified instruction can show you what to practice.

We have a number of requested shows in this very county. Through good hand management and a "learn to do by doing" philosophy, these outcomes can be very successful in the show ring.

We're fortunate to have a few of them involved in the County Cattle Showing Course. They're willing to share some showing tips by instructing the requested students. Pat Kall and Bob Antonik will demonstrate grooming, trimming and fitting the show animal. Orlan Bistray will share some ideas on showing the calf. How to judge the animal will be explained by Gordon Blake. Proper nutrition is essential to a successful show animal and Dale Engstrom from Alberta Agriculture will talk on the subject. The day should be enjoyable and worthwhile to all cattlemen. Interested farmers are invited as well as all members, leaders and parents. The course will be held on Sat. Feb. 5th from 9:00 to 4:00 p.m. Lunch will be available. The location will be at Saurer's area, two miles south of Viking on #86.

Please call our office 188-3885 to pre-register. Watch for other interesting courses through Alberta Agriculture. We'll all be busy in the spring for such extra activities so take advantage of them now. Dates have been set for courses in Wildlife and Estate Planning, Dairy Production and The Welding Skill Course. Call our office for more details.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW

Council Splits On "In Camera" Vote

A motion to move "in camera" at a special meeting of the Viking Town Council last Wednesday evening resulted in a split in the vote, plus some second thoughts since the meeting.

The special meeting was called primarily to discuss the estimates from the various committees and boards which combine to form the 1983 municipal budget. After re-scheduling the Council of Revision for tax assessment disputes to Tuesday, March 1st, Council began discussion of the budget estimates for 1983.

Councillors Cumming and Evans had only briefly initiated some enquiries on last year's expenditures when Councillor Stephenson, having received a signal from the Mayor, moved that the meeting be held "in camera" (i.e. closed to the public).

Immediately upon the motion being made, and with no call for a discussion on the motion, Mayor Ruskon called for there to be favor of the motion. Councillors Milne, Bird and Stephenson and Mayor Ruskon voted in favor. In asking for those opposed, Councillor Evans and Cumming raised their hands. Councillor Ritchie abstained from voting on the motion. With the motion passed, the meeting was closed to the public.

At the meeting was held to determine how public funds are to be spent for 1983, and as there was no discussion on the motion when it was made, the Weekly Review contacted six of the seven Council members to determine why they voted as they did. Both Councillors Evans and Cumming felt that there was no need to hold the entire session "in camera", therefore they voted against the motion.

Councillor Pete Cumming said that he felt "that there was nothing to hide". He said that since the meeting at this stage was only on a fictional budget, he didn't feel it was that important.

Councillor Bob Evans said that he felt there was no need to go "in camera" for the major part of what was being discussed. He said that if discussions on personnel or their salaries were to be held, then only that part of the meeting should have been held "in camera" at this time as nothing is finalized.

Councillor George Ritchie said that he obtained from voting because he wasn't confident on which way he wanted to vote. He agreed with Councillor Evans that if Council was going to discuss people and salaries, then that part of the meeting should be held "in camera". He said that since he didn't know that this would happen, he hesitated. Mr. Ritchie also indicated that the vote on the motion happened rather quickly.

Councillor Jenny Bird, who voted in favor of going "in camera", also noted the suddenness with which the motion came up. She said that they had been warned by the Mayor prior to the meeting of the motion coming up, but that there was no discussion on it. She said she thought they may be talking about wages, but indicated that the Weekly Review "has been pretty good not to print such discussions if asked". Mrs. Bird said that she really didn't think the motion through before she voted, but felt that budget meetings were not of much interest to the public.

Councillor Ken Milne, who also voted in favor of the motion, said that he voted in favor of the motion because he didn't know whether or not they would be discussing figures on salaries that wouldn't really be settled at that meeting. However, Mr. Milne stated that he had "really had some second thoughts" about vot-

Playground For Holden

A creative playground is slated for construction at the Holden School in June. The decision was made following the formation of a committee to coordinate such a project. The Holden Creative playground committee was formed at a meeting held January 17, 1983. The purpose of the committee is to co-ordinate the construction of a playground at Holden School. Research on the project was initiated by interested Kindergarten parents in April of 1982. The Board of Education of the County of Beaver approved the use of the northeast corner of the school grounds for the project at a meeting in June of 1982.

The officers of the Committee are: Co-chairpersons Mrs. Susan Tynchuk and Mr. Charlie Mathews, Treasurer Mr. Lyle Andrusky, Secretary and Promotions Mrs. Bobbie Schweitzer, Design Committee Mrs. Pauline MacKenzie, Miss Carol Kloos, Mrs. Eleanor Ogumski and Mrs. Lynn Hamish.

The committee hopes to have enough funds to construct a combination tire and log park. Once the Design Committee has viewed parks already constructed and decided on structures for Holden's Park, final approval must be obtained from the Board of Education.

A great deal of work must be done before the proposed construction day which is Saturday, June 19th. While some funds have been set aside by the Village of Holden Recreation Board in the Village Master Plan, the committee will be contacting area service groups, businesses and individuals for donations of cash, labor, equipment and materials.

A contest for grade 1 to 6 students called "Name Your Park" has been initiated by the Committee. A prize will be given to the student with the best name. The Committee hopes to give the students a number of ways to become involved in the building of their park.

Gym Floor Ready For Use

The monthly meeting for Kinross Rec. and Ag. Society took place Tuesday, Feb. 1st.

After sending Pam Jackson, Kathy Thengs and Linda Welch to Amisk on the 12th of January for a seminar concerning Public Participation, the board felt we should invite representatives from the various organizations to attend our meeting and benefit from the information gained. The many organizations were well represented and we thank them for their support.

The meeting opened by presenting an actual challenge to the group to put on various events and displays for Holden's Park, final approval must be obtained from the Board of Education.

The group "brainstormed" the plan, jotting down ideas both practical and crazy! This seemed to spark the enthusiasm and each rep. volunteered to their various organizations and report the meeting. In turn we are in hopes that each group will then delegate two or more people to represent their interests on a Fair Board.

We are really excited about this plan and stress that the main goal of this "Fair" project is to bring out "Community Involvement". With interest gained, our reps. were successful, being asked to return for our March meeting with the opinions of their clubs. We then continued with regular business.

Not For Everybody

One issue which has sprung to light recently on the Canadian scene is the question of the universality of family allowance. This issue has become prevalent because of the recession. With the large number of people unemployed, and the ever-increasing number of businesses failing, the federal government has found itself short of money. With the deficit increasing yearly, and a desire by the government to leave money in the hands of the consumer in order to stimulate the economy, they seem caught in a no-win situation when it comes to the question of family allowance.

Originally, family allowance was introduced as a means of providing those less fortunate in the Canadian society with a bit of extra income so that the family could enjoy more benefits than they could originally. The concept was a good one and it did help those families in need. But with time, the government, due to political pressure, gradually established family allowance as a universal concept. This meant that every family, no matter how wealthy they were or are, was eligible to receive a cheque as a partial support payment for each of their children. The system has been working for years now, but one has to question whether or not it should continue in its original state.

We should go back to the situation where those who were in the greatest need received the allowance. One has to question the necessity of having the Peter Pocklington family, or in years past the Dr. Charles Allard family, a monthly allowance to help in providing for their children. Now these are the extreme examples, but in many cases in our society, people make adequate income to make the family allowance unnecessary. Of course it is nice to get that little bit of extra income every month, no matter what financial condition one is in. But the big question is that of necessity, is it really necessary that the government universally provide every family with a cheque for each and every child that they have? The government does receive some of this money back from those who are better off in the form of taxation on this income. But even if a few million dollars were saved in government expenditure, would that be not better than perpetuating government waste?

This type of government expenditure is not nearly as wasteful as some other types, such as the reported $800 per day paid to Donald McDonald for serving on the inquiry into the Canadian economy. An excessive amount indeed. But simply because it is not as wasteful as other expenditures does not make it right that the federal government continue waste in this area. Family allowance should be returned to the days when it was a help to those in need. Even if the government spent the same amount on the program, it at least could provide greater assistance to those who need it most.

Council Splits

ing to go "in camera" since the meeting.

When asked how he voted on the motion, Mayor Rush-ton first wanted to know why the newspaper wanted to know. After informing him that his vote was not noted at the meeting, the Mayor stated that he voted in favor of the motion because they would be discussing personnel and preliminary budget figures that shouldn't be released to the press. He said that prior to the meeting he told Council that if the press shows up, he could trust that they could go "in camera". He said that if no motion to go "in camera" would have been made, that he would have relinquished the gavel and would have made the motion himself.

In response to a question as to why there was no call for discussion on the motion and why the vote seemed to be taken quickly, he replied that if anyone had wanted a discussion, all they had to do was ask.

Councillor Maurice Stephenson, who made the motion and voted in favor of it, was not available for comment as he is out of the country on holidays.

Barley Growers Show Support

The Western Barley Growers Association is supportive of the Pepsin announcement regarding the legislation that will be presented in parliament.

The Gilson negotiations resulted in substantial compromise. Mr. Pepsin's proposal indicates further compromise, and although it falls short of what would contribute most to Western economic development, it is worthy of our support.

It appears that if Pepsin's proposal was adopted, our freight rate would only increase by about 9 cents per bushel by 1986, which is insignificant compared to our previous losses due to the inadequacy and inefficiency of our present system. We are disappointed that the negative responses to Mr. Pepsin's proposal have been emphasized by the media. It is our hope that the long term benefits of the Gilson recommendations will be eventually implemented.

The County of Beaver High School Bonspiel was held in Ryley on Saturday, February 5 with the Dianne Maxwell rink of Viking taking the girls team event. (Left to right) Kelly Ruzicka - lead, Jackie Petrovski - second, Shannon Place - third and Dianne Maxwell - skip.

The high school curling teams from Viking travelled to Ryley, Sat., Feb. 5 to compete in the County playoffs and came away with victories in 2 of the 5 categories.

The Dianne Maxwell rink with team members Shannon

Place, Jackie Petrovski and Kelly Ruzicka made a remarkable come-back in their first game. Trailing by 6 points coming home, the Maxwell rink laid 5 to tie and won the match in an extra end. The girls then went on to defeat Holden in the finals 6 to 4. The boys went on to defeat Holden in the finals by an extra end and score of 8 to 7. The mixed team skipped by Rick Marko with members Gail Anton, Doug Hogstead and Debbie Servis did not fare so well, as they narrowly went down to defeat by Toiboid and then to Hissaid.

The winners of this tournament move on to Coronation Feb. 13 to compete in the East Conference Playdowns.

Winners at cards were Fern Rabbby and Audrey Jaber playing first and second respectively for the ladies, while Ed Beaton and Harry Hayden took first and second for the men. Those not playing cards spent the evening playing board games. A good time was had by all. The evening's fun concluded over coffee and a delicious lunch. All proceeds for the evening will be donated to the A.C.T. Telethon.

Thanks is extended to everyone who supported our first card party and family night for 1983. We hope to see all of you and many others at our next family night on February 18th at 7:30 p.m. which will be our Valentine's Card Party and Box Social. See you there!

Viking Curling Club News

Don't forget our Fun Night this Friday, Feb. 11 at 7:00 p.m. Bring your friends and enjoy yourselves. Everyone is welcome.

Another successful mixed hospital was held over the weekend with 20 teams participating and enjoying the keen ice. Congratulations to all the winners and thanks once again to the prize committees, the drawmaster and the ice makers.

We should all be proud of our young curlers. The teams skipped by Diane Maxwell and Leif Erickson both won the County High School Playdowns at Ryley on Saturday. Rick Mark's mixed team was almost successful losing by only one point. Next Sunday they travel to Coronation for the zones. Good luck and good curling; we'll all be pulling for you.

We are sorry to say that we can not get the Curl Canada team at this time; so we'll plan for early next fall instead.

The men's cash curling is enjoying full attendance and keen curling. After three rounds of play, leading and undefeated are the teams of Gary Lantz, Henry and Vern Halse, Dave Maxwell is right behind with 2 wins and 1 loss. Don't get too excited as there are still five games to go and everything can change.

Winning the second event of the mixed hospital in Viking was the Vern Halse rink. (Left to right) Vern Halse - skip, Cheryl Halse - third, Doug Hardy - second and Trish Hardy - lead.

Irma Fish And Game Supper Held

The Irma branch of the Alberta Fish and Game Association sponsored a wild game supper in the Irma school Auditorium on Friday evening, Feb. 4th which through the co-operation and enthusiastic support of a great many people, both young and old proved to be a very worthwhile affair.

As in former years supper was served buffet style. The serving tables were loaded to capacity with a multitude of delicious dishes. So much so that it was a difficult task to decide which dish to sample.

There was beef, roasted and stewed, buffalo in various forms, venison, moose, wild game, wild duck, rabbit roasted and stewed meat balls, (which were super delicious), guinea hen, potatoes, baked and mashed, cream corn, carrots, sausage, fish, casseroles, gravy, pickles, you name it and it was there.

When all had eaten to repletion, the president, Len Shatt, introduced Mr. and Mrs. Eric Holmberg from Allanson, who are members of the Irma Fish and Game. Eric came forward and said he was glad to be there and wished Irma Fish and Game continued success.

He then introduced Russ Thornbury, his wife and two children from Caroline, Alta. Russ later showed two series of slides, which were both interesting and informative. Happy Birthday was sung to Gladys Holt of Viking whose 80th birthday was that day. Happy birthday was also sung to Mr. Thornbury whose birthday was the next day.

At this time Len called on Miss Farley to present trophies to the 1982 winners in the various sections.

Winners were as follows: Jack Fish won by Glenn Lingay who also won the trophy for the Mule Deer. Greenhead duck was won by Darren Archibald and White Tailed Deer trophy was won by Jim Gertman. The Canada Goose trophy was won by Stephen Raasak while the non-typical deer was also won by Stephen Raasak.

Maureen Bauman, District Home Economist (Ryley) planned the classes and gave an interesting discussion on chineese dishes, spices, preparation for certain recipes, etc.

The 28 ladies were divided into 5 smaller classes to won by Stephen Raasak. All winners got a hearty clap as they received their trophies.

Mr. Thornbury then set up two of his projectors and proceeded to show slides of a hunting trip that he and a friend accompanied by a professional guide had taken in the Yukon in search of Dahl sheep trophies. The guide was originally from Lloydminster.

They went into the territory, close to the Arctic on the Red River by boat plain. They unloaded all their equipment and a large dog. The plane then took off, having agreed to return for them in two weeks. They had no horses and so had to pack all their requirements on their backs, besides what the dog packed which was from 50 to 70 lbs.

The walking was rough and some if not all of them got sore feet. Stalking the sheep was exciting as they had phenomenal eye sight and hearing, however they ended up with three very good trophies.

The next series of slides were entitled "Hunting with a Camera" and were all taken in Eastern Alberta, Irma, Watnright, Edmonton and areas and were most interesting showing wild life in its natural habitat. Some slides were taken after much preparation and planning. Russ had a pleasant voice and his slides and commentary were much enjoyed.

There were a few empty chairs, but very few. Russ was given a hearty vote of thanks in the usual manner.

Any person interested in joining the Irma Fish and Game association is asked to contact Charlie Allen, Bill Dubois, Milt Palmer or Donald Gunn.

Cooking Class Well Attended

A large class of 38 ladies from the entire County of Beaver enjoyed two hours of two days of Chinese Cooking in Holden on January 28 and Feb. 8.

Maureen Bauman, District Home Economist (Ryley) planned the classes and gave an interesting discussion on chineese dishes, spices, preparation for certain recipes, etc.

The 28 ladies were divided into 5 smaller classes to prepare a certain chineese dish. Some of the food prepared was Lemon chicken, beef with vegetables, fried spare ribs, won ton soup, egg rolls, fried fish and various sauces.

After preparation of chineese food in Woks, the ladies enjoyed the chineese dishes and felt they had learned many new points about chineese cooking. The course was made possible through Further Education.

HOW SMALL BUSINESS CAN BUCK THE TREND THIS WINTER

The application deadline for the small business support element of P.E.P. — the Priority Employment Program, has been extended to February 19th, 1983.

If you operate an Alberta business with gross annual sales of up to $5 million, you could still be eligible to hire or maintain employees.

P.E.P. makes it possible for eligible small businesses to recruit up to 3 new employees, and pays 50% of their wages up to a maximum of $2.50 per hour.

New employees must be Alberta residents, at least 16 years of age, and legally entitled to work in Canada.

Jobs should offer full-time employment for a minimum of two months and should provide skills that assist employees in finding permanent employment.

Some employers may also qualify for assistance to retrain staff through on-the-job training under

Because of the grouping, "A" class players were prohibited from participating. However, competition was very strong and the large number of entries kept six courts open for 12 continuous hours on Sat. and a further 9 hours on Sunday.

In men's singles, Walter Steadfast finished 2nd in the

"C" event while Alana Steadfast finished 2nd in the ladies "D" event singles. Alana Steadfast and her partner were eliminated from ladies doubles "C" event after reaching the semi-finals. Walter Steadfast and Sam Pon ran into stiff competition in the "C" event, men's double and were unable to reach the semi-finals.

Sam Pon and Doris Potts, after losing their first two matches to the eventual "B" and "C" event winners were able to finish 1st in the "D" event with comparative ease. Walter and Alana Steadfast, competing in the tougher "C" event were eliminated upon reaching the "semi".

A reporting error was made on the Westlock item. Walter and Alana Steadfast finished 1st in mixed doubles, not 2nd as originally stated.

The club is now looking forward to the N.E.A. Winter Games to be held in Cold Lake, Grande Centre and 40 members will be representing the County of Beaver. Alana Steadfast and Doris Potts in seniors mixed doubles.

Presidential Cake
This sweet cake has run its course for this year - but what you do with all that fruit and starter now makes a new state star (10, I do have the recipe for starter).

To use the starter, pour fruit and syrup over the cake, pound cake or custard. Or drizzle the syrup and serve as a liquor.

Smokes That Count
Anyone with youngsters know that these little ones are on the go from morning till night. Little wonder they need snacks between meals throughout the day. Because their bodies are more active with eating small meals many times a day, it is essential that these snacks provide nutrients as well as taste. With the small amounts they eat at meals, snacks are essential to fulfilling the daily requirements for calcium, protein, iron, vitamins and minerals.

Here are a few ideas for snacks to brighten up your day:

- ants on a log - celery stuffed with peanut butter, dotted with a few raisins on top.
- Caesar's Special - 1/8斤 with a celery stick.
- Fruit Pops - freeze orange juice, apple juice, fruit puree or just about anything, in popsicle holders. (We go through at least 2 of these a day).
- Banana Dogs - spread peanut butter on half a slice of bread and wrap around a half a banana.

Use your imagination, but choose foods from the four food groups for most snacks rather than depending on sweets and empty calories to round out your child's diet.

Cropping

On February 1st and 2nd, the Edmonton Agricultural Society and the Waterlooside District Office of Alberta Agriculture hosted a 2 day seminar on managing cropland.

Both the turnout and the information presented were excellent. In attending the 2 day seminar, crop farmers had a chance to take some notes and the following is a brief summary of those notes.

Barb attended the second day and will summarize her notes in next week's column.

The day's activities started with a presentation by Dr. Bill McGill, Soil Science Department of the University of Alberta Faculty of Agriculture.

Dr. McGill's talk centered around organic matter in continuous cropping systems. Three main principles were emphasized:

1. Soil is a "leaky bucket". If the additions of organic matter are low or non-existent, then the level of organic matter in soil is depleted to the point where serious problems arise. Summerfallowing can accelerate these losses.

2. There are no solutions to drastically increase or decrease the organic matter pool in the short run.

3. Maintaining good fertility is important in maintaining organic matter levels and legumes can play an important role.

It was also recognized that today's high input costs and low cash flow faced by farmers makes adherence to the three principles very difficult indeed.

In a comprehensive provincial sampling study by Dr. McGill has found that organic matter losses through the years have been very significant and the amount of organic matter lost varies with the amount of erosion and with local weather conditions. Hence, Black Sols appear to have lost a larger percentage of organic matter when compared to Brown Sols. These losses are also accelerated when summerfallowing, burning, or continuous tillage are practiced.

Strongly emphasized by Dr. McGill was the fact that it would be difficult and not economically feasible to try to bring organic matter levels back up to original levels (native levels) but that levels can be stabilized at a point where soil physical properties and some chemical properties pose less of a problem to farmers. Here a speaking of physical properties such as soil erosion potential, crusting and horsepower requirement.

Regional Plant Industry Supervisor Ellis Trethly then chaired a producer panel where three farmers presented their views on continuous cropping and to what degree they have incorporated the concept into their farming operations. Ellis ended their presentations with some information on crop rotations work done at the Melrose Research Station. Four interesting points were emphasized:

1. repeated or canola tended to yield significantly higher when seeded on wheat or oats stubble.

2. flax produced better when on wheat or barley stubble.

3. wheat and barley appeared to do well on rapeseed or flax stubble.

4. many crops appeared to do better on a Polish rape stubble than on an Argentine rape stubble.

Discussion also arose regarding the fact that continuous cropping systems must have adequate moisture as a prerequisite. At the same time, if summerfallowing is used to insure adequate moisture, a few facts become significant. For example, a sandy soil has a holding capacity of approximately 1 1/2 inches of water and a clay loam has a water holding capacity of about 6 inches. Anything in excess of these amounts can result in leaching of nutrients out of the rooting zone of most plants as well as contributing to salinity problems.

Walter Yarik, Provincial Weed Control Specialist, concluded the day with a presentation on the influence of continuous cropping on weed populations and

Bantams Host Four Team Tournament

The Viking Bantams (in black) hosted their Annual Tournament this weekend. Although the team gave it their best, they came up on the short end of an 11 to 7 score against Faltowale in the "A" Final.

Staff Photo

Sunday, Feb. 6, the Viking Bantams hosted a four team tournament. The teams were evenly matched which produced some exciting games. Teams participating were from Dayland, Forestburg, and Faltowale. The first game got underway at 10 o'clock in the morning with Viking playing Dayland. This was a very good game with both teams working real hard. Viking came out ahead by 9 - 7 score. The most valuable player for Viking in this game was Jason Place. Other point scorers were: Couch with 2 goals and 2 assists; Place with 2 goals and 1 assist; Taylor with 2 goals and 1 assist; and Clouston with 1 goal and 1 assist.

At noon Faltowale and Forestburg took to the ice. The result of this game was a 7 - 5 victory for Faltowale.

The "B" event final saw Dayland playing Forestburg. Forestburg had only a short rest before playing this game but played a very strong game. However when the final whistle blew it was Dayland winning the game and taking home the "B" trophy.

In the final game of the Tournament, Viking and Faltowale took to the ice. Viking started the game with 2 quick goals, but later in the game ran out of power, plus being heavily penalized. Faltowale received the championship trophy with a 11-7 win.

Viking's most valuable player for this game was J. Couch.

Goal scorers for this game were Couch with 2 goals and 1 assist, Clouston, Anton and Place each with 1 goal and 2 assists and rounding out the scoring was Taylor with 1 goal and 1 assist.

The Bantam team would like to thank the parents, time keepers, referees, ticket buyers, and everyone that came out to watch the games. Your support is greatly appreciated.

Be on hand Friday, Feb. 11 when the team will be hosting Backus in their first Provincial game.

Aces Defeat Rosalind And Wainwright

The Aces were victorious over Rosalind for the fourth straight time this season. This time the score was 9-1.

Morgan Jones started things off early when he drove one in from the point assisted by Mackay and Bob Foley. Shortly after, Al Fenton scored, unassisted and the route was on.

Len Parsons scored twice, as did Kevin Mackay, and singles went to Garret Mackay, Brian Barr, and Greg Fischer. Bob Foley, Kent Githens and Len Parsons each had two assists and Brian Barr, Jay Fenton, Greg Fischer, Garret Mackay and Al Fenton added one helper each.

Shane Hollar handled 18 shots and the Aces left go with 48 shots at the opposite end.

It was a lot different type of game when Irmis went to Wainwright last Saturday evening.

The first period featured wide open hockey but the goalkeepers came up big for both sides. Gord Holt got Irmis on the board late in the period after collecting on a Jim Owen's pass. Brent Fischer also assisted.

In the second, the Rosalind came out and tied it up, then went ahead by one. Brian Barr scored things up midway through the period, assisted by Dale Nilsson. Less than a minute later, Wainwright went ahead again only to have Kevin Mackay tie it up shortly after, assisted by Bob Foley and Garry Phillips. Then Al Fenton put the team ahead to stay when he received a pass from Bob Foley and tucked it underneath the goalie.

Bob Foley scored early in the third period assisted by Gary Phillips and Kevin Mackay. The Rosalind talked another to get back within reach but Kevin Mackay hammered another one home, assisted by Gary Phillips.

Irma News

Congratulations are extended to Ludwig Satre of Irma who celebrated his 85th birthday on Feb. 1st, and also to Mrs. Gladys Hot of Viking who celebrated her 80th birthday on February 4th. Many more happy years to both.

Minnie and Jim Jackson had a pleasant surprise on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 5th when a phone call came through from Jim's cousin Arthur Wallace at Welton, South Africa at 1:00 p.m. It was 10:30 p.m. in South Africa and the temperature was 30 degrees Centigrade.

Arthur had received a letter that day which Jim had mailed in Irma on Jan. 26th. Within the hour they received another call from Jim's niece Ella Jackson at Sally-mackey Neagoh Co. Tipperary, Eire. What a coincidence. They never had.

phone call from South Africa before, but have had a number of calls from Eire. Later that same day they received a call from Newfoundland as well.

Mrs. Dolly Hearn of Hardisty is visiting with her old time neighbors Minnie and Jim Jackson for a week or two and is also getting around to see some old neighbors while in Irma.

Mary and Bert Armbrage from Kinella drove to Wainwright on Sunday afternoon to watch a bowling match in which their daughter Maureen was taking part.

Elsewhere sympathy is extended to Elsie Hubman and family on the passing of a husband and father, William (Bert) Hubman who passed away on Wednesday, Feb. 2nd at the age of 69 years. Prayers were held Friday, Feb. 4th at St. Theresa Church in Irma at 8:00 p.m. Mass of Christian burial took place Sat. Feb. 5th at 9:00 p.m. in Blessed Sacrament Church in Wainwright. Celebrant Father Archie McKenzie officiated. Honorary pallbearers were Albert Martens, Ernie Jacobsen, Lorne Anquet, Carl Fenton, Wayne Gwynn, Ken Barber, Paul Beavers, Gary Hubman, Bob Hubman, Pat Hubman, Jerald Hubman, Patrick Hubman and J.G. McDonald. Organist was Donna Weston with interment in the Irma Cemetery.

Motions On Landfill - Hazardous Waste Land Defeated

Motions dealing with a regional landfill site and a hazardous waste treatment plant site were defeated at the February meeting of the Council of the County of Beaver. First up was a proposed agreement on a landfill site just north of Ryley. Reeve Knudsen provided some background information for council, stating that 2 or 3 years ago, Tofield looked into a landfill site with regard to costs, possible locations, etc. With the hazardous waste issue entering the picture, the possible regional landfill was put on hold. However, the issue has come to the front once again. In their efforts to find a landfill site, the Town of Tofield has had the Environment Department investigate a number of sites on their behalf. The site now being considered is located on the north half of 10-50-17.

W4, just north of Ryley. As the objective is a regional landfill site, the Town has asked that the County become involved in future decisions as it could affect the entire County. A meeting was held recently with representatives from Tofield, Ryley, Holden and the Reeve from the County on this issue.

The Reeve explained that under a proposal for such a project, the government of Alberta would purchase all of the land, provide the facility and all amenities required and those parties involved in the project would be responsible for the formation of a committee to govern the project. The Committee would also be responsible for its future operational costs and usage.

On the table at the meeting was a lengthy document which was a proposed agreement for the County to enter into with the Province to look into the possibilities of leasing a regional landfill site in the County.

Firefighters' Insurance Coverage Questioned

During the regular February meeting of the Council of the County of Beaver, County Fire Chief, Laurie Westwell advised that volunteer fire fighters under the age of 18 years were not covered by their County Insurance Policy.

He further advised that at present no insurance coverage is available for those over age 65 years. However, the Fire Policy could possibly be amended to provide insurance coverage such as that provided through the school work experience program.

The general feeling of the members of Council was that they would restrict the age of fire fighters between the ages of 18 and 65. However, Council felt that a great deal of knowledge and valuable experience had been acquired by our senior fire fighters and should explore over the age of 65 wish to continue providing their service, they would be valued in an advisory position. Emphasis was placed on the assurance that each member over age 65 be made aware of the fact that no insurance was available. As a meeting was forthcoming with regard to County Fire Policy, the matter was tabled until a later date. Laurie advised that there would be a meeting of County Fire Chiefs regarding their budget. Later each Fire Chief will outline their priorities which at the present time include and alarm system in Kinross, Parson and Vehicle for Viking, Fire Hall improvement for Bruce, new Fire Hall in Holden and Foam Equipment for Ryley.

The County Fire Chief reported on two fires which occurred - one during December and the other in January. The December fire occurred on December 31, 1982 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Lignard of Holden. Damage was estimated at $9,000.00 with the fire being extinguished by the Holden Fire Department.

The January fire occurred in a mobile home owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jack McElroy and located in Kingsway Estates. The fire was attended to by the Tofield Fire Department and extinguished. Damage to contents and the home were estimated at $20,000.00. The McElroys were sleeping when the fire broke out and were alerted to the fire by a smoke detector, which probably saved their lives.

The World Should Forget???

During the past few weeks, the story of Klaus Barbie, alias Klaus Altmann, has unfolded on our television screens as the once Gestapo chief was arrested and extradited back to Paris to face a variety of charges related to his actions during World War II in France. History tells us, and Barbie does not deny it, that Klaus Barbie was the head of a section of the Gestapo in France during the War, with his main mission being to stop espionage and to attempt to wipe out the resistance forces in France. Through his efforts, thousands of French people were put to death, and thousands of Jews were sent by him back to Germany to face Hitler's infamous "final solution".

In times of war, many atrocities are committed on both sides of the conflict. Throughout history, one of the ironic aspects of man's conflicts with other men is that attempts have been made to make warfare more humane. In fact, in all aspects of dealing with real or potential harm to humans, people have attempted to make the act of doing more "humane", if that is possible. Examples of this can be seen in the way that those sentenced to die have been executed. We find the gradual development of a variety of methods throughout history with the sole purpose of making the death experience more humane. And it is this humane value that also lead over the years to the development of a set of rules for warfare, with the expressed objective of making warfare more humane.

The first of the modern day rules of war appeared in the middle 1860's with the first of the Geneva Conventions on warfare. Since that time, more rules of conduct developed for those engaging in war dealing with crimes of aggression, crimes against humanity and crimes against soldiers in opposition. Of course the ideal situation would be to eliminate war altogether, but the war to end all wars that ended in 1918 did not do the trick, and it seems that war has become inevitable. If this is true, then we must have rules such as those developed at Geneva. It is the only sane way of dealing with an insane situation.

And yet Klaus Barbie feels that anything should be allowed to happen in time of war. Barbie personally takes credit for having tortured people to death, and accepts responsibility for the murders of a vast number of people. Yet when confronted with his deeds, he is quoted as saying that he has forgotten about what he did, therefore everything else in the world should. He also absolves himself of responsibility for his actions by basically saying that war is war, and that anything should go. Well, Mr. Barbie, you are just what the rules of war are all about!

Anything should not be allowed to go on during war. It would be best if there were no wars, but if they are going to happen, then we must have some sense of humanity when dealing with them. Although Barbie's supporters will argue that such acts as those carried out by the "Butcher of Lyon" were also done by the allies, that does not make such actions right. All perpetrators of such crimes should be brought to justice. And thank your lucky stars that the type of justice is not that of which Klaus Barbie was part during World War II. Unfortunately for Klaus Barbie, and fortunately for us, his side lost. Now he must face the consequences.

For a wide variety of crimes in societies in this world there are statutes of limitations on trying the person charged of a crime. But when dealing with murder, there usually is no such limitation. And when we get to the abominations carried out by the Nazis on only one, or 1000 or 1,000,000 or 10,000,000 people during a war, there should never ever be a limit. Has off to those who worked so hard to bring this man back to Paris to face justice. And hats off to their continuing efforts.

Motions Defeated

did not indicate a binding commitment.

Councillor Holmes moved that the County of Beaver continue into an agreement with other municipalities for a feasibility study only.

The motion was defeated with Councillors Arrivault, Warner, Romaniuk and Krasak opposed and Reeve Knudsen, Councillor Maxwell and Councillor Holmes in favor.

Towards the end of the day, an item came up which was not listed on the agenda for the February 16th meeting. This was the proposed annexation of the section of land owned by Mr. C. Magnum, in the Village of Ryley.

For the past several months, the Village of Ryley has been considering the possibility of having a hazardous waste treatment plant located on the site which is located immediately north of the Village. A request by the Village to the Environment Department has resulted in extensive testing being done on the Magnum property.

Village of Ryley spokesman Ernie Brown stated that the Department initially drilled preliminary test holes on the entire Magnum section. Following this, they drilled 40 to 50 holes of 100 ft. to draw soil samples on the 'a' section that they showed the best potential for a site.

With these tests showing positive results, the Department just recently finished drilling 100 ft. holes, one for every two acres, into the test site equipment to test for ground water. The equipment must all for several months to gain the necessary data.

Mr. Brown said that the government also drilled one 300 ft. hole in the 'c' section of land considered best for a possible plant, and tested it under pressure for water flow. He said that the results showed only minimal water. He said that the geologists involved in the project have told him that no major problems have appeared to date with the site, but that they now must wait for the latest test results.

As a result of the Village's efforts to have the hazardous waste treatment plant, the necessary annexation of the Village annexing the Magnum land. In all hearings on such annexations, the Local Authorities Board reviews the opinions of the land owner and the municipality which the land lies. It is this opinion that the County dealt with at last Tuesday's meeting.

At the meeting, a motion was made that the County of Beaver approve the annexation of the 480 acres of Magnum property to the Village of Ryley. The motion was defeated, although it was not unanimous. Secretary-Treasurer Garth Barcroft said that no vote count was taken on the motion, but that it was defeated, and the vote was not unanimous against the motion.

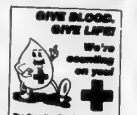

4-H On The Move

The plans have been made and committee members are getting excited about the big event the Northeast Regional 4-H Council is sponsoring in the near future.

The event is the Regional 4-H Adult Forum to be held on February 19th at Lake Louise College in Vermilion. It is a one day conference covering topics of interest to all 4-H adults (leaders, assistants, leaders, project leaders, adult committee members, parents, and junior leaders).

The day will start with registration and coffee from 9:00 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. Then the following workshops will be held:

1. "Growing Winners - a workshop designed for the 4-H leader to explore the ways and whys of club level communication activity and to explore the how-to skills of the club leader."
2. "Parent - Leader - Friend and the Kid" - a cooperative look at the responsibilities of the 4-H adult in relation to the 4-H member. How do you manage your relationship with a club and each member so as to mutually maximize the return on your investment.
3. Working with Youth: More Effective or Less Effective - how we have to prepare ourselves internally in order to create an effective relationship between us and the club members.

Rural Crime Watch

Editor's note: This is the first in a short series on Rural Crime Watch. Watch for future editions of the Weekly Review for more information on this subject.

Crime in the Rural Community

Breaking and entering, theft, vandalism and trespassing are steadily increasing in rural Alberta. We all have a vested interest in the problem, the trend of which can be curbed through the co-operative efforts of you, your neighbors and the police.

Who Pays For Rural Crime? Everyone. Rural crime is costing us millions of dollars every year. These costs are reflected not only in loss of property but in higher insurance premiums, replacement or repair of equipment and lost production time for the farmers and ranchers.

What Can You Do GET INVOLVED. You must understand what the problem is and the dimension of the problem. Most important, actively report and participate in all phases of Rural Crime Watch.

Rural Crime Watch is a co-operative community effort aimed at reducing crime at the grass roots level. It is based on the observation that a rural community where people are alert to the potential for crimes and willing to look out for each other is a community where crime is least likely to occur.

There are three basic elements to Rural Crime Watch: 1. Property Identification; 2. Home and Building Security; 3. Range Patrol.

OUR MOST IMPORTANT TRANSMISSION LINES ARE BETWEEN PEOPLE

The most difficult part of supplying electricity is often a question of balance.

Balancing the needs of all Albertans with those of an individual whose land must be crossed by transmission lines.

Balancing the desire to maintain low rates with the need to ensure the security of future supply.

Rosegarland W.I. Notes

The first meeting in the New Year of Rosegarland W.I. (January meeting was cancelled during the hotel cold spell) was held at the Home of Margaret Hill on Tues. Feb. 8 at 8:00 p.m. with an attendance of 18 members. Among our visitors we were honored to welcome Betty Parsons of Irma, Constituency. Conventor and her travelling companion, Audrey Nilsson and also Margaret Wilson, Director of District 2.

An informational letter from Provincial President was read and also a thank you card received from Kelli McVitty, who won the Rosegarland W.I. Scholarship of $25 for the student making the most progress in Grade 12. We were happy for Kelli for she is a very responsible, hard working girl.

Several handmade articles were brought to the meeting to be delivered to the District Conference on Feb. 10 and 16 which will then be taken to the World Convention in Vancouver, for the sale table. All W.I. branches are asked to send handicraft articles of a total value of one dollar per branch member. In our case, our membership numbers 14, therefore we will need articles with a total value of fourteen dollars.

Betty Parsons was then introduced and she once again caught us unaware with a questionnaire on how up-to-date we were on W.I. affairs, instead of giving us a talk. Her purpose was that in writing down answers and then reviewing them, we were more apt to remember, in other words, doing instead of listening. She had a good point for we realized that in our everyday busy lives, we tend to keep up on the news of our own organization. So beware, neighboring W.I.'s. If Betty hasn't already visited you, get your homework done. Break up on who the executive members are at all levels of Women's Institute, the conventions coming up and conventions past. This is a small peek at what she throws at you. Seriously, it is really a fun way of passing on information.

Betty also touched briefly on the upcoming workshop stated for the middle of March at Irma, the date is not yet finalized. She announced that the Constituency Conference will be held in Irma on April 8, and warned that because her term of office is up that we should be looking around for a new Constituency Conventor. She closed her presentation with a short poem "If You Were Busy". Thanks Betty, it has been a pleasure to have attended our meetings.

Margaret Wilson (District Director) urged as many members as possible to attend the District Conference which she will be convening, at the Grey House Centre in Edmonton on Feb. 10 and 16.

Bonuses included the following: A donation of fifteen dollars was sent to the Tolens Project to go towards the swimming pool planned for the disabled and able at Camp Ho Ho Ha.

A decision was made to be a part of the project for Zambia, whereby members are asked to knit 4 by 4 inch squares of any color wool, put in packages of six, seal in a strong envelope and send by surface mail to a given address in Zambia. There they will be stitched together into baby blankets. One small package will not make a blanket but several will and by mailing in small quantities of six separately it ensures that they will reach the destination of crying need. It's sad but true that to send them already made up as blankets or enough in one package to make one, they are quite often stolen by people who do not need them. Some members have already knitted several and displayed them at the meeting. It's a good way to use up odds and ends of wool and at the same time serve a worthy cause.

Irene Toverud, as representative of Rosegarland, attended an informational meeting at Kesteven Nursing Home called by Debbie Erickson, R.N. She reported on the talk given by Debbie on the need of the residents to be made a part of our community and she particularly stressed that this is only possible if people of the community care enough to make this happen.

Many organizations were represented. We, hopefully, will become a part of it. Irene then read her Education report on "International Affairs". She chose as her subject "The Falkland Island Crisis". In 1982, whereas she touched on the history, geography, the implications of war, results and the uneasy future of the islands.

Joan Brooks was then named official delegate to the District Conference and will be accompanied by Irene Sudbady.

The Polynesian Draw (Secret Pal for '83) was drawn first, followed by the usual "Pannies For Friendship Draw" which this time instructed "A penny for every article of clothing you are wearing" and trusting everyone was honest.

The birthday draw was won by Betty Parsons, a happy ending to her final visit as our Constituency Conventor.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Christine Klein on Tues. March 8 at 8 p.m. Roll Call: each member to bring a package of six knitted squares for the Zambia Project. Hostesses to be Christine Klein and Olga Skelley.

Mutual Life of Canada

An important message from Jim Barnes, AGT President:

Like other businesses, we've been hit hard by today's economic conditions. AGT has been caught between the increasing costs of interest on long term loans and operating costs, and decreasing revenues in profit-generating areas, incurring an overall loss of $52 million in 1982. Therefore:

AGT, on February 1st, applied to the Public Utilities Board for a rate increase of approximately 6%. It is important, I feel, for our customers to understand the reasons behind our decision to apply for an increase.

The application for an increase was not a step we wished to take, indeed we have explored every possible alternative to such an increase, and have implemented some headline reductions.

We cut our 1983 construction budget by $275 million, continued a freeze on hiring new employees, and have instituted internal cost cutting procedures throughout our operation to further reduce costs.

Even with these measures, however, AGT will require an increase of approximately 6%, just to achieve a financial "break even" position by the end of 1983.

The increase, coupled with our mandate to operate as efficiently as possible, will help AGT to continue to provide you with the level of service you have come to expect. It will also make it possible for us to continue to be a positive force in the province, and to help speed Alberta's economic recovery.

What the increase would mean to you:

Should our application be approved, rates for residential and business customers would rise by approximately 6%. (Where you live and what kind of equipment and services you have would affect the amount.)

There are seven exceptions to the proposed 6% guideline:

- Long Distance calls within Alberta: Charges for the first minutes would increase between 6 - 10% depending on the type of call, distance and time.
- Extended Flat Rate Calling: EPRC charges in the Edmonton area:
 - Residential customers' EPRC charges would increase 5c from 10c to 15c.
 - Single Line Business customers' EPRC charges would increase from 20c to 30c.
 - Business customers with switchboards or key equipment, EPRC charges would increase from 30c to 45c.
 - EPRC rates for centres, customers would increase from 7.5c per phone number to 11c.
- New Rural Individual Line Service: An increase from $100 to $200 per new rural individual line service. Cable mileage charges would increase from $25 1/4 mile (40c) material to $30/40 meters.
- Zone One OUTWATS and "100" Service: Charges would increase 8% to 10%.
- Interest on Overdue Accounts: Would increase from 1.5% monthly to 1.8% monthly on a balance forward of $20.00.
- Non-Sufficient Funds Charge: Would incur a $10.00 charge.
- Directory Assistance Calls: Effective November 1, 1983 calls for numbers listed in the Directory would cost 30c.

Curling Club News

There were so many curlers curling all over the country this past weekend that I can't keep track of them all.

In Edmonton, Ducky Halse and Doug DeBru almost made it to the Brier; you gave it a good shot fellows and we were very pulling for you. I for one am disappointed that Provincial curling isn't given better T.V. coverage. I'm told that the Red Deer station even broadcasts it's farmer's bonspiel. Oh what wistful thinking!

The Legion playdowns were held in Vermilion also with the two Viking teams competing. Sorry to say the Gentles fell by the wayside. Their get up and go, just got up and went.

For Speed Maxwell's team it was a different story. They came home undefeated after four games and now advance to the Provincials at Hylton next weekend. Congratulations and Good Luck!

Three Viking teams travelled to Mandare on Saturday to curl in the United Grain Growers Pussie.

The Tom Mattinson team of Karen Cumming, Wilfred Leild and John Cumming (skip) took first place and brought home U.G.G. jackets. Stacy McLean's team was fourth and Gordon Bonar was somewhere among the rest. All reported a good time with some smokes to boot.

Dea Cumming with a variety of curlers was curling at Bruce in the Men's Bonspiel.

The "A" final game in the tournament was between Wainwright and Two Hills playing Wainwright by a score of 12 to 6.

The Viking Mites would like to thank everyone who worked to make our tournament a success. Also we would like to thank everyone who came out to see our tournament and league games. Our support is greatly appreciated. We would also like to thank all those who supported Minor Hockey by buying tickets to the St. Valentine's Day and Dance held this past weekend.

Curling Club News

Our Junior Curlers travelled to Courtenay for the high school curling, however the boys team skipped by Leif Erickson had a bad day and were defeated twice and thus eliminated from further competition.

The girls, skipped by Diane Maxwell, fared a bit better and qualified out of the B section and now advance to the next playdowns in Banff this weekend. The winner will advance to the Provincials in Calgary. Good Luck Girls. We'll be cheering for you. To the boys all I can say is think "next year".

We had our third Fun Night on Friday with all having a good time. The winning team was Shaun Carlier, Doug Place and Karen Cumming. The last curl prize went to Glen Maxwell, Mel Carlier and Mark Cumming. Harold Place was the door prize. Thanks to all for coming.

Pee Wees Ousted By Bashaw In Provincials

On Feb. 8, Viking Pee Wees travelled to Banff for the first round "B" Provincials. All matches were played two game total points.

The game opened with Bashaw really dominating the play with our team seemingly taking time to get oriented to the smaller ice surface. Bashaw slipped in four unanswered goals after 20 minutes of play.

In the second, Viking never once to give up, was playing much better hockey and at the 7:44 mark Cory Weichuk from Jason Clouston and Tammy Maxwell blunked the red light. But Bashaw with some super swiftness on our team popped in two more.

Bashaw notched one more in the third but Viking was unable to slip that puck between the pipes despite many opportunities. The first game thus ended 7 - 1 for Bashaw.

Viking hosted Bashaw Sunday afternoon determined to show Bashaw we could play classy hockey too. Viking came out very expensive on home territory and Jason Clouston unassisted lit up the scoreboard first.

Viking was the team that was doing the great forechecking and making Wayne Gretzky passes with the defense really holding that puck in their end. Todd Ritchie assisted by Jason Krips popped in Viking's second of the period, then at the 5:40 mark Cory Weichuk slipped our third in.

NEW DIRECT REBATES FOR AGRICULTURAL PRODUCERS

Are you eligible for a new rebate for using natural gas in primary agricultural production?

To ensure that Albertans will continue to enjoy the lowest natural gas costs in Canada, the Province now provides new direct rebates for primary agricultural production under the terms of the Natural Gas Price Protection Plan. This additional rebate is in the amount of 50 cents per gigajoule (GJ) or 52.7 cents per 1000 cubic feet (Mcf) on annual consumption exceeding 300 GJ (285 Mcf), and up to a maximum of 10,000 GJ (9500 Mcf). In dollar terms, this translates to a maximum rebate of $4,800.

Those eligible for the rebates include Albertans engaged in the production and processing of field crops, livestock and poultry operations, greenhouses (including ornamental), irrigation, grain drying, and sod and peat moss farms. Farmers responsible for their natural gas costs are also eligible.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

- The rebate will apply on consumption of natural gas of over 300 GJ (285 Mcf) and up to a maximum of 10,000 GJ (9500 Mcf) used during a calendar year by an eligible producer.
- Users may apply for rebate anytime for the calendar years 1982, 1983 and 1984.
- The program is retroactive to January 1, 1982 and will terminate on December 31, 1984.
- The rebate will be calculated on the total consumption of an applicant, regardless of the number of gas meters or service outlets.

HOW DO YOU APPLY?

Information brochures, including rebate application forms, are available from your natural gas distributor, District Agriculturalist, or by writing:

The second game of the day was between Viking and Chavira with the Viking boys taking the win. The Irma and Viking teams battled it out in the final. The first two goals for Viking were scored by J. Hollar and K. Rattray. Irma then took over the scoring race with goals by Craig Copeland assisted by Darren Prior, Lee Gwin assisted by Wayne Fleming and Dan Larson unassisted. This made the score 5-2 for Irma at the end of the first period. Viking came back in the second period and tied it up with a goal by Mark Leford. Irma not to be outdone came up again with a goal from Craig Copeland. Mark Leford scored again for Viking tying it up once more.

Irma News And Views

Five and a half tables played white in the Drop-in centre on the evening of Friday, Feb. 11th with the following results. Ladies high score went to Maude Kellar with a score of 180 while Grace Archibald was at the other end of the scale with a score of 138. Ladies Sat was more high with a score of 178 while Jim Jackson got the consolation with a score of 147. Lunch and socializing concluded one more enjoyable evening. Critique will be the order of the day for Friday evening

Feb. 19th at 7:00 p.m. Congratulations and best wishes for many more years of happy married life are extended to Bruce and Alie Wilkerson of Waterville who celebrated their Silver Anniversary on Saturday, Feb. 12th in the Elks Hall at Waterville. First a banquet was held for the family and close friends, then at 8:00 p.m. it became open to the public. The capstone of dancing was supplied by "The Good Time Band", and dancing continued until 3 A.M.

One day last week two crows were seen beside the road, about a mile north of Hardisty. They were distinctly crows, not ravens as was the case with some birds seen some weeks ago between Waterville and Falgout.

Johnnie and Kay Pessier and Keith and Mrs. Cressy flew from Edmonton International Airport on Sunday evening on a five day charter to Las Vegas, Nevada.

Gertie and Phyllis Tomlinson from Waterville and Norris and Shirley Tomlinson from Edmonton visited with the boys mother Mrs. Elma Tomlinson and Aunt Mrs. Ella Skiles at Irma over the weekend. They also attended the silver anniversary of their sister Alene and Bruce Wilkerson in Waterville on Saturday evening. This area of North America has enjoyed on unusually mild winter to this point in time, and in spite of the dire predictions of some pessimists, it continues to be in fact in recent days has become even milder.

Debenture Debt Ceiling Reached

The Town of Viking has reached its debenture debt ceiling for capital expenditures with the approval of a $507,000 loan by the Local Authority Board. The loan was received for the development of the Loughlin subdivision.

Notice of the ceiling was given by Mayor Hamilton at the regular February meeting of the Viking Town Council. The Mayor said that the Town had to agree not to undertake any more capital expenditures which would take debenture debt for the next three years.

Discussion on the debenture loan, No. 276, raised the issue of whether or not the Town should go ahead with development of the first phase of the subdivision.

Councillor Ritchie was concerned that approval of the bylaw meant approval for the development. He said that he would like to see the development proceed, but felt that he would like to have the budget set so that they would know where they were going financially.

The Mayor said that approval of the bylaw was not a firm commitment to go ahead with the subdivision, but will use the money if they go ahead. The Mayor said that he felt that it was not a wise business move at this time to go ahead with the development, but he felt that the Town had a responsibility to provide the loan.

Councillor Evans said that he would not want to see the Town go ahead with the development, but he felt that it was not a wise business move at this time to go ahead with the development, but he felt that the Town had a responsibility to provide the loan.

Magician Show At Arts Centre

Plans are proceeding for Magician Murray Hatfield's performance at the Beaver Arts Centre in Holden on Saturday, February 26 at 8:00 p.m. Members of the Arts Society are hoping for a good public response to efforts to bring quality family entertainment to the Arts Centre.

At the age of twenty, Murray Hatfield is quickly becoming one of Canada's better known magicians. A young, personable performer, Murray manages to capture the imagination of the young and old alike, taking them into the world of "Fantasy and Illusion".

Murray, assisted by beautiful young ladies, combined dance, fire, color, and illusions, to present his Dynamic show, which has appeared from Coast to Coast, looking up some of North America's biggest stars.

Combining Magic and Comedy, Murray strives not only to amaze and mystify, but to "Entertain" as well. Murray's success is proven in the fact that his peers in the Magical Fraternity have given him numerous awards for his work.

Some recent bookings include a Canadian Fair Tour, taking Murray from the Victoria to Vancouver area.

North Killam R.E.A. Transfers Facilities

Members of the North Killam R.E.A. voted February 14, 1982 to transfer their distribution facilities to TransAlta Utilities. North Killam is the 6th of 310 R.E.A.s to elect to transfer its facilities, customers and responsibilities to TransAlta and to take electric service directly from the utility. The 28 members of the North Killam R.E.A. join almost 15,000 farm customers who were previously served through the R.E.A. structure and who are now served directly by TransAlta. This brings TransAlta's total number of farm customers to over 18,000.

Members present at the meeting voted unanimously in favour of the transfer.

In addition to the voting members, representatives from TransAlta Utilities, Farm Electric Services and the (Provincial) Government were in attendance at the meeting in the Killam Fire Hall.

Myron Wiestowicz, TransAlta's Camrose Division Manager, said after the meeting, "We will continue to provide the residents of the area with the same high level of service as we have in the past."

Members of the North Killam R.E.A. live in the area north of the town of Killam, east of Camrose.

N.F.U. Calls For Opposition On Pepin's Plans For Crow

The federal government is adopting a "blitzkrieg approach" in an attempt to dilute opposition to changes in the Crow rate agreement, according to the President of the National Farmers Union (N.F.U.).

Wayne Easter said the government's plan to have Cabinet Ministers fan out across the country advising Transport Minister Jean Luc Pepin's proposals for Crow legislation represents

"the greatest brainwashing exercise in Canada's history." "It's a well-coordinated effort to try to confuse the majority of Canadians who support the existing Crow rate structure," he asserted. "The government knows opposition to Crow change is immense, and it's trying to do everything in its power to neutralize that opposition. They'll be taking slightly different versions of the announcement to various regions of the country, trying to convince each region it's getting the best deal. In reality, the best deal will be going to the railways."

Easter called for a common front of those opposed to Pepin's plan for wholesale restructuring of the grain handling and transportation system in the west. "It's time we all stood together and told the government what we as producers want, rather than accept whatever the government wants to shove down our throats."

GRAIN FARMERS CANNOT AFFORD 'USER PAY'

Parliamentary writers are preparing the first draft of a Bill which may transfer uncalculated freight costs to farmers.

No relationship between farmers' ability to pay and grain freight rates is included in the government's plan.

Freight costs payable by farmers will escalate drastically after 1987, even with modest inflation.

Farmers are invited to a public meeting at the Lamoureux Hall, Fort Saskatchewan at 1:00 p.m. on Thursday, March 3rd, 1983. The meeting is designed to help you understand how the plan announced February 1st by J. L. Pepin will affect grain producers. Be there if you care about your future.

Barley growers in Central Alberta who choose certified Diamond seed will find that this variety consistently outyields Galt and Monclike, yet is two to four days earlier than either.

Buffalo Coulee W.I. Report

Nine members answered roll call on Jan. 20 by telling about the first car they had.

Barbara Fleming is the newly elected president while filling the position of Secretary is Marion Lukens and the new treasurer is Diane Prior.

New Directors are Frances Prosser, Ann Jones and Marjory Baras.

Quits were among the many topics discussed. More are to be made and a couple are yet to be finished this year.

It is hoped that two members will attend the District II Conference in Edmonton in February.

Congratulations were in order for Frances Prosser for being able to attend the A.C.W.W. Conference which being held in Vancouver this year.

Several gifts are being made which are to be sent to A.C.W.W. gift shop.

A donation of $25.00 was given to the Office Fund.

Elben Prior gave a citizenship paper on Immigration and Diane Prior had a contest and a draw.

The president left us with this thought for the day, "If cooperation isn't necessary you know what happens when a wheel falls off a wagon."

Diane Prior was her usual great hostess as we enjoyed tea together.

Feb. 17th was a net visit, but ten members, two nippers and three young ladies were present for the Buffalo Coulee W.I. regular monthly meeting at Harley Baras's.

Barbara Fleming and Jean Ferguson had just arrived home the night before from the District II Conference at the Grey Nuts Centre in Edmonton. They gave a very interesting report and were just bursting with enthusiasm and information gained from this conference.

Among the speakers were some lawyers, a craft demonstrator and information from those attending F.W.I.C. convention in New Brunswick last year.

The Provincial Convention is to be at Oils on May 31, June 1 and 2 this year. A donation of $25.00 was given to the Heart Fund this month.

About 30 cookie boxes were packaged for friends who are in Lodges or clubs and our Valentine Greetings.

Jean Ferguson had a contest won by Nina Keller. Marjory Baras had a hostess draw which was won by Brunswick last year. Following the meeting we enjoyed a visit over tea.

The March meeting is set for March 17. Bring an Irish story or something pertaining to St. Patrick's Day for Roll Call. A donation will be made to the Red Cross.

Contest will be by Barbara Fleming. Hopefully a D.A. will be present with some interesting topic. See you at Marion Lukens' house March 17th. Visitors are always welcome.

Nina Keller also.

Alumni Team Takes Second Game

The Irma arena was really rocking when the Wainwright Blues came to town to take on an alumni team made up of ex-Blues. Blues coach Dave Schuchman came up with the idea to have two such games with the proceeds going to minor hockey. The first game was held in Wainwright with the present day Blues winning 10-8 in front of a small crowd.

It was a different story when the teams came to Irma though, as a much larger crowd was on hand, and $275.00 was raised at the door as well as $85.00 at the bank. That's one thing about Irma people, when there's something to support like minor hockey, or a benefit game, they come out in droves to take in the action and make their contribution.

And what an entertaining game they had in store for them. The first game ended in favor of the alumni team 10-8 and the outcome of the game wasn't decided until the last minute of the play. There were quite a few Irma players on this alumni team in the form of Len Parsons, Brian Burr, Darryl Nilsson, Dale Nilsson, Ray Tomlinson, Marvin Halk, Ken Gultbraa, Margy Jones, Kevin Mackay, Marvin Mackay and Gary Phillips. Gerry Mills, Terry Joy, Steve Soble, and Jerry Faly made up the rest of the awesome unit which was coached by Gord Mills who has been a part of the Blues team since it was formed in 1970. Gord Holt and Greg Fischer were slated to play but were unable to due to injuries.

Steve Soble scored the first goal just two minutes into the game assisted by Ken Gultbraa, and Dale Nilsson. Joe Holt replied for the Blues three minutes later assisted by Dwight Mackay and Kevin Busch. Then Len Parsons fired one in with assistance going to Darryl Nilsson and Brian Burr. Less than a minute later Steve Soble scored again, helped by Jerry Faly and Dale Nilsson. Dwight Mackay hammered in an unassisted marker to pull the Blues to within a goal by the end of the period.

The third period was wide open as John White scored right off the bat for the Blues and tied it up four minutes later assisted by Dwight Mackay and Rocky Kile. The alumni's pulled ahead again after Dale Nilsson scored assisted by Steve Soble, only to have Dwight Mackay tie it up again after collecting a Kevin Oullette pass. With six minutes remaining Steve Soble scored his fifth goal of the evening unassisted, but with two minutes to go Blair Macnab drove in a slapshot to tie it again.

Glen Martin assisted on that one. Then with one minute left on the clock, Brian Burr jammed in the winning goal assisted by Darryl and Dale Nilsson and the alumni held on to the win.

The alumni took 49 shots at Mike Sorey while Terry Joy handled 36 Blues shots. The two netminders both put in fine performances considering all the snipers who were hovering around in front of them. There were only a handful of penalties. The crowd got quite a kick out of the "golags on" between the brothers playing against each other. Throughout the game and Marvin Holt found himself playing horseshoes on the ice after Joe Holt nailed him with a body-check. Some people argue that Martin's skate was undone at the time though, causing him to lose his balance.

Echo Rodino News

Congratulations to Lori Greenwood who won second in Category E at the Science Fair held at Viking School on Tuesday.

Bruce Greenwood was lucky enough to win men's second at the Senior Citizens whist game in Kinella on last Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Mackowski accompanied by Mr.

and Mrs. Garry Wright of Vermilion travelled to Looma to attend a house warming held there Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Holt have returned home from a holiday in B.C. and the state of Washington. They report having had an enjoyable visit with relatives while taking in the B.C. scenery.

Before one of the oldest residential landmarks in the Town of Viking, the residence of the late Jack Shervik, which was built in 1917 awaits its destiny as a museum.

After, within a few hours all that was left was a tangle of boards.

Irma Council Supports Joint Use Of School

The Council of the Village of Irma met in regular session in the Village office on Tuesday, Feb. 1, 1983.

The Irma Curling Club requested representation on the Irma Recreation Board at such time as a new agreement is drafted. This information was received and filed.

An application was received from Beldhill Holdings Ltd. "Hann Bros" requesting approval for a used car sales outlet from the old curling rink site. It was decided that Council has no objection to the proposed business.

A discussion ensued relative to the time and costs for burials services and the current rates being charged. After some discussion it was moved that rates for opening and closing graves in the Irma Cemetery, by the Village Council, be set as follows: May 1st to October 31st, $125.00; November 1st to April 30th, $175.00. It was also decided that effective March 1, 1983 Burial Plots be set at $50.00 per plot in the Irma Cemetery.

The Council also requested joint use of the Irma School, Councillor Dempsey submitted a report from the meeting of the Teachers and Staff of the School Board, Irma Recreation Board, and Village Council, also representation from the Teachers and Staff of the School. He reports that the School Authorities imply that due to regulations as set out by the Department of Education that the building should not be enlarged as proposed in the Recreation Board's proposal. The Board's recommendation of various alterations within the existing building were not complete with those originally proposed, as a joint use facility. Council decided that they, in principle, support the proposed outline plan, for a joint use facility of the Irma School Gym, with kitchen, washroom and meeting room facilities at the west end of the school as proposed by the Irma Recreation Board.

In further deliberation, it was unanimously agreed that the community could benefit substantially from joint use of the facilities of the school.

By-law No. 558 has been prepared to authorize the Village of Irma to enter into a Regional Solid Waste Disposal Authority within the Municipal District of Wainwright No. 61.

The above by-law received its first, second and third readings at this meeting.

TOBIN CANOLA

HIGHER YIELD THAN CANDLE!
 Tobin is a new Polish canola variety which yields canola by 7% while maintaining similar quality.

Tobin has the essential characteristics of low erucic acid oil and low glucosinolate meal to qualify as canola. This quality is required by all domestic crushers and is preferred by export buyers as well.

Tobin is the first Polish canola to be resistant to white rust or sheathhead. The early maturity of Polish canola means Tobin is particularly suited to areas with shorter growing seasons.

If your choice is Polish, your choice should be certified Tobin.

Two Months Visit In The Emerald Isle

Next we went to Dublin by bus and visited with an old pal of Jim named Jack Watkins, who served in the Civic Guards for 42 years. Now he has retired and asked us to leave, which we did immediately.

We helped Alice do 121 bags, about 300 pounds of cauliflower and put it in the deep freeze. We then watched "Day By Day" a popular comedian on T.V. Plan went on to see Saturday night as he would be free to play golf on Sunday. We visited Eileen and Joe Guent and really enjoyed their cheerful turf fire. We also paid a visit to Eva Clark and family. Eva recently lost her husband, George, with a brain tumor. Clark's life right beside Billingham Castle which, although being hundreds of years old, is still in good condition. The roof is weather proof and the floors intact. The castle is reported to be haunted. About ten years ago an Englishman bought the castle and had one level renovated and furnished. He went to bed one night in it. Next morning, he was gone. We were there two years later and he hadn't come back so we sent my message up to that time.

One day we saw where a car had laid the road and rolled. And another day we came by where a mother and daughter and their dog had been killed in a head-on collision with a van. They were driving on the wrong side of the road. Accidents on the roads, some of which are both crooked and narrow, are every day occurrences. Old age pensions and family allowances are paid in cash by the Post Office. The cash is delivered by trucks similar to the London in Canada. These trucks have been robbed so frequently in recent months that security has been tightened very strictly. We were in town one day and were near the Post Office when suddenly a Civic Guard roared up close to the Post Office and stopped. Right behind that was a heavy load of soldiers in battle dress with rifles at the ready. They jumped down and took up positions around the front of the Post Office. A real military operation.

We went to a whisky drive and met many friends. The sun was shining. Jack took us for a drive to Birr, Shanabridge, a small town, then back through Shannonbridge and onto Berrinacorney where we visited Eileen McLean, daughter-in-law and grandchildren Janice and Donald. Eileen is a double first cousin to Bob Dempsey. She was looking very well and we had a very pleasant visit with her.

Next we visited Violet Mooney at Drumree. A neighbor, Cyril Crawford, was there and we became acquainted with him. We drove home by Shiroon.

October 24th we attended John Gil's funeral at Bannahugh. Jim's nephew, a niece of Jim's. That evening we attended a Harvest Festival at Agahonach. The church was beautifully decorated and was filled to capacity. In fact, many were unable to get in. We met the organist Mr. White who had been to Canada and also

Aces Defeat Hughenden - Tie Daysland

Last Wednesday the Iron Aces went to Hughenden and defeated the Jets 7-3. Len Parsons scored a hat-trick with Bob Foley, Kevin Mackay, Morgan Jones and Garret Mackay picking up singles. Kent Gullbra had two assists, and Bob Foley, Brian Barry, Dale Nilsson, Kevin Mackay, Morgan Jones and Turk Gullbra collecting single helpers.

Ivan Bacon was kept busy and didn't allow any goals until the third period. Actually there was some question as to whether Ivan would start the game as he couldn't find one of his leg pads. It had disappeared at the last practice as a joke, and there were some pretty long faces as Ivan questioned people about their whereabouts during the break.

Then after all the excuses were used up, Ivan pulled his pad out of an equipment bag and rolled on the bench laughing along with everybody else.

The Aces had their first tie of the season when Daysland paid a visit for the last game of the regular season. Iron Aces had the lead 6-3 during the third period but the North Stars battled back to tie it late in the game. The teams were fairly even in shots on net with Iron taking 22 while Daysland took 23 at Ivan Bacon. Aces doubled the penalty minutes over the North Stars though and had 4 power play markers scored against them.

Len Parsons scored another hat-trick, and Garret Mackay had two, and Jay Fenton put one in Gord Holt and Bob Foley each had two assists while Garret Mackay, Brian Barry, Morgan Jones, Turk Gullbra, Dale Nilsson, Kevin Mackay, Al Peterson, and Ray Tomlinson had single assists.

Brian Barry joined Greg Fletcher on the injury list after he wrenched his knee in the second period. Hopefully they'll be ready to go in the play-offs. The Aces finished the regular schedule with a 26 win, one loss, and one tie record. They will sit out the first round of play-offs and will likely see action next week. The Aces scored a total of 281 goals in 20 games and allowed 96, making for a 3.50 goals per game average. Use The Stars

There were a few fights in the last couple of games. Al Fenton and a Jet Defence man had a go in Hughenden and another fellow and Jim Owen went at it. Jay Fenton was also involved in an altercation in Daysland. See you at the games!

Viking Curling Club Report

With no report last week, most of this is old news. However, Congratulations first to Kirk Maxwell and Mike McLean for reaching the Provincial Playdowns and good luck this weekend. The girls High School team played off at Bowfit last weekend; winning two of their games and losing two which eliminated them for any further action. They gave it a good try and can now plan for next year.

The Regular Legion team travelled to Hythe last weekend for the Provincials. They were played with car troubles and the eight hour trip just took all the sipp out of them. The draw was a slight knockout, lose one and it's goodbye. Congratulations anyway for reaching the provincials and give it another try next year.

Curling in the Ranchury Mixed Bonspiel was the team of Lyle and Muriel Jackson, Deb Erickson and Brian White who were the runners-up in the second event.

The Curling Rink has been very busy these last two weeks with the regular curling plus the Co-op Funspiel on February 18th and the Knights of Columbus Spiel on Sunday, February 28th.

On Friday night the County teachers had a Fun Spiel and Saturday found the Northwestern Utilities crew holding their bonspiel. The rink is getting lots of use this year and everyone is enjoying the time.

The Men's Monday night curling has only two weeks left until play-offs and you are missing some good curling. Leading in points and undefeated are the teams of Henry and Vern Halse, Right behind are Darryl Maxwell and Garry Leutz.

The Curling Club would like to thank everyone who supported our curling pool. Winners for February 16th were Jack Pelton, Ray Olson, Glen Maxwell, Dave Maxwell and Henry Halse. Winners for February 21st were Margaret Torrance, Bill Ash, W.D. Place, C.R. McLean and Hans Jorgensen. This week we have a Ladies Only pool going and will be paid on the 28th of February and March 2nd games.

Longhield was beating their Ladies Bonspiel this past weekend and from Viking and Kinella the team of Karen Cunningham, Rosale Skerri, Carole Sherry and Penny Amundson took part. They reported a "very good" time but no prizes.

The Viking Junior Curlers are planning a Mixed Bonspiel for March 9 to 18 for High School and Junior High curlers. Entry fee are $32.00 so pass the word if you know of any students that would be interested.

Entries can be placed in runners-up in the second event.

Our last curling Fun Night will be the evening of Friday, March 4 at 7:30 p.m. Bring your friends and join us for some fun curling.

Randi Hastings of Tofield finished third for a project on "Inhibiting Corrosion". In the grade 4-6 level the judges found students from Tofield, Viking and Ryley placing 1st, 2nd, and 3rd respectively. Brad Hodgins took second place in the individual student category for Viking School.

Shelia Mical and Brenda Jobe again caught the judges' approval for their demonstration showing which detergent soaks out stains best and returned to Viking with a first.

Rosanne Motkozi and Kathy Laube were awarded second place at the County Fair for a well put together project on the growth of canna.

Stephen Hoyland and David Anderson's project on the "Effects of Quick Freeze On Plants" was awarded the third place finish.

Congratulations are extended to each and every student and their teachers for their participation.

A number of students and their projects will now represent the County of Beaver at the Edmonton Regional Science Fair.

Aquatic Centre Attracts Local Interest

The Aquatic Aquatic and Fitness Centre has now been in operation for three months. Our program has been accepted very well and we hope they continue to be so.

The first thing I would like to do is commend the Town of Two Hills for their participation at the Aquatic and Fitness Centre. Two Hills comes to the Pool every Monday evening with a bus load of people. The organization of such a weekly feat is phenomenal and we will welcome any other community in the same manner. Congratulations Two Hills, you are definitely participating!

Our first set of lessons is nearing to an end quickly. Registration for the next set of lessons will begin February 19th and run through March 11, 1983. Times for registration are 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. In-person registration only please as payment is also requested at this time.

A new schedule will be in full operation beginning March 19th. There will be a notice posted in each paper. Please cut this schedule out, as it will remain the same for the next three months. The Aquatic and Fitness Centre staff have hopefully designed a schedule that will meet the needs of each individual in the communities that we serve. The staff is always open to suggestions regarding changes, please feel free to write your suggestions down and drop them off at the front office. These suggestions can then be considered for our next schedule.

The Aquatic and Fitness Centre is also available for private rentals. If a group of people want to get together and rent the facility a time can be arranged. A fee is charged for such rentals in order to adequately supervise the number of people utilizing the facility.

The Aquatic and Fitness Centre is also accepting a toy donation. We are trying to obtain desirable toys in order to improve the lessons for younger children; however, through experimentation with the toys is very successful. If you have any toys you'd like to donate, please bring them to the pool and drop them off at the front office. Your donations will be greatly appreciated.

Willertons Celebrate 50 Years

Norman Willerton and Eleanor Barber were united in Holy Matrimony on December 1, 1933 by the late Rev. J.E. Gosses of Iron Union Church, at the farm home of Eleanor's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Barber of Iron, Alberta. Norman had immigrated to Canada in May 1929 from Willsburgh, Lancashire, England.

They journeyed by horse-drawn sleigh to the groom's farm in the Roseberry District (north of Felsay, Alberta) where they resided until February 1970 when they returned to 965 4th Avenue, Wainwright.

A 50th Anniversary Celebration was held on November 27, 1982 in the M.K. Hall in Wainwright, to mark the happy event.

Norman and Eleanor were greeted by many relatives when they celebrated the 50th anniversary. They were most truly surprised to find Mr. and Mrs. Russell Judd (cousins) from Hinton, Quebec amongst the group.

A Family Supper began the evening. Attending were their children: Don - Bruce and Alice Willerton, Richard, Brenda, Eddie, and Eric; Daughter - Norma and Pete Belton, Val and Roy; and Daughter - Ruby and Randy Olson, Lana and Len. Also attending were Eleanor's brothers, sister, sister-in-law, nieces, nephews and numerous cousins. Norman's relatives all resided in England.

They were escorted to the head table, which was centered by their 50th Anniversary cake. It had been baked by their daughter Norma and beautifully decorated by Nora Taylor. Nora, besides being a close farm neighbor of the Willertons, was also decorating their 50th Anniversary cake. Bruce Willerton acted as M.C. for the family supper. After Eleanor's brother Dennis offered Grace, everyone enjoyed a delicious supper, catered by Gladys Sawyer. Then reminiscences of "Court-ing Days and the Wedding Day" were expressed by Louise Prosser and Dennis Barber. Kerlie Willerton spoke on behalf of the grandchildren. Bill Hanna brought greetings from all the relatives in Eastern Canada; and then proposed a college in 1946. In 1947 he was called into the Ministry and was ordained into the United Church. He has served in several churches in Ontario. During 1977, he became an evangelist, and has spoken at numerous churches and camps. Gordon joined "100 Huntley Street" as counselling director in 1979. He and his wife Ruth have a family of four.

The U.C.N.F. members in Alberta have invited Reverend Williams to speak to them. He will be coming to the Battle River Chapter and will be at the Viking United Church on Fri., Mar. 11 at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Reverend Williams To Speak In Viking

Albert, Edmonton, Calgary, Devon, Viking, Irma, Medicine Hat, Vermilion, Cold Lake, Vancouver, B.C.; Treherne, Manitoba, and Shawville, Quebec.

As well as all the personal good wishes, Norman and Eleanor received many gifts, flowers, telegrams, calls, telegrams, and cards. For all of which will be treasured always.

Holden School On Hold

The Board of Education of the County of Beaver will recommend to the County Council that all major capital projects be put on hold for the present. This decision was reached at a meeting of the Board in Ryley on Monday.

Yesterday, the Board met with representatives of the Holden and Ryley commuties to explain the position of the Board with respect to the situation with the Ryley and Holden schools.

At the meeting, Board Chairman Hjordis Armitage explained that the Board has set a budget for 1983 and that this proposed budget would be presented to the County Council this Friday. The proposed budget includes recommendations on hours of operation of the schools, and staffing of the school system within the County.

Mrs. Armitage told the Review that the Board had gone in the Department of Education for advice on finances. She said that Neil Gannon and Les Matthews of the Department reviewed the situation in early March and met with the Board. She said that they were told that no special assistance would be coming forward to the County from the Province, and that they would have to operate with the tax dollars and the 5% increase in Provincial assistance.

Mrs. Armitage said that the Board currently reviews all the proposed capital expenditures for the year, and decided to put a hold on any construction for the Holden School and on the proposed Industrial Arts and Home Economics facilities for Telford due to the deficit financial position expected for the County this year.

Because of this position, Mrs. Armitage said that a budget review will be undertaken by the Board in September to see if they are meeting their objectives. The Board has also decided to pre-budget for the first three months of 1984.

Mrs. Armitage said that the Board is looking to raise the mill rate for educational taxation, depending on what the County Council decides on Friday. She said that the County presently spends the least amount of "perp dollars" in relation to the actual jurisdictions surrounding the County. According to the Board Chairman, the County spends $648 per pupil, while the County of Two Hills spends $1022 and the County of Minburn spends $1043 per pupil.

Mrs. Armitage said that the bottom line is that the Board presently has very, very limited capital dollars. She said that the Board is going to ask the County Council to defer for one year the Board's share of the capital cost of the addition to the County office, which comes to $1.2 million. She said that this decision would help the present situation, and could be dealt with next year as a major priority. Because of their position, there will definitely be a hold on construction at Holden and Telford.

Roberta Schweitzer, of the Future of Holden School Committee, told the Review that their Committee has no real problems with the stand taken by the Board as long as they get their budgeting and expenditures in order and do some pre-planning of their capital position so that next year they are ready to go ahead with the Holden and Telford projects.

Mrs. Schweitzer said that the Committee is hopeful that the Board is working for the long term, and that there will be a tax increase for education in the County. According to Mrs. Schweitzer, the group wants the four major schools to be fully operational offering full programming. She said that they had recommended that the schools in Holden and Ryley return to the 8 period day from the present situation of only 7 periods. She said it was unfair to the students to be expected to finish the same curriculum with one month less time in class.

Mrs. Schweitzer said that there is no way that the Committee can accept the Junior and Senior High being closed down in Holden. She said that they have confidence in the Board and that they will see it through.

Fish And Game Support Siting

The Alberta Fish & Game Association strongly recommends that the Provincial Government site the proposed hazardous waste plant within a 100 km radius of Edmonton. Ron Gladish announced at the Association's annual conference in Grande Prairie.

"The Association, representing more than 25,000 Alberta conservationists in 130 clubs throughout the province, supports the Provincial Government and the Minister of the Environment in its approach to environmental safety in siting the proposed treatment facility. "We fully recognize the difficulties that arise in having to deal with an ill informed public who are not willing to accept their responsibility for waste disposal," says Gladish.

"The Association has been monitoring the siting situation throughout the province and we are convinced that interest groups who oppose the project do not have their arguments on credible information, particularly when the siting criteria is completed with each case."

During the past two years, the Provincial Government has investigated suitable sites for the facility. To date, three areas of the province are actively pursuing the drilling program for a hazardous waste treatment facility which is part of an integrated waste management system for the province.

Legislation for a Crown agency to provide the framework for a hazardous waste management system and legislation for the identification, treatment and disposal of hazardous waste has been passed. As well, a proposal to build the high technology facility to treat and dispose of Alberta's special waste has been chosen.

The Association's statement strengthens the recommendation made by the Environment Council of Alberta which supports siting a facility within a 100 km radius of Edmonton.

The Association agrees with the ECA's judgement that the system proposed will not constitute a threat to human health or the environment.

Choir To Present Easter Concert

Mrs. Geo. Lambert, Director and Mr. Ian Deshpande, Pianist, both of Edmonton have been practicing several weeks with the local group, including soloists and duets and are hoping to have good turn outs to hear this presentation.

Agriculture - What Future?

Another issue on the horizon is the problem of markets. Canadian agriculture relies on export markets for economic survival, and with record crops being produced lately, one wonders if the supply won't overtake the demand. There are always people starving in this world, but the economics of today's agriculture will not allow industries such as the one we have in Canada to "give away" the product. Couple this with the current economic situation, and the move by some governments in the world to heavily subsidize export commodities, and one has to wonder about Canada's future in the export business. It will take aggressive marketing to maintain a satisfactory position in relation to the Reaganomics of the United States.

Another major factor is the tremendous growth of technology, particularly in the computing field. What is in store for the farmer of the future in relation to the use of computers in business? What will happen to the equipment which is used so extensively on our farms? Will we see "remote controlled" or "computerized" machinery in our fields? The scope of developments in this area seems extensive, and the ability of today's farmers to adapt to the new technology may determine their survival.

But survive they will, as they have done in the past. As the changes come on the scene, the agriculture industry has adapted those which are of benefit, and have discarded those which are not. The choices may become much greater, and the options more varied, and it appears that more and more knowledge will be needed to make the decisions which will affect each farmer's future. That is the nature of progress. And in looking at what has happened in the past in terms of progress, Canadians should rest assured that no matter what the future may bring, the agriculture industry is in good hands.

Agriculture Week 1983 - a time for the residents of Alberta to stop and reflect upon the tremendous part that the agriculture industry plays in the lives of each and every one of us. It isn't just a major factor of life in our rural communities, for a tremendous number of support and service industries located in our major urban centres focus entirely on the agriculture industry. As well, there are numerous businesses and industries which do part of their work in agriculture. Although the agriculture industry is not the number one industry in Alberta in terms of dollars and cents, it does appear to be the number one industry in terms of livelihoods, and over all provincial impact. As those of us in the rural parts of Alberta realize, agriculture is the backbone of our very existence. Our communities exist because of the agriculture industry, and their continued existence revolves around the future of this industry and the attitudes and practices of those involved in the industry.

But what of the future of the agriculture industry? Of course the obvious answer revolves around the need for food. People will always need food, and Canada is one of the major food producers in the world. However, with the events of the past couple of years revolving around the recession, as well as some government actions and the developments in technology, one has to wonder what changes will occur in agriculture as we know it over the next few years. All one has to do is look back over the past decade to see the tremendous changes, such as the move to "bigness".

Issues that have come to the fore in the past few years include, of course, the Crow Rate, which the government appears to have taken a stand on. Exactly what changes will result from the actions they have taken can be speculated upon, but there should definitely be changes resulting from their move.

Edgerton Hosts BRTA Meeting

The February 17, 1983 meeting of the Battle River Tourist Association was held in Edgerton, Alberta with over thirty members in attendance representing the communities of Camrose, Carleton Place, Chazy, Didsbury, Donald, Edgerton, Fort Saskatchewan, Irma, Killam, Ladner, Leduc, Provost, Sedgewick, Stettin, Wainwright and Wetaskiwin.

Edgerton Mayor Dennis Symington welcomed the delegates to his community. Battle River Tourist Association (BRTA) Representative for Edgerton Mr. Jim Miles and Mrs. Miles were on hand to welcome the visitors. A delicious lunch was hosted by the Village of Edgerton and the Edgerton Chamber of Commerce was enjoyed by all.

In connection with the opening of Tourist Information Centres (TIC's) in Zone 5 for 1983, it was reported that all communities, namely, Babine, Stettin, Carleton Place, Didsbury, Edgerton, Fort Saskatchewan, Irma, Killam, Ladner, Leduc, Provost, Sedgewick, Stettin, Wainwright and Wetaskiwin, are to be represented by the BRTA. Other members of the TIC's are located at Camrose, Wainwright and Camrose. Manager Clemens reported that the BRTA has been successful in obtaining two programs for the operation of TIC's, namely "Employment Program" and "Senior Citizens Program". BRTA members strongly feel that in these times of spiralling vandalism and harassment, to have visitors feel secure in Provincial Parks is of utmost importance. In a letter to Mr. Trychuk, BRTA stated, in part, that "to be in safe surroundings is one of the main reasons campers now choose to stay in a controlled park." Trychuk replied, stating he fully agreed with the statements in the letter and that he had been assured that our Regional supervisory staff will review the circumstances related to patrol scheduling and if required, efforts to increase ranger presence during peak periods will be made. He further stated "You can be assured of our continued endeavors to make provincial parks safe and enjoyable places to visit."

In other business, President Smith advised that the Executive had met and reviewed all resolutions which had been submitted to the Travel Industry Association of Alberta (TIAA/ATA) for consideration at the Annual Conference in March. President Smith and Resolution Chairman R. Brown of Leduc will be speaking to the resolutions at the TIAA/ATA Conference, on behalf of BRTA.

Members endorsed an item submitted by Mr. Omar Broughton of Edmonton, that BRTA sponsor a song contest relating to the "Battle River Valley". It was felt that a song about the Battle River could do a lot to stimulate further interest in the area. President Smith was directed to appoint a committee to draw up contest guidelines and rules.

86,700 pieces of new 1983 Battle River Tourist Association promotional literature has arrived just in time to be used at the BRTA booth at the Edmonton Sportsman's Show, March 9 - 13, 1983. From there the Association will have a display at the Edmonton Sportsman's Show, March 9 - 13. Also, in connection with literature distribution, the meeting approved the final score was Gary McBride.

In Business Together

The "who's who" of the agriculture across Canada, some prominent traders in products from overseas nations, will be gathering in Victoria, March 14 to 18 for the annual convention of the Canada Council of Canada.

"In Business Together" is the theme of the event reflecting the emphasis being placed on the interdependence of all components of the business to keep the industry competitive on the world scene. Members of the Canada Council include farmer organizations, grain trading companies, oilseed processors, food manufacturers and research groups.

Walter Pankowski of Saskatoon, Alberta, chairman of the Council, notes that, after a year of responding to tough economic issues the Canada industry can look ahead to some encouraging developments. He lists several significant quantities of variables about to be commercially available, potential new customers willing to buy significant quantities of oil, and the persistent loyalty of traditional customers such as the Japanese.

About 275 delegates are expected at the three day convention.

4-H On The Move

"Look a Pheasant" is getting to be a more common phrase these days. At one time pheasants were almost extinct and it wasn't very often you saw them flashing away as you drove down the road. Now it is much more common to see this unique bird with its distinct plumage along roadside and in fields.

A large part of the gain in pheasant population can be attributed to 4-H members. Wildlife interested 4-Hers annually take part in the Pheasant Raising and Release Project developed by Alberta wildlife biologists. In this short term project, pheasant chicks arrive at 4-H members' homes by early June and are raised like domestic chicks until their release in mid-September. A 4-H'er may raise a minimum of 25 or a maximum of 50 pheasants.

In addition to feeding the birds, members must keep a record book involving feed, health and behavior records. These may be submitted for competition in the provincial pheasant record book contest. Our region provides ex-

Badminton Club Busy At Tournaments

On Feb. 19th and 20th, some members of the Viking Badminton Club travelled in St. Paul to compete in a tournament.

In singles play, Walter Stefanki reached the semi-finals in the "A" flight while Theresa Lyngard partnered by Ray Galey of Bonnyville finished 2nd in the "B" flight. Final, Doris Fouts won the "A" flight and Theresa Lyngard won the "B" flight.

On March 13th, four locals travelled to Leduc to take part in a round-robin competition that required the utilization of three gymnasiums to complete all events in one day.

Alana Stefanki won every game in her division only to lose the first match of the play-off. However, she had little difficulty in winning 3rd place. Doris Fouts, competing for the 1st time this season in singles, managed to win 3 out of 5 games, but lost the final for 2nd place when they lost to a team they had defeated in division play. It seems to be getting a habit for the husband and wife team of Walter and Alana Stefanki, as they once again went undefeated through division and play-off competition to finish 1st in the mixed event. Tom Harvey and Doris Fouts had a much more difficult time although they gave their opposition good competition. Tom, the "senior" club member is to be highly complimented on his calibre of play.

There are still a number of tournaments remaining this season with the most important for the Viking club being their 5th invitational which will be held on Sun., March 27th.

In ladies doubles, Alana Stefanki and Doris Fouts had to settle for a 4th place finish although they went undefeated in division play. They lost the semi-final and then the final for 2nd place when they lost to a team they had defeated in division play.

There are still a number of tournaments remaining this season with the most important for the Viking club being their 5th invitational which will be held on Sun., March 27th.

Dale Carlson and Bruce Dalem had an innovative idea, and the determination to see it through.

With the help of Dale's father, John, they had developed plans to start their own wheel alignment business. Together they had all the skills needed to run their own shop.

But they didn't have the money. And because they had never before managed a business, conventional lenders had to turn them down.

That's where the Alberta Opportunity Company came in. Their plan looked sound despite a lack of experience in business, so AOC gave them the go-ahead.

Today, through hard work and AOC financing, Auto Trac Alignments is prospering in Grande Prairie. In fact, Dale, Bruce and John are considering selling franchises in other parts of the province.

If you have a sound business idea, but you're unable to obtain financing through regular sources, call or visit your nearest AOC office and ask for our brochure, Financing Alberta Business.

Shady Cove W.I. News

The Feb. 21st meeting of Shady Cove W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Ida Dward. Twelve members were in attendance and Mrs. Betty Parsons, Constituency Governor, was guest speaker. Also Mildred Bridges and Irene Young were present, making it eight old times.

Selma Williams attended the District Conference on behalf of this Branch. She told those present her impressions and stated that she had appreciated the fellowship very much. She was impressed by the tartan jackets and crests (A.W.I.) and thought the various W.I. accessories added a great deal to the occasion. She brought out many points of interest, business and otherwise. This was Selma's first trip as delegate to District Conferences and it was interesting to see through her eyes.

Mrs. Kay Dward acted as Branch representative at Edgemoor and reported accordingly. She was serving secretary also at this meeting.

Mrs. Selma Holmes expressed her thanks to the Branch for the memorial for Selma.

President Laura Swift thanked Sybil Brown for gathering the articles for World Conference donations as required.

Mrs. Art Francis, educational convener for Citizenship gave a paper dealing with the duties, rights, and privileges of Canadian citizens. Many articles used as reference material questioned the disappearance in some cases of Habeas Corpus; of the amazing loss of human rights for an ordinary citizen due to the Alberta Human Rights Commission laws. In the view of some straight thinking people, this agency is the misnomer of the age. It is time to be alert. Note the sweeping powers for example, of the Alberta Social Services today. In the pendulum swinging too far?

Mrs. Betty Parsons wants a list of Executive Officers and of members of each Branch. The Constituency Conference is set at April 28 this year. The Provincial Convention is May 31, June 1 and 2 at Olds. She reminded members that her term concludes in April. Suggestions for a new Convener are needed now for the Wainwright Constituency. Mrs. Parsons brought everyone up to date on many facets of Institute work. Then presented her W.I. Quilt. It was indeed pleasant to have Betty back as guest and friend.

Motto by Ida Dward "I finally got it all together but I forgot where I put it". Next meeting is on Monday the 21st in the afternoon at Margaret Rucka's with Helen R. and Selma W. as lunch committee. Roll call "please bring the granty squares. Those who don't knit can pay postage." When the meeting adjourned the hostesses Jennie and Laura enhanced the afternoon with lovely cakes and breads and Ida maintained her coffee time reputation. See you all soon!

Choose Nutrition Now - and Save

Eating nutritious foods and saving money is the theme of this year's Nutrition Week, March 7 - 13. There are many ways to improve your eating habits, as well as cutting down on the grocery bill. Below are a few such ideas:

Use reconstituted milk powder instead of fluid milk in cooking to "stretch" fluid milk. Buying plain yogurt and flavoring it yourself with fruit, nuts or frozen juice concentrate not only saves money but cuts back on calories too. Try substituting yogurt or cottage cheese as a base for vegetable dips instead of sour cream, a product too high in fat to be classified in any food group.

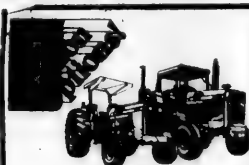

Choose plain whole grains or enriched cereals and favor them yourself with fruit and spices. Ready to eat cereals usually cost 2 to 3 times as much as those you cook yourself.

Generally your best citrus fruit buy is frozen orange or grapefruit concentrate. By choosing vegetables like celery and carrots for snacks rather than fruit you can cut your snack cost in half.

When cooking vegetables, cook just until fork tender to minimize nutrient loss. Steam, bake or microwave vegetables in larger pieces and in a small amount of water to retain vitamins and minerals.

Because meat is our most expensive food item, it makes sense to find ways of cutting costs. One way, is to base only one meal a week on meat. Think in terms of using more alternatives such as fish, poultry, eggs, cheese, dried peas and lentils regularly in your menu.

Something With A Twist A Vacation In The Country

"Share a way of life that is basic, real and honest," the invitation in the promotional brochure reads. It's an invitation to enjoy a country vacation.

Scattered throughout Alberta are a number of farms which open their homes and make guests feel welcome. The type of farm, the type of accommodation available and the rates all vary from one farm to another but what is common to all is an opportunity for guests to get to know something about rural life in Alberta.

Farms which invite people to enjoy a country vacation are members of an organization called the Alberta Country Vacations Association. There are 17 members whose locations are dotted across the central and south-western portions of the province. As yet there are no members in the northern part of the province, but there have been inquiries from farmers in the Peace region who might be interested in joining.

For the vacationer looking for a holiday in the country, the range of activities is broad. He or she could, for instance, visit the R.R. 488 farm in the Peace region where the emphasis is on horsemanship and riding. On this ranch, located west of Edmonton, the visitor can receive elementary instruction in riding if desired.

Other guest farms offer camping facilities, swimming, hiking, cross-country skiing in winter, the opportunity to help with farm chores or the opportunity to do nothing, depending on the visitor's choice.

The president of the Alberta Country Vacations Association, Alice Young, operates a guest farm a few miles northwest of Wetaskiwin.

The Youngs joined the association in 1978 when they first opened their farm to guests. In 1982, they hosted about 100 visitors, about half of whom belong to a trailer club which visits the Youngs' farm, Broadview, for a weekend each summer.

By far the largest part of Mrs. Young's business is hosting school tours. Several members of the Country Vacations Association offer this service, a service which may be extensively used depending on the proximity of the farm to major school districts.

Last year, Mrs. Young gave tours to over 1700 school children and 300 accompanying adults. The bulk of that number saw the farm during May and June.

A typical tour lasts four hours, from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. The tour includes a stop to see the beef cattle operation including the young heifers which are kept in a pen. Children delight in pulling grass and feeding it to the calves, Mrs. Young says. Next come the pigs, then the goats. Mrs. Young borrows a mother sheep with a few lambs to add interest to her tour. She is also considering buying some ponies.

Next on the tour are the farm buildings and an explanation of the farm work routine, including how the animals are fed. Following this there is a trip to the fields along with a description of how crops are grown. For this portion of the tour, Mrs. Young uses a truck and transports the children in the back.

The farm has play space and picnic tables where, mid-point in the tour, the children eat their own bagged lunches. Mrs. Young expects that adults in the group will be responsible for supervision, but she is constantly aware of all safety precautions.

So many children, even those living outside the major urban centres, never have an opportunity to see a working farm, Mrs. Young says. She finds it fascinating to watch the children's reaction.

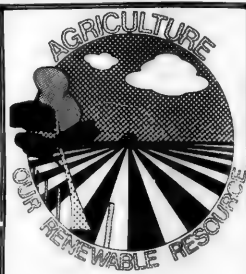

As to whether or not operating a vacation farm makes money depends on whether you count your time. Mrs. Young charges $15.00 per person for the farm tour. While she grossed about $500 for her tours last year, she also spent a good part of each day for a six-week period involved in the activity.

The raises overnight guests pay vary from one farm to another. Mrs. Young charges $15.00 for bed and breakfast for one and $20.00 for a couple. Room and board which includes three meals costs $25.00 per day. Children aged six and under are charged half price.

Rates vary and do not take the type of accommodation. At the country's, guests are accommodated in the farm homes. Other farms have bunkhouse-style accommodation; another has a trailer with bathroom facilities; still others have housekeeping units available. Many farms offer camping both with and without hookups.

A country vacation offers a change of pace; a different kind of holiday. It's a chance to relax and learn. As the promotion for one vacation farm, Poplar Bluff Ranch, says: "You'll go home knowing why a farmer stays a farmer."

It's fitting that a week be set aside to honor Alberta farm people. And the many agri-business firms that back them up. March 7 to March 13, Alberta Agriculture Week. A good time to let your farm friends know you appreciate the financial risks and personal sacrifices they've been willing to make. To keep a variety of plentiful food on the table. And the Alberta economy more stable.

Enjoying The Good Life Thanks To Agriculture

As Canadians, we don't need to be told we are fortunate to enjoy the standard of living we do. But how many Canadians stop to ask why? How come we're so fortunate?

The answer is found in one word: agriculture. Human beings have some essential needs that must be met every day. The most critical of these is food. If our basic nutritional requirements aren't met, our bodies weaken, we become susceptible to disease and our quest for life is reduced.

In some parts of the world, the daily quest for food is a full-time occupation. Not so here. It takes us no little effort to provide ourselves with food, we have time and money left over to pursue other aspects of life - those aspects of life which give us enjoyment.

The average Canadian spends only 15 per cent of his income on food. Few other countries in the world spend such a small portion. In Europe, residents of some countries must spend twice as much of their income on food. In Spain, the figure is 30 per cent and in the United Kingdom and Italy, 31 per cent.

In third world countries, food costs are often the single highest expense consumers have. In South Korea, food takes 45 per cent of the average income; in Sri Lanka, 55 per cent and in India, 60 per cent.

Canadians enjoy inexpensive and abundant food because of high productivity of our agricultural industry. Through the past several decades, agriculture technology has made amazing strides forward. New machinery, new farming techniques, fertilizers and chemicals, improved animal and plant breeding have all contributed to increase in productivity.

As a result of modernization, agricultural productivity per person hour has increased at twice the rate of that in other industries. In 1980, one Canadian farmer produced enough to feed himself and two others. Now, almost a century later, a single farmer feeds himself and 87 others, an increase of over 30 million.

Our nation is one of only four countries in the world that are net exporters of food products. It's significant that these four countries have some of the highest standards of living in the world.

In Canada during the 1980's, agriculture generates and affects 40 per cent of the nation's gross national product (GNP). Yet only four per cent of the work force is directly employed in farm-work. Agriculture's efficiency accounts a long way into the economy.

Growing our food is only the beginning of a chain of events which eventually moves our food into the supermarket. After a crop is harvested, it must be transported, processed, packaged, stored and then finally delivered to the shelves of a grocery store. Through the process, jobs and dollars are generated. Jobs and dollars that total 40 per cent of all economic activity in Canada.

The way a dollar works its way through the economy is referred to as the multiplier effect. One dollar spent in one place gets spent again and again, and in the process several dollars worth of goods and services are added to the economy. Every dollar spent in the construction industry adds $2.00 to the GNP. In the petroleum industry, one dollar adds about $5.00 to the economy. In agriculture, that same one dollar generates $7.00 as it spreads through the economy.

While only a small percentage of Canadians actually farm the land, the effect of those few has far reaching implications for all of us.

Because most of us don't have to farm our own plot of land to produce our food, the Canadian labor force is available to produce a vast array of other products and services. So many of the good things in life - cars, good homes, holidays, art, music, fine architecture - are available to us because of our rich land resource and the people who cultivate, plant and harvest it.

It's happened again! You've forgotten to take something out of the freezer for supper. You've missed your bus and you'll be 30 minutes late arriving home. What are you and your family going to eat for dinner?

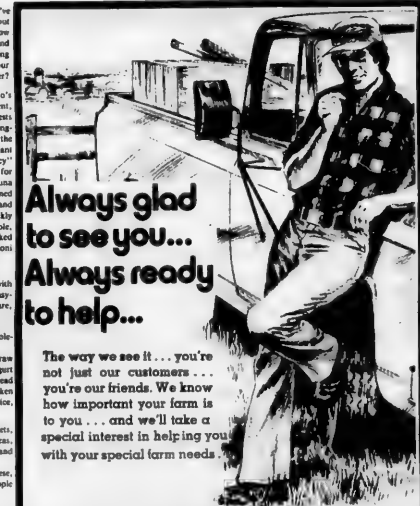

A nutritionist with Toronto's community services department, Brenda Wines-Mohr, suggests you avoid that end-of-working-day temptation to blow the budget at a fast food restaurant by maintaining an "emergency" shelf stocked with items for quick & easy dinners. With tuna fish, eggs, canned soups, canned tomatoes, beans and pork, and meats on hand you can quickly make tuna noodle casserole, omelette, french toast, baked eggs in tomatoes and macaroni and cheese.

Wines-Mohr came up with these ideas for a week of easy-on-the-budget, quick-to-prepare, nutritious dinners.

Monday: Tuna casserole, cold, peach crisp, milk.
Tuesday: Potato omelette, raw vegetable sticks with yogurt dip, toasted wholewheat bread.
Wednesday: Stir-fry chicken with vegetables, fluffy rice, date squares and milk.

Thursday: Crunchy fish fillets, four potatoes, green peas, raw turnip sticks, apple and milk.
Friday: Macaroni and cheese, raw vegetable sticks, apple slices in yogurt, milk.

Saturday: Greek lentil soup, wholewheat bread, toasted salad, banana pudding.
Sunday: Chicken casserole, potatoes, green beans, salad, oatmeal cookies and milk.

Dollar And Brain Drain Debated

The full membership of the Canada Council of Canada will devote some time at the organization's annual convention in March debating a resolution calling for Agriculture Canada to strengthen, not weaken, its agriculture research capacity in western Canada.

Executive members of the Council have expressed alarm at federal moves to transfer research money and staff positions from agriculture production research in western Canada to food processing technology and marketing projects in eastern Canada.

"Such cutbacks will have a very negative impact on Canada research in particular and western Canadian agriculture generally", the executive members noted in a resolution passed at a meeting in late January.

The Council was alarmed at rumored threats by Agriculture Canada to cut short a three year production research program 50 per cent should the Canada Council The $1.27 million program under the New Crop Development Fund is considered an exceptional example of industry-government collaboration on agronomic research. It is aimed at developing better yielding, higher quality canola varieties. Money from the program is assigned toward projects at the universities of Manitoba and Alberta and the Agriculture Canada research station at Saskatoon. The Minister of Agriculture, Eugene Whelan, has now assured the Council that Agriculture Canada will follow through with its responsibilities at least under the current 3-year program.

Easy Choices

Most plant breeders in western Canada suggest that farmers in the market for certified canola seed this spring should have relatively easy decisions to make.

Those farming in areas where the growing season is normally and comfortably over 100 days should choose "Andie" variety for its superior yield potential. Those farmers operating in shorter season areas should choose "Tobin" variety if they are buying new certified seed. "Tobin" yields one to two bushels, on average, above the variety, "Candia". "Andie" yields two to five bushels per acre more than any other available Argentine type varieties.

Next year, the choice will again be simple, but different. Seed of the newest variety, "Wester", will be much more widely available to commercial growers. This variety excels in virtually all important characteristics - yield, lodging resistance, oil content and disease resistance. Supplies of seed are extremely short this year.

All varieties of canola recommended this year have "double low" characteristics. The old "single low" rapeseed variety, "Turo", is no longer approved by any

From The Field To The Pub

The bubbly brew served in lounges across the province finds its beginning on Alberta farms. The malt, the all-important ingredient in beer, is made from barley, Alberta's largest grain crop.

Of the 6,004,000 tonnes of barley grown in Alberta, only a small choice percentage is used for making beer. Alberta supplies her own breweries, a portion of the rest of the malting needs of the country and the export market.

Only top quality barley is used for making. Since the farmer must take special care in producing this quality, he receives a premium for any barley which is graded "malting". Special characteristics the malting industry looks for in barley include the size of the kernel (it must be full), lack of any weathering, and an intact hull.

The process which takes the barley from the field through to the beer bottle involves both science and art. Throughout, it involves living organisms which must be treated properly if the process is to work.

The first stage is malting. Once the barley has been carefully selected, it is shipped to the maltster. Over three-quarters of all malting done in Canada is done by Canada Malting Company. Their plant in Calgary, one of several the company owns, is the largest in Canada and as modern as any in the world. It has a 150,000 tonne capacity and supplies the Alberta, British Columbia and export markets.

Making is a process which encourages the embryo within each barley seed to grow. This is accomplished by the addition of exact amounts of water and air for carefully controlled periods of time.

When the correct degree of growth has been achieved, the grain is transferred to a kiln where it is dried and the characteristic malt flavour is developed. While at the end of the malting process the barley kernel may superficially look unchanged, there has been a notable alteration. When the plant starts to grow, an enzyme, diastase, is produced. The enzyme breaks the complex starch molecules down into simple sugars.

When the malting stage is complete, the malt is sent to the brewery where the beer making process begins. The brewer makes the malt into a mash by adding water. Beer is made up of approximately 70 per cent malt and 30 per cent adjunct. The adjunct can be cornmeal, sugar, rice, wheat starch or almost any carbohydrate which is available. The adjunct is also made into a mash and added to the malt.

After careful mixing and filtering, the mash (known as the wort at this stage) is ready for the addition of hops and eventually yeast, at which time the fermentation process begins. Beer-making also involves a living organism: yeast. A simple-celled plant, yeast lives on simple sugars. In its digestive process, the yeast consumes the simple sugars in the malt and produces two by-products, carbon dioxide and alcohol. Again, the whole process involves gentle and precise handling if the desired results are to be attained.

The type of yeast used has an effect on the taste of the final beer product. Therefore most breweries culture their own yeast so as to maintain their own distinctive flavour.

It's not only the yeast that determines the characteristics of the particular beer produced. At each stage certain variations in the procedure can alter the end product. Different malts can be used. There are various kinds of hops which are available, each producing a distinctive flavor. Other factors such as the hardness of the water, and the times and temperatures used affect the taste of the beer.

Once the fermentation process is complete, eventually the yeast multiplies so rapidly that they exhaust their food supply, the simple sugar in the malt. (Yeast sugar is the malt; the yeast is allowed to settle out, the beer is cooled, carbonated, aged, filtered and then packaged in kegs or bottles. The whole process takes approximately 21 days. It's a highly mechanized procedure done on a massive scale.

Alberta consumers may find new and better products on their grocery shelves after the new Food Processing Development Centre opens in the fall of 1983.

The centre will be designed to test all types of food processing. Everything from how to get bones out of chickens to new packaging techniques will be tested at the centre, says Dave Schroder, supervisor of food research in Alberta Agriculture's agricultural processing development branch. Construction on the new Food Processing Development Centre began in May of 1982 and is scheduled for completion in the fall of 1983. Funded by the Alberta Heritage Trust Fund, the centre is situated in Leduc, about 25 kilometres south of Edmonton.

The centre is intended to help the food processing industry in Alberta by testing new technology, developing new processes and products, and test marketing new products. It's an unusual centre in that it is the only such centre in the world not connected with an institute or a university. Being connected with a government department of agriculture makes it unique.

So what new items on the grocery shelves can consumers expect to see? More rotatable pouches is one possibility, says Dr. Schroder.

Rotatable pouches are flexible laminated packages in which almost any food product can be packaged. The packaging method gives better quality and improved shelf life.

Many of the foods we've accustomed to buying in cans - vegetables, meats, fruit - can also be processed and packaged in pouches. Dr. Schroder explains that in the canning process, it takes a lot of heat to get the centre of the can to a temperature at which spoilage bacteria are killed. Since the rotatable pouch is flatter, less heat is needed to process the contents. The result: better tasting products. Dr. Schroder says the taste of vegetables packaged this way is closer to that of fresh frozen rather than the traditional canned taste. The overcooked taste is gone," he explains.

This method of packaging is especially well adapted for foods that are sensitive to heat. Gourmet items can be successfully and tastefully processed. Meat in wine sauces or vegetables with hollandaise sauce are just a few of the tasty possibilities.

No food processor in Alberta is currently using this packaging method. While the agricultural processing development branch of Alberta Agriculture has received many inquiries, so far the process is proven too costly or too complicated to install.

This could change after the Food Processing Development Centre is opened. The rotatable pouch packaging method requires a great deal of technical back up. To get excellent results, precise monitoring of the process is needed. The new centre will be able to supply these services to industry.

The new centre will also be able to test market the product. Which food items packaged this way will look and taste the best? Which items will the consumer buy?

Other food processes not yet in use in Alberta could be researched at the centre. Ultrafiltration is one. Put simply, this is a process which uses a series of fine membranes to remove water. It can be applied in the cheesemaking process. The cheesemaker adds bacteria and rennet to milk to make the milk coagulate. The whey is drained off and the curds are used to make cheese. In ultrafiltration, the milk is put through fine membranes to separate the water from the solid milk protein. Bacteria culture is added to the protein for flavor and a soft cheese results.

Each of the processes produces a similar cheese. The difference is in the cost of production. Ultrafiltration is a much faster process since there is no time needed for the coagulation process. It also takes much less manufacturing space because no large vats are required. The ultrafiltration equipment occupies only a small space.

In the long run, Dr. Schroder predicts, this process will result in less expensive cheese. However, at the outset, the cost of the new equipment to the cheesemaker would offset the retained manufacturing costs. Ultrafiltration has other applications than in cheesemaking. The process can be used to concentrate maple sap into syrup or to produce concentrate from fruit juice. Since less heat is involved than in the traditional heat evaporation process now used, better quality juices is produced.

Countless other processes will be researched and tested at the Food Processing Development Centre. Its purpose is to serve both the food processing industry and the producer. The equipment in the centre is such that the latest developments in food processing happen anywhere in the world can be tested for the Alberta setting. The producer will benefit by having expanded markets for his produce.

We are pleased to have had the opportunity to serve you in the past and look forward to serving you in the future.

Weigh Scale Donated

An electronic weigh scale recently donated to the Lakeland College bull test project has meant improved data collection and record-keeping for the benefit of private producers in the building of successful breeding programs. The scale is a gift of the Lakeland Progressive Breeders Association which initiated the bull test project over two years ago.

The project is unique in northeastern Alberta, and breeder interest has increased substantially. Twenty-one private producers are now involved, and 39 bulls, representing Charolais, Maine Anjou, Simmental, Angus, Hereford, and South Devon breeds, are on test. The data collected allows breeders to compare weight gain and feed conversion efficiencies of each breed, and backfat measurement which are taken by ultrasound rays.

Herdsperson Sandra Soderberg, in charge of the project, reports an average daily gain of 8.2 pounds for each test animal, up from the 5.16 pounds of last year. Four of the animals are also on the "Pinpointer" machine, which records the amount of grain consumed, so that feed conversion can be calculated.

Soderberg is one in the growing ranks of women opting for a career in agriculture.

Basketball Team Defeated In Provincials

The Viking Ladies Basketball team travelled to Olds last weekend to participate in the Provincials. The ladies came up against Drayton Valley in their first game on Saturday. The game started out in slow motion for both teams and at the end of the first half it was a pretty close game. Viking leading 28 - 24. The second half was different. Viking was on the move and shooting well. Viking came out on top at the end of the game with a 71 - 58 score. The top scorers for this game were C. Anderson 24 points, L. Rabby 14 points, N. Poon 12 points, M. Lang 9 points, C. Givich 6 points, L. Welch 4 points and K.

Barber with 2 points.

That just Viking up against Red Deer in their second game which was later that day. Viking started out really well controlling the boards and fast breaking - putting them ahead at half time with a score of 38 - 27. The second half was different - Viking slowed down a little and with Red Deer's excellent outside shooting, Viking couldn't hold the lead. The final score of the game was 81-46 for Red Deer. The top scorers for this game were C. Anderson 25 points, L. Rabby 21 points, N. Poon 10 points, M. Lang 6 points and L. Welch with 4 points. This just Viking out of the running.

The members of the ladies team were Cheryl Anderson, Linda Welch, Connie Slavik, Karen Barber, Lorna Rabby, Norma Poon, Valerie Carrington, Mary Lynn Long, Angie Field, Brenda Pare and Jack Watson. They were coached by Ping Poon. The teams entered at the Provincials were Red Deer, Drayton Valley, Forestburg, Ponoka, Olds, Edmonton Runners and Edmonton Quakers. The winners of the provincials was the Red Deer team.

The Ladies will be hosting an invitational tournament on the 26th of March in the Viking School Gym with a dance to follow at the Kinross Hall. There will be more details at a later date.

We are repeatedly reminded to conserve energy. One way this can be done is by recycling paper, notably newspaper. There is plenty of room in Jackson's garage. Every ton of newspaper recycled saves from ten to seventeen trees from destruction. Besides this, it requires less energy to process paper than it does to process lumber. Stick papers like Country Guide and other such magazines are not acceptable for recycling.

Norsemen Notes

The Norsemen have pretty well wrapped up the 1982-83 season as they placed third in the Zone playoffs held in Devon this past Friday and Saturday. The zone tournament concluded an exciting week of basketball which started on Tuesday with a very exciting and very close game against Provost Public. With less than two minutes left to play the team put on a full court press and changed a four point deficit to a two point win as Bill Sverre's shot bounced on the rim and fell in to tie the game with 10 seconds left to play.

Bill and Don Lawes combined for a steal and a shot which was rebounded by Larry Greenwood whose followup shot fell through the hoop with no time on the clock for a 87 - 86 win and the third to go to the Norsemen.

Friday saw the Norsemen drop their first game to the hometown Devon Wildcats. The Norsemen lost by almost all of the first half but had all momentum to the Wildcats who won 64 - 32. At 6:30 p.m. the Norsemen averaged a loss to Corralton earlier in the year as the whole team played very well to register a 49 - 41 victory. Special mention to Mark Sverre whose 4 foul shots in a row dampened a coronation rally in the second quarter.

Saturday morning the Norsemen again lost to the first Devon team to end their season.

The Norsemen played 28 games this past season winning 18 games and posting an 8 - 2 record in league play.

More Record Profits?

Some rather interesting news stories have come to light in the last week which makes one wonder about some of the objectives of our society. Last week was Agriculture Week in Alberta. During the week, Albertans should spend some time reflecting on the value of agriculture to this province. But last week, while Albertans were doing this, a couple of news stories came to light which provided food for thought.

First, we hear about a gentleman in Ontario, a farmer, who initiated a hunger strike to protest the large number of farm bankruptcies caused by the foreclosures of the major lending institutions in Canada, mainly the banks. During the recessionary period we have been experiencing, a large number of farmers have gone "under" financially, with the accompanying land takeovers and auction sales which see a family business become history. But these bankruptcies haven't only occurred in farming. With every recession comes an increase in the number of bankruptcies in all types of businesses. It can be expected as the decrease in consumer demand takes its toll.

But for the sake of the nation, and the people who make up this country, one has to wonder about these bankruptcies in relation to the other piece of news that came out last week. This one told of the record or near-record profits of some of the major banks in this country. This is amazing, and one wonders if it is morally or ethically right for such news to appear. As farmers and other businesses were going bankrupt, or finding themselves in financial difficulty a year or so ago, the banks were crying because their "profits were down", not that their profits were non-existent, but that they were down. This was occurring at a time when many businesses were having to turn tremendous lines of credit, or borrow heavily to just stay afloat. But the banks were upset because they weren't maintaining their pace of "record profits".

Now, as the nation appears to be just starting to climb out of the recession, with many companies reporting any kind of a profit for the first time in a few years, the banks are not just reporting a profit, but near-record or record profits. This has occurred at a time when some of the banks have even initiated a plan to cut back on services, close branches, cut staff, and raise the fees which they charge to customers.

Now no one can argue with the right of a business to make a profit. The banks are businesses like any other. But what seems to be lacking is any competition in the banking industry, and some ethical responsibility on the part of these banks when they are enjoying such large profits. As we look at the interest rates charged by the major banks in Canada, and review the rates which they pay to their customers, one can see that there is very little difference between institutions. Now the banks argue that they must do what the Bank of Canada tells them to do. Perhaps, this is so. But if it is, then the government should look to revamp the whole banking system so that there is more competition, as there is in other businesses.

Yet, the saddest part of this situation is the seeming lack of responsibility which the banks have to assume after they have given someone financial advice, then watch that business fail, then swoop in to pick up what's left. With first rights to any property, they are the only ones guaranteed of getting something out of a failed business, therefore they really can't lose much. The banks seem to be in a "no lose" situation, apparently having to take little chance at any time. It seems to be a fact that you have to have money in order to borrow money. Banks any more seldom take a "risk" with their money. And yet they expect the borrower to, and then to suffer "all" of the consequences. It's time for a revamping of the system.

Mr. Holmes also asked if a feasibility study of this nature had ever been conducted with the parties later dropping the project. Mr. Leask stated that following the feasibility study all have proceeded.

The possibility of dividing the County into four quadrants and considering with the feasibility study was then discussed.

Eugene Leask stated that his department has originally initiated this type of landfill program due to hazards from the general public with regard to unsanitary garbage disposal facilities as there were a great number of problems with plastic, papers, and other debris being blown onto private properties.

Ed Kishinich of the Department of Health spoke to the Council advising that in the fall of 1982 the problem of waste disposal systems had been transferred from the Department of the Environment to the Department of Health.

He spoke in favor of a regional landfill site which would be properly managed during the hours of operation which would regulate what is being dumped, where it is being dumped. This in turn would control dumping, and have a number of favorable provisions from the view of public health.

In the Council discussion which followed Council Member stated that it would appear that we have nothing to lose from the study and possibly a lot to gain.

Agnes Council Member questioned whether Council approval would pin the County down to any particular site.

To this, Eugene Leask replied that "we are doing site evaluations. We are looking at a site near the County of Beaver. We have identified one such site. ...1110-15-17-94 and we will give a cost analysis for four sites".

The Council was advised that should they see fit to reverse their position with regard to the feasibility study, they would then contact Mrs. Cunningham, Director of the Vegreville Health Unit.

Councillor Holmes put forth a motion that the County undertake a feasibility study of the County of Beaver for the possible location of a Regional Landfill Site.

The original motion was defeated by Councillors Armistead, Warner, and Romanuk. However, a short while later Councillor Warner took a positive stand and the motion was passed.

County Fire Chief Laurie Westhrell attended the afternoon session of Council and reported that two fire had been attended during the month of February.

A mobile home owned by Mr. and Mrs. Gary Edwards of Hinchey, located in the Beaver Hill Estates, was damaged by a fire which was apparently caused by a faulty heater.

The fire was attended by the Tofield Fire Department, and although damage appeared slight, the repairs are estimated at $8,000 due to the inavailability of matching materials.

A crawler tractor owned by Robert Ash of Viking caught fire while located on section 17-18-94, located just west and north of Viking. This fire call was answered by the Viking Volunteer Fire Department.

Damage to the tractor was estimated at between 1-3 thousand dollars.

In a verbal request, Fire Chief asked for Council approval to send up to three firefighters to two day workshop on vehicle extrication which is to be held in Edmonton. He asked that the registration fee be been set at $75 per person and requested the County's approval for the payment registration fee and mileage for the volunteers.

He also advised that the County currently has two fire hails which have equipment that would be demonstrated during the course of the Disaster Kits which are now located in both Tofield and Viking.

Councillor Maxwell's motion to grant this request was approved, with one Councilor not in favor.

In other Council business, Council discussed the budget at length, which includes a short while later Council discussed the budget, and as many areas required detailed study, Council decided to hold a special budget meeting during this month.

Following the receipt of an offer to purchase a County owned house in Hinchey, the Council gave approval to proceed with the sale.

 "Grain Fetta" or "Grain Guard" is a unique approach to positive identification of your harvested crops. Small bits of paper, each one imprinted with your Provincial Number or a specific code number are mixed with grain as the grain is being sown into the storage shed. It can also be applied to hay in the baling process.

Use as approved by the Land Owner Wins Appeal

A Surface Rights Hearing held in the Viking Community Hall in mid-January has resulted in land-owner Art-ur Wadley acquiring adequate land compensation from Signala Resources.

Originally Mr. Wadley had been receiving a yearly landowner compensation in the amount of $800 per annum for a two acre, road and 3 sq. ft. around the well head, an area of approximately 4.5 acres.

Later, Mrs. Wadley had been offered $1000 per annum and when she requested a review, Signala withdrew their offer of $1000.

During the hearing, a review was planned to review by the Surface Rights Board for adequate compensation and costs. Art-ur Wadley planned to advise that her appeal was granted and she will be reimbursed all costs plus compensation in the amount of $1700 per annum.

Night Hawks. Viking's scorers were C. Wilkie and G. Deuchambault with hattricks and pairs went to B. Quinton, D. Zemanek and P. Rustika, B. Rommehel, L. Brisard and G. Sevik scoring singles.

Saturday's game was a lot better contest aside from a near brawl in the second period. The final score was 6-5 for the locals. Scoring was as follows: D. Zemanek and L. Brisard each had a pair and singles went to G. Deuchambault and B. Quinton.

The "A" final game was easily the best game of the tournament.

Dale Carlson and Bruce Dalen had an innovative idea, and the determination to see it through.

With the help of Dale's father, John, they had developed plans to start their own wheel alignment business. Together they had all the skills needed to run their own shop. But they didn't have the money. And because they had never before managed a business, conventional lenders had to turn them down.

That's where the Alberta Opportunity Company came in. Their plan looked sound despite a lack of experience in business, so AOC gave them the go-ahead.

Today, through hard work and AOC financing, Auto Trac Alignments is prospering in Grande Prairie. In fact, Dale, Bruce and John are considering selling franchises in other parts of the province.

If you have a sound business idea, but you're unable to obtain financing through regular sources, call or visit your nearest AOC office and ask for our brochure, Financing Alberta Business.

The following writes came into our office recently. There are a few new crop varieties which have been gaining popularity this spring. Many of you have been asking about these varieties, so I thought this may be of interest.

A few points to keep in mind when reading the article are: Leader wheat is not recommended for our area;
and Amber Durum wheat is not recommended for our area.

Great Varieties for Alberta
Of interest to Alberta wheat growers is the new variety of Columbia spring wheat. It is mainly noted for its superior resistance to sprouting and weathering.

Columbia yields about three per cent higher than Nep-tuna and Dakota. It is resistant to leaf rust and blast, and moderately resistant to stem rust and loose smut, but it is susceptible to common root rot. It is also susceptible to saw flies.

Another variety of wheat called "Leader" is shown on the leaflet but seed supplies are limited. Supplies of "Columbia" seed should be ample this spring and the demand is expected to be heavy.

Recommended varieties of Amber Durum wheat and Red Winter varieties remain the same as 1982.
Two new varieties of barley have been added to this list. They are Harrington and Otal. Harrington is being evaluated by millsters and brewers, while Otal is early maturing variety and is still being tested.

Rodney variety of oats has been dropped from the list of recommendations. Three other varieties - Cavell, Fraser and Victoria - are not to be described for recommended use in 1984.

Antelope has been dropped from the recommendation of fall rye. Gaielle is the only recommended variety of spring rye.

McGregor variety of flax has been removed from the list, while three others Culbert, Linot and Redwood 66 are three varieties that are marked to indicate they may not appear in 1984.

A new variety of Tobin canola is recommended in all crop zones. This is a Polish type and has good tolerance to white rust-staghead disease and averaged about seven per cent higher in yield than Canola. There should be ample seed of the Tobin variety for the spring of 1983.

A new Argentine type of canola, which is two to three weeks later in maturing than the Polish type, called Westar was recently introduced. Limited supplies of certified seed will be available, but mainly through Westar. This new variety shows a great deal of promise for areas suited to production of Argentine-type of canola.

A later column will give a more detailed account of some of the varieties grown in our area.

Let us know what you need and your harvest results this year. Your remarks always help our recommendations for next year.

Cement Floor For Shelter At Camp Gary

Over the past few years, with determination and hard work, Camp Gary has been a number of important improvements. After a great number of weekends and evenings a 96' x 66' shelter was erected with volunteer help. Three more out door toilets were set in place bringing the total to four.

A new project of a cement floor for the shelter has been proposed for this year. The problem of raising enough money has partly been overcome by the organizing of an auction sale to be held in April. We are seeking the help of the community for donations of services and items for this auction sale.
All proceeds will go towards the cement floor.

An effective job of paint-spring. A lot of work, such as the cutting down of a hill, filling pot holes with gravel and the trimming of trees has been done on the road making it passable for camp-

As a small business owner or farmer whose total revenue over the past fiscal year did not exceed $5 million, you may be eligible for an interest shielding payment from the Alberta Government.

The interest is paid directly to you every six months. If you apply now, the payments you receive can go directly back into your business cash flow. And that's the only one of the many reasons now is the time to apply.

APPLY NOW!
Shareholder Loans Now Included
Shielding is available on loans up to $150,000.
Shareholder loans are now also eligible. To find out if your business qualifies, telephone 1-800-642-3830.

APPLY NOW!
Step Back to Lower Interest Rates
The interest Shielding Program is retroactive to March 1, 1982 and will effectively reduce your business loan interest rate to a minimum of 14% per cent, with interest shielding equaling a maximum of 6 per cent. So, if you were or still are paying more than 14% per cent, then the program will shield you for the difference.

In other words, on a 20% per cent loan interest rate, the program will shield you by 6 per cent to 14% per cent.

APPLY NOW!
Avoid Delay
The longer you delay, the longer the processing period. Thousands of Alberta businesses and farms have already applied for the interest Shielding Program. And since records must be traced back to March 1, 1982, the retroactive program dates, you can minimize further delays by submitting your application now.

Annual Meeting Of St. Paul Presbyterial

Over 100 ladies gathered for the annual meeting of the St. Paul Presbyterial U.C.W. on Feb. 22, 1982 at the Green United Church in Lloydminster. The theme of this meeting was "Peace, Our Mission".

The Vermilion U.C.W. was in charge of the registration which was followed by a sing-song which was led very capably by the Rev. Donna Mann.

Morning devotions were conducted by the Paradise Valley U.C.W. and concluded with a solo by Rev. Donna Mann.

President Olive Friesell introduced our Conference President, Florence Butcher and visiting President of Coronation Presbyterial, Jessie Ross. Olive then declared the 21st Annual meeting of the St. Paul Presbyterial U.C.W. open for business.

A summary of the minutes of the 1982 meeting was read. Correspondence was also read by Louise Prosser. The Treasurer's Report was given by Maria Wallace as printed. Joan Weeks read the proposed budget for 1983.

Olive then introduced Mr. Francis Loges who represents the Bridgehead Trading Partners and Florence Butler, President of the Conference U.C.W. brought greetings from the Conference.

An installation service was then conducted by Florence Butler. A noon Executive meeting was held after the meal. Tentative and alternate delegates were selected to attend the Alberta Conference in Camrose from April 18-21. A Sub-Executive meeting is to be held in Wainwright on March 22 and a Spring Executive meeting is to be held in Mannville on May 5. The World Council of Churches Assembly is to be held in Vancouver this summer for eighteen days.

The Lloydminster ladies then conducted a memorial service in memory of those who had passed away in 1982 and Rev. Wilma Sharpe conducted the Communion Service.

There were 111 who had signed the register and Janis Gifford conducted a very meaningful Bible study followed with showing of the film on the World Council of Churches.

Nore Zalc gave the Courtesy Report. The meeting adjourned and we sang a closing prayer. Coffee and lunch was served before journeying home.

Irma Seniors Hold Special Meeting

Five tables took part in a whist drive in the Irma Drop in Centre on the evening of Friday, March 11th with a low extra seniors playing shuffle board. Following are the results: Ladies High was Helen Smallwood with a score of 176 while low went to Elma Tomlinson whose score was 148. Jimmie Craig was men's high scorer with 176 while men's low went to Orvi Darling (playing as a man), whose score was 140. Lunch and socializing was enjoyed following the cards.

A special meeting of the Irma Senior Citizens was held in the Drop-in Centre on the afternoon of Friday, March 11th.

The main purpose of this meeting was to meet with New Horizons representative, Mrs. Cathy Sinclair from Health and Welfare Canada.

President Alma Enger opened the meeting and introduced the visitor who explained the grants available to organizations such as ours and procedures whereby these grants can be secured.

Discussion regarding the east end of the Drop-in building which has been causing concern for some time took place and it was evident that there were divergent views regarding the steps to be taken.

It was mentioned that members of the Rec board had promised to give physical assistance when required.

At the conclusion of the meeting a delicious lunch was served and Mrs. Sinclair visited with the members. She informed us that she was on her way to visit Viking Seniors briefly before returning to Kinross where the Seniors were launching their history book that evening.

4-H Multi-Club Update

On Feb. 11 the 4-H Multi-Club traveled to Bruce for their annual talent night. It was fun for the audience to watch all the clubs singing, putting on plays and skits. The clubs participating were Viking Multi-Club, Viking Light Horse, Bruce Youth, Holden Beef, Ryley Beef and Tisdale Beef.

March 6 the Multi-Club had their Public Speaking Speak-offs in the Educational wing of the Lutheran Church. There were six junior speakers and one special guest speaker.

Donna Lee Kittle chose to speak on the PNE (Pacific Northern Exhibition) and Lynette Leford spoke on Gymnastics. Why I am in 4-H was the topic for Jeanette Klein and Grant Withers spoke on My Skating Trip. Cory Wiechall chose to speak on What Young Kids Remember and Tami McMullen's topic was My Allergies.

The special guest speaker was Marie Withers. Marie is not a 4-H member. She is only 7 years old but wished to speak to the audience.

She did very well with her topic being The Veggieville Swimming Pool.

All of the 4-H speeches were informative and interesting. The judge's final decision placed Lynette Leford in first place and Donna Lee Kittle in second place.

Lynette Leford travelled to Tisdale on Sunday, March 13 to compete at the county level. Other 4-H members from Viking were Sandra Otto, Marcia Newby, and Joanne Klein. All of the girls did their best with Sandra Otto placing second in the junior division and Marcia Newby placing 3rd for the seniors.

The Sewing Club is planning a trip to Edmonton on April 7 to tour the OWG factory. All of the club members will have a chance to see how OWG garments are made.

Aces Take Hardisty Out In Four

The Aces have been paired up with Hardisty teams in the semi-finals and have really been filling up the score sheet.

The first game in the best of seven series was played in Irma and saw the Aces come out on top of a 10 - 4 score. They allowed two goals.

When the Aces journeyed to Hardisty they again scored 10 goals, only this time they allowed two against them. And here we go again in the point difference. Garnet Mackay had a big game with 4 goals and 3 assists, Bob Foley had 3 goals and 3 assists, Len Parsons called 2 goals and 3 assists, Gord Holt and Jay Tomlinson each scored two goals and added one assist.

Kevin Mackay had two goals and Dale Nilson fired in one goal and helped on another. Morgan Jones picked up four assists, Jim Owen had three, Jay Fenton had two and Al Fenton had one. When the Aces turned aside 27 Hardisty shots, most of them in the first period, and Irma took 86 shots at the other end.

Shane Hollar isn't tall enough to see over the cross-bar on the net, but he came up big making several saves throughout the game. Back in Irma, on the following Saturday, the Aces won again. This time by an 8 - 3 score. The Aces had a little more to cheer about in this one. The Aces led 5 - 0 after one period, and increased it to 8 - 3 after two, but were held scoreless in the third.

Bob Foley scored two goals and added two assists before he was sent to the showers for fighting in the third period. Brian Burr added two goals and one assist. Kevin Mackay had a goal and three assists, Len Parsons and Garnet Mackay had one goal and one assist each, and Dale Nilson blined the red light once. Jay Fenton and Shane Hollar had one assist apiece.

Irvin Bacon started the first period but had to sit out the next two with a bruised knee. Shane Hollar faced 17 shots in the final two games while the Aces took 27 shots at the other end. The first three games have featured plenty of rough play.

The Aces finished the series in the fourth game in Hardisty when they defeated their hosts 10 - 5. There is no game sheet available, but it was probably one of the cleaner games of the series. Now, Irma has to wait for Walworth and Rosedale to finish their series which is tied at two games apiece and looking more and more like it will go the full seven games. If that should happen, next Aces action will be on Wednesday night.

Up The Blues During the first game in Hardisty, when Garnet Mackay wasn't creating a disturbance in front of the net, he was putting the puck into it. He net a new personal record when he caused Hardisty defencemen to take three penalties within a minute and a half. It's felt that Garnet should change his middle name to "Bruiser".

Curling Club News

Curling at Irma in their Ladies Bonspiel were three Viking teams skipped by Gary Cumming, Pat Erickson and Karen Cumming.

The ice was super keen and Karen's team was the only one to win any prizes. Neelie and Jackie Petrowski with Diane and Kim Maxwell represented Viking at the Mannville Ladies and they managed to reach the four's of the first event. Congratulations.

Saturday, March 12, the Curling Club hosted a Junior Mixed Bonspiel with ten teams curling for points.

Three six end games were played with the high point prize going to Mike McLean's team. Rick Marko placed second and the team from Alliance skipped by Ken Gilm settled for third. Clayton Rausser claimed the booty prize.

The crooked ice didn't deter the young curlers at all and good sportsmanship was shared with the four visiting teams from Irma, Loughheed and Alliance.

The day of fun ended with a banquet at 4:30 served by Shirley McLean and Karen Cumming.

The Junior Curlers would like to thank Maxwell's Men's and Children's Wear, The Sports Shop and Sunny Days for their support and also thanks to the parents for their contributions towards the banquet and to Alf Toverud for doing the draw.

Last week was the Men's Open in Sedgewick with several Viking teams entered. However only Norm Maxwell's team made it to the prize in the fourth event.

Starting Thursday is our Men's Open Bonspiel and the ice crew is busy flooding and straightening the ice. Hopefully the ice will remain straight and keen for the Ladies Bonspiel which starts on the 23rd of March to the 27th. Any ladies wishing to curl in it should please get your names in right away as we need all the curlers we can get. We can guarantee a good fun time and some great prizes, so phone 336-4800 or 336-4808 right away.

The Men's Cash Curling is also drawing to an end with only one more round to be played on March 21 before the playoffs.

As it stands now we have 8 teams tied for first place with one less each. Cash prizes of $140, $100 and $60 go to the three top teams, and the final games will be well worth watching.

Afternoon ladies don't forget our wrap up on Monday, 21st. Bring a friend and wear a goofy hat, fun is what it's sure to be!

History Book Update

The Irma History Book committee wishes to congratulate the Kinross community for the fine book they launched on Friday evening. It appears there were many burning the midnight oil reading the book. Others report little work done on the weekend as a result of interest in the book.

We at Irma, hope that with continued co-operation we will produce one of similar quality. We have set the deadline for receiving histories as December 1983. It is hoped we can then get the book printed and ready for the fall of 1984. Don't leave your history in the last minute as the committee can process only so many per week.

We hope to have at least one picture with each family so keep this in mind when sending in your history. If you have pictures of other people or situations please send them along. They'll be filed and returned later.

Multiplex Proposal Presented To Viking Council

A joint proposal for a "Curling/Fair Multiplex" has been presented to the Viking Town Council. The project was devised by a committee composed of members of the Viking Fair Board and the Viking Curling Club. The proposal was presented to Council by F.C.S.S. Director Dick Channery at last Wednesday's regular meeting. The proposal was made on behalf of the "Facility Development Committee" of the Viking Agricultural Society, which is acting as the umbrella organization for the project.

The proposed facility is a 70 ft. by 210 ft. steel structure which would be sited on the old Rindita Trucking loading station beside the new ball diamonds.

The facility is to provide accommodation for winter curling activities, a site for the annual Viking Fair, a facility for the summer ball program, as well as other related sporting and recreational activities.

In addition to these uses, the Committee has determined that the facility will be offered for use to as many community organizations as possible through all seasons.

The "Facility Development Committee", with representation from the Viking

Curling Club, the Viking Fair Board, and the Ag Society, will be undertaking both the capital development and operational management of the proposed facility. Appointment of the members of the Committee will be undertaken annually by the Ag Society, similar to what is done with the Caravan Committee.

The total cost of the first phase of the facility has been estimated at $800,276. The first phase will provide a basic facility for the Fair and for curling.

Already, 75% of the funding necessary for the project has been realized by the committee, with total available revenues to date being $267,478.37. This leaves just over $500,000 to be raised for the completion of the first phase of the project. As well, a number of groups and organizations have indicated some financial support for the project, and Mr. Channery said that he feels that more funding will come forward once the Council gives a go-ahead to the project.

The proposal by the Committee includes an outline of the sources of revenues for operational purposes, once the facility is built. This outline includes user fees, concession returns, grants and subsidies from the Provincial government, and annual fund raising projects by the groups which will be participating in the use of the facility. The various user fees will be dependent upon the actual operating costs once these have been established.

And with operating costs in mind, the Committee has already undertaken to look into some energy-saving measures which will reduce these costs.

Any debt retirement implied through the development or operations of the Multiplex would be undertaken by the Facility Committee, and be underwritten in accordance with the conditions of "disolution" outlined by funding agencies or the lending institutions involved.

With the Agricultural Society acting as the umbrella organization for the project, all of the existing equipment which would be transferred from the old Viking Curling rink to the new facility can be used as capital revenues to receive matching dollars from the Alberta government. If the Club were acting on its own, this would

Council Rejects Extension

A request by the Alberta Housing Corporation for a one year delay in development of the Mulholland has been denied by the Viking Town Council. The A.H.C., which was to have started the project last year, are scheduled to start on the commercial development this spring.

The A.H.C. cited the current economic conditions for wanting the one year extension on the date to start the project. However, Mayor Rushton stated he would hate to see it go away for another year.

Councillor Bird felt that the lots won't sell until they are available. Pete Cummings raised the possibility of the lots sitting for 5 years without a buyer, with the costs to the Town going up as interest on the development money grew. Mayor Rushton said that that is the gamble that the Council has to decide upon. The decision was to refuse the extension, and have the development proceed this year as scheduled.

In other business, Council decided to move on a motion made last June which called for garbage collection for the Town of Viking to be tendered. Presently garbage collection is done on a yearly contract which has been renewed annually for the past several years. Interest by another party to be allowed to take on the garbage collection led Council to make last year's motion.

Council instructed the administration to start the tendering process for a contract which is to be effective on July 1 of this year.

Mayor Rushton informed W.R. (Bill) Taylor that he has been appointed as the Director of Disaster Services for the Town. Bert Hill will be acting as Assistant Director to Mr. Taylor.

The Mayor also reported that Elmer Leford has been appointed to the Recreation Board. She replaces John Andrusow who resigned his position.

The problem with the bus leading zone was again discussed, but with no definite solution determined to date. Council tabled the matter.

The Viking Figure Skating Club held their annual ice show on Sunday, March 20, in the Viking Caravan. The theme this year was Walt Disney Presents, and judging from the response of the sizable crowd in attendance, it was very successful.

The program included songs by the eight senior skaters, which were very well performed. The girls looked lovely in their costumes. All of the group members were consistent with the Walt Disney Theme. With themes from such movies as Mary Poppins, Cinderella, Snow White, 101 Dalmatians and The Aristocats, and also loving salutes to some of Disney's best characters, Donald Duck, Goofy and Mickey Mouse, the afternoon was very entertaining.

The crowd was treated to a special appearance by none other than Snow White herself, direct from the Enchanted Forest.

The success of any venture of this nature is due largely to the effort of many people. The Viking Figure Skating Club would like to credit Lane Carrington, our very capable Master of Ceremonies; Nancy Ratnay, Billie-Lou Lankosky, Donna Brooks, Iris Klemke, Kathy

Peterson and Ev Lang for continuing, along with help from the mothers involved. Ev McLeaves also did a very capable job with the music, and props. Also thanks go to the bottom sewers at Margaret Mann's birthday party, and thanks to Mr. Zwiggelaar and the Grade Eight Art Class for painting the backdrops. Many thanks also to everyone who helped in any way at all, and especially to all who supported us by attending.

The crowning of this year's Snow Queen was done by the last reigning Queen, Laurie Bauer. Shannon Siernachewsky was the lucky girl to be Snow Queen 1983. All of the girls worked very hard to sell a record number of tickets, the Princesses, Marlene Meyer and Sandy Graham are to be congratulated also.

The lucky draw winners were as follows: Terry Misch, Ernauch, Woodworth, Beak, won $50.00, second prize of $100 won to Jean Klemke of Viking, and the grand prize winner was Stan Chomick of Viking, winning $250. The crown was courtesy of Country Way Hairdressing. Thanks to Muriel for help with the tickets.

The carnival wraps up the year's activities for another season. The executive, Madi Sarrafian, Nancy Ratnay, Wilda Wemp, and Kathy Peterson, along with the crowd, Lisa Jansel, would like to thank everyone for the cooperation and help received all year long.

We would also like to remind everyone interested of our meeting on Monday, March 28, at 7:00 p.m. in the school library. On the agenda will be the election of new officers, so we urge your attendance if you would like a voice in club happenings.

Irma Village Council Meets

The council of the village of Irma met in regular meeting in the Irma Village office on Tuesday, March 1, 1983.

P.C.S.S. Committee members J. Newall and M. Belanger were present to submit a report on the previous years activities and the programs which are available for the various age groups. Mr. Belanger said that the residents of the village have not shown a lot of interest in this program, however, some of those in need are using the facilities available and are deriving benefits from them. It was suggested that a survey be conducted to determine the community interest in the program.

The village also renewed its membership in Outdoors Unlimited at this meeting and also correspondence was received from Rodnasky and Macdonald advising that the building as located on Lot 6, Plan 2871 E.T. do not conform with the Village Land Use By-law.

It was decided that the Administrator attend a seminar at the University of Alberta on April 11, 1983 on Personal Liability for Elected and Administrative Personnel.

Council was advised by the Marketing department of Northern Utilities that provision has been made for the purchase of a new ambulance in the current year. The Village share of the cost is $1,246.43. It was decided that action by the Board to purchase a new ambulance be nullified.

Correspondence was received from the A.U.M.A. relative to the proposed action by the Council of the City of Edmonton suggesting that the matter relative to National Defence be presented in the form of a plebiscite at the next civic election. Municipal Affairs advised that the matter in question does not fall under the jurisdiction of Municipal Council.

A by-law has been prepared to authorize the signing of an agreement with Alberta Environment for the relocation of the old dump grounds.

Representatives from the Marketing department of Northern Utilities were present to further discuss and review the terms as set out in the revised Franchise Agreement. Terms and conditions were agreed to and it was moved that the Franchise Agreement, as amended, be signed.

An estimate of expenditures for the Irma Fire Arms as prepared by the local Fire Area Committee was reviewed and approved in principle. This statement is now forwarded to the M.D. of Watrous No. 61 for approval.

The minutes of the meeting of Council Representatives held February 24, 1983 for a Regional Information Authority were read and filed. Mayor Coffin, Mr. Copeland and Municipal Administrator, D.D. Crouse advised that the matter in question be appointed to represent Council on the Regional Information Authority Board. It was also decided that Mayor Coffin and Mr. Copeland be named to the committee scheduled to attend and observe the Solid Waste Incineration Plant at Duncan, B.C.

A discussion ensued relative to the proposed outline plan for the area around Urban Reserve east of the fairgrounds in the S.W. 34-55-9-W4B. It was decided that Council proceed with the necessary requirements to have the area in question included within the Zoning By-law of the Village.

A discussion relative to the building located on Lots 54/25, Block 8, Plan 1560 W and its present condition followed and it was felt that this statement may present a fire hazard to surrounding properties. It was decided that this matter be checked by the local Fire Chief.

What to seed this year? If forage crop your plans this article may interest you. The following is taken from the weekly newsletter that originates from the Swift Current Research station in Saskatchewan. Written by W. Lawrence, the article was some interesting points in some areas which have some application in this range.

If Enough is Enough, Is More Enough?

Too often when seedling forage crops the old saying "The more the better" is taken to heart and results in stand failure or an over-crowded stand that does not produce as it should. Seeding forage crops at too great a depth is one of the major causes for failure in obtaining satisfactory stands of grasses and legumes. In a dry climate such as we have in the southern prairies of Western Canada there is always the temptation to seed into moist soil. For most grasses and legumes 2 to 3 cm deep is the recommended depth. This is most easily achieved by using deep drill which prevents the drill disks from penetrating specimens and a thin seedling rate within the row. It has been well established that forage seeds in rows 40 to 60 cm apart yield three to four times more per acre than seeds in 15 cm rows. The seed sowing rate of 100 viable seeds per meter squared will result in 100 plants per square meter. The optimum number of successful plants per hectare for alfalfa is 125 to 150 thousand (10 to 15 plants per square meter) in south-western Saskatchewan. When the population is not adjusted by using wide row will supply moisture and nutrients to the vigorous plants in the row.

In those two cases, enough is definitely better than more.

Applications To This Area

An article mentioned, forage yields can be higher when row spacings and plant populations are thin. This is why Colgate's Palmolive Program had a 40 per cent increase in participants in 1982. The program is designed to give growers greater success because there is no financial commitment. It is providing an opportunity for everyone to assist in community projects by saving box tops and labels from participating Colgate products. Colgate uses these box tops and labels into cash for participants.

Several people attended the Energy Savers Workshop in Halden last week. Dana Sundmark from the school of energy conservation, Alberta Education on Contract with Alberta Energy and Natural Resources presented an excellent workshop on energy savings in the home. Simple, cost-effective improvement projects were presented to consider for the home. Throughout the workshop different energy saving products which have money on water, electrical and heating bills were handled and identified.

Files and quizes were distributed throughout the workshop.

The winner of the prize of electrical outlet covers were Marie Theriault, Grace Stevens and Anna Shogren who were in group one and had the best of them. They are energy conservation project summary.

Various residents of the Halden district are in hospital. Mrs. Christine "Red" Holm and Eleanor Olson.

A seven team Hockey tournament was held on March 19th and 20th in Halden which was sponsored by the Halden Branch Hockey Club. The participating teams were Hyley, Daysland, Andrew, Vegreville, Two Hills, Viking and Halden. The A event trophy donated by Bruce Shell was won by Vegreville who beat out Daysland. The B event trophy also donated by Bruce Shell was won by Andrew who beat out Viking.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Leisner celebrated their 65 wedding anniversary last week at the Extensicare Nursing home in Viking.

The Beaverhill Hockey League Bonanza Draw will be for the month of March was Bruce Kavalik of Brice.

Viking Tom Thumbs Host Tournament

On March 19 the Viking Tom Thumbs held their hockey tournament with 4 teams participating.

The first game was to commence at 10:00 a.m. with Viking hosting Irma. After the singing of "O Canada" the game started and Viking was the first to score at 19:35 by Jason Heller assisted by Neil Wronson and Lyle Koch. Lee Gwin scored at 1:45 for Irma and the game was tied at the end of the first period. Irma's Dan Larson scored at 21:47 unassisted. Viking retaliated at 9:12 by a goal from Jason Heller assisted by Neil Wronson. The score was 2 - 2, however Irma's Craig Copeland scored at 8:15 unassisted and this proved to be the winning goal. Craig Copeland scored again at 10:51 of the third period to put the game out of reach for Viking. Final score was Irma 4 - Viking 2. The fast and end skating between those two teams advanced Irma into the A final and Viking into the B.

In the second game of the day we saw Ardrossan host Holden. It was a see-saw battle until the 10th minute mark of the third period when Holden scored the winning goal. Scoring was as follows: first period at 24:24 Holden's Scott Shitka hit the mark and at 18:37 Ardrossan replied by Dustin Malen replied by Craig Le-mieux. The next two goals were by Ardrossan, the first at 14:06 by Dustin Malen and the other at 15:11 by Cory Horton. Holden's Scott Shitka replied with the next two at 11:31 and 12:18. So the score stood 8 - 3 at the end of the first period.

In the second period each game scored one apiece. 21:45 Ardrossan's Stachan Hartley and at 21:02 Holden's Jason Lux. In the third period, Ardrossan's Daniel Kocour scored first at 10:55 and was followed by team mate Tom Gustafson at 17:32. The score was 6 - 4 in Ardrossan's favor at this time however Holden came back and scored two quick goals within one minute to again tie the game. At 16:02 Holden's Kai Legard scored and at 15:08 Holden's Scott Shitka again scored.

The game was tied until the 1:04 mark when Holden's Kai Legard scored the winner and he scored again at 4:17 to tie the game out of reach for Ardrossan. At 8:30 Scott Shitka scored his fifth goal of the game and then at 1:08 Kai Legard scored. The win for Holden put them into the A final against Irma at 5:00 p.m.

In the B final at 5:00 p.m. Ardrossan scored at 22:30 to tie the first period and then at 18:00 Jason Heller for Viking scored unassisted. Then at 19:40 of the second period, Todd Bahits put the puck between the uprights when he received the puck from Michael Kamphuis. This goal proved to be the winner. As the final outcome after 3 periods of play was Viking 5 - Ardrossan 1. Each player of the winning team received a silver medal for their fine hard work.

In the A final Holden and Irma fought it out. Holden scored two goals in the first period. At 6:08 Kiti Kuska assisted by Robbie Langner and at 18:37 Kuska unassisted. Holden again lead the scoring in the second period at 22:08 when Scott Shitka scored assisted by Jason Sucky. Holden was leading 8 - 0. Irma's Darcy Hain scored at 8:15 assisted by Dan Larson. At 1:00 Craig Copeland scored unassisted. This brought the game within reach for Irma. In the third period Holden's Scott Shitka scored at 14:06 unassisted. Irma found the uprights at 10:49 when Dan Larson scored unassisted. However, six seconds later Scott Shitka scored assisted by Robbie Langner for Holden. At 6:44 Dan Larson scored unassisted and then at 8:53 Craig Copeland tied up the game. The game went into the 10 minute overtime without goals. Then at 8:58 Dan Larson got the winning goal and at 10:08 Craig Copeland scored an insurance marker. Final score was Irma 7 - Holden 5. The Viking Restaurant trophy was presented to the Irma team and again each player on the winning team received a gold medal.

Top scorers for the tournament were: Scott Shitka from Holden with 9 goals and Craig Copeland from Irma with 5 goals.

The coaches of the Viking Tom Thumbs would like to thank everyone for the help in making this tournament such a success. A big thank you to the referees and linemen and to all who did their part of the work.

Just a reminder that the win-up banquet for the hockey players will take place this coming Sunday March 27th at 5:00 p.m. in the Community Hall.

Viking Pee Wee League Playoffs

After 12 games of league play, the Viking Pee Wee 1st place Hardy and 2nd place Kilham with Forestburg getting the fourth playoff spot. This put Viking up against Hardy in the semi-finals in a two game total point series.

The second game started with Viking blocking the red light first on a goal by Jason Kripe from Daron Wadley and Todd Ritchie. Hardy came back with two making it 2 - 1 for Hardy after 20 minutes of play.

In the second period, Viking tied it up with a goal at the 1:02 minute mark with a blasting shot from the point by Tommy Maxwell assisted by Jason Clouston and Collie Bahits. At the 10:19 marker Hardy popped in another and never looked back adding seven more to the game sheet by the end of the final buzzer. This advanced Hardy to the finals with a convincing 7 - 2 in total points. Notice league statistics elsewhere in this paper.

The Viking Pee Wee are winding up their season by attending a tournament in Mundare this coming weekend and our annual Minor Hockey Wind-up banquet on Sunday at 5:00 p.m.

The players and coaches would like to thank the fans and parents for their loyal support throughout the season. I'm sure parents are ready for a break from their volunteer services as well-reason, gate collectors, chaffers, and timekeepers. Also a big thank you to our referees, it's people like you that make Minor Hockey so great in Viking.

See you all back at the rink next season.

THE DAYS WHEN A FAMILY COULD AFFORD A GOOD SERVANT ARE NOT GONE

Electricity only costs the average household about $9 a week.
And it never cuts for a day off.

For little more than a dollar and a quarter a day, electricity serves your family hand and foot, which adds up to one of the best values you can get in this day and age.

Consider. Electricity lights your house, cooks your meals, sweeps your rugs, freezes your food and shaves you.

It will, as you up, tell you the time, powers your furnace fan, brings you entertainment from the four corners of the earth and cools you.

It pumps your water, drives the humidifier, washes the dishes, does the laundry, runs the thermostat, opens your tires, and helps to start your car in the dead of winter.

Electricity—its value serves you well.

Do You Know The Bible Says

For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God. Rom. 3:23. As it is written, There is none righteous, no, not one: There is none that understandeth, there is none that seeketh after God. They are all gone out of the way, they are together become filthy. There is none that doeth good, so, not one. Rom. 3:10-12.

For more of what God has to say about fallen mankind, read the rest of Chapter 3, Isa. 58:5 says, All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned everyone in his own way; and the Lord hath laid on Him the iniquity (or sin) of us all.

And John 14:6 says, Jesus said unto him, I AM THE WAY, THE TRUTH, AND THE LIFE, no man can come to God but by ME. End quote. So you see in the above verses, all of us have strayed from the WAY: (Christ). But the WAY is still open for all of us to come back to Him. He is the WAY to God, the WAY to heaven and eternal life with God; then WHY does anyone want to choose his own way when Gods WAY (Christ) is so much better, happier, and with more satisfaction.

The true meaning of Easter is the message that still rings out: that message of the gift of eternal life by Gods grace to ALL who will choose CHRIST THE WAY. It is free; it costs nothing. The true gift of God to lost mankind. Gifts are given at Christmas time, but it was on the cross that God proved to mankind how much he loved them when HE GAVE HIS SON TO DIE FOR THEIR SINS. He still loves every individual so much, and He wants to give them that abundant life which they have never experienced.

Hymns sung were: "Amazing Grace" and "One Day At A Time".

Soloist Peggy Fleming sang "Beyond The Sunset".

The active pallbearers were Messrs: William Borys, Lloyd Nydokus, Pat Staden, Ken Holmes, Stan Tymoshynsky and Ron Prior. The honorary pallbearers were: Arthur Phossey, Frank Rempick, Don Prymak, Mac Smith, Tom Smith, Art Roland, Bud Staden, Chester Gumble, Howard Schreyer, Allan Emmott, Reg Meeks and Eric Schroeder.

Interment was in the Manville cemetery. Vernillon Funeral Service Ltd. were in charge of funeral arrangements.

Dale Carlson and Bruce Dalen had an innovative idea, and the determination to see it through. With the help of Dale's father, they had developed plans to start their own wheel alignment business. Together they had all the skills needed to run their own shop.

But they didn't have the money. And because they had never before managed a business, conventional lenders had to turn them down. That's where the Alberta Opportunity Company came in. Their plan looked sound despite a lack of experience in business, so AOC gave them the go-ahead.

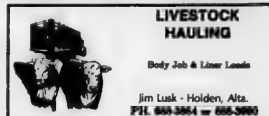

Today, through hard work and AOC financing, Auto Trac Alignments is prospering in Grande Prairie. In fact, Dale, Bruce and John are considering selling franchises in other parts of the province.

If you have a sound business idea, but you're unable to obtain financing through regular sources, call or visit your nearest AOC office and ask for our brochure, Financing Alberta Business.

AOC has offices in Brooks, Calgary, Edmonton, Egan, Grande Prairie, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, Peace River, Red Deer, St. Paul, Vermilion, and its head office in Ponoka.

First Irma Brownie Pack News

The Brownies began this season in October 1982, meeting every second Thursday, that becoming every second Wednesday beginning in February, until further notice. Badge work and The Brownie Program along with crafts are the basis of our meetings. At present the girls are learning the Hand Alphabet from the educational system of the Girl Scouts.

Our extra activities to date include in December, a family Christmas party with a pot luck dinner and Santa Claus; and in January a trip to the Ice Capades which was very enjoyable.

In February, four Brownies, Wendy Erickson, Tammy Larson, Melody Garbo and Lexanne Meakin attended the Thinking Day Service at Grace United Church in Wainwright. The girls stood at the front of the Church and read a prayer of thought for those less fortunate than themselves.

On March 16th, the District Commissioner, Lynn Pinnell attended the District Meeting. Lynn is also Mentor Advisor and she taught the Brownies some new fun songs.

Our future activities will include some fund raising events and hopefully an afternoon of bowling and a camp-out in June. The leaders are very much appreciative the past and continued support of the community and thank again the parents who volunteer their time and vehicles to help make things happen.

A meeting of the Local

Q.C.T.V. Shareholders Report Shows Profit

QCTV Ltd., a company providing cable television services to West Edmonton and 27 towns in Alberta, recently released its interim report to shareholders for the first quarter ended November 30, 1982. The report indicated that total revenue increased to $1,000,000 as revenue climbed to a significant level. Revenue for the first quarter amounted to $4,415,000 as compared to $3,750,000 or 23.7 per cent over the revenue generated in the first quarter of the previous fiscal year. The growth trend in total company revenues is indicative of the company's growth in subscribers as a result of expansion into many towns in Rural Alberta, as well as increased penetration rates in its West Edmonton cable television system. Company

President Ed Polanski stated: "The growth in total revenue will continue as penetration rates in newly-activated systems climb to expected levels."

Mr. Polanski indicated that "The most encouraging aspect of the quarterly report was the fact that the company was able to improve on its operating ratio over that of the previous year."

Mr. Polanski is satisfied with his company's strategic move to serve rural Alberta, which necessitated a $18,000,000 construction program. He stated, "Although the rural systems are not yet generating profits, they are beginning to generate a positive cash flow." Cash flow from all operations amounted to $1.38 per share for the first quarter compared to 8.98 per share for the same period last year. Mr. Polanski indicated that with the completion of the rural construction program, the company's demand for funds to finance capital expansion had been reduced and the increased cash flow would be sufficient to meet the company's immediate needs, with the exception of its move into the provision of Pay TV services.

Asked about the impact of Pay TV on the operating results of the company, Mr.

Polanski said, "Pay TV is a numbers game; it is important to achieve significant subscriber levels quickly in order to amortize the company's capital investment over as large a number of subscribers as possible but more importantly to insure there are sufficient subscriber bases to allow Pay TV networks to acquire the highest quality programming and thus, retain viewers for the longer term."

Subscribers in our systems have shown the highest support for Pay TV of any system in Canada. We continued, "From our company's point of view Pay TV presents a new revenue source and will eventually result in increased profits.

But the increase in profits will generally be in the same proportions as profits generated by a traditional basic cable service subscriber."

Schweitzer Wins Ladies Bonspiel

The Viking Curling Club hosted their annual Ladies Open Bonspiel March 28 to 27 with 36 teams curling for the trophies and prizes. Good curling and keen ice was enjoyed by all except for sheet one which continued to baffle the best of curlers.

Saturday was a day for fun with a hat and T-shirt competition with a curling theme in mind. A roast beef supper was served in the Legion Hall at 5:00 p.m. for all present and the different array of hats and T-shirts was fantastic with no two teams alike.

First prize in the hat competition went to Joy Place, Debbie Hill, Emma Maxwell and Sharon Mayer, and second prize to the team of Shirley MacDonald, Dorcas Gawn, Daris and Karen Armstrong.

The T-shirt Design Prize went to 'The Den's', Georgia Brandtgen and friends from Sedgewick who also entertained us with a curling sing-a-long.

Lynn Lancaster and Muriel Jackson entertained us with a leg and hat chopping demonstration. The Bank of Montreal 'Black Hatters' went to Alberta Hills rink and the Glabe Footwear certificates to Pat Amundson's, Sylvia Stevenson was the lucky winner of the rubber plant. The door prize of a sandwich grill was won by Leane Otto. The talent committee for all the fun and to the banquet committee for a delicious supper. An extra special by Bobby Schweitzer, thanks to Esther, Hattie, Flo, Noella and Margaret for helping us out. Congratulations to all the winners. The first event was won by Bobby Schweitzer, second to Esther, Hattie, Flo, Noella and Margaret for helping us out. Continued on Page 7

High School Basketball Teams Have Good Year

The two Viking senior high basketball teams had a reasonably good year, even though they didn't capture any trophies.

The boys final standings

had Ryley as tops in the Western league, although the Viking boys came very close. Bill Berch came in second in the top ten scores in the league with 180 points. He was beaten by a Coronation boy with 301 points.

As for the girls, Ryley and Viking tied for the Western league first place position.

but Ryley was awarded the win due to a greater point spread in an earlier victory over Viking.

Mary Lynn Lang was the top scorer in the league with 188 points, and Elaine Rommehel was fifth with 84 points.

The girls personal standings again had Mary Lynn Lang first with 188, followed by Elaine Rommehel with 84, Wendy Sullivan with 41 and Marlene Sluith with 38.

As for free throw, Mary Lynn Lang tied with Wendy Sullivan with 11 points for first followed by Elaine Rommehel with 4. Marlene Sluith got a whopping 29 fouls, followed by Mary Lynn Lang, Marlene Sluith and Wendy Sullivan, each with 18 fouls.

Overall, it was a disappointing year. Both teams played exceptionally well, but it seemed that victory was just out of their grasp.

was Georgia Brandtgen from Sedgewick. Third place went to Holly Halse from Brooks while 4th spot went to Joy Place of Viking.

The second event winner was Shirley Lockhart of Viking and 2nd went to Kathy Langhous of Sherwood Park. Skille Stevenson of Manville captured 3rd spot and 4th place went to Doreen Daly of Sherwood Park.

The first place finisher in the third event was Vivian Priesen of Loughheed while Marie Shaw of Sedgewick finished second. Third and fourth place finishers were Rhonda Cumming of Viking and Penny Amundson also of Viking respectively.

The ladies would also like to thank Don Halse for a well arranged draw.

Thanks to the following business for donations of cash and prizes for the Viking Ladies Curling Club: B.I. DA, Bank of Montreal, Glabe Footwear, Quinlan Construction, Cargill Grain, Huskies Trucking, Sunny Days, Viking Meat Market, Jean's Flowers, John D. Hunter, Hovary's Automotive, Lydia's Restaurant, IGA, Dr. Royal Nordstrom, Weekly Review, Viking Retail, Place Farm Equipment, Dr. Mann, Viking Confectionery, Mutual Life, Co-op Service Centre, Credit Union, and The Treasury Branch. Your support is very much appreciated.

The snack bar committee would also like to express their thanks to all the ladies who donated pies and to everyone who worked in the Snack Bar. We hope to realize a good profit this year for our building fund and without your support this would not be possible. Hopefully next curling season we'll have a new facility to work in.

Three short years ago, Alberta's economy and the oil and gas industry were both healthy.*Coincidence?

We asked groups of Albertans this question recently. Their answer: "No coincidence at all."

They were convinced that there was a solid link between Alberta's prosperity and the health of the oil and gas industry.

Three short years ago, wells were being drilled in record numbers. Refineries were being built. Pipelines were being laid. The industry was prosperous. And people were being hired.

But the prosperity went far beyond the oil and gas industry. Construction flourished. New stores and service industries opened up. Restaurants were full. Every sector of our economy enjoyed unprecedented growth. Times were good.

Karl Gillard of Kinross said the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Greenwood as his mother attended a wedding in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Barry Holt, Mac Holt and daughter Susan of Calgary and Mrs. Gladys Holt of Viking were Saturday supper guests at the Holt home.

Shirley Hansen had the misfortune of getting her toe broke at the Mackoway farm while helping in the recent annual removal of the children from the laying barn.

Irma Musicians Successful At Festivals

The purpose of a Music Festival is to encourage music and a chance to have professionals come to offer advice and encourage all to keep up with the good work.

It is with great pleasure that I report that the piano students of Mrs. Jan Copeland and Mrs. Lillian Copeland, who took part in the Festival held at Vermilion and Provost are to be congratulated for their high marks.

At Vermilion all the children played so well that it was very difficult for the adjudicator, Hope Metcalfe, to decide who should be awarded first place. Danny Larson and Shirley Connolly each received silver star certificates in their classes. Dawn Jamison, Mickey Ho, Kristal Prior and Alena Ho all performed very well.

Alena Ho, Leanne and Leslie Creasey, and Karl Lynn Jones entered the Provost Festival. There were sixteen participants for Sylvia Shadick to adjudicate and she felt that Alena and Leanne should each receive a first for their excellent performance. She therefore, gave to each a gold seal certificate.

Leslie played with great distinction receiving an A and Karl Lynn merited the over 90 per cent. B award. We, your teachers are proud of you!

4-H On The Move

What! Writing about summer in March? It does seem odd but now is when 4-H clubs start planning their summer activities.

By the end of June, many 4-H clubs like Beef and Clothing have ended their own club year with an Achievement Day. Some, like Garden or Light Horse clubs are just beginning their most active season. Whatever the project, summer is an exciting time for all 4-H members because July and August see the majority of 4-H programs organized outside the club itself.

The Regional 4-H Council often plans summer exchange programs in which selected Northeast Alberta 4-Hers visit 4-H families elsewhere in North America and in turn host return delegates from those areas. This is a great chance to see new country-side, meet new friends, and share in the world-wide 4-H spirit. This summer 26 4-H members will be travelling to Hood River, Oregon.

Other summer programs are planned by the Home Economics and 4-H Branch of Alberta Agriculture, Club West, held in July offers participants the chance to learn about themselves, about others and about working and playing together in a variety of situations. Members wishing to know about working with others may attend Leadership Through Counselling Seminar, July 4 - 8 at the Alberta 4-H Centre, Battle Lake.

The seminar is designed for members who have a sincere interest in developing leadership skills to benefit themselves and their club.

Summer is the time for camping. This year a camp for 10 - 12 year olds will be held at Moose Lake on August 8 - 15, 1983. (note: this is a date change from what is published in the Summer Program booklet). For 12, 15 and 16 year olds a number of camps will be held at Battle Lake which they can apply for. 4-Hers learn camping skills, crafts and get a chance to spend a week with fifty or more young people from across the region and province.

For more information on these and other programs, check the 4-H Summer Program booklet available from your club leader or secretary.

What An Ending!

It was absolutely amazing: this past weekend. The number of events that were going on in and around this area seemed to boggle the mind at times. Let's just throw out a partial list: the ladies' curling bonspiel in Viking, the men's bonspiel in Irma, the Gas Kings hockey tournament, a badminton tournament, the community concert in Viking, the ice show in Irma, the ladies' basketball tournament in Viking, the Battle River Hockey League playoffs in Irma, the community choir concert in Viking and Hogen, etc., etc. The list could go on and on, but it is easy to forget the picture. It seems that this past weekend signalled the ending of the winter season in a variety of activities in anticipation of the summer season shortly follows.

And as one looks at this partial list of events of the weekend, one has to think of all of the other events that also took place over the winter months. And the first thought about these that comes to mind is all of the people who worked so exceptionally hard to make each and every event not only a reality but a success. The total number of volunteer hours that were put in by coaches, snack bar attendants, cleaners, timekeepers, referees, ice makers, drivers, and a wide variety of other helpers is amazing. So much of what we are in rural Alberta, no in all of Alberta, depends on this desire to provide opportunities for people with little or no financial gain. It is an exceptionally fine aspect of life, and one of which we should all be proud.

With the large number of events that went on, the realization is there that most people are givers and doers, not takers and don'ters. Therefore it's time to put yourself on the back for the very fine job you did in trying to make life in our communities just a little bit better. Every bit counts, for every little bit becomes part of one great big bit, as can be seen by the tremendous wealth of activities past weekend that were taking place this past weekend. What an ending.

trot, the Tans and the Fourteen Step.

A crowd jammer at any dance and certainly an ice cream, is the Bird dance which was very well received by the audience and was performed by eight skaters of the Irma club.

A presentation revolving around the Edmonton Shrine Circus was the program. In Ring 1 we witnessed various acts of wrens very professional looking down and in Ring 2 we saw several animals.

The Vegreville Easter Egg was also featured in a lovely dance involving Deana Prior and Teresa Mark.

An interesting feature in the program was the St. Paul Leasing Pad for space. It involved a mini solo by Rhonda Lovig and four very strange looking little space men.

The Canadian Forces Base Cold Lake was also featured. To feature this the Club did a dance to a music-dance called Snowbird by Karri Lovig and Patricia Leschke. They also featured some skaters very capably depicting some parachuters.

Mark Schmitz a guest skater from Camrose was the best program number.

He performed a beautiful solo that was much enjoyed by the crowd.

Following this, the Wainwright Stampede was very well featured by Marvin Foder, Teresa Mark and Karri Ayers. This was followed by the Irma Dance Parade which was performed very professionally by the Irma Precision Skating Team.

Each and every skater did an excellent job and are to be commended for putting on such a super show. Thanks to everyone for coming out and supporting the club.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:
 Your editorial of March 28 was very encouraging and I hope the Town Council will give the go ahead. There is no one on the town facility is needed and if council is afraid it will be left behind the bag then they can't have much respect for the people working on this venture.

The curling club and the fair committee are self-sufficient as long as they have been in existence and have managed to acquire considerable assets and have money in the bank; that is proof enough of good management.

There is no better time to build than now as contractors are underestimating each other and almost begging for contracts.

This project would initiate jobs for local people and bring many into our business community. After the project is completed there will be job opportunities for several people as a caretaker, manager and co-ordinator will be required.

As for myself and many others who are not in curl we can drive to other towns but then we'll probably shop there as well. Visiting has been the most active curling club along the line especially the young people and we should not disappoint them by not giving this just venture a chance.

 Dear Sir:
 Last December I met and became great friends with the author of this poem. He had donated his kidney to his daughter, thus giving her the greatest gift: a new life, and I thought this would be of interest to your readers.

I Think I'm Off
 Al O'Hall
 Tomorrow morning, quite early, they will come to my door.

And take me away, to a "Quite different Door". A room full of shiny and glittering things. Of boxes and odors to make my eyes sting.

They'll put me to sleep, may God wish them well.

Who needs to be convinced, through that kind of hell. And out me apart on a small bedded time with their fingers until they can find.

"The Filter" and I came here with two. Some medicine, didn't and there's a quite a few. I sure don't need two, I'll live on my own.

But someone were need mine, and they can have mine. Gave unto others these parts not required. They don't get to be smart or even stupid then.

There's folks running along their lives are untold. So give up to organs and give it up soon.

Fill out your card that says, "I Am A Donor". Make a lasting friend, Don't be a loner. A sparkling or flatter or someday's sense. Dead or alive, you make a best friend. Gerry Submitted by Henry J. Rabby

Uniform Welcomes Amendments

Uniform, Alberta's major general farm organization, said recently it welcomes the announcement by the federal government that Bill C-80 had finally become law.

The amended legislation contains measures designed to protect the rights of landowners affected by the construction of pipe and powerlines that come under federal jurisdiction. Uniform has actively advocated changes in the National Energy Board Act since 1979 when representatives of the organization attended hearings of the Senate committee responsible for reviewing the legislation.

Uniform is very satisfied that many of its recommendations have been incorporated in the new bill, including compensation for pipe and powerlines in a lump sum or annual or periodic payments at the option of the landowner.

A five-year review of compensation was strongly advocated by Uniform and has also been included in the bill.

Expropriation for pipe and powerlines under federal jurisdiction (those that cross provincial boundaries) formerly came under provisions of the Railway Act which did not provide an appeal route for the landowner but that court action. The act now provides for new provisions of negotiation between landowners and companies with an arbitration committee with authority to settle compensation and other disputes.

The bill also clarifies the subject of market value of land which it defines as, "The amount that would have been paid for the lands if, at the time of their taking, they had been sold in the open market by a willing seller to a willing buyer."

The bill makes provision to compensate for costs involved in making representations to the board and also requires companies who serve notice on a landowner, and subsequently decide not to proceed with the project, to assume responsibility for all reasonable costs and damages incurred by the landowner as a result of his efforts to protect his interests.

Uniform is satisfied that many positive approaches to a long-time problem are contained in the bill and expressed the hope that the provincial government would follow the federal lead and incorporate similar forward thinking in its proposed surface rights legislation.

Market value for land had been a primary concern of Uniform which was also pleased that the new act now makes provision for compensation in several areas, including: the loss of use of the land; the adverse effect on the remaining land after forced taking;

Viking Bantams Capture "A" Trophy At Forestburg

On Saturday, March 12, the Bantams took part in a 4 team Tournament at Forestburg bringing home the A trophy.

In the first game, Viking played Thane Hills. They won this game 12 - 8. Forestburg had been the leader in the day as Viking played Forestburg in the final game.

This was a real exciting game. Our boys played superb hockey, with only 8 players and about the third of the team. They won the game 4 - 3. Gary Clouston received a trophy in the first game for Most Valuable Player and Jason Place won the Most Valuable Trophy in the second game. Ken Zemanek also received a trophy for the most valuable goalie. The Bantams have finished of League play and the league standings are Kilam with 20 points, Havelley with 15, Viking with 12, Forestburg with 7. Days land with 6 and Holden with 2. Top scorers in the league were B. Moody from Havelley with 64, J. Lang from Kilam with 48 and G. McCleary also from Kilam with 38.

Viking came up against Dayland in the playoffs and in the first game they defeated Dayland 7 - 2. The second game of the playoffs saw Viking winning again with a score of 11 - 5. Viking then had to play Havelley. This was a difficult ending with Havelley winning by a score of 12 - 1. This ended a good year of league hockey for the boys. Thanks to the coach, Al Deuchambault and the parents that supported the boys.

High School Basketball Teams Have Good Year

The two Viking senior high basketball teams had a reasonably good year, even though they didn't capture any trophies.

The boys final standings

had Ryley as tops in the Western league, although the Viking boys came very close. Bill Sevrck came in second in the top ten scores in the league with 106 points. He was beaten by a Coronation boy with 201 points.

As for the girls, Ryley and Viking tied for the Western league first place position, with 64 points.

The girls personal standings again had Mary Lynn Lang first with 130, followed by Elaine Rasmahl with 64, Wendy Sullivan with 41 and Marlene Slevik with 38.

As for free throws, Mary Lynn Lang tied with Wendy Sullivan with 11 points for first followed by Elaine Rasmahl with 6. Marlene Slev-ik got a whopping 28 fouls, followed by Mary Lynn Lang, Melaine Fortis and Wendy Sullivan, each with 26 fouls.

Overall, it was a disappointing year. Both teams played exceptionally well, but it seemed that victory was just out of their grasp.

From The Ground Up

District Agriculturists

Rudy J. Warawa & Barbara Bennett

We'll soon be seeing the countryside turning green as spring crops begin to grow. Unfortunately, when crops begin to establish, so do some of the well known hazards of agriculture. Flea beetles are often a hindrance to canola crops. Have you ever wondered how these miniature pests survive our mighty Western? Les Burgess of Agriculture Canada in Saskatoon has looked into the winter survival of the flea beetle.

How Flea Beetles Survive of Canola Crops Overwinter. In the depths of a prairie winter, it is easy to believe that insects, such as flea beetles, have simply disappeared for 5 to 6 months. Actually, they are very much alive and quite able to cope with winter's rigors. A new generation of adult beetles appears in canola crops in late July and August each year. These beetles feed for a while, but when green food plants are no longer available in the fall, most leave the fields. They fly into sheltered areas, including groves of parkland trees, hedges, shelterbelts and bushy fence rows. Here they crawl down into dead leaves and turf, where they remain throughout the winter. When snow arrives, it covers them beneath an insulating blanket and ensures that the beetles are rarely exposed to temperatures below minus eight degrees Celsius. Thus the beetles' behavior permits them to overwinter in a microhabitat with a suitable temperature, even when blizzards howl across the landscape and air temperatures drop below minus 30 degrees Celsius. Winter winds actually help the beetles have snug quarters, as the snow is blown from the open fields and deposited in deep drifts in the sheltered areas.

The leaf litter and turf, with its covering of snow, also provides the moist conditions necessary for the flea beetles' survival. Sampling of these insects from this habitat throughout the winter in Saskatchewan has shown winter mortality to be low. The way in which flea beetles overwinter is an excellent example of how insects and other creatures make use of particular niches in the environment for survival.

We investigated sampling of overwintering flea beetles in groves of trees as a technique to estimate the number that might attack parkland canola crops the following spring. However, variations in samples from various locations in a single grove, between groves, proved very large, and too many samples would be needed for the method to be of practical use over large areas.

Intensive sampling in one grove of trees did, however, provide an idea of the beetles' density. The estimated number of crucifer flea beetles overwintering per hectare in this grove ranged from some 0.3 million annually over a 5 year period, while the number of striped flea beetles, a less abundant canola pest in the area, ranged from 0.1 million to nearly 1.5 million annually. Thus, of the several possible habitats occupied by overwintering flea beetles, parkland groves alone can harbor an immense number that will be ready to attack canola crops when spring arrives.

St. Paul Presbyterial Sub-Executive Meet

The St. Paul Presbyterial U.C.W. Sub-executive meeting was held in Wainwright on Tuesday, March 22.

The meeting was opened by our President Oliver Frisell, who also gave the devotion from Isa. 9:6 and Math. 6:31-33. The topic was "Leading Women's Faith Overcomes Worry".

A letter from Jan Edwards from the Division of Ministry, Personnel and Education of Alberta Conference U.C.W. regarding new guidelines for Staff Associates was read. Also, contributions to the Internship Fund of St. Stephen's College should be checked. Internship Fund, otherwise the money goes into the general fund of the College.

As well we need to encourage contributions to the fund to honor Prairie Women.

Delegates to Alberta Conference at Camrose, April 18 - 21 were chosen and transportation arranged. Several visitors and Alberta Conference executive members will also be in attendance from St. Paul Presbyterial.

The meeting adjourned and coffee was served before leaving for home.

Ladies Basketball Tournament A Success

The Viking Ladies Basketball team had a successful tournament last Saturday with teams from Drayton Valley, Lloydminster and Stettler participating in the one day tournament. Viking and Drayton Valley met in the final, with Viking capturing the trophy with a 64 to 53 victory.

Staff Photos

The Ladies Basketball team had a successful tournament last weekend. They played their first game at 10:00 against Lloydminster. The game started out pretty slow for both teams but progressed into an interesting game. The half time score was 32 - 17 for Viking.

The first part of the second half, Viking scored on the power and was leading by quite a bit. Then things started to change half

L. Welch 4 points, V. Carrington 3, Watson and C. Domesan each with 2 points.

The next game at 12:00 was Drayton Valley and Stettler with Drayton Valley coming out ahead. The game at 2:00 which was the consolation was with Stettler and Lloyd with Stettler coming out on top.

The final game was at 4:00 with Viking and Drayton Valley. The game started out pretty slow for both teams but progressed into an interesting game. The half time score was 32 - 17 for Viking.

way through the second half with Drayton only trailing by 8 points.

But Viking held its own with gaining a few points and won the game with a score of 64 - 53. Top scorers for this game were N. Pan with 22 points, M. Lang, C. Anderson and L. Rabby each with 10 points, K. Barber 6 points, A. Field, J. Watson and L. Welch each with 5 points.

Each member of the team was presented with a trophy donated by Carrington's Gift Service. We would like to thank the referees who came out and did a good job, to the Viking players who let us use the gym and to everyone else who devoted their time for us and last but not of all a special thank you to our two coaches who made a good competitive team out of us. Rob Rallington and Ping to thank you all look forward to our next season and we hope to have all of your support again. Thanks everyone.

Egg-Chick Eggs. This is the time of year when the egg is used symbolically as part of Easter and Pasover celebrations. The egg symbolizes new life in both traditions.

Coloring eggs with food coloring works well if eggs are allowed to soak in dye for at least half an hour. After drying, color eggs with non toxic magic markers or glue on ribbon and ribbons. An egg carton or paper roll cut into sections is an excellent drying and decorating stand. When finished, put a drop of shortening on your hands and rub over each egg to give it a shine and to set color.

To hold these colored eggs, make a bread basket. Use a lot of bread before it is sliced. Cut off the top of the loaf, leaving a one inch strip in the middle (side to side) for a handle. Hollow out bread so Easter goodies can be placed inside. Trim with ribbon. Unused bread can be ground for bread crumbs.

An Easter egg hunt adds excitement to Easter morning. Try assigning a particular color of egg to each child. Hide eggs for older children in less obvious places than eggs for the younger ones. You can also write special messages, in fine tipped marking pen on the outside of each egg. You may want to show your child on his Easter treasure hunt with a good condition "E. 795".

I hope you have a fun and happy Easter at your house!

Irma Musicians Successful At Festivals

The purpose of a Music Festival is to encourage music and a chance to have professionals come to offer advice and encourage all to keep up with the good work.

It is with great pleasure that I report that the piano students of Mrs. Jan Copeland and Mrs. Lillian Copeland, who took part in the Festival held at Vermilion and Provost are to be congratulated for their high marks.

At Vermilion all the children played so well that it was very difficult for the adjudicator, Hope Metzman, to decide who should be awarded first place. Danny Larson and Shirley Connolly each received all star certificates in their classes. Darryl Jamison, Mickey Ho, Kristal Prior and Alecia Ho all performed very well.

Alecia Ho, Leanne and Leslie Crouse, and Karl Lynn Jones entered the Provost Festival. There were sixteen participants for Sylvia Stadick to adjudicate and she felt that Alecia and Leanne should each receive a first for their excellent performance. She therefore, gave to each a gold seal certificate.

Leslie played with great distinction receiving an A and Karl Lynn received the over 80 per cent. B award. We, your teachers are proud of you.

Coincidence?

We asked groups of Albertans this question recently. Their answer: "No coincidence at all."

They were convinced that there was a solid link between Alberta's prosperity and the health of the oil and gas industry.

Three short years ago, wells were being drilled in record numbers. Refineries were being built. Pipelines were being laid. The industry was prosperous. And people were being hired.

But the prosperity went far beyond the oil and gas industry. Construction flourished. New stores and service industries opened up. Restaurants were full. Every sector of our economy enjoyed unprecedented growth. Times were good.

The oil and gas industry is confident that the prosperity Albertans enjoyed three short years ago will return. It simply means commitment, ingenuity and perseverance on the part of both government and industry. The time for action has come.

This message is from the members of the Petroleum Resources Communication Foundation.

Energy. It makes Alberta work.

4-H On The Move

What's Writing about summer in March? It does seem odd but now is when 4-H clubs start planning their summer activities.

By the end of June, many 4-H clubs like Beef and Nothing have ended their club year with an achievement day. Some Garden or Light Horse clubs are just beginning most active season.

Whatever the project, summer is an exciting time for all 4-H members because July and August are the majority of 4-H programs organized outside the club land.

The Regional 4-H Council often plans summer exchange programs in which selected Northwest Alberta 4-Hers visit 4-H families elsewhere in North America and in turn host return delegates from those areas. This is a great chance to see new country, make new friends, and share in the world-wide 4-H spirit. This summer 20 4-H members will be travelling to Hood River, Oregon.

Other summer programs are planned by the Home Economics and 4-H Branch of Alberta Agriculture, Club Week, held in July offer participants the chance to learn about themselves, about others and about about playing together in a variety of situations. Members wishing to know about working with others may attend Leadership Training Seminars, July 4 - 8 at the Alberta 4-H Centre, Battle Lake.

The seminar is designed for members who have a sincere interest in developing leadership skills to benefit themselves and their club.

Summer is the time for camping. This year a camp for 10 - 15 year olds will be held at Moose Lake on August 8 - 18, 1983. (note: this is a date change from what is published in the Summer Program booklet).

For 12, 13 and 14 year olds a number of camps will be held at Battle Lake which they can apply for. 4-Hers learn camping skills, crafts and get a chance to spend a week with fifty or more young people from across the region and province.

For more information on these and other programs, check the 4-H Summer Program booklet available from your club leader or secretary.

District Commissioner Earl MacDonald presented the Irma Beavers with Wood Badge Woggles on March 15, during a joint meeting of the Irma Cub and Beaver groups.

Aces Are Number One

One word can sum up this year's edition of the Irma Aces - Awesome. And that's how they were when they took on the Wainwright Bantlers in the league final.

The Aces swept the series four straight and brought the league trophy back to Irma for another year. There was also a host of other trophies handed out to the team and individual players in the third game.

The team received the trophy for finishing first place in the league, Ivan Bacon and Shann Couston picked up the top goal tenders award. Bob Foley received the trophy for most points in the regular season and shared the most valuable player of the league award with Kevin Mackay. Kent Gullbra was awarded the top defenceman trophy. That is quite a bit of hardware.

The first game of the final was held in Irma, and saw Ivan Bacon record his first shut-out of the season, putting the brakes to 23 shots. The Aces fired 41 at Wainwright's Bruce McCluskey who allowed seven to get by him.

Bob Foley had two goals and two assists, Kent Gullbra had 1 goal and three assists, Kevin Mackay had 1 goal and two assists, and Brian Burr had 1 goal and 1 assist. Len Parsons and Jay Fenton notched 1 marker apiece. Gord Holt, Brent Foster, Garret Mackay and Morgan Jones each had an assist.

Wainwright got on the scoreboard in the second game but the match ended 9 - 5 in favor of the Aces. The game was tied at four going into the third period, and it stayed that way until the ten minute mark, then the Aces went on a shooting spree. Len Parsons fired in a hat trick, Brian Burr picked up two goals and an assist, Gord Holt had a goal and two assists, Bob Foley and Greg Fischer each had a goal and an assist, and Kent Gullbra added a single marker and one helper. Kevin had three assists and Garret Mackay picked up one.

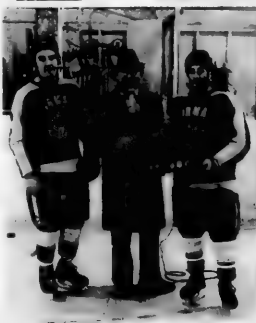

The third game was back in Irma and ended in a 6 - 0 score. Ivan Bacon posted another shut-out handling 30 shots. The Aces fired 37 at the other end.

Gord Holt and Bob Foley had two goals apiece, and Brian Burr and Len Parsons scored single goals. Kent Gullbra assisted on four goals in a row. Jay Fenton, Ray Tomlinson, Bob Foley, Morgan Jones and Len Parsons had the other helpers.

There were some pretty long faces in the second period when Ray Tomlinson had to leave the ice on a stretcher after pulling ligaments in his knee. Jay Fenton also had quite a Knock when he collided with a Wainwright player and took a quick trip to never-never land. Jay managed to make it to his feet, but his skates were doing some pretty fancy cross-over on the way to the bench.

In the fourth game, the Aces took control right off the bat, and registered an 11 - 1 score.

Kevin Mackay led the assault with four goals and two assists. Bob Foley had one goal and one assist, and Turk Gullbra and Gord Holt blazed the red light once. Continued on Page 10

Kent Gullman drew four assists, and Greg Fischer, Brent Fischer, Jay Fenton, Garret Mackay and Marvin Holt helped on one each. Shane Holler was kept busy redirecting 82 shots. The Aces took 40 shots at Watwright's McCloskey. All in all, the series featured clean, fast hockey.

By The Times
There were quite a few bumps and bruises picked up in this series. Kevin MacKay (nose lip), Brian Burr (Charles Heron), and Bob Foley (nose foot) picked up the nickname "the hospital line". But they kept hammering goals in anyway. And during a practice before the final series, Marvin Holt had a practice-line burn on him, but that's as far as it went into that one.

It's been quite a season for the Aces, including play-offs they posted a 34 win, 1 loss and 1 tie record. The team would like to thank every one who came to the games whether it was to cheer or cheer for the players. It's greatly appreciated. Talk to you next year!

Near 600 Attend Career Day In Viking

Several months of hard work and organization came to a successful conclusion last Wednesday as the Viking School hosted a Career Day for students in grades nine through twelve.

All students from these grades in the County of Beaver were responsible to attend the day. As well, students from Vegreville, Two Hills, Mannville, Mymann and Mundare attended the full day of sessions.

Twenty-six different career possibilities or career planning seminars were on offer to the approximately 600 students who attended. These sessions included careers such as automotive, politics, social work, apprenticeships, banking, the armed forces, fish and wildlife officer, and teaching. Career planning sessions included presentations by representatives from Lakeland College, the University of Alberta, Camrose Lutheran College, and the student finance board.

Sessions for the day began at 9:30 a.m. and were scheduled for 50 minutes each, with many of the presentations being delivered 4 or 5 times during the day. Students were required to attend the maximum number of sessions possible in relation to the time they had arrived at the School. The students who had travelled the farthest were limited to about 3 sessions.

With sessions scheduled every hour from 9:30 until 2:30, most students were able to learn something about a number of possible careers in which they were interested. Each session was chaired by a teacher, with the presentations being made by a qualified representative in each field.

In response to a request by the organizers, the newly formed Parent-Teacher Association turned the school gym into a cafeteria as they provided lunch for a good majority of the students. All of the work and food for their first fund raising activity was donated by community members.

Randy Ness, who planned and organized the Career Day, felt that the opportunity provided the students to learn more about possible careers is important in helping them plan for their futures. He said that except for some minor logistical problems, the Day was a success.

Slavik Memorial Trophy Donated

The family of the late Jack Slavik recently donated a trophy to the Viking Curling Club to be presented on a yearly basis to the Viking team taking the Men's Club Championship.

Club Curling in Viking was very successful this year and the thoughtfulness of the Slavik family will add to its continued success. During the 1982-83 curling season, the Day was a success.

Holden Chamber To Host Supper

Another new community event will take place in Holden, Wednesday, April 20th when the Holden Chamber of Commerce hosts the first "Meet Your Neighbour Community Pot-Luck Supper." The supper will get underway at 6:30 p.m. with a social from 7:30 - 9:00 p.m. All families in the Village and surrounding area are invited to this event. There will be no charge and families are asked to bring a food item that would feed their family and any games or cards they would like to play during the social.

With many new people moving into the area the Chamber feels this supper will be an ideal opportunity for the newcomers to meet the people of the community. Special welcome will be given to families who have moved to the Holden area in the past year. Families who have lived in the area for some time are being asked to make a special effort to invite the newcomers and contact Sharon Gill at 686-2785 with their names. The Chamber has planned this evening as a fun and hospitality night for the community with the hope it can be an annual event.

In other Chamber news, the Chairperson for the Management Assistance Program, Ron Melick, reports outstanding success in registration for the program. At the kick-off held in Viking, March 23rd, 8 businesses from Holden and 8 businesses from Viking attended. The consultants have completed their initial 8 day work with the businesses and will forward their suggestions and ideas very soon.

Swinging Beavers Host "Dam It Day"

Swing your partner! Saturday, March 26, a beautiful spring day! And it was the Swinging Beavers' "Dam It Day". Two hundred and fifty square dancers jammed the old school gym at Bruce. This square dance jamboree has become an annual event, and now, in its third showing, has increased in popularity with a speed that has left the club astounded. Dancers poured in from many different clubs. A partial listing would include Lloydminster, Camrose, Edgerton, Wainwright, St. Paul, Lac La Biche, Car, Edmonton, Thorsby, Camdonald, Hay Lakes, New Narva, Bonnyville and Wetaskiwin. The "Dam It Day" jam-

borne, non-dancers might call it a marathon, or endurance test, started at two in the afternoon. It slowed down after three hours for supper, followed by an hour's entertainment put on by the host club. The Swinging Beavers. Then, the chairs were pushed back and another three hours of dancing followed.

Visitors were especially complimentary about the hot meal served by the Broke Ladies Agricultural Society, and the excellence of the three callers who guided the dancers, Clem Nadon and Andy Penock of Edmonton, and Club's own, Allan Zwierchke of Holden. They pulled all the stops, challenging patterns, beautiful singing, and the nearly lost art of yodelling.

"And your entertainment! It's the greatest!" a couple told us. "We'd come to your jamboree just for it."

All in all, the Dam It Day Jamboree was a huge success, a great "Fun-Time". The Swinging Beavers, who come from many points within the County of Beaver, dance once a week in the Bruce gym. The schedule begins in late October, and lasts until the end of April. The club is always eager to welcome new members.

On March 26th, the Swinging Beavers Square Dance Club of Bruce hosted their "Dam It Day", a square dance jamboree which attracted over 250 square dancers from northeastern Alberta.

Province-Wide Exams A Must

This past week, the results of the first "Comprehensive Exams" which were administered by the Alberta Department of Education were released. They indicated that students scored an average in some subjects, and below average in others. Education Minister King said that he was disappointed in the results and used them to argue for compulsory "comprehensive" exams. But Mr. King is looking at these exams too simplistically. Firstly, these exams were not compulsory, therefore the sample was small, making any judgement suspect, and also meaning that many students did not take them seriously. And secondly, no one was sure what they were going to test.

The Province should have compulsory examinations in all major subject areas for grade 12 students. They should not be "comprehensive" exams as set forth by the Department this past year, but should be exams designed to test the knowledge and skills which are directly related to the curriculum which the students have taken. But herein lies a problem which lies at the feet of Mr. King. We have now in Alberta high school curriculums which are "option" oriented. They provide a wide range of freedom for teachers, and at times students, in their choice of what should be studied. Even in the senior physics classes, many areas are optional, which allows for wide variations in high school graduates across the province. The determination of this curriculum is ultimately the responsibility of Mr. King's office. He must take the responsibility for not being able to set up an exam which is of a limited scope so that students can meet the curriculum in an effective manner.

Curriculums must be standardized across the Province. The Alberta Teachers' Association will scream at such a suggestion for they have strongly supported local autonomy in subject matter in order to deal with locally created curriculum concepts. But that has led to such a tremendous variety of subject areas being taught within a core subject that we have lost sight of the possibilities of having a provincial standard of requirements in order to receive a high school diploma. The government must work with the educators to standardize the curriculum so that some meaningful method of determining achievement across the Province can be established.

We used to have such a system. It wasn't perfect by any means, but it did demand that students achieve a certain level of competence in a subject area before they were granted credits. That level was one established on a province-wide basis, so one knew how they stood in comparison to all others when they received their marks. Now, with 100 per cent of a student's mark coming from the teacher, there is no meaningful way for the government level to be determined on a province-wide basis. In fact, if administrators in school systems are not inclined to "check up" on teachers, or do not have the time to adequately check what is being taught, it could happen that a very low standard is being set for high school credits in any particular classroom.

But what of the abilities of teachers? How does society know if their students are being taught what is required, and are meeting the standards which are required? Under the present system, we have to have a great deal of faith in the teachers. But perhaps this is too much faith. It is a fact that exams not only test the students, but also, in a way, the instructors. The Alberta Teachers' Association has indicated some fear that the exams will be used to test the teachers. However, there is absolutely nothing wrong with this. Exams will provide the opportunity for a system to ensure that those who are given the responsibility of instructing a subject have the ability and are performing as required.

It's time to standardize the curriculum and then establish a good set of exams for this Province at the high school level so that society will have a better idea of what is happening in our education system.

M.L.A. Report From Tom Lysons

The past week in the Legislature was an important one as members rose to debate the 1983 Budget. I expressed my feeling that the budget was appropriate at the time, given the mood of the country. The Budget debate is important in that it allows opposition members to comment on all aspects of the government's policies - economic, as well as social. Yet only the Leader of the Official Opposition took advantage of this opportunity. I would be interested in knowing why the other opposition members did not participate in this debate.

One of the most important developments during the course of the Budget debate was the announcement by the Minister of Hospitals and Medical Care that, effective October 1, 1983, hospitals will be able to charge user fees. I support this move, in light of the following situation, which I outlined in my address last week.

"Approximately 60 per cent of all our spending in this province...has gone into education, hospitals and medical care. If we go back to the first budget that I saw on the table in 1970, our total budget was $2.96 billion which I thought was a colossal amount of money. This year, hospitals and medical care and social services account for $3.4 billion...it's increase over 40 per cent just in the time I've been in the Legislature."

In this year's budget, $2.3 billion has been allocated to Hospitals and Medical Care, out of a total budget of $9.6 billion. That is almost 1/4 of all expenditures directed toward one department of the government. To put this in other words, about $1,000 is being spent on every man, woman and child in Alberta for the provision of hospital and medical care services. The rate of increase of per-capita costs of health care in Alberta has been higher than the national average over the last decade. During that same decade, patient day costs in hospitals have risen from $60 to over $250. Also during that time, a single person's health care premium only increased from $60 to $114 per year. In 1970, our total budget was $2.96 billion, the budget of Hospitals and Medical Care broke the $1 billion mark for the first time. In 1980 it broke the $2 billion mark. It is evident, then, the health care costs are rising rapidly, while the revenues necessary to pay these costs are not coming in at as fast a rate.

The above statistics should help to illustrate the nature of the problem and of the challenges facing the government. At this point the way the government, and not the other way, and some control put on expenditures. Otherwise, the needs of the government department will continue to increase with increasing share of total government revenues. It is this reason that the minister has decided that after this year, the government will no longer pick up the deficit of the hospitals. If the hospitals should find that the funding they receive is insufficient, they will in the future have the authority to recover some of their costs through user fees charged to those who can afford to pay them, many hospitals have decided this for years. They may also wish to use additional funds for programs not originally intended.

I would like to emphasize the fact that the hospitals are not required to charge fees. They are allowed to charge the full amount. But the mechanism is in place if the need should arise. I would also point out that there are upper limits on how much a family will pay in a given year, and no one will be required to meet because of inability to pay.

I think it is fair to ask questions of the government who receive a service to help pay part of the cost of providing it, and economically sound to draw the line on rapidly-increasing expenditures. For those reasons I support the move to allow hospitals to charge user fees. I look forward to receiving the views of my constituents in this regard.

While the House is sitting please contact me at 877-2666, or write to me at the Vermilion Constituency Office at 855-4302.

Do You Know The Bible Says

THE SHEEP HEAR HIS VOICES: John 10:3. Resurrection Proof. A fact of history. Many efforts to deny it have all failed. Mary brought spices to anoint His body, but found He was missing, and Peter and John also entered into the tomb and found the clothes lying there, but His body was missing. They ran to tell the others, but Mary went there, thinking someone had stolen the body. Two angels sat inside the tomb spoke to her: HE IS RISEN, then Jesus stood behind her, and called her by name: MARY.

He was seen by others when He appeared to them who were sitting in a room discussing what they were going to do now that Jesus was dead and buried. As He talked with others and ate with them. They found He was flesh and bones. Other religious leaders who were buried are still in the grave; they didn't arise, but millions today still worship them, namely, Confucius, Buddha and Mohammed.

The greatest proof of Christ's resurrection is His abiding presence by His Spirit in the heart of every born-again believer. His Spirit witnesses with our spirit that we are a new creature. Old things have passed away, and all things are become new. Rom. 8:18, and 2 Cor. 5:17. It is the Spirit that quickens; the flesh profits nothing; the word that I (Christ) speak unto you, they are Spirit, and they are life. John 6:63.

Jesus said in John 14, in Him was life, and the life was the light of men. End quote. Man, dead in sin, is given new life through acceptance of Christ as Lord and Savior. It is just that simple, but we need to be genuine in our response of our sin, and truly trust the Lord.

John 14:19 says, Because I live, ye shall also live. And Acts 17:30 says, For in Him we live, and move, and have our being. End quote. This is how things are when we are completely committed to Him, and this is what makes the Christian life so joyful with happiness and joyfulness we never know before.

He knows our names, as the shepherd knows and keeps His, and He calls us by our names, as He called Mary at the tomb.

Friend, He wants you to call upon Him in repentance, and He then knows you by name, and will immediately enter into your heart. Do it now, before it is forever too late.

Shady Cove W.I. Holds Meeting

Shady Cove W.I. kicked off its third meeting this year in fine style at the home of Margaret Runick with eleven members present and faithful W.I.'er Agnes Elgits as guest. Following the opening remarks, the roll called in afghan blocks for overseas donations to Zambia.

Three members donated to the Birthday Box. Shady

Cove endorsed the Quinte Country Women of the World (I.C.W.W.) if you can possibly attend please consult Ruth Ash or Rita Haho, as to transportation. This is of course, Shady Cove members, because of this and other considerations, the next Shady Cove meeting is Monday, April 11, at 8:00 p.m. at Rita Haho's. Be sure to bring your Handicraft for the Handicraft Conference to this meeting. Apparently some members are needed to volunteer to make yeast Fruit Bread. Call President Laure Brith if you can do it for the Baking List.

The April Roll Call: "Keep knitting squares and head size in pension". Lunch committee will be Martha and Sybil. It will be some time before our meeting so please clip and save this for your reference.

The motto, by Margaret Runick was "May you be half in heaven before the devil knows you're dead."

Following the adjournment, Selma and Helen R. and the busy lady of the house Margaret, took their bows for a splendid lunch and coffee time hospitality.

Important Notice To Farmers and Farm-related Truckers

At the present time, carriers of goods requiring an overdimensional permit may secure six such permits without filing evidence of adequate public liability and property damage insurance with the Motor Transport Board, although the carrier is expected to have a minimum of $500,000 coverage. Any permit beyond the first six requires evidence of coverage be filed with the Board.

Effective April 1, 1983, this policy of filing with the Board will be discontinued and the minimum PL and PD coverage will become a condition of all overdimensional permits. The ones will be on the carrier to have the necessary insurance, but he no longer has to prove it to the Motor Transport Board. The change affects farmers and farm-related truckers in such movements as hay handling, moving grain bins and over dimensional equipment by truck.

Many farmers have by now heard of a cow herbicide called Glean. In fact, some farmers may have obtained this herbicide last year under a temporary registration. For those that have, or intend on using this chemical, a few precautions and comments on precaution restrictions (the years following application) are in order.

Firstly, Glean should not be used on soils with less than 2 per cent organic matter on soils with a pH greater than 7.5.

In September of 1964, Lenn suffered the loss of her husband, but the strength and courage she called upon served her well. Her days are never empty; she can be found helping her daughter-in-law Irene with their greenhouse at the farm, working in her garden or the gardens of her daughters. She has many other days she may find filling in at her daughter's store on main street, caring for her grandchildren or enjoying the company of her friends.

This information is used to research and plan in the areas of climate, water resources, farming, forestry, transportation and industry.

Lena became a climate control volunteer while still on the family farm but relinquished her duties due to a move to Viking. However when Environment Canada decided that a reading from within Viking was beneficial, they again contacted Lena, and since 1976 she has been their faithful volunteer. In closing we of the Weekly Review would like to commend Lena for her support of the program.

Funeral Services Held For Mr. Olaf Loveseth

The Viking Community was saddened recently by the sudden death of one of its pioneer citizens, Mr. Olaf Loveseth, who passed away on Monday, March 21, 1983. He was 82 years of age.

Olaf Christian Loveseth was born in Trondheim, Norway on March 2, 1901 and emigrated to Canada in May of 1924. He was united in marriage to Sofie Esther on March 3, 1926 and to this union five children were born: two daughters and three sons.

Mr. Loveseth farmed in the Maple Lodge district northeast of Viking and really enjoyed the farm working with the livestock, clearing land and watching the crops grow.

In the fall of 1977 he and his wife moved to Valia Lodge and he continued to be active doing much of the yard work around the Lodge. Mr. Loveseth was a hard-working, good provider who enjoyed reading and visiting in his spare time. His quiet, unassuming, friendly nature was him many friends over the years and he will be greatly missed by all who knew him for he was a good neighbor and always offered a helping hand whenever needed.

Both in his farm neighborhood and at Valia Lodge.

Funeral services were held from the Golden Valley Lutheran Church on Friday, March 25 at 2:30 p.m. with Pastor Tim Johnson officiating.

Ing. Ila Sorenson was the organist and she accompanied Stan Sorenson for the musical number "My Tribute", and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Shade of Edmonton for a duet "Because He Lives."

Active pallbearers were Fred Johnston, Jim Newby, Ormand Thengs, Louis Butler, Archie Nearing and Gary McClements. Honorary pallbearers were Selmer Hahn, Red Nearing, Hector Armet, Henry Hahn, Gilbert Burns and Phil Swift.

The late Mr. Loveseth is survived by his wife Sofie, one daughter, Sofie Thunell from Camrose and one son, Elmer Loveseth of Viking and seventeen grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

He was predeceased by two sons, Lyder in 1969 and Odin in 1980; a daughter, Lillian Bilo, in 1982 as well as a grandson, Bobby Thunell in 1980.

Interment was in Golden Valley Lutheran Cemetery. Burial services were in charge of all arrangements.

Vertec Sponsors Course

Donna Globehane, Dale Larson and Ronald Pachit, all of Micro Agri Equipment

in Vegreville, recently attended a factory course at the new facilities of Vertec Industries Ltd., Vermilion, Alberta. This was the second factory course specifically designed for dealers of Crawford's Canada who will be distributing the Vertec line of products in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

The purpose of the course was to provide in-depth information on the Vertec line of products - Grain Driers, Aeration, Field Sprayers, Lift Pumps, Fertilizer Spreaders, and Grass Seed Harvesters.

Lectures, slide presentations, "chalk talks", and demonstrations were given by Vertec Staff. A detailed tour of the factory was another highlight of the program.

The Vertec team provided "Welcome To VERTEC" receptions, luncheons, Banquet and Casino Night and "Open House" at the home of the President.

A common comment made by attendees was, "We are very impressed with the facilities, staff, and product that Vertec has presented."

Vertec will be continuing to offer this unique and informative course to its distributors.

School Foundation Program Fund Mill Rate Announced

Education Minister David King recently announced a 1983 mill rate of 14.1 mills for the School Foundation Program Fund (S.F.P.F.).

This new rate reflects a decrease of 1.5 mills over the previous rate of 15.6 mills. The S.F.P.F. mill rate applies only to commercial and industrial property.

The 1983 adjustment was made in order to offset increases in equalized assessment which forms the S.F.P.F. tax base. These increases have been exaggerated by the effect of inflation in increasing both building replacement costs and market value of land. In the absence of the mill rate adjustment, the average increase in the S.F.P.F. tax bill for owners of commercial and industrial property

would have been 18 per cent. With the mill rate adjustment, the average increase will be between 8 and 4 per cent. However, increases will vary from this average according to the increase in equalized assessment in the municipality.

The S.F.P.F. is a fund

from which grants are paid to school boards by Alberta

Education to provide basic instruction, transportation and school construction. The

S.F.P.F. mill rate produces approximately 14 per cent of the revenue for the S.F.P.F.

The remaining 84 per cent is obtained through a legislative appropriation from general revenues of the province.

Mr. King said, "The announcement of this mill rate should enable municipalities to finalize their 1983 total mill rates for commercial"

and industrial property."

Holden Girl Guides Kept Busy

The Holden Girl Guides have had a busy couple of months. Since Christmas they have learned skills by making and dressing wood-on marionettes. They have started writing Secret Pen Pal letters to their new "princess" granddaughters.

The girls planned and put on a "Thinking Day" supper to honor the birthdays of Lord and Lady Baden Powell, the founders of Scouting and Guiding. The supper menu was Cope's, 6 variations, from 5 of the many countries where Guides can be found. We also invited the Lions Guides from Viking and our District Committee along. Mrs. Dorothy Emerson, presented the All-round Card to a Viking Guide, Lori Pivovar.

The Girl Guides have participated in the Holden Variety concert, and exchanged visits with the 4-H Cooking Club. We also attended a Winter Fun Day with the Rydal and Tofield Guides in Tofield and had a wonderful day tobogganing, hiking and learning to snowshoe.

April, too, will be busy - the girls will be attending a music day on April 16 in Rydal, and hosting their annual Strawberry Tea on April 25. We are also planning a hike and a bike Rally in April.

Watch for more information on our Strawberry Tea to be held in the Masonic Hall.

This year don't wait for Wild Oats and Wild Millet to grow before you try to kill them... kill them before they grow. The AVADEK® BW "TREFLAN" Lark Lark is the only pre-emergent herbicide registered for wheat and barley that kills both Wild Oats and Wild Millet before they have a chance to compete for valuable moisture and nutrients in your cereals. The AVADEK® BW "TREFLAN" Lark will keep your cereals free of Wild Oats and Wild Millet for 6-8 weeks, long after your crop is well established. There's no "second-flush" with this top!

Let us help you with your herbicide decision - call in today and let's plan for spring.

AGRICULTURAL DEMONSTRATIONS

The Agricultural Service Board of the County of Beaver No. 9 and the Ryley District Office of Agriculture are looking for farmers that are willing to cooperate in a number of demonstrations within the County. The purpose of these demonstrations is to initiate and encourage the use of various agricultural techniques and methods that may be of benefit to the area. Cost sharing agreements will be arranged. The following are brief descriptions of the projects for this year. Detailed descriptions will be available at the D.A.'s office.

Spring Seeded Fall Rye As A Forage	Liming Soils	Alberta Certified Preconditioned Feeder Program
Spring seeded Fall Rye can make excellent summer pasture for cattle. It withstands reasonable trampling and shows good regrowth ability. When used in the spring and adequately grazed, rye produces vegetative growth without breading. If fall rye is not overgrazed in the summer, and enters winter in good condition, it will provide a second year of grazing. When seeded with greenfeed, it can provide excellent fall pasture after the greenfeed is harvested.	The pH of some of our soils is somewhat lower than that required for the optimum growth of many crops. The pH of these acid soils is below 7.0. Lime can be applied to these soils to neutralize the acidity. The application of lime does not improve salinity problems.	The Alberta Certified Preconditioning Feeder Program is designed to prepare calves for the stress incurred when shipped to feedlots. The calves are given the required vaccinations, dewormed, castrated, and weaned 30 days before sale. Possible benefits of the program are increased market weights and health status.
PROJECT DESCRIPTION - site approximately 30 acres in size. - sown hard to grass 4-5 months. - stocking rate will be adjusted. - cost sharing will apply. - Deadline April 28. Pasture productivity is dictated by the seeding date. Therefore, the projected seeding date is early-to-mid May.	PROJECT DESCRIPTION Site 1 - summer application on fallow - approximately 30 acres Site 2 - fall application on stubble - approximately 30 acres - cost sharing arrangement will be made. - Application deadline April 28, 1983.	PROJECT DESCRIPTION - Head size approximately 50 cow/calf pairs. - Comparing farmer will be selected with labour and as summer. Periodic handling of cattle will be necessary. - Application deadline April 28, 1983.

Please call Ryley office (863-3555) immediately for detailed project descriptions. Sites will be limited due to limited funds. Deadline for all applications APRIL 29, 1983.

S.T.E. Program Expanded

The Government of Alberta recently approved an expanded Summer Temporary Employment Program (S.T.E.P.) to provide jobs for young Albertans between May 2 and September 5.

Manpower Minister Ernie Iley said recently: "Approximately 12 million dollars has been allocated to provide short term employment and work experience for some 6,000 young people in Alberta." This compares to 7.8 million dollars allocated last year which provided more than 2 million manhours of employment.

S.T.E.P. now is its 11th year of operation, provides employment through four program elements. Under the Provincial Government Department element, 1,800 post-secondary students will find jobs designed to emphasize individual career development with the 27 government departments. Reimbursement for these positions will total $5.50 per hour per employee.

Community Employment will provide 3,000 high school students with work experience. Eligible sponsors include municipalities, school boards, agricultural societies and Travel Industry Association of Alberta.

Summer Farm Employment will provide jobs for 800 high school students. Participating farmers will receive up to $300 for each position per month.

Under Career Opportunity, 600 post-secondary students will receive career related work experience in four areas: Recreation, Veterinary, Law Enforcement, and Fish and Wildlife. Recreation and Veterinary positions will be cost shared equally between the government and the employer up to $500 per month. Employees of Law Enforcement and Fish and Wildlife positions will receive $5.50 per hour per employee. In addition, post-secondary institutions are eligible to participate and will receive $5.50 per hour for each employee. Mr. Iley said: "Alberta's youth are among the hardest hit by the downturn in the economy and S.T.E.P. is designed to provide valuable work experience needed to help find future permanent employment."

Curling Club News

The Viking Curling Club ended its 1982-83 curling season with a "wind-up Party" on March 31. An evening of curling and card playing was enjoyed by all who attended. Two four and games were played and instead of giving prizes to the highest and lowest scores we asked each team to total their ages. Pete Cummings team won the prize for the highest age total and Lail Erickson had the youngest team. Lunch and coffee brought the evening to a close.

Congratulations to the

Vern Haiso team for winning the men's house league curling. Vern received the Jack Slavin Memorial Trophy and the $140 prize money. Henry Haiso conceded second place to Dave Blauvelt's team giving him the second prize money of $100 and claiming $60 for his team. These two teams of first experience have donated their prize money towards the new building project.
The men's league has been very active this year with almost perfect attendance and now that we have this special trophy to present every year we must all work harder to promote and build the new complex.

A general meeting was held on March 29, with all committees presenting their final reports. Another successful year was reported with a net profit of $4,700.00 (approx). Our biggest expense was for maintenance which can be expected in such an old building. We are looking forward to being able to reduce this substantially and realize a better profit in future years. The executive board and the directors asked the volunteers to thank to all the committees and volunteers for their support.

I almost forgot the Ladies
Only Curling Pot last hockey
I found it tucked away in my curling bag. Congratulations to the following winners who will each receive five dollars: Pat Amundson, Karen Cummings, Jean Maxwell, Pat Erickson, Gladys Rod-dick and Marguerite Kil-sen.

Also there are still some pie plates at the curling rink. If these are yours

please call either Joy Pate or Pat Erickson and we'll see that you get them.

Do You Know The Bible Says

Thy Word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path. Psa. 119:105. Oh how I love Thy law (Word) it is my meditation all the day. Psa.
119:97. Blessed (happy) is the man that walketh not in the council of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the Law (Word) of the Lord; and in His Law he doth he meditate day and night. And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf also shall not wither, and whatsoever he doth shall prosper. Psa. 1:1-3

Joy of a Christian.

To know the Lord personally is the way of true joy and peace and satisfaction.

The following verses are only a few that speak of the JOY OF THE LORD.

Neh. 8:10. For the joy of the Lord is your strength.
Psa. 16:11. Then will show me the path of life; in Thy presence is the fulness of joy; at Thy right hand there are pleasures forevermore.
Jer. 16:19. Thy Words were found, and I did eat them;
and Thy Word was unto me joy and rejoicing of my heart: for I am called by Thy name, O Lord of hosts, Jehu 16:11. These things have I spoken unto you, that my Joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full. John 16:24. Hitherto have ye asked nothing in My name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full. Psa. And my soul shall be joyful in the Lord: it shall rejoice in His salvation.
Psa. 68:5. My soul shall be satisfied as with marrow and fatness, and my mouth shall open, and my lips shall speak in Thy name.

True, the joy of knowing the Lord exceeds any joy the world might offer. Experience have proven this, because we see every day individuals seeking satisfaction in material things, in sex, drugs, and pleasure of all kinds. Satan is very subtle, and he will try to mislead people to become involved with many even good worthy activities, or just anything to keep them as busy and their minds on hell, that they don't take time to give heed to their souls needs. Salvation comes only by Gods grace, and not by all the good things we may be doing. Eph. 2:8,9.
May God help us find our joy in the fruiting of His Word, and meditation and prayer and praise that we must take time out of our busy days to do.

Campaign Puts Bite On Tooth Decay

Health, especially dental health, is not a priority for Canadians. They'll spend money on sports, luxury items and vacations, but when it comes to expenditures for good health, Oral Hygiene is not first on their list of priorities.

That's why, along with cancer, heart and lung disease, dental disease is a major problem in Canada. That's the reason for our annual National Dental Month campaign in April. This campaign is an effort to spread the message of dental health to all Canadians.

We want Canadians to be aware that dental disease does affect their health. It does not threaten your life. But it is irreversible, painful and can ruin your health, happiness and appearance.

The statistics are alarming. Seventeen per cent of Canadians between the ages of three and 18 have never been to a dentist; close to 98 per cent of Canadian children suffer from inflammation of the gums and by the time they reach school age, about 50 per cent have tooth decay. At least 50 per cent of all Canadians over 19 have lost all their natural teeth, a figure which doubles for those 80 and older.

In spite of this, Canadians persist in ignoring the state of their dental health. Federal and provincial health departments are assisting the Canadian Dental Association in promoting the prevention of this disease.

The dental staff at Vegreville Health Unit is sponsoring several activities to be held locally during the month of April:

1. A dental poster contest for all grade five students in the Health Unit area. Cash prizes are donated by each county. GRAND PRIZE: $75.00 to be displayed at the school, a plaque and $30.00 cash. FIRST PRIZE: $25.00 cash. PRIZES: To three County winners.

Winners receive a plaque with $25.00 cash prize. SECOND PRIZE: to four County winners. Winners receive a $15.00 cash prize. 3. Mail display at Hunky Place Mall, Vegreville held on April 7 and 8. The "Toothbrush and the Merry Mothers" were on hand to hand out toothbrushes, balloons, disclosing tablets, floss and pamphlets. They'll also answered dental health questions that anyone had.

3. A "Tooth Fair" will be held in the Vegreville Office for the Kindergarten children of Vegreville, Mundare and Leduc.

Events sponsored by the Canadian Dental Association include the annual poster contest for school children. Sheri Lewis television announcement featuring Lamb Chop, the puppet, and radio announcements.

Irma Seniors Hold Business Meeting

The regular monthly business meeting of the Irma Seniors Club was held in the Drop-In Centre on Wednesday, April 6th.

The meeting was called to order at 2:00 p.m. by the President Alma Enger with 25 members present.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and were accepted as read. The Treasurer gave his report which revealed that from Jan. 1st, to date receipts exceeded expenditures by a small amount but there was one bill to be paid, but which had not yet been submitted. This report was accepted.

The correspondence was read by the secretary and was ordered filed for reference, or to be posted on the bulletin board. Much of it had to do with tours available for Senior Citizens for the year. Some was from "Citizens Concerned", Alberta Council of Aging and Sports and Recreation, etc.

The matter of the renovation or whatever of the east end of our building was brought up. A member of the building committee reported that Vic Johnson and Ross Brower had been there that morning and had applied to the Post Office authorities for permission to bring the gas pipeline along the south side of our building and were assured there would be no problem in this connection.

The building committee member signed the necessary forms on behalf of the Association, to have this work done. It was pointed out that nothing could be done to the building until the gas line was moved and placed safely underground. The North-Western Utility men said the work would be done inside of a month, weather permitting. This report was received and it was agreed that the matter of the building should be debated at the next meeting and a correct ballot held on the matter. A committee was appointed to draw up the ballot. It was suggested that the ballot have three options.

It was hoped that all members should give this matter serious consideration so that a satisfactory and amiable solution may be arrived at. The business meeting adjourned at 3:20 p.m. Cards, lunch and socializing was then enjoyed.

Faulty Plugs Cause Anhydrous Leaks

Pictured above, behind the three fertilizer wagons, are the six pup tanks which were recently purchased by Andruschew Farm Sales. The tanks were delivered with faulty plugs, resulting in three of the tanks leaking their anhydrous ammonia last Friday evening. Staff Photo

Faulty tank plugs on some new anhydrous ammonia pup tank units at Andruschew Farm Sales in Viking resulted in two separate calls for emergency vehicles last Friday evening.

The first incident began early Friday evening when Greg Andruschew, Manager of the firm, was checking one of the new units. According to Mr. Andruschew, one of the tanks had just been received by the firm, and all had been inspected by the Alberta government and were rated up to 900 p.s.i. by the Boiler Branch of the Department of Labor.

After Andruschew Farm Sales had received the pup tanks, they initiated their own pressure tests. Each of the six units, which are used to furnish to pull behind cultivators, had been tested for 24 hours under pressure, and showed no signs of leaks. Then Friday afternoon, each tank was filled to about 10% capacity for a further test. At the end of the working day Friday, Mr. Andruschew said that the tanks were checked and showed no leaks.

However, later that evening, he returned to do some work, and noticed one of the tanks leaking. He put on his safety equipment and went to inspect the tank. As he contacted the faulty plug with a pipe wrench, the plug blew apart, spraying him with anhydrous ammonia.

Mr. Andruschew quickly got into a shower which is on the premises and showered for about 30 minutes. He suffered slight burns to his face and one leg, and was booked into the Viking Hospital for the night.

When the first plug blew, a call for the Viking Fire Department went out and the brigade responded at the scene. Corporal Ray Mead of the R.C.M.P. stated that Highway 16 was closed to traffic for about 1/2 hour during this incident while the situation was assessed. The Fire Department checked the tank that had blown and left the scene when the tank was empty.

About 11:30 that evening, a plug from a second

County Mill Rate Up

Even though total over-all expenditures in the County of Beaver are up only about 6 per cent, the mill rate for County residents will rise between 18 per cent and 17 per cent, depending on property location and type.

At last Friday's County Council meeting, the by-law setting the mill rate for 1983 was passed. The by-law specifies three types of property, with each having its own mill rate.

Property lying within the Tofield Hospital District will have a .26 mill levy higher than those reported below, which are for property lying in the Viking Hospital District, due to there being no request to the County for the Viking Hospital. Tofield's revenues at 88 mills the same as last year, while Viking's has been removed.

The mill rate for residential property and farmland in the Viking Hospital District has been set at 30.86 mills. This is an increase of 14.7 per cent from last year's 26.81 mills.

Unoccupied residential property will be taxed at 26.44 mills, up 13.3 per cent from last year's 23.45 mills.

Commercial and industrial property will be taxed at 38.94 mills, up 13.7 per cent from the 1982 levy of 34.25 mills.

The mill rate for County property consists of a number of parts. These are: A Provincial planning requisition amounting to .08 mills, down from .09 mills last year.

A Provincial School Supplementary requisition amounting to 4.79 mills, up 7.6 per cent from last year's 4.45 mills.

The County's School Supplementary requisition amounting to 6.74 mills, up 54.6 per cent from last year's 4.36 mills.

The Municipal requisition of .36 mills, up 80 per cent from last year's .20 mills.

The County's Municipal requisition of 13.35 mills for residential property and 18.78 mills for non-residential property, both up 16 per cent from last year's rates of 11.49 and 16.40 respectively.

And the .26 mill levy in the Tofield Hospital District, a levy which is not made on property in the Viking Hospital District.

For 1983, Beaver County Council is budgeting for a $270,000 surplus. According to Ron Pepper, the County is attempting to better its cash flow position so that it will cut down on interest charges paid on borrowed money. He said that this measure has been a request of the Alberta Municipal Affairs Department.

Mr. Pepper also said that Provincial grants to the County are down substantially from last year.

responsibility for the debt.

The Councilor told his colleagues that the groups have informed him that they would consider stopping the project at any time that they run out of funds, and that they are very conscious of the deficit projected.

Councilor Bob Evans said that the Town should allocate the M.C.R. funds to the project, noting that there were only two years left in which these funds could be used. He did feel that there should be some kind of commitment by the groups to underwriting the debt themselves.

Councilor Jenny Bird agreed on the allocation, saying that she didn't feel that Council would be risking the Town at all in relation to the debt. She said that there are responsible people involved in the project and that they will see the money raised in numerous ways.

Mayor Rushton also agreed with allocating the M.C.R. funds, but said that the Town needs a commitment from the groups on the debt and a firm contract

Holden Residents Appeal To County

Three items of correspondence from the people of the Village of Holden were presented to the Council of the County of Beaver at the April 15th regular meeting.

The topics of concern voiced in the correspondence was the possible relocation of the Vegreville Health Unit sub-office which is currently operated out of Holden.

The Village Council, the Chamber of Commerce and the Future of Holden School Committee all indicated the importance of retaining the Vegreville Health Unit sub-office within the Village.

A short while back the township, which housed the Holden sub-office was sold, and the Public Health Board has initiated a feasibility study to determine where the sub-office should be located.

Roberta Schweitzer, Chairperson for the Future of Holden School Committee was in attendance at the meeting. Five major points were stressed by their committee in support of

County Examines Funding Request

An issue, relating back to the reign of the Regional Recreation Program which had been in effect within the County of Beaver was brought before County Council last Friday.

Representatives of the Elmview Recreation and Agricultural Society, Joe Makar and Cathy Thieng, asked Council to consider granting their organization funds in the amount of $6,900 which they felt Elmview had remaining in the $ mil account, which was established during the time of the Regional Recreation Program.

This program, implemented throughout the County of Beaver, was a tax procedure to secure funds for recreational projects for the villages, towns and hamlets.

A Smell For Thought

Last Friday evening's leaks of anhydrous ammonia from the new pump tanks at Andrukov Farm Sales does provide an incentive for people in the area to focus on the potential problems and/or dangers associated with this widely used chemical. Fortunately, besides some minor injuries to the companies manager, no other injuries or damage were reported as a result of the mishap. Naturally, whenever something like this happens, anybody who feels the least bit nervous, or needs an excuse for not feeling good, blames last Friday's leaks. But for the most part, very little of a negative nature actually resulted from the incident.

But that doesn't mean that something very serious could happen some time in the future. Anhydrous ammonia as a farm chemical is with us to stay for the near, or perhaps foreseeable future. It has become widely accepted in the agricultural industry, and our area is most predominantly dependent on the agricultural industry. That it is here to stay must be accepted. But once that is accepted, we must be concerned with all of the preventative measures necessary to ensure that a tragedy will not result. Accidents will happen through human error or faulty equipment. What must be worked at is minimizing these accidents, and the severity of them, so that they do not turn into tragedies.

Presently the people who handle anhydrous ammonia for a living are apparently well-schooled in its use. They treat the chemical with a great deal of respect, and know its dangers, either real or potential. Their expertise is a definite requirement. The incident at Andrukov's last Friday was not the fault of the local people involved. They put their faith in a government department as we all do on a regular basis. Their faith was misplaced. However, once the nature of the problem was understood, they took every precaution to ensure that the problem would not re-occur. The fact that three plugs blew out is probably akin to lightning striking twice in the same place.

However, questions must be asked, and answered, with regard to the safety of people living near anhydrous ammonia. When does a Town act to evacuate people in the event of a major spill? And how much of the product under what atmospheric conditions is potentially hazardous to humans? This accident produced little more than a foul smell. But with anhydrous ammonia tanks in the area, what is the chance of a health threatening incident? And what precautions do people take to decrease the danger? And further to that, what is the evacuation plan of the Town, if it were required, no matter what the danger?

The people involved with this chemical attempt to ensure that it is used safely. They have provided seminars in the past, most of which were poorly attended, and plan to run more in the future. Their efforts should not go unrewarded. By understanding the nature of the substance, we can all do a lot towards living more comfortably with it.

Anhydrous Leaks

unit blew out, which resulted in the Fire Department being called out again. When they arrived, they discovered that the plug from a third unit had also blown out, releasing its anhydrous ammonia into the atmosphere. During the evening, the winds were blowing gustily from the southeast, which resulted in parts of the Town of Viking receiving a strong ammonia smell from the leaks. Following checks on the leaking tanks by firemen with oxygen detectors, the fire department volunteers stood by until Company owner Larry Andrukov arrived from the Ryley area. Andrukov had been down to the site after the first leak, checked the other tanks, and found no problems. When he arrived the second time, he quickly moved a tanker truck in and pumped all of the anhydrous ammonia from the pump units into the tanker, thus avoiding any further problems.

Inspection of the tanks the following day revealed that five of the six units were not equipped with the required ductile steel plugs, were thought they were approved by the Labor Department, which required in parts of the units have now all been fitted with new ductile steel plugs, and that they have been tested and are in a safe condition.

Corporal Mustard stated that no fault could be attributed to Andrukov Farm Sales, but that the incident occurred because of faulty equipment supplied by the manufacturer. He said that when the incident occurred, he contacted Mayor Rushton and Disaster Services Coordinator Bill Taylor and determined that the evacuation plans for the Town have been reviewed and are adequate. He also said that he contacted the Department of the Environment and was concerned that they could not give him as much information as he needed to know how many gallons of anhydrous ammonia combined with what wind factor would result in a situation dangerous enough to force evacuation procedures.

Corporal Mustard also noted that something of this nature, when not understood by the public, could result in a panic situation before the possibility of any physical damage existed. In response to the incident, Greg Andrukov said that he is working in conjunction with W.B. Matison Farm Sales and Service and the Alberta Wheat Pool agents to set up some meetings on anhydrous ammonia use. He said that such a meeting would be held and the public could help area people understand safety measures which would eliminate unnecessary concerns or panic situations.

Viking Budget Increase Discussed

A slight increase, or halving the loss on municipal taxes - these were the two positions discussed at a meeting of the members of the Viking Town Council last Tuesday evening.

The meeting was called to order by Mayor Rushton, and the meeting was a "Committee" meeting, rather than a Council meeting, even though all members of the Council were present. The major difference is that the two meetings is that no decisions can be officially reached by a Council when in a committee meeting.

But the lack of opportunity to make final decisions on business did not detract in any way from in-depth discussion on the budget for 1983. Some careful scrutiny by Council led to a proposed budget which would see an increase in the municipal mill rate for 1983.

The cuts made led to a difference of opinion on the direction Council should be taking. Mayor Rushton told Council that he was in favor of no increase in the municipal mill rate for 1983. He felt that the increase caused by the school requisitioning was enough.

Councillor Bob Evans agreed, saying that he was not in favor of more increase, and that the school requisitioning should not influence Council's decisions as they are only a collection agency for the County.

Mayor Rushton felt that if the budget figures as set were considered good by Council, there was no need to add anything to them, and he wondered what the extra income from 2 or 3 mills added on would be used for.

Councillor Maurice Stephens felt that every dollar extra collected could be used to improve the community. Some discussion on the condition of the streets indicated that most Council members felt that some work is necessary, especially on Main Street and leading to the subdivision across the road.

Councillor Stephens said that 4 years ago, Council actually reduced the mill rate by one mill, and that it was a mistake. Councillor Evans agreed, feeling that things will back up if something like this is not decided by the Council.

He also indicated that it was hoped that a more clear picture could be presented when the collection of population data, services provided in each area etc., were completed.

retaining the sub-office in the Village of Holden. These included the following: It is important that the philosophy of providing Health Services in areas where hospitals, doctors and other medical personnel are not located rather than centralizing all services in larger population centres be maintained. The group also noted that the Minister of Social Services and Community Health has implemented and supports a wide-ranging policy of decentralization.

Holden has the sub-office at the present time and feel that it is in a central location on Highway 16 and 900, thus enabling service in a large radius.

Holden is a growing community at present and the group felt that the removal of services such as this will make it difficult to continue to build and improve the community.

The correspondence also noted that the programs offered by the Health Unit have been well supported by the residents of the district.

The correspondence concluded with an outline of a number of possible sites to which the sub-office could be relocated.

Victor Romanuk, County representative to the Vegreville Health Unit stated that the Board are currently undertaking a study to determine the best manner of providing the existing services with the best amount of cost.

County Examines Request

Under the 3 mill tax system which went into effect in the late 60's and early 70's, a total of $204,000 was collected and allotted on a per capita basis.

Kinross's share was established at $20,000. However, the hamlet did not use their total funds at that time and theoretically has over $7,000 which they would put to use if the funds were forthcoming.

In his presentation, Mr. Mike Robinson, the most current project, the refinishing of the floor in their gymnasium and stated that their next project would be an outdoor skating rink for the hamlet and the completion of a family recreation centre.

The previous project was undertaken by volunteers in the community as would be the new projects. The funds which the Kinross Society have requested would be for material costs only.

In a discussion amongst Council it was revealed that County Council had established a 1981 deadline for requisitioning of funds for the 3 mill program and later extended it for a one year period. At the time of these decisions, each centre had been notified.

In view of this fact, Council was reluctant to make a funding commitment in Kinross's favour.

In addition, following the termination of the Regional Recreation Program, the County assumed responsibility for completion of the program and at present it appeared that there were no funds remaining under the three mill program.

In a more complete review of the program, Reeve Knudsen explained that the tax money was allocated to the rural communities at a rate of $70,000 per year. In view of the fact that some communities undertake projects and thus required their share of the funds at a particular time, a certain amount of borrowing took place and Region 1 Recreation assumed responsibility for the interest figures which accumulated when there appeared to be a surplus of funds remaining under the program.

There was also raised regarding the latest application from the Hamlet of Kinross as they had been notified of the deadline.

A motion by Councillor Ryley Armitage to provide the hamlet with their remaining share of the original $20,000 allotment was defeated.

A further motion by Gordon Haines that Council provide a flat sum of $4,000 to cover the expenses incurred in the floor refinishing project, remained open as Council continued to debate the request.

Councillor Warner stated that he could find no fault in paying the complete figure if the County had the funds. To this, Ron Papper replied that the funds are no longer available under the 3 mill program and have not been budgeted for.

Mr. Papper further advised that due to the fact that funds are administered through a general accounting procedure it would be very difficult to pin point the manner in which the "recreation funds" had been put to use.

He stated that he felt that some towns and villages didn't fulfill their agreement under the 3 mill program and that's where the shortage of funds may have originated. Although some Council members must now make a decision on an undertaking which was in progress prior to their position on Council it was agreed that the matter be tabled, as Council was of the opinion that any information available to them would be of benefit in making a decision. Further information will be brought forward at the next regular meeting.

prior for completion of the project. He said he was not in favor of the Town underwriting the debt. The Mayor said that he would be in favor of giving the groups the loan, or offering risk site, to be owned by the Town, to see if they can sell the area and use the money towards their project. Councillor Maurice Stephens suggested that the Town could either give them the land to subdivide, or the Town could do the subdividing, servicing and selling themselves, then give the group the money which is left over from the costs of development.

In drawing the discussion to a close, Mayor Rushton said that he was 100% behind the project, as long as the Town doesn't have to sign a promissory note on the debt. He said that this should be done by the two groups involved. Councillor Bird felt that it would "smell" like he was lending the money to the group involved to provide that they would be responsible for the debt.

Councillor Ritchie said that he would convey Council's feelings to the Rec Board and that the Multi-Phase should be on the agenda for Council's next meeting.

Wainwright Elks Host Annual District Meeting

The Wainwright Elks Lodge #92 hosted District 14 annual meeting on Wednesday, April 13th, 1983 in the Wainwright Elks Hall.

The meeting was opened at 7:30 p.m. with Exalted Ruler Bro. Hjalmer Tompen in the chair.

District Deputy Bro. Bill Johnson of Wainwright was introduced and welcomed by Exalted Ruler Hjalmer Tompen and took charge of the meeting. D.D. Bro.

Johnson welcomed Grand Chaplain Bro. J. Blanton of Sherwood Park, Provincial 1st, Vice President, Bro. Jim Patrick of Red Deer, Past D.D. Bro. Roy Abel of Red Deer.

The general meeting included hearing reports from D.D. Johnson and all the lodge members of the 8 lodges in district 14. The reports showed that all the lodges were very active in community work.

After a short break and plenty of fish waggings and singing led by old friends, the meeting continued.

After the break the complications took place and the results are as follows: Carvel Trophy, (ritual work) won by the Edmonton Lodge with 94.5 points. The Tony Shindler (Best History Book) won by the Viking Lodge, the Barker Trophy (most Visitation) won by Wainwright Lodge, the Pinta Trophy (best per capita dues) went to Kinsella Lodge, the Ole Charns Trophy (for largest increase in membership) went to Wainwright Lodge.

The Pinta Broomer came up for a chance award and the bids were brisk with all the lodges going a bid.

The Pinta Broomer sold for $208.00 to Edmonton Lodge. A total of $1182.00 was realized for the Purple Cross Fund.

After the meeting closed the ladies of the Royal Purple treated us to a beautiful repast. I am sure we all got home safely.

Kinsella Seniors Make Donation

The Kinsella Rose Senior Citizens are busy as ever with various projects.

The ladies just finished one quilt and have another one in the frames at the present time.

Monday afternoon each week finds a group of Seniors at the Center. While the ladies work on quilts or other crafts the men can be found building something in the shop or repairing something in the building.

Our club recently donated a copy of the book "Hoof prints and Homesteading," a History of Kinsella and District to the library of Viking General Hospital.

The ladies just finished on April 13, Tommy Harvey, President of Kinsella Rose Seniors presented a cheque for $1,000.00 to Nellie Treisman, Chairman of Kinsella History Book Committee. This cheque for one thousand dollars is a donation from Kinsella Rose Seniors Citizens Club to help pay for the purchase of the book.

Students Selected For Summer Placement

This year one high school student in Ryley, Holden and Viking has been hired by Alberta Manpower to help students find jobs and help employees find someone to do jobs that they do not have time to do.

Chris Clarke in Ryley, Leona Kress in Holden and Rhonda Shipley in Viking are registering students looking for work and matching them to job orders called in by everyone including farmers, homeowners and businesses.

When you call in a job order, Chris, Leona and Rhonda will refer two or three students to you for you to interview. You decide who has the most experience for the job and you hire the best student. You and the student negotiate the rate of pay, however if you pay by the hour, you must pay minimum wage.

Students are anxious to work and the experience they gain will help them look for work in the future.

If you should have a job for a student, do call: Chris Clarke (Ryley) 668-5885, Leona Kress (Holden) 668-3784, Rhonda Shipley (Viking) 336-3262.

Do You Know The Bible Says

Unless Thy Law (word) had been my delight, I would then have perished in my affliction. I will never forget Thy precepts: for with them Thou hast quickened me. Psa. 119:96-98.

Precepts means, Gods rule of conduct or action; instruction or direction regarding a given course or action; especially, a maxim in morals.

David speaking here in his affliction.

David makes a precious acknowledgement of Gods gracious dealings with him all along: THOU HAST DEALT WELL WITH THY SERVANT. However God has dealt with us, we must admit He has dealt well with us, better than we deserve, and all in love and with design to work for our good.

Upon these experiences, he makes a petition for divine instruction: TEACH ME GOOD JUDGEMENT AND KNOWLEDGE. Teach me a good taste, a good will, to discern things that differ, to discern between truth and falsehood, good and evil; for the ear tries words, as the mouth tastes meat. Many have knowledge who have little judgement. When God has given a good heart a good head may in fact be prayed for. Rom. 12:3 says, And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may learn what is good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God.

David says, Before I was afflicted, when I lived in peace and plenty, and knew no sorrow, I went astray from God and my duty. Prosperity is the unhappy occasion of much sin; it makes people contented of themselves, indifferent of the flesh, forgetful of God, idle with the world, and dead to the reproval of God's Word. A benefit of his trials: NOW HAVE I KEPT THY WORD, and so have been recovered from my wanderings. God often makes us of afflictions as a means to remove those to Himself who have wandered from Him. The prodigal sons distrewn brought him to himself first and then to his father. He was able to renew his mind when he was so afflicted. Thank God for the afflictions He allows in our lives; He does it because He loves us so much, and because He has so much better things for us. NOW UNTO HIM THAT IS ABLE TO DO EXCEEDING ABUNDANTLY ABOVE ALL THAT WE ASK FOR OR THINK, ACCORDING TO THE POWER THAT WORKETH IN US, UNTO HIM BE GLORY AND PRAISE AND HONOR.

Response To "Pitch-In" Up

More than 1,200 voluntary organizations in Alberta have already responded to Shell Canada Resource Li-ability's offer of free garbage bags for cleanup and beautification activities undertaken during Pitch-In '83. May 10 - 15, according to Outdoors Unlimited, organizers of the Province-wide campaign.

"Response is already 30 per cent over last year's state Kaye Robertson, Outdoors Unlimited's Board Chairman, "Some groups may be disappointed as our supply of bags is quickly coming to an end."

The Pitch-In campaign was announced in January by the Honourable Fred Bradley, Alberta's Environment Minister and Honourary Director of Outdoors Unlimited.

"Cleaning up the night-litter that may accumulate during winter months is a voluntary activity, which in past years, has stimulated participation by thousands of Albertans," states Bradley, adding, "The Government of Alberta appreciates your help and challenge you to Pitch-In."

Pitch-In is Alberta's largest part public participation program and is now in its eleventh year. Starkey Outdoors Unlimited, the province's non-profit litter prevention organization, the campaign drives the support of up to 600,000 people each year from all parts of the province.

Litter prevention is the prime motive behind the campaign. According to Outdoors Unlimited's Robertson, "picking up" the garbage is only a means to an end. We must learn not to throw our garbage around the environment in the first place."

Outdoors Unlimited operates many year-round programs aimed at litter prevention. Programs include a

AOC Loans Create Jobs

The Alberta Opportunity Company (AOC) authorized 24 small business loans totaling $2,528,000 for the month of February.

Service industries received the majority of financing, 18 loans, compared to six for manufacturing. There were 47 new positions created by these loan authorizations. This brings the total number of people employed by the businesses receiving loans in February to 187.

AOC, funded through the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust fund, is a Crown Corporation that provides financial assistance to help Alberta businesses. Loans are repayable with interest and are made where financing is not readily available from conventional lenders. In addition, management consulting is provided to AOC clients when requested.

AOC reports on its activities to the Legislature through the office of Al "Boomer" Adair, Minister of Tourism and Small Business.

Northern Alberta loan authorizations totalled $580,000 for businesses in Edmonton, Grande Prairie, St. Paul, Grande Cache and two each in Ft. McMurray and Grande Centre.

Businesses approved for financing in Northern Alberta include a plumbing and heating contractor, a machine shop, a coffee and beverage service, a bakery, a moving firm, video equipment retailer, logging contractor and a janitorial service.

Loans approved in Central Alberta totalled $880,000 for businesses in Cochrane, Bentley, Hinton, Three Hills and Drumheller. An excavating firm, a co-op farm equipment dealership, an analytical laboratory, coffee shop and a fast food restaurant are the businesses which received financing.

Southern Alberta loan approvals totalled $1,118,000 for businesses in Irvine, Bow Island, Okotoks, Pincher Creek, two in Lethbridge and three in Medicine Hat. Financing was authorized for a total, a fiberglass manufacturer, a denture clinic, muffler repair shop, a holding company, a supplier of premises, a recreational vehicle manufacturer, a janitorial service, and a retail fabric store.

Two loans authorized in Calgary totalled $60,000 for a weather seal manufacturer and a restaurant/arcade.

TransAlta Files Evidence And New Application

TransAlta Utilities Corporation today filed revised evidence at the opening of its 1983 rate application hearing with the Public Utilities Board. Due to its continuing cost-cutting efforts, the Company is now applying for a total 1983 revenue requirement which is some $18 million lower than originally estimated, resulting in a reduction of its projected rate of increase.

However, at the same time the Company also filed another application and requested a hearing for a special levy or surcharge of $9.0 million, arising from extra costs which the Company must pay the Alberta Electric Energy Marketing Agency. This surcharge will be applied as an increase of about 1.5 per cent to all TransAlta customers, effective for consumption from April 1, 1983 and will largely offset the benefits to customers from TransAlta's recent cost-cutting efforts. Until now the Alberta government has fully shielded TransAlta Utilities and its customers from paying the higher costs for electricity necessitated by the Agency's activities. Last week the Agency officially informed TransAlta that the shielding would be reduced to 90 per cent, resulting in the $9.0 million surcharge. TransAlta customers will now have to pay more for electric energy than it costs

TransAlta to produce. A further charge to TransAlta of $14.5 million is being made by the Agency for transmission line payments the Agency is now making directly to certain municipalities. TransAlta intends to recover these costs through three direct levies against the Cities of Calgary, Red Deer and Lethbridge.

The Marketing Agency, which started operations on September 1, 1982, buys substantially all the electricity produced in the province, pooling the generating and transmission costs of the three major utilities TransAlta, Alberta Power and Edmonton Power. It buys the electricity at prices set by the Public Utilities Board for each utility and then resells the electricity back to the utilities at an average price, for distribution in their respective service areas. (A hearing for 1983 prices to the Agency is scheduled for late April.) With the averaging process, it is intended that customers of the higher cost utilities pay less for their electricity, sharing the benefit of TransAlta's lower costs. Conversely, TransAlta customers will pay more than they would otherwise, as the shielding is removed. The shielding for TransAlta customers is expected to be phased out totally by April 1987.

Irma Cubs Enjoy Bowling Outing

On Sunday, April 17, eight members of the Irma Cub Pack along with their leader Ron Copeland and several parents spent the afternoon bowling and then eating at a restaurant. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon and bowling was a first time experience for a number.

The regular group committee meeting was held on April 14 with 8 members present. The Cubs and Beavers will be going to Camp Harbourside for meeting day on May 30.

The Cubs will hold another meeting on April 27. The Beaver leaders are planning a Fisher and Son day camp on June 4.

The next meeting will be held May 12 at 1:30 in the cub hall. Final plans are to be arranged for campouts. Do plan to attend.

Badminton Season Ends

To all intents and purposes, the badminton season came to an end on March 27th, 1983 when the local club hosted its 9th annual Invitational tournament.

Competition started at 9:30 a.m. and carried on for a full 15 hours before the final match was completed. There was no singles competition due to the fact that the gym ceiling is too low for proper singles play. However, in order to give the competitor a good number of games, the doubles and mixed doubles events were played in a complete double-knockout in matches, best out of 3.

Walker Stofsky and Dwyane Glynn had a few problems getting used to each other's style of play, but were able to get it altogether in an unexpected, thereby capturing first place in men's doubles. Gary Glynn and Gary Stofsky finished second, while Dave Wray and Kim Wilson were third.

Alana Stofsky and Doris Fouts seem unable to pick up a first place finish this season as they finished second to Trish and Zanna Gordon in ladies doubles. The third place trophy was taken by Jo Wickham and Bev Lenzy.

Dwyane Glynn picked up his second first place trophy of the day when he teamed up with Bev Lenzy in mixed doubles. Finishing second were Gary Glynn and Trish Gordon while Walter and Alana Stofsky had to settle for a third place finish.

It was another successful tournament for the Viking club with competitors from St. Paul, Lloydminster, Wainwright, Provost, Consort, Canora, Leduc, Tofield and Edmonton. Appreciation must go to Walker and Alana Stofsky for their efforts in organizing and running the tournament as well as seeing that ample lunch was provided for all throughout the day.

Preparations For Summer Games Underway

The Alberta Games Council has hired Richard Way as North Eastern Alberta zone co-ordinator as part of the preliminary organization for the upcoming Summer Games.

Richard, with the assistance of an estimated 380 volunteers, will be co-ordinating sport and culture related competitions to determine the zone's representatives at the Alberta Summer Games in Mountain View County, August 11-18.

Encompassing some 200,000 square kilometers, the North Eastern Zone is the second largest of 8 zones set up by the Council. As many as 1,500 zone residents are expected to participate in events leading up to the Summer Games.

Richard was first exposed to the zone when he managed a cross country ski team at the 1982 Winter Games hosted by Lloydminster. As zone co-ordinator, he is once again in Lloydminster and expects to be involved with a community that has established a fine tradition with regards to the Games.

A physical education graduate from the University of Calgary, Richard, 36, has several years experience in recreation management. Also, Richard was involved in the 1982 Commonwealth Conference on Recreation and Sports Administration.

In his involvement with the Commonwealth Games in Australia that was the reinforcing factor for Richard to get involved with the Alberta Summer Games. "When I saw the excitement that the Commonwealth Games generated, I knew I wanted to be instrumental in helping generate that same excitement in Albertans for the Summer Games," says Richard.

For further information on how you can get involved in North Eastern Alberta playoffs leading to the Summer Games in Mountain View County, contact Richard or Angie Jasoural at Box 2177, Lloydminster, Alberta S9V 1S6 or phone 875-5896.

Irma Council Meets

The Council of the Village of Irma met in regular meeting in the Irma Village Office on Tuesday, March 29, 1982 with four councillors, and Municipal administrator D.D. Creary and Mayor Coffin.

The minutes of the previous meeting were adopted as circulated and all accounts as submitted for the month of March were approved for payment.

It was decided that the 1983 estimates of revenue and expenditures as prepared by the Irma Recreation Area Board be approved as presented.

A building permit for a residential garage on Lot O, Block F, Plan 1560 W was approved as issued by Permit Officer Mills. It was also noted that Council has no objection to the proposed boundary change between Lots H and O, Block F, Plan 1560 W.

Correspondence was received from Rodzinsky and Marchant, advising that the dwelling located on Lot 1, Block 20, Plan 38K.S. does not comply with the Village Land Use By-Law. It was moved that the non compliance be waived.

Correspondence from the Waterwright School Board relative to the proposed renovations at the Irma School was received and filed as was correspondence from the Alberta Fire Prevention Branch.

It was decided by Council that the contract with Alberta Auto Re-Cycle, to remove derelict vehicles be renewed, and also that the Administrator arrange for taking of a census within the village prior to June 1, 1983.

Committee members Coffin and Larson submitted a detailed report from their attendance at the site of the Incineration Plants in Duncan and Ladymith, B.C. All committee members who attended the incineration disposal plants were impressed with this concept of solid waste disposal.

Correspondence from Alberta Environment relative to reclamation of the village garbage disposal site was received and filed.

Meeting Ends Multiplex Delay

A push by some Council members has finally resulted in approval being given for M.C.R. funds to be used for the proposed Multiplex. The decision was reached Monday night at a special meeting of the Viking Town Council.

The decision was made after Council discussed the proposal with members of the Multiplex Facility Development Committee and the local Recreation Board. The meeting resulted from inaction on the proposal at last Wednesday's regular Council meeting.

The original multi-plus proposal had been presented to the Recreation Board on March 9th. Dick Chumney then presented it to Council on behalf of the Recreation Board on March 16th. Council did not act on it at that meeting. It was not on the agenda for either of the other two Council meetings on March 23rd or March 30th.

At last Wednesday's regular meeting, Councilor Jenny Bird moved that the Town support the project by applying for M.C.R. funds. Mayor Ruckenstein spoke against the motion, questioning how Council could deal with something so important with the type of determination presented. He noted that nothing was firm in the settlement. He said that the Town is responsible for any outstanding debt on an M.C.R. application, and he wanted to know how much this debt would be.

Councilor Bird said that she felt the Town would not be responsible for anything. Council had been informed originally that the Facility Development Committee would be responsible for the debt, and that the multi-plus would be built as funds were available. Mrs. Bird said they will go only as far as they can, stopping when the funds run out.

Mayor Ruckenstein said that the Council members should guarantee the debt. Councilor Bird Evans said that in their proposal that they were committing to this. The Mayor felt that there had to be an agreement between the Committee and the Town. He said that good intentions were enough.

Mrs. Bird said that "something should be done at this time." This report covers all the details of the Town water and sewer system. Mr. Stephenson said that only Town employees will be allowed to connect sewer and water to a property, and that only Town employees will be allowed to install the water meters. This condition will require that residents will have to contact the Town office to make arrangements for the providing of these services. The amount of notice necessary will be determined by the situation.

The new bylaw provides for an $85 meter deposit for any property owner wishing to use Town water. It also provides for a $75 deposit for anyone renting property who will be using Town water.

Councilor Stephenson said that the $75 deposit will encourage everyone involved to ensure that the water meter is read regularly, and should ensure that notice is given when someone is moving. The $75 deposit is refundable upon the payment of all accounts with the Town.

This condition will require that residents will have to contact the Town office to make arrangements for the providing of these services. The amount of notice necessary will be determined by the situation.

The new bylaw provides for an $85 meter deposit for any property owner wishing to use Town water. It also provides for a $75 deposit for anyone renting property who will be using Town water.

Councilor Stephenson said that the $75 deposit will encourage everyone involved to ensure that the water meter is read regularly, and should ensure that notice is given when someone is moving. The $75 deposit is refundable upon the payment of all accounts with the Town.

meeting" so the group could proceed. Mayor Ruckenstein said that the project could mushroom into $1/2 million, and that it could wait until the proper homework was done.

Bob Evans said that he would like to see the group going as soon as possible and suggested a special meeting with the committee next (this) week. Mrs. Bird agreed to remind her motion as long as there was a special meeting. Monday evening was set.

But the delegation arrived at Monday's meeting, Councilor George Ritchie, who had been away last Wednesday, asked why the meeting was called. The Mayor told him of the need to know what the motion and have a guarantee on the debt. Councilor Ritchie reminded Council that the Committee had indicated that they would be responsible for the debt. He said that written agreements with people in Town should be necessary.

Councilor Bird said that she would like to make a motion that approval be given to the Multi-Plus. Mayor Ruckenstein said that he wanted notice of motion on the matter. He said that approval was enough.

Mrs. Bird said that "something should be done at this time." This report covers all the details of the Town water and sewer system. Mr. Stephenson said that only Town employees will be allowed to connect sewer and water to a property, and that only Town employees will be allowed to install the water meters. This condition will require that residents will have to contact the Town office to make arrangements for the providing of these services. The amount of notice necessary will be determined by the situation.

have. Mrs. Bird then gave notice of motion for the regular meeting (May 18th) on accepting the Multi-plus proposal.

(Note: According to Dick Wilsey of the Alberta Municipal Affairs Department, the Municipal Government Act does not contain anything on Notice of Motion. The newly adopted Provision should be-18 (1980) of the Town does not require Notice of Motion on this type of action.)

County Fire Chief Lenore Westhull and Viking Fire Chief Bill Kamphuis attended last Wednesday's Viking Council meeting to discuss a number of concerns.

Mr. Westhull reviewed the Fire Truck agreement with the Town and said that Council that the County would like to use it remain in force. a fire. Presently, County residents pay $200 per call. Other municipalities must pay $200 for the first hour, and $100 per hour after that. However, Mr. Westhull explained that the $200 does not include the use of the County fire truck to fight fires in Viking. This is covered by the fire truck agreement.

The County fire chief said that Council that the County has developed a long range plan for the upgrading of fire fighting equipment in the County. He said that all new equipment will be placed in Tulehill, Holden or Viking, with the used equipment going to Ryky, Bruce and Kinross. He said this is because the County considers the first three counties as the major central base.

new Centre changed as it went, but their original concern was to be supported by the community. They voiced concerning financial matters the same. Councillor Ritchie felt that the same will happen here with the same.

Following a request by the delegation as they left for an answer as soon as possible, Council discussed the matter for several minutes and then the delegation was informed that the answer would be given in a few days.

W. J. McPherson, C. O. McPherson, and J. C. McPherson

Council was concerned with the heavy responsibility placed on the people who would carry the portable telephones. Concern as to expressed about the additional telephone system at the Town would be the fire alarm system for possible emergency situations. The possibility of it being outdated in a few years was also expressed.

Mr. McPherson said that the present force is down to 10 men and that the Town desired another. He said that he planned on working over the next while to increase the number of volunteers.

Mr. Weatherall told Council that he can't say that there is a definite need for the new paging system in Viking, but that it may have been a contribution to the problem.

Council also decided that the Viking Playschool will be responsible for the maintenance and the paying of all utilities at their new location. The Playschool recently moved into the old Senior Citizens' Centre next to the Post Office. Council is allowing the group to use the building free of charge, and felt that they should be responsible for unknown

THREATENS
ALBERTANS

If Bill 44, the Labour Statutes Amendment Act, 1983, goes through as proposed, then
Albertans can expect:

1. The weakened ability of unions to protect and improve the quality of public services in medicare, hospital care, social services, education, community health, transportation, parks and recreation, etc., etc.
2. A drastic decline in real job opportunities, as public sector employees become cheap labour.
3. A dramatic increase in labour unrest, as working people protest lost rights in collective bargaining.

YOU have reasons for concern.

Anhydrous Ammonia - Product Information

Notes: Following is some general product information on anhydrous ammonia. Thanks to Androsk Farm Sales Ltd. and W.S. Matheson Sales and Service Ltd. for supplying the information.

Anhydrous ammonia is made from hydrogen from natural gas and nitrogen from the atmosphere. It contains 82 per cent nitrogen and weighs 6 lbs. per gallon at 27 degrees Celsius. As a gas, ammonia is lighter than air under normal conditions of temperature and pressure but may not rise from ground level under certain atmospheric conditions.

To be stored as a liquid, ammonia must be either refrigerated to minus 28 degrees Celsius or else kept under pressure. Above this temperature, it boils or changes from a liquid to a vapor.

Ammonia is colorless as either a gas or liquid. However, under some conditions a cloud of water vapour will indicate the presence of the product.

Ammonia has a tremendous affinity for water and will remove moisture from any surface with which it comes in contact. Water like ammonia so well that 1800 volumes of ammonia will dissolve into one volume of water. In the soil, it is strongly attracted to water in pores and water films around particles of clay or organic matter.

Although anhydrous ammonia is classed as a non-flammable compressed gas, it may burn when exposed to open flame under ideal conditions. It is not corrosive to chemically with brass and copper.

When vaporized, it increases in volume 800 times. That is, two ounces of liquid become thirteen gallons of vapour.

Ammonia concentrates are measured in parts per million which are hard to visualize. Just remember one part per million is about the same portion as 1/10 of an inch per mile. It would require one million sheets of 1/10 inch plywood stacked on top of each other to reach one mile and each sheet would represent one part per million.

At a concentration of 80 parts per million in air, or 1/800 part of air, ammonia has a slight detectable odor but it is permeable for a person to remain in a concentration of 100 parts per million or 1/1000 part for eight hours. At this concentration there will be no adverse effects for the average worker.

When a person is subjected

Viking - Kinsella Respond To Blaze

A garage can be seen labeled as the party responsible for starting a fire at the Oakton Ranch approximately 7 miles east of Viking on Monday evening.

The Viking fire department was called out at 5:45 p.m. on Monday to do battle with the blaze which was burning well being fuelled by a pile of large round straw and hay bales.

Upon arrival and investigation of the incident, the local department called the Kinsella fire department for additional help as the burning area was quite spread out and the blaze was fanned briskly by the strong winds that have been blowing these last few days.

With the fire the size it was and with wind conditions as they were, the trucks' supply of water would not have lasted long so the crews' portable pumps were set up at a nearby dugout to try and keep the supply of water to the pumpers units up.

Although the dugout yielded a considerable amount of water before being pumped dry, it was by no means enough to do the job so the help of Dewey Baboy's Trucking with 2 large water tankers was solicited.

These units helped very much in the containing of the fire as the pumpers trucks did not have to leave the lines. After pushing the remains of the very much damaged bales into a pile and away from the bush and corral to prevent further spreading, there was not much more the crews could do. It is almost impossible to completely extinguish a fire of this nature so the volunteer fire fighters headed for home at approximately 8:00 a.m. on Tuesday morning.

What Junk Mail?

What the average customer of Canada Post Corporation terms "junk mail" is a significant contributor to postal revenues. Canada Post officials report revenue is climbing for advertising towards the $800 million figure and has a multiplier effect which generates another $50 million revenue. This is a significant factor in allowing the Corporation to reduce its deficit and is a benefit to all postal customers.

Mr. Paulson is responsible for QCTV's treasury duties and two operating departments. He has held increasingly responsible positions since joining QCTV three years ago.

QCTV Ltd. is one of Canada's leading cable operators. The publicly-owned company is based in Edmonton, Alberta, with branch offices located throughout the province.

From The Ground Up

As the demand for custom work increases, farmers in Alberta continue to seek information on machinery costs and custom rates. Custom operators want to ensure they are charging enough to cover their costs and farmers hiring custom operators are concerned that a fair price is paid for the work being done. Since 1976, Alberta Agriculture has annually published a guide to machinery costs and custom rates. This publication provides current machinery cost information as a basis for negotiating fair custom rates for farm machinery operations. It is also a useful guide for budgeting machinery costs for other purposes. The best decision information, however, is the actual costs for your specific machine. Because of the variability in machinery costs is intended as just a

Viking Students To National Fair

Two grade nine students, Larry Jakubec and Jim Walker, have been selected to represent the Edmonton Region at the Canada-Wide Science Fair in Saskatoon. The Fair will be held May 15th to 22nd, and is an annual event involving students from across Canada. The two Viking students will travel to Saskatoon, where their project will be on display for the entire week, with judging of all of the entries concluding the week long effort.

Larry and Jim were selected due to their winning first prize in the physical sciences category at the Edmonton Regional Science Fair which was held April 8th and 9th at M.E. Lazerle Composite High School in Edmonton. They were chosen from among the winners at this Fair. The two Viking students will travel to Saskatoon, where their project will be on display for the entire week, with judging of all of the entries concluding the week long effort.

The Viking Fire Department responded to a grass fire at the Terry Sorenson property north of Viking last Wednesday morning. Fortunately the fire did not result in property loss as the wind steered it away from the Sorenson home.

Bruce Stampede Association Meets

A general meeting of the Bruce Stampede Association was held Tuesday, April 19 to discuss the future of the school building presently being maintained by the Stampede Association.

Approximately thirty people were in attendance. Financial statements for the school operation for the period of November 1982 through March of 1983 were presented at the meeting. The statements showed that the school operated at a considerable deficit over that period due mainly to a heating bill of over five thousand dollars.

A motion was made and passed unanimously that the south four rooms of the school be demolished. The senior citizen facilities were to be moved to the old library and an adjoining room. Two proposals were considered for the demolition.

One proposal concerned the use by the County of the NEED program to demolish the school. The other proposal was a private concern from Edmonton who would demolish the building for the salvage. Both proposals would use local labor. The people in attendance at the meeting gave the stampede board their approval of the board looking into the two proposals and going with the one that could have that section of the school demolished in the quickest, simplest way. The board later decided to go ahead with the private concern from Edmonton. Demolition is to start immediately.

Alliance Church Hosts Singers

Appearing on May 7 at 7:30 p.m. at Viking Alliance Church is SERVANT'S SONG, a touring group of singers from the Canadian Bible College in Regina, Saskatchewan. They will present a musical package describing the joys and struggles of being a follower of Jesus Christ. The five students that make up this group are: Avril Grundwell, originally from Abbotsford, B.C., a graduating senior with a Bachelor of Biblical Studies degree; Jake Dourma, from Ft. McMurray, Alberta, is a sophomore working towards a Bachelor of Theology degree; Ken Johnson, from Calgary, Alberta, a first year student in the Bachelor of Theology program; Sharon Pankiera, also from Calgary, Alberta, a sophomore studying for a Bachelor of Sacred Music degree; and Ken Radash, a junior working towards a Bachelor of Theology degree.

Travelling with SERVANT'S SONG is Professor Eugene Nivard, who is an assistant professor of Music at Canadian Bible College. He will be ministering through trumpet solos as well as giving a brief devotional. The concert is open to everyone.

Kindergarten Hosts Orientation

The Viking Kindergarten hosted the E.C.S. orientation for incoming executive and L.A.C. members on Apr. 19, 1983 at the School Library. Kindergarten teachers and parents from C.W. Bozart, Ryley, Holden and Viking were present. There were many interesting speakers. Nancy Hohn, the Alberta Education Parent Resource Consultant spoke on "Parent Involvement".

Margaret Hinch, the Consultant for the Visually Impaired for E.C.S. spoke on "Vision as it Relates to Early Childhood". A noon luncheon prepared by Mrs. Nellie Goka was enjoyed by all.

Open House At Viking School

The public are invited to sit in on regular classes Thursday, May 5th, as part of Viking's Education Week activities in the school. What For The Future?

An old political saying goes, "Power corrupts, and absolute power corrupts absolutely". When one views the antics of some politicians in Canada today, one has to wonder what their actions mean for the long term ideas of fairness and equality in this country.

The main culprit in what seems to be the eroding away of some ethical standard are the members of the Liberal Party of Canada who are seated beside and behind our present Prime Minister. For the last ten years or so, a list has started to appear which shows numerous "indiscretions" by members of the Trudeau government. They have lived on official documents to try to protect their image, and have generally acted as though they don't have to abide by any decent standard of ethical behavior. When one watches the Prime Minister in action respond to irate citizens by lowering himself to obscene gestures similar to those that were being presented to him, or makes snide remarks to unemployed protestors outside of a banquet hall after a gala affair, it makes one think that any basic standard of decency by which one expects our government leaders to live has gone down the drain.

But the arrogance goes further than this. A mistake was made in the last federal election in that the Liberal Party was re-elected. This is not to say that the Conservatives under Joe Clark deserved to be re-elected. Mr. Clark's own blunders would ensure that most electors should have passed him by. The mistake lies in that with that victory, after having been removed from power after more than ten years in office, Mr. Trudeau let the results go to his head. He seemed to feel that people across the country saw him as the only possible leader for Canada. Little did he seem to realize that at the time, he was only the lesser of "two lessers" for many people across the country. Since the last election, he has led a government that exudes arrogance and ignorance while it comes to adhering to ethical standards which have been established during more than one hundred years of Canadian parliamentary democracy.

In years gone by, Finance Ministers who absolutely blundered in their projections in a budget were expected to resign, and they did. Now they are simply shuffled to another portfolio. In years gone by, indiscretions such as trying to influence judges or lying on official documents resulted in banishment from the backbenches, if not tried to use their offices to influence judges, have told half-truths in the House of Commons to try to protect their image, and have generally acted as though they don't have to abide by any decent standard of ethical behavior.

Mazankowski Announces Grants

The Honourable Don Mazankowski is pleased to announce approval of the following applications under the Summer Canada Student Employment Program:

Myrman Sports, Myrman, $5,000; Discover Summer, St. Paul, $7,500; General Beautification, Willingdon, $4,000; Employment Two Hills, Two Hills, $7,500; Fishing Lake Progress, Fishing Lake, $9,000; Saddle Lake Computer, Saddle Lake, $6,000; Target-Summer Program, Elk Point, $8,000; Viking Recreation, Viking, $7,100; Senior Citizen Center, Ryley, $6,000; Summer Activity Program, Watwin, $5,000; Family Day Camp, Vermilion River, Lloydminster, $8,000; Parks and Recreation, 70, Telford, $7,000; Recreation and Beautification, Beaver, $6,000; Summer Fun, Vermilion, $7,000 and Lake Belvoir Project, Vegreville, $8,000.

Over fifty applications, totaling nearly $800,000, were submitted. However, as the Vegreville Constituency was only allotted $100,000 those projects closely adhering to the aims and objectives of the program were given approval by the Minister. Mr. Mazankowski stated in a recent letter to the Minister, "the heavy response to the program is indicative of the high level of unemployment and the social problems to youth employment in the Vegreville constituency. I believe that in terms of applications received, it is felt that the Vegreville constituency should be better than funding on a ratio of $1 to $1 received. Consequently, it is requested that additional funding be provided by at least $150,000."

It is hoped that additional funding may eventually be provided so that more projects may become active.

Palliser Crow Committee Reports

During the past few weeks, Palliser's Crow Committee has been studying the federal government's Western Transportation Initiative - its proposal for Crow Reform. We have also been in almost daily contact with Transport Department officials in Ottawa to monitor the progress of the proposed legislation.

Without doubt, Crow reform is the most important issue for farmers here for many years. A great deal of criticism has been leveled at the package presented by Mr. Topp. It is not a perfect package. Yet your Board is convinced that Palliser can and must support Mr. Topp's plan. Just what we intend to work hard to get some modifications to that plan to make it more suitable to the needs of Western farmers. If we can get the railroads to cover the full rail cost data. Further, the railroads should be required to publish their costs annually as well as their income sources, regarding all rail movement. This is only fair in light of their monopoly position in grain movement.

The government's goal is to phase the legislation in time for the new crop year. Early passage is important. If this bill is not passed now, it will be extremely difficult to get it passed for years to come.

The legislation represents a step in the right direction. It can lead the way to a more efficient and economical grain transportation system. The proposed legislation is winning a substantial amount of support. The Alberta government has given its qualified support. United Grain Growers supports the general thrust of the proposal. The Commodity Coalition supports it. So does the Manitoba Farm Bureau. Palliser has commended Mr. Topp for his courage in bringing in this positive plan.

However, in Palliser are urging some modifications to the plan:

1. The legislation calls for the Crow benefit payment to be shared 50/50 between producers and the railways, from 1985 - 86 onward, unless the legislation is made then. We want the payment to progress to the point where most of it or even all of it is going right to the producer. We want at the very least, that 81 per cent should go to producers.
2. The Federal Government calls for producers to carry 6 per cent inflation costs on transportation after 1986-87. We will lobby to change that to see that producers pay less than 6 per cent of the inflation.
3. We want the Crow benefit paid (by which the government covers inflation on the first $11 M.T. shipped) to be removed.
4. The government share of inflation must form part of the producer payments.

"Five is One" when you are studying conservation at the 1983 Alberta 4-H Conservation Camp. The five areas of water conservation, soil conservation, range management, fish and wildlife management and forestry conservation are inter-related. If the natural balance of one area is upset then the other areas are directly or indirectly affected. A forest fire directly affects the forest by loss of tree cover. Because of this soil erosion increases, water runs off instead of soaking into the ground and the habitat of many animals is destroyed. It is these types of relationships ships that instructors at camp will teach to the campers.

Each camper will study five topics and will gain an understanding of the other three. These areas are:

1. Water Conservation - examines the basic nature of water, its use by modern industrial man, and problems related to its use; and it's inter-relationship with other resources.

2. Soil Conservation - examines the components, structure and texture of soil; the role of soil in sustaining plant and animal life; wind and water erosion; and soil management.

3. Range Management - examines how best to utilize range forage for maximum livestock production; how to sustain forage fields; how range relates to other resources; and how to avoid endangering other uses of the land.

4. Fish and Wildlife Management - Expense delegates to problems confronting fish and wildlife; examines work being done to study and manage wildlife.

Conservation Camp is an educational program developing five to six hours per day in sessions which may take the form of lectures, films, field trips and small group activities. Evening fun will be dancing and sing-alongs, so campers will have ample time to meet new friends.

If you are 14 years of age or older and interested in learning about our environment and how to protect it, plan to attend Conservation Camp 1983 from July 24 to July 30. It is held in the beautiful foothills setting of Silver Creek Ranch, west of Carleton Place, Ontario. Deadlines for application is May 15. Your club leader or secretary have application forms.

Lorraine Fredericks and Robert McMoran are both patients in the Viking Hospital.

Last Saturday evening a few ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. Prans to wish her a happy birthday. They enjoyed birthday cake which was donated by Bonnie Belding.

Mary Hammarman and Jean Starky attended the performance of "Days and Dads" at the Citadel on Saturday night. Donna Winczura, Kasia Micholai and Ellen Davis represented the Bruce Women's Institute at the Annual District Conference held at Irma. Alberta Women's Institute president Mrs. Rowbottom from Drumheller addressed the group and there was a most informative Farm Hazard presentation by Ken Adrasak which made use of slides and audience participation. The Bruce ladies are to be commended on placing second in the baking competition.

The first ball game of the season was held in Bruce on Friday night with the Bruce team meeting the Hidden Keggars. Bruce emerged victorious but the Keggars had to leave them a couple of players. That's what you'd call being good neighbors.

Code Does Not Move
While it is true every residence in Canada is given a postal code, the code is not movable. Canada Post Corporation officials report some customers feel they are able to take their postal code with them when they move. Not so, declares Canada Post, the code is established for a particular residence and stays with the residence. If you are moving check with the Post Office to learn your new code.

New, improved Carbyne 2EC.

New, double strength Carbyne 2EC stops wild oats early, in the 2 leaf stage, before they start to steal yields in your wheat, barley or rye. Carbyne 2ECs low cost and effectiveness in controlling wild oats gives you maximum yields at minimum cost. In comparison trials with competitive wild oat herbicides such as Mataven, Hoe-Grass, and Avenge, the yield increase with Carbyne combined with its low cost resulted in the highest net profit return per acre. Wainwright Radio

A new radio station in Edmonton is being operated by Environment Canada's Atmospheric Environment Service. It continuously transmits weather information over VHF-FM radio. Ordinary AM or FM radios will NOT receive the frequency of this station which is 102.40 MHz. Crystal radios receiving VHF-FM frequencies are needed. It is suggested that equipment be tested on location before being purchased.

The station transmitter is located near Lacombe, Alberta which is south of Sherwood Park and has a range of 85 km. This range should reach as far east as Hinton in the County of Beaver, Hinton in the County of Lacombe and New Norway in the County of Camrose.

The continuous broadcasts vary in length and may include severe weather warnings, current weather forecasts and synopses giving background to the forecasts and long range trends. Special weather information will be broadcast for different user groups such as agriculture, utilities, recreation, construction and transportation.

Application forms will be available at Alberta Manpower offices and Regional offices of the Small Business and Tourism Department of Phone 427-4781.

Learning and Holiday Time

Holiday trips can be among the greatest learning experiences for a child.
 For example, if you're on holiday in Nova Scotia, Cabot Trail offers motorists a magnificent view of the sea. Bluenose II, based in Halifax Harbor, is a replica of Bluenose, a Canadian racing schooner that won the International Fishermen's Trophy in 1921, 1922,

1923, 1926, and 1936. Visitors may tour Bluenose II when the ship is in port and take daily cruises during July and August. Cape Blismiden, near Wolfville, overlooks Minas Basin and nearby apple orchards. The Lighthouse Route, between Yarmouth and Halifax, passes many small fishing villages with interesting traditions. Sunrise Trail runs along the shore of the Northernland Strait between Amherst and the Strait of Canso. The highway is 212 miles (341 kilometers) long. Your children will benefit if you make your holiday a learning one.

 shoppers. The ladies responsible for this sale put a great deal of thought and effort into arranging and setting out the merchandise. They are to be commended for their efforts. We were glad to hear that a considerable sum was realized and besides, the goods which were about 40 large boxes which will go to various charitable organizations.

Mrs. Dolly Haas from Hardisty spent the week with her old neighbors Minnie and Jim Jackson.
 Get well wishes are extended to Mr. Louis Larson.

who is under treatment in the University Hospital in Edmonton.

Mrs. Don Tupper (Joyce) left on Monday morning for a trip to Sudbury, to visit her son and daughter-in-law Chester Bartholow, taking with her grandmother
 Minnie Jackson and Dolly
 Haas. They expect to visit Joyce's sister Marlene and family at Bowden on the way south. It rained heavily over the weekend at Sudbury, and when the rain finally quit, about four to six inches of snow fell. Fields were sodden and field work came to a halt.

It would be almost correct to state that field work has become general in the Irma area. In spite of the bright sunshine which we enjoyed on several days, the wind continued to be fresh (cold would perhaps be more accurate.)

The Irma Brownsie
 Pack held a "Brownsie" tea on Saturday, April 30th from 2:30 until 5:00 p.m. In from 2:30 till 5:00 p.m. in the Irma Legion Hall. They served coffee and tea and a brownie. Also they had for sale crafts, baking, odds and ends and Girl Guide Cookies.
 Alford Walker arrived home by train on Tuesday last week after an extended visit with his longtime friends, the Hansons at Onaway.

'The Public is cordially invited

Last week the Legislative Assembly was adjourned for four days in order to allow the Standing Committee on Public Affairs to hold public hearings on Bill 44, The Labour Statutes Amendment Act. Briefly, the proposed legislation would require arbitration boards to take into account the government's fiscal policy when arriving at decisions with regard to wage increases. Also, operators of hospitals and auxiliary hospitals and all the employees of those hospitals will be bound by compulsory arbitration if an agreement cannot be reached by the normal collective bargaining process. The same provisions will apply to police and firefighters.

As I mentioned in a previous letter, the proposed amendments are many and far-reaching, and so it was felt that those groups that would be most directly affected by them should have an opportunity to provide input into the new legislation. It is for this reason that the Standing Committee on Public Affairs which consists of all 79 M.L.A.'s, held public hearings from April

M.L.A. Report - Tom Lyons

35 - 28 in the Legislature. As was expected, the proposed legislation was not supported by every organization that made a submission. Good arguments were made on both sides of the issue, and a lot of material was presented to the Committee in the form of briefs, reports and studies. The Committee now has the task of considering all the information that has been put before it in determining its recommendations to the Assembly. I am confident that the Minister of Labour will carefully study the information before him, and that certain changes will be made to Bill 44, based on what was learned during the public hearings, before a final piece of legislation is presented to the Assembly for debate. It is expected that a revised Bill 44 will begin passage through the House in about two weeks.

On April 20, the Minister of Education released the report of the Task Force on the Offroad and Talented. The Task Force received 177 written submissions from groups and individuals across the province. It suggested as a general guideline the likelihood that three to five per cent of the total school population could be considered gifted/talented, requiring differentiated school programs beyond those regularly offered.

The Task Force made a series of 33 recommendations, including the following major ones:

- All school jurisdictions should be responsible for providing special programming (curriculum, instruction and support services) to meet the specific needs of gifted and talented children;

- Alberta Education provide grants to local school jurisdictions for the purpose of initiating and maintaining programs and support services;

- School jurisdictions be flexible in allowing pupils access to appropriate learning experiences outside the school without penalty;

understanding the needs of all exceptional pupils.

It should be noted that these are recommendations only, and it is now up to the Minister to decide which ones to accept, and in what manner to implement them. I will report at a later date when final decisions have been made.

The Widowed Pension Act has received third reading and Royal Assent in the House. This Act will provide assistance to Albertans between the ages of 55 and 64 who have lost their spouse and have limited means. It also encompasses the income security health care and housing programs. Now that the Bill has been passed into law, application forms will be available shortly.

I would be pleased to provide interested persons with further information on matters related to Bill 44 and the recent public hearings. While the House is sitting I can be reached at my Edmonton office at 427-1885, call collect.

Germicide Tested For Meat Handlers

Consumers may soon benefit from receiving meat products of improved bacterial quality due to research done at the University of Alberta under an Agriculture Canada contract to the

The introduction of harmful bacteria to meats through contact with meat handlers constitutes a major source of contamination. Until now there has been little existing information concerning the efficacy of a number of germicides in controlling these bacteria.

To further compound the problem, hexachlorophene, one of the most common germicides in recent years, has declined in use due to toxicological implications of its phenol makeup.

However, university research Dr. Michael Roline recently completed phase two of a study begun in 1980 which has established the most effective germicide, immediate and residual effects of germicides hand washes, and effects of germicide concentrations in hygienic hand disinfectant.

The work was done under the scientific authority of Lacombe meat microbiologist, Dr. Gordon Greer.

The tests were conducted using the natural flora from the hands of laboratory workers, or the organisms Pseudomonas and E. Coli.

The hand washes were tested for both immediate effectiveness as well as substantivity or cumulative effects. Samples were collected on culture plates before and after the first and sixth of 15 consecutive washes, before each intervention, wash, and finally without further treatment, the morning after the wash had been completed.

The results of these tests showed that only two of the commercial hand wash agents had both an immediate and cumulative effect as a germicide. These were a four percent chlorhexidine gluconate known as Hibiscene produced by Ayerst Laboratories of Montreal, and an iodophor scrub containing .75 per cent iodine produced by West Chemical Products Canada Ltd. of Montreal. A third scrub containing .065 per cent iodine showed promise because of advantage over the stronger iodine scrub in reduced stain and odor, but Dr. Roline feels more study is needed before it can be recommended.

"On the basis of these findings it should be possible to make recommendations to the meat industry relative to the most effective means of disinfecting the hands of food handlers," said Dr. Greer. "The ultimate result should become realized in meat products of superior bacterial quality."

The third phase of the study proposed to study the efficacy of lower concentrations of chlorhexidine gluconate or iodine in hand scrub.

Speech Problems In Youngsters

Language is one of our richest personal resources. The ability to use language to communicate separates man from all other living things. It is a means of satisfying our wants, describing our feelings, and acquiring knowledge of our world. For the young child who is just beginning to discover his world, language will make sense of the seemingly disorganized life around him.

The first five years of life are vital in the development of speech and language. As with all other skills we learn, the road to acquiring adult language is not always a smooth or easy one. For some youngsters it is slow and difficult. They may have trouble producing the many sounds of the English language or putting words together in a logical order. These children are frequently misunderstood or unable to express themselves. They become extremely frustrated. Communication is no longer a positive experience. Therefore, early detection of speech and language disorders is essential if the normal developmental process is to occur.

As a parent who is regularly in contact with your child, you play a vital role in the recognition of communication delays or disorders. The following checklist may be used as a guide in the identification of potential speech or language problems.

REMEMBER: Every "Friends have all things in common." Photo

Child is unique in his rate of physical, mental and emotional development. However, if your child displays several of the following behaviors, a professional evaluation by the speech pathologist in your local Health Unit is recommended.

Speech and Language Checklist:
The child is not talking at all at the age of two years.
The child omits beginning sounds or uses mostly vowels after the age of three.
(e.g., "oh" for "dog," "uh-oh" for "mommy").
Child exhibits many sound substitutions (e.g., "taks" for "cake," "trisk" for "fish") at five years.
Child consistently drops word endings after five years of age.
Words are left out, mixed up, or ungrammatical in sentences at five years.
The child exhibits frequent repetitions or prolongations of sounds or words, blocks on words or other stuttering behaviors (e.g., facial grimaces, lip tremors, avoidance of speaking situations). Some deficiency at 5-6 years is indicative of a hearing problem.

The child appears not to hear or understand spoken language. He may require frequent repetition. (e.g., "huh") in response to a question or statement. This may be indicative of a hearing problem.

Irma Pioneer Laid To Rest

The Irma District was saddened to hear of the sudden passing of Mrs. Tina Gilbrus, at the Missionville Hospital, on April 8, 1983 at the age of 94 years. She had fallen and broken her leg and 18 hours later, died from "Old age" as a result of the fall," her Dr. said.

Bertha Marie Kamen was born in Noto Norway on Sept. 20, 1888, the oldest of two girls. Her mother died when she was 12 years old so she was raised by her grandmother. When she was old enough to take a job, she worked for years for a Jewish family before coming to Canada in 1918. On her arrival in Edmonton she met a Norwegian Real Estate man who referred her to Irma where she worked for Mr. and Mrs. Love Sr. They in turn introduced her to the J.B. Gilbrus family and a bachelor Mr. Joe Gilbrus.

In July of 1917, she became Joe's bride and they lived happily for 49 years. To this union two sons, Harold and Carl were born.

This was a helpful and loving wife and mother, and later grandmother. She was a member of Sharon Lutheran Church.

son was organist. Hymns sung during the service were "How Great Thou Art," "My Faith Looks Up To Thee," "The Lord's My Shepherd," and a beautiful duet, "In The Garden" by Gordon Hollinger and Erling Nilson, a special request of the family.

Funeral services were held on May 11 at 7:30 p.m. The possibility of a fun night was also discussed at this meeting. The club will take part in the spring class up on Alberta's highway on May 7th. They will clean approximately 6 miles east of Bruce starting at the West road at 9:00 a.m. There will be a winner roast and a ball game after the class-up.

The Bruce Busy Bees met for their regular meeting recently with the President calling the meeting to order.

Following the opening of the meeting, the Secretary gave her report and the Treasurer also gave her report.

It was decided at this meeting that the Achievement day will be held on May 11 at 7:30 p.m. The possibility of a fun night was Memorial gifts in Tina's memory were given to the following: Sharon Memorial Fund; Canadian Lutheran Bible Institute; Camrose Lutheran College; Irma Historical Society; Cancer Fund; Irma United Church; The Gideon Society; and Hastings Lake Bible Camp.

Beautiful plants and floral arrangements were brought to the home from the many friends and neighbors. This will be easily missed.

Hopefully Not Here!

Hats off to the Social Credit Party of Canada. Even though they appear to be "dead" on the federal scene, their executive made a move this past week which shows that they have some integrity and some good old intestinal fortitude. This past week, the executive of the federal Social Crediters expelled Jim Keegstra from his position as director of the Party. A more justified move could not have been undertaken. Martin Hattersley, leader of the Social Crediters, indicated last week that he would not stand for people who display bigotry or racism in the Party. By Mr. Keegstra's conduct as a school teacher in Eckville, the expulsion was totally justified.

Mr. Keegstra taught for 14 years in Eckville. During his tenure there, he "indoctrinated" students in a "Jewish conspiracy" theory of history which was based on distorted facts and bigoted opinions. His teachings included the "conspiracy" theory for nearly every major historical event in human history. Last December, after receiving repeated complaints about Mr. Keegstra's teaching, the Lacombe County School Board relieved Mr. Keegstra of his teaching duties. His appeal to a Board of Reference was rejected by Justice MacFadyen who said that Mr. Keegstra was teaching his "Jewish conspiracy" theory as fact, which is not.

To allow any person in a position of responsibility such as that of a school teacher to teach unsubstantiated, nonsense to students as though it was fact is a crime. The entire province is lucky that there is a mechanism in place which will rid our schools of such undertakings. But the issue of Mr. Keegstra teaching his "simplified" version of history raises a lot of questions: Why did it take so many years to discover the kind of hate and propaganda that this man was teaching? Why did it take so many years to remove him from the classroom? Where was the Board of Education several years ago? Where was his principal? Where were his fellow teachers? And where were the parents of the students who attended Eckville school? Mr. Keegstra based his teachings on books and pamphlets which can be called no more than "hate literature and propaganda". For an open democratic society to tolerate the teaching of this type of nonsense in the name of "freedom of speech" is ridiculous. Some members of the Social Credit Party of Canada supported Mr. Keegstra on the basis of Freedom of Speech. Rightly, they were removed from office as well. To pick out a group of people based upon their race, color, creed, or religious belief and to openly discriminate against them is intolerable in our society. Once we let this type discrimination and racism become tolerable in our society towards one group, it quickly spreads to others. All one has to do is look at what happened in Nazi Germany to realize that the pogroms did not stop with the Jews. And there were pogroms against the Jews.

Mr. Keegstra states that he is anti-Semitic. And yet an awful lot of evidence proves this to be wrong. We cannot allow ourselves to pick out the theories of a few people within a religious group and then label the group as being responsible for these theories. The German people were not all Nazis, and they should not be blamed, or discriminated against, because of the work of those Germans who were Nazis.

A society, to be just and honorable, must show tolerance for all types of rationality, factual opinions. It cannot afford to show tolerance for those opinions which attempt to spread discrimination, racism and hatred. Once this type of activity becomes tolerable, it spreads like wild fire. The ignorance and intolerance of opinions and theories such as those expressed by Mr. Keegstra should be openly rejected by people in our society. This type of hatred, which turned from theory to practice in Hitler's era, must never become acceptable again. It shouldn't happen here, and it must not happen here. Hats off to a good start.

Summer Games Approaching

Are you going to play your part in the 1983 Alberta Summer Games? All Albertans are invited to enter in 30 activities. With three months remaining before the Sixth Alberta Summer Games, many of the sports and cultural activities that make up the biennial Games are already underway throughout the province.

True to its mandate, these activities are attracting participation by a growing number of Albertans at a grass roots and amateur level.

Many will be competing in the Games for the first time and since the inception of the Sport Outreach Program, rural area participants will be coming to the Games better prepared than ever before. The on going program is providing qualified instruction for athletes in rural areas to give them the same coaching and training background available to young athletes in more populous urban centres.

Program Director, Heather Ledwith, said of the 1,800 athletes registered for 1983 clinics last Summer, almost everyone is expected to enter playoffs for the Games.

To ensure participation from every corner of the province, eight zones have been designated each with its own coordinator. City officials leading up to the playoffs are also planning clinics for both sports and cultural competitions begins during the month of May.

As well as the differences in location, geography, and character, so does the interval in particular events vary from zone to zone.

"There have been inquiries just about every sport listed in the Games but right now Slow Pitch Softball seems to be generating the most interest in my area," says Karin Arnsdorf, Coordinator of the Big Country Zone which includes the communities of Banff, High River, Brantford and Olds.

Further north in Parkland Zone, Fast Pitch Softball is the most popular event so far. Interest in the canoeing events is growing rapidly in this zone which stretches from Banff National Park, through Red Deer and east to Provost. "Our canoeists have been training now for at least a month," commented Wayne Dale, Zone Coordinator.

Community responses have been especially encouraging in the Black Gold/Yellowhead Zone. "One of the keener communities is Devon," says coordinator Cathy Halkett. "They will be hosting some playoffs for both Women's Golf and Swimming." Westlock will be hosting playoffs for Men's Golf and Horseback. "We have some events booked all the way from (St. Mary's) to Hinton (Troy Shoenig)," said Halkett.

While an estimated 80,000 Albertans (including athletes, artists, musicians, craftspeople, organizers, volunteers, demonstrators, etc.) are expected to get involved with the games at the playoff levels, a full 1/2 of that number will come from the cities of Calgary and Edmonton. Although the urban centres draw qualified interest in every event, they are not always at an advantage. In the swimming events for example, only 37 competition swimmers are eligible. Since the better 37 swimmers are quickly advanced to the next level, it is difficult to put together competitive swim teams for the Games in Calgary and Edmonton.

Calgary Zone got "dubbed" in Hatterbury compared to the 1981 Games of title in the 1981 Games at Lethbridge but won the Gold in Men's Soccer. A healthy competition has developed between the urban and rural communities which ought to add another element to the excitement. August 11, 12 and 13 in Mountain View County.

ABOUT NUTRITION

By Patricia McClinton

The newest "buzz word" in nutrition talks is linoleic acid. It's starting to replace cholesterol in the war of words being waged for the consumer's dollar spent on spreads. So says Dr. Jean-Claude Dillon, a researcher in human nutrition at Laval University, Quebec, to give us a bit of background on linoleic acid.

According to Dr. Dillon, an internationally recognized research scientist, linoleic is one of the essential fatty acids which are not produced in the body naturally, therefore must be ingested in our diet. It is now believed to be useful in reducing serum cholesterol levels, which is desirable if you are prone to cardiovascular disease. Linoleic acid is to be found in vegetable oils, fish, poultry, margarine, and in smaller quantities in the fats of animals and milk products.

So, does one assume that margarine is better than butter because it contains more linoleic acid? "Not so," says Dr. Dillon. "We Canadians consume at least 3-4% of our daily fat intake as linoleic acid, and that's well above the 2-3% considered more than adequate for a well balanced diet."

"Also linoleic acid present in some margarines is transformed in part into 'trans' fatty acids during the hydrogenation process which is used to make vegetable oils spreadable. And research has indicated that a possible relationship exists between such 'trans' fatty acids and certain cancers."

The important thing, Dr. Dillon says, is to eat a well balanced diet, with a little of everything, and an excess of nothing. And don't forget, obesity creates health problems, often leading to cardiovascular illness.

Patricia McClinton, M.Sc., R.P.D., is a nutritionist who has consulted to the Dairy Bureau of Canada.

The important thing, Dr. Dillon says, is to eat a well balanced diet, with a little of everything, and an excess of nothing. And don't forget, obesity creates health problems, often leading to cardiovascular illness.

Patricia McClinton, M.Sc., R.P.D., is a nutritionist who has consulted to the Dairy Bureau of Canada.

More linoleic acid? "Not so," says Dr. Dillon. "We Canadians consume at least 3-4% of our daily fat intake as linoleic acid, and that's well above the 2-3% considered more than adequate for a well balanced diet."

"Also linoleic acid present in some margarines is transformed in part into 'trans' fatty acids during the hydrogenation process which is used to make vegetable oils spreadable. And research has indicated that a possible relationship exists between such 'trans' fatty acids and certain cancers."

Alberta Cable TV Faces Large Loss

Mr. Grant Piko, President of the Cable Television Association of Alberta (CTAA), has urged the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC) to establish a policy by which licensed and unlicensed cable television (CATV) systems in Alberta have the same rights of signal operation or, alternatively, to cease the regulation of foreign-owned signals and only regulate Canadian content providers.

Mr. Piko said, "The situation is urgent as already cable TV operators in Alberta are faced with a loss of revenue, in excess of 36 per cent of their revenues from multiple occupancy premises (apartments, condominiums, trailer parks, etc.). By reason of the urgency of the situation, cable TV licensees require, and deserve, prompt and equitable decisions."

CTAA conducted a survey of its members over the past two months, representing approximately two thirds of the total subscribers served.

with respect to unauthorized TVRO/MATV installations. The survey revealed that a 40 per cent revenue loss could be suffered by CATV licensees in Alberta very quickly, with a loss in some areas of 9 per cent to a high of 56 per cent. The introduction of unlicensed TVRO/MATV systems essentially took place from September of 1982 to March 31, 1983, just prior to the announcement of Hon. Francis Fox's "Towards a New Broadcasting Policy."

CTAA concluded that TVRO/MATV systems are presently expanding at an explosive rate in Alberta, and in the 1983-84 fiscal year, with the passage of time, represent a substantial "lost opportunity cost" to licensed CATV systems, and will have the effect of absolutely reversing revenues expected from growth.

multiple-occupancy residential buildings now being built in Alberta are for exclusive use with TVRO/MATV systems. This will, with the passage of time, represent a substantial "lost opportunity cost" to licensed CATV systems, and will have the effect of absolutely reversing revenues expected from growth.

Should Crow Payment Go To Farmers ?

In this Crow debate, one issue is more important than all the others. It's this: Should the Crow benefit payment go to the producer? Or to the railroad?

This is vital. Pay the money to the railroad, and we'll continue to be added with an inefficient system. Here's why. The government will have to name which products are to be subsidized. That's what's hurting the prairie today. Wheat is subsidized. So is soybeans.

Leslie aren't subsidized. That barley is livestock and most shipments aren't subsidized. In fact, a few raw products are subsidized. But processed products aren't. That discriminates against processing in the West. And against our livestock. And special crops.

But if the Crow Benefit payment goes directly to farmers, things change. That payment will be several thousands of dollars per farmer. (Under the Ottawa proposal, only half of the payment will go to the producer, beginning in 1986-88. Dr. Gilman recommended that "1 per cent of the payment go directly to farmers.")

If producers get the payment, they will be free to grow whatever crops they like. Or to feed livestock, without losing the subsidy. It will end the idea of subsidizing the movement of some products, not others.

Then, you set the stage for prairie farmers to move towards more intensive farming! Towards use of higher yielding varieties! Towards an expanding livestock industry that would represent an important new local market for grain! You would set the stage for more processing right here in the West.

And don't forget one other thing. If producers get that Crow Benefit payment in their pockets, that puts them in the driver seat. When they come to ship their grain, they can demand better service from the grain companies and the railroads. If one grain company won't give them a good deal, they can go to another.

For the grain company to get tough with the railroads, insist on top notch service, volume discounts where possible. (That's the way they buy farm supplies.) That's an efficient grain handling and hauling system.

will emerge. And why shouldn't it be efficient? Prairie farmers are an efficient on their own farms. We deserve an efficient hauling system. And if we don't have one, how can we hope to have a decent standard of living?

Shady Cove W.I. Meet

April 26th, the thermomiser struggled reluctantly to push 8 C; a strong cold wind blew in 18 members and 2 guests to Rita Haden's for a warmly attended Shady Cove W.I. meeting. Some lovely, colorful and warm-looking Handicraft arrived too in preparation for Thursday, the 28th Conference Day at Irma.

Opening exercises included the Creed; minutes read by Secretary Helen Rasmussen; Treasurer report by Selma Williams. Selma stated that about 158 invited squares had been collected for Zambia and were in the mail.

Correspondence included a letter from Kay Rowbottom about the Provincial Convention at Olds beginning May 11th. The 1988 theme is "World At Our Doorstep". There will be 9 named to go in the Book of Remembrance; this is a very beautiful ceremony. Good workshops are available. Senator Martha Belski will be present and will speak on A.C.W.W. as well as at the Banquet.

A motion was made and carried that each member donate $5.00 in lieu of a table at the Fine Market as it conflicts with previously set dates.

All those involved in supporting Shady Cove entrance into Handicraft and Baking at Constitution Conference are to be commended. By their works we are known.

Ide Dordward was responsible for the Health Paper, and today's visitors Jan Olliver and Jane Trubshaw were given speakers on the topic of Co-ordinated Home Care Programs (Vegreville Health Unit) and Aide to Daily Living through Provincial Social Services and Community Health. They showed slides on the help and support services available to people who continue living in their own homes. Homecare, Meals-on-wheels, Handymen, friendly visiting, volunteer transportation. To avoid duplication, whatever services are already available in an area to be co-ordinated with health care professionals in every locality of the Health Unit. The Nurse or Therapist can provide services such as dressings, baths, injections, Catheter care, stoma care, rehabilitation exercises, supervision and teaching. Visits are usually limited to one hour weekly.

Twelve nurses work in an area where about 380 people are served. There is physiotherapy, occupational therapy, respiratory therapy and applicant must be under the care of a physician. Some intangible benefits are patient and family satisfaction, strengthening of existing community resources; patients reaching a maximum of their level of independence.

More tangible benefits are reduction of expense as compared to hospitalization, all the aids that are available (e.g.) hospital beds, wheelchairs, respiratory equipment, walking aids, prosthetic chairs, etc. To apply for Home Care - referrals may be made directly to Home Care at the Health Unit Office; anyone can refer himself; family members or friends; doctors, hospitals or other agencies can also refer clients. Thank you to Jan, Jane and Ide for bringing all this information to Shady Cove.

The next meeting will be at Kay's, with Ide and Anne Harkit on lunch on May 18th. The roll call is: tags off garments (taking the fashion Co. etc. that has designed or manufactured them). The Motto by Rita Haden was "When people are too tired to smile; give them one more for taste treats to trigger trusty appetite. Myra Frances

WHAT DO YOU SAY TO A MAN WHO WANTS YOUR ELECTRICITY TO KEEP OFF HIS LAND?

First of all, you tell him that you understand his point of view. Nobody likes transmission lines on his land.

But then you ask him how he expects other Albertans to receive electric service if every landowner had the right to keep transmission lines off his property.

We're sure that at this point, the landowner would begin to understand our point of view too.

Trans-Alta Utilities is bound to serve the public interest both by tradition and legislation, but this isn't as simple as it sounds.

The "Public Interest" is, in fact, the sum-total of many vested interests. The conflict between the interests of the landowner and those of all Trans-Alta customers is just one example.

Balancing the demands of all the different groups who depend on electricity would tax the wisdom of Solomon himself.

While we may not be able to please everybody all of the time, we do our best to be fair.

If you've got something to say about how we can best balance interests, why not drop us a line or give your local Trans-Alta office a call?

Use of Whole Milk in Indian Diets

Several dairy producers have used up their quota for shipping fluid milk and are looking for alternative methods of marketing their product. Our regional sales specialist says one possibility is to feed it to pigs. Here's his explanation.

"Milk is an excellent hog feed and it is only its price that precludes greater utilization. It has an excellent amino acid balance and it is a good source of calcium and phosphorus. In addition it provides many of the B-complex vitamins such as riboflavin, niacin and thiamine. A breakdown of the nutrients supplied by cow's milk is below.

Unfortunately, milk is not perfect. It is extremely low in iron and is a poor source of vitamin D. Therefore, it is important that a vitamin-mineral premix be utilized when feeding milk.

Basically, five pounds of whole milk will supply the same amount of nutrients as one pound of complete feed. I have worked out a scheme for using whole milk based on the amount of liquid and dry feed a pig normally consumes. In order to get the most benefit from feeding milk, no additional protein supplement should be used. In addition, I have suggested twice the level of premix (5 per cent) since less dry feed will be consumed.

Care should be taken when starting pigs on milk as they may overconsume due to the palatable nature of milk. In addition, it is probably worthwhile to allow the milk to reach room temperature before feeding.

Milk should also be fed consistently sweet or sour, because abrupt changes are apt to produce digestive disturbances. When a choice is available, fresh milk is recommended."

Nutrient Value of Whole Cow's Milk:
Dry Matter - 12.80 per cent, Crude Protein, 8.00 per cent, Digestible Energy (Kcal/kg) 960, Calcium, 0.18 per cent, Phosphorus 0.09 per cent, Lysine, 0.30 per cent, Methionine, 0.10 per cent, Threonine 0.10 per cent.

15 kg. of milk is approximately equal to 1 kg. of a complete feed.

Billy Graham Film To Be Shown In Ryley

THE LIVING WORD, a new film produced by World Wide Pictures, will be presented by The Goodnews Community, Ryley, Alberta on Sunday, May 15, 1983 at 7:30 p.m. The showing is free, and open to the public.

Featuring narration by Billy Graham and Cliff Barrows, the film weaves together Scripture passages, great words of religious art, music, and some of the most stunning color footage ever filmed in the Holy Land. The film touches the heart and mind of the viewer with its relevance to twentieth-century mankind.

Rich in visual beauty, and enhanced by a powerful original, musical score, THE LIVING WORD brings the pages of the Bible to life in a fresh new way.

John Rowlett, pastor of Good News Community is extending an invitation to all to attend. THE LIVING

WORD is an outstanding film for anyone who has unanswered questions about just what the Bible means to us today. The producers of the film feel the real beauty of the production is not so much the color photography, which is truly memorable, but more the clear way in which it explains what the Christian faith really is. God has a plan for us, set in motion at the moment of Creation, and it's still being realized today. The film aims to help each viewer discover that plan, and to see how our lives fit into that plan.

World Wide Pictures, the producer of THE LIVING WORD is the film ministry of the Billy Graham organization. Among the company's other releases are the award-winning THE HIDDEN PLACE, and the recent film, JONI, which stars Joni Eareckson, a quadriplegic, as herself.

County Rejects Waste Plant Land Annexation

The County of Beaver has once again refused the request of the Village of Ryley to annex a parcel of land adjacent to the Village.

Ernest Brown, Ed Albrecht, Linda Verhey and Mayor Larry Andrews were in attendance to request that County Council reconsider their application for approval of annexation of the south half of 9-50-18-W4 which is located just north of Ryley.

Mr. Andrews outlined a number of benefits of new industry in the area, which included employment opportunities, increased tax base, grant benefits and a possible tourist attraction due to the uniqueness of the proposed industry.

He also noted that the establishment of one industry offers other results in other industries starting up and used the Fort Saskatchewan area as an example.

County was advised that the Village of Ryley has entered into negotiations with the provincial government to host a particular industry and negotiations have been very positive.

Mayor Andrews added that "we think this is an excellent area for this industry." He then went on to point out that other towns and villages have requested annexation in the past and that Council had never denied them doing so.

Mr. Andrews stated "Ryley has very little commercial or industrial land available at the present time. There have been requests, but the land now available is not suitable."

The Village has had the opportunity to consult and research an industry which will go into operation somewhere in the Province of Alberta.

"This industry could be located here with many benefits," stated Mr. Andrews.

Ernest Brown spoke on behalf of the delegation, putting emphasis on the injection of younger people into the community and the tremendous impact this would have on the school system from the provincial grant system. He also advised that general support had been forthcoming from Viking, Tofield, Holden and the Alberta Fish and Game Association as well as from 80 per cent of the local residents, which provides the Village Council with a clear mandate to bring industry into the area.

Adjoining landowners have also given the annexation 100 per cent support and in view of this, County Council was requested to reconsider the Ryley annexation and give approval to proceed with their plans.

In the discussion that followed, councillor Warner questioned whether Ryley was "specifically referring to the siting of a Special Waste Plant in the area."

Ernest Brown replied yes. Mr. Warner continued that the Village of Ryley is now on record that they will no longer be involved in the siting of a Special Waste Plant in the County of Beaver and as he felt that the annexation was requested with this specific project in mind Council as a whole, could not become involved. He questioned whether the Village of Ryley, as a separate municipal body, could proceed on their own.

Mr. Brown advised that the Village of Ryley is prepared to do so. "We are only asking for land for our own use," stated Mr. Brown.

"Once it becomes a part of the Village of Ryley, the County of Beaver is no longer responsible."

Councillor Arncliffe reminded the delegation that each member of Council is a representative of the people in their Division and that each must act according to the opinions expressed by those they represent.

There was considerable discussion regarding the use of the hall diamonds.

A motion by Elton Leford that the Beavers and M.C.R. matching funds for the Senior's Centre will be applied for in the near future.

There is a lot of cleanup required at Lake Thomas.

John Ingles was asked to make a list of all the chairs that could be done by the Ryley program employees on this summer.

An application to the County for $61,000.00 M.C.R. matching funds for the Senior's Centre will be applied for in the near future.

Kinsella Gets Rec. Money

The motion made by Gordon Holmes at the previous meeting to allow Kinsella funds in the amount of $4,000 was defeated. A further motion by Harold Arncliffe to forward funds in the total amount due to Kinsella under the previous program was also defeated, with three in favor and four opposed as was the previous motion.

A motion by Councillor Victor Romanuk that the Kinsella Recreation and Agricultural Society, Joe Makar and Cathy Thengs had approved Council with a request for funds in the amount of $8,000 which they felt was Kinsella's fair share remaining under the disbanded 3 mill program.

At that meeting Council had tabled the matter for further information. Garth Bancroft, Secretary-Treasurer advised Council that the money was definitely on the books at one time, but that it was not there now and had been transferred within the budget some time previous.

A further motion by Harold Arncliffe to forward funds in the total amount due to Kinsella under the previous program was also defeated, with three in favor and four opposed as was the previous motion.

A motion by Councillor Victor Romanuk that the Kinsella Recreation and Agricultural Society, Joe Makar and Cathy Thengs had approved Council with a request for funds in the amount of $8,000 which they felt was Kinsella's fair share remaining under the disbanded 3 mill program.

At that meeting Council had tabled the matter for further information. Garth Bancroft, Secretary-Treasurer advised Council that the money was definitely on the books at one time, but that it was not there now and had been transferred within the

Help Wanted!

A very new endeavour involved with a very old effort in the Viking district is desperately in need of help. And anyone who can, in any way, lend a hand will be most heartily welcomed, and their efforts will be greatly appreciated. That's a guarantee!

The Viking district has a project underway which, in time, could become one of the best of its kind in Alberta. That project is the Viking and District Museum, now being located in the old hospital building. Since their move into the old structure a while back, the Viking Historical Society has done a tremendous job of setting out the displays of antiques and memorabilia which have been collected over the years. The "new" building is a natural for the museum. But the "new" building is in dire need of some work.

Already, a few people have been working long hard hours to try to have the new facility open for business by the middle of June. Their objective is to open at that time so that some of the local school classes might take advantage of the displays during this term. But while they are busy refurbishing the building, they will find it difficult to open the structure due to the mess that is created by their work. They need help, and they need it now. John Heslop of the Historical Society says that they don't need money, and they don't need tools or equipment. What they need is some able bodies to help do some work. It's not physically demanding work, for what is mostly required at this time is to panel some walls, and to hang some false ceilings. Once this is done, people will be needed to do a general clean-up so that the facility can open in a spic and span fashion. Pounding a few nails, cleaning some floors or walls, and other such jobs are the order of the day. They need people to see that they are done.

Members of the Historical Society are working week days starting at about 9:00 a.m. and go until they decide to stop. They can use an hour of your time, a day, or whatever more you wish to volunteer. The only pay is the satisfaction in knowing that a contribution was made to a very worthwhile project. To date, tremendous work has been done at the site, and all they need is some good, old fashioned community helpfulness to see the project well on its way. Get out and lend a hand!

Idene where a grass fire had destroyed a shed and a barn with property loss estimated at near $9,000. Another grass-fire call to the S.W. 81-50-30 in the Tofield area was brought under control with no damages. Tofield's fire fighters answered a call to the County of Strathcona to assist with controlling of a grass-fire and were called out again on April 19th to extinguish another grass-fire on IR-18.

Viking volunteers were called to the farm of Neil McKinlay to extinguish a grass-fire on the evening of April 22 and to the Terry Sorenson building site on April 27th; neither incident resulted in property loss. On April 28th both the Viking and Kinsella fire crews were called to the Clifton Ranch, east of Viking, where a number of bales had become ignited by a fire which originated at a burning barrel. Crews were on hand for several hours and loss in the fire was estimated at $8,000. The County Fire Chief reported that he had recently been in contact with member of the Ryley and Brown Fire Departments and had conducted fire presentations.

At present, meetings are underway with the various fire departments with regard to their alerting system operations. The County Fire Chief attended a meeting held at Idene on April 25 and to the Terry Sorenson building site on April 27th; neither incident resulted in property loss. Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

Growing up in the town of Viking, I, like many, many others have been interested in hockey for a number of years. Many times my father would leave his car and truck to see the Kamloops, the Memphers or the Dusters boys playing in Vermilion or Edmonton. It was in Viking that I went to school with Glen Sather and I can remember visiting Normie Uman's aunt east of Viking. Clark Jackson put our town on the map over 50 years ago with his rodeo achievements. Jerry Ambler and Larry Bird are also well-known. Glen Sather and Louis Sweeney had experience in the N.E.L. Viking is proud of them all. Maybe someday we can have a Hall of Fame. The Suther family would certainly dominate the collection.

Sports enthusiasts are the greatest diplomats we have on the troubled world scene. Government leaders can forget differences in philosophy and allow teams to meet in all sport competitions. So too can the people of Viking. We are not anti-Sather. We have many fans. If Montreal or Calgary were meeting the Islanders, I would be cheering for them. Individually we are proud of the Suthers and I reserve the right to think of you as friends.

I do not like to see my friends involved in some calling or fighting, but they are still friends. Friends remain friends if they are allowed to express their differences and preferences.

Perhaps tavern talk has emphasized those differences too much but that is one of the characteristics of a small town. Thank goodness there are other traits that bind us together. Many families can attest to the fact that Viking people will rally behind anyone in need. Ask the Gorbodas or the many farmers who have shared seedings and harvests.

Lately, we've been back-biting the Oilers in their time of need. Five years from now we will probably cheer for someone else. In the meantime, let's be friends and enjoy the entertainment of the season.

ed by stating that as municipal bodies, we each have our own aspirations as to the better communities and questioned why Ryley's aspirations should be "shut-down" by people as far away as Kinsella. Mayor Andrukow then stated that he respected the opinions of those who oppose them.

Councillor Frank questioned whether there was any other door that Ryley could take without coming to the County.

Mayor Andrukow advised that the next step would be to work with the Local Authorities Board but stated that it would be beneficial for the endorsement of the County before making that approach.

Councillor Frank stated that he "admitted the Village body for their courage and determination but that he would not offer his personal support." He felt that it was a government project, therefore, the government should get with it and carry the ball.

Reeve George Knudsen advised that he had been personally criticized for shutting out sources of possible revenue, in his capacity as Reeve. "But, I support the view of my Council."

Ed Albrecht addressed Council stating "We have to look to the future and look ahead to the dollars to be obtained from this new avenue of revenue. I appreciate that each of your members have a responsibility to their people, but as it would generate funds that would benefit the entire County, I feel you must consider support of our request for annexation."

Following the departure of the delegation, Reeve Knudsen called for more discussion.

Gordon Holmes stated that in all fairness to the Village Ryley he couldn't see Council stopping their attempt at growth. Mr. Holmes also noted that he was pleased to see the government was holding true to their word and investigating companies who are to be involved in the project.

Councillor Maxwell stated that he felt that the County should not stand in opposition to the progress of the Village of Ryley.

John Warner noted that he was well aware of the benefits but that he also had qualms of the almost violent opposition, and felt this may not change of opinion. Gordon Maxwell reminded Council that the question on the floor concerned only a request for annexation and the Special Waste Plant is only one possible use of the land in question.

Reeve George Knudsen added that "We are all concerned about the immediate reaction, but I think we should also look at the reaction somewhere down the road."

A motion by Councillor Holmes that the County approve Ryley's bid for annexation was defeated. The vote was recorded with Councillors Maxwell, Knudsen and Holmes in favor and Warner, Romanuk, Armstrong and Evanson opposed.

Do You Know The Bible Says

The woman said unto Him (Jesus), I know that Messiah cometh, which is called Christ: When He is come He will tell us all things. John 4:25. He (Andrew) first found his own brother Simon, and said unto him, We have found the Messiah which is being interpreted, the CHRIST. John 1:41. The Messiah means The Anointed One, or the expected deliverer of Israel. The unchristian Jews are still looking for Him, because they haven't yet accepted Christ as God's Son, nor the Messiah they were and they have had since Isaac was born to Abraham and Sarah. For centuries He was hated by them, but now they know He was a great prophet. They are still looking and longing for their Messiah to come.

Our Bangladesh project was a project with a happy ending also. We sent sewing machines and trained their own people to use them. Now they are making their own clothes.

The Alberta Junior Citizen of the Year Awards

As adults, we sometimes take for granted that young people will follow in our footsteps. But, when they exceed those expectations, it shouldn't go unrewarded.

The Junior Citizen Awards are one way you can show your respect and appreciation. In the past 22 years, more than 200 young Albertans and 25 groups have been honoured for leadership, outstanding achievement, or for overcoming special challenges. They've all been very special people.

If you'd like to say thank to an exceptional youth in your community, someone between the ages of six and eighteen, clip the coupon and send it to the editor of this newspaper. Also, you may nominate two or more youths in the "group" category.

Laid To Rest

Mrs. Mary Fjellstrom passed away recently at the age of 90 years.

Mary Fjellstrom while living on the farm enjoyed gardening. In winter she did a lot of sewing, quilting and crocheted a wool cardigan for many of her relatives and friends west the winter evenings.

During her 80th year of life, she moved to Holden making her home with her son Melvin. Later she was ill and was a resident of Eastlandcare Nursing Home in Viking.

She died quite suddenly in Viking Hospital. She is survived by one son, Melvin of Holden and a sister Alma of Carleton Place and a host of relatives and long time friends.

Funeral services were held Tuesday in the Holden Lutheran Church.

Uniform president Stan Bell says he is pleased that the Western Transportation Bill has been introduced in the House of Commons because producers know, at last, what the government is really proposing.

Mr. Bell says the bill ignores the impact of statutory grain freight rates on the livestock industry on the prairies. It makes inadequate provisions for lowering feed grain prices to prairie livestock producers when supplies are tight and local consumers are required to pay world market prices, less the artificially low statutory freight rate.

Uniform's policy preference, determined by majority vote at recent annual meetings of the organization, has been payment of the federal government's contribution toward the cost of moving grain directly to

Colling Fans

On top of their charm, colling fans are an effective way to stir up a breeze, making a room feel warmer or cooler depending upon circumstances.

A fan will even out room temperatures and this could help produce energy savings.

Running costs are low and maintenance is minimal, making your room operation feasible. It is recommended an electrician be called in to have the fan installed unless you are an experienced handy person.

colling fans with wooden blades were found to move a lesser volume of air during operation than metal blades.

Fan with variable speed control can be used to "churn up a storm" during the heat of the afternoon and stir up a gentle breeze in the evening.

Consumer Reports recommends that a minimum speed of 60 revolutions per minute or less would satisfy those of us who enjoy a tranquil environment.

For safe clearance, the colling should be at least eight feet high, so the blades will be at least seven feet from the floor. Take special care in areas of the house where you might raise your arms while getting dressed or where you might playfully "chase" a child or pet. Also watch for curtains that could get tangled in the blades.

No one can guarantee that colling fans will reduce heating and cooling costs. However, they effectively circulate the air, making temperatures more even and possibly making the atmosphere more comfortable. Before you decide, consider that installation costs can double the price of your fan and that low ceilings are not the best locations for safe operation.

Introducing the New Alberta Widows'
Pension Program

If you are a widow or widower aged 55 to 65, you may qualify for financial, housing and health care benefits.

The Alberta Widows' Pension Program is a new program specifically designed to assist widows and widowers who are aged 55 to 65 and who are of limited income. This unique program provides financial, housing and health care benefits similar to those received by Alberta senior citizens.

You may be eligible.

To be eligible for the benefits of this program you must be a widow or widower, 55 years of age or older, be 65, and a resident of Alberta. Your eligibility is also determined by your income.

The benefits of this program.

Similar to existing programs for senior citizens there are three areas of benefits under the Widows' Pension Program.

Financial:

Individuals with no income will receive benefits similar to those received by Alberta senior citizens under the Alberta Assured Income Plan and Federal income security programs. The program will also supplement incomes of eligible widows and widowers so that they will receive a total income similar to the income they would receive if they were 65 years of age.

Health Care:

Persons eligible for this program will receive premium-free Alberta Health Care Insurance and Blue Cross coverage. Blue Cross provides 80% of the cost of prescriptions and ambulance charges. Extended health benefits are also provided, which cover part of the costs of optical, dental, hearing and other medical needs.

Housing:

The Widows' Pension Program is also intended to assist widows and widowers who own their own homes, and those who rent, to meet their expenses. The Property Tax Reduction or Renters' Assistance is available to recipients of the Widows' Pension. Recipients may also be eligible for the Senior Citizens' Home Improvement Grant and the Senior Citizens' Home Heating Protection Program. You will need to apply for these programs separately.

The Alberta Widows' Pension Program is effective May 1, 1983. Application forms and brochures are available at Treasury Branches and Provincial Buildings throughout the province, or from:

The Spring session of the Ladies Aerobics, instructed by Audrey Morelli saw 35 ladies getting in shape for Spring. Another session will be going in the fall.

Progress was rapid in the gymnastic levels from Pre-level to Bronze reports instructor Lydia Babbitt. Lydia was assisted during the Spring session by Sheri Collier, Bruce; Neil MacGregor, Holden and Stacy Mattison of Viking.

The Holden Club was well

From The Ground Up

District Agriculturists

Rudy J. Warawa & Barbara Bennett

Periodically during the spring and summer we will be giving you some information on common weeds and their control. All weeds are serious, but certain ones pose a greater threat to agricultural production than others. Common to these weeds is justified.

Seedless Chamomile, better known as Mayweed, is such a concern. First introduced as a garden flower, this plant was able to thrive in the central and northern regions of Alberta. It easily inhabits waste areas along roadsides, and fence lines, but is now spreading into hay fields, pastures and cropland providing competition and reducing crop yields.

Mayweed is very adaptable and capable of behaving as an annual, biennial or perennial. It can be easily distinguished by its white, daisy-like flowers and its finely divided fern-like leaves. The flowers are solitary at the ends of smooth, erect or semi-erect branches and measure 2 to 3.5 cm in diameter. Flowering can occur from June through October.

When not subjected to competition, the plants are capable of growing up to 1 m in height and are very bushy. The seeds are rectangular in shape and have prominent wing-like ribs which are pale in color than the kernel. The root system tends to be extensive and fibrous but does not run or creep.

Mayweed is a prolific producer, able to produce up to 300,000 seeds per plant. These seeds can remain dormant in undisturbed soil for extended periods of time before germinating. It is spread mainly by seed because they are small and light, and easily carried by wind and water. Because of large seed production and through the process of natural selection, seedless chamomile is able to produce degenerate forms which adapt readily and grow vigorously in any new environment. Once established, it spreads rapidly into adjacent cropland and pastures causing crop yield reduction and providing competition for soil nutrients, moisture and light.

(a) Cultural
The most effective control is early control, which is done in the first year of growth. Control measures should focus on preventing seed production since this is the main source of spread. Get rid of the first plants. The basic concept of cultural control after a population is mature is to encourage weeds to germinate and then to uproot and destroy the seedlings. Shallow cultivation will encourage seed germination and growth and vigorous cultivation will result in the uprooting and removal of soil particles from the root system of existing seedlings and mature plants. (Any tillage method that successfully removes the soil particles from the root ball is recommended, because it causes the plant to die from dehydration.)

Cultivation after harvest destroys full germinated winter annuals and buries any seeds that otherwise might be spread by runoff.

wind or drifting snow. Burying the seed also encourages spring germination.

Preventive measures should be taken to discourage mayweed from becoming established. Before purchasing seed or hay, check that it is free of this weed. Do not wash crops by overgrazing, as this decreased resistance makes the area susceptible to infestation.

(b) Chemical
For the most up-to-date details of chemical control of mayweed in specific crops see, "Guide to Weed Control in Alberta - Part 1: Chemical", which is available from your District Extension Office.

It's Election Year!

One of the very difficult jobs with which municipal politicians have to deal is the setting of the annual budget. Estimates of expenditures and revenues are not easily arrived at, and prioritizing tasks which are considered necessary to the operation of a municipality is what makes this task so difficult. Couple this with what are bad economic times, and the degree of difficulty in the task is compounded. At all municipal levels this year, the catchphrase is either "cut" or "hold the line", whichever is deemed appropriate for the particular area being studied. At the very least, municipal councils are attempting to hold to a minimal increase in the tax rate for property owners. Guidelines anywhere from 8 per cent to zero per cent have been set throughout the Province. Councils have been forced to realize that the well can run dry, or at the least, the water must be rationed much more carefully.

But it is interesting what a difference a particular year can make. With the knowledge that voters in our communities, as in all communities, have relatively short memories, many municipal politicians seem to be using this year's budgetary process for campaign ammunition. Times were tough last year for many farmers, businesses, and wage earners due to the slump in the economy and record high inflation rates. And yet last year, some of these municipal politicians were calling for higher than necessary tax increases, for no other apparent reason than to put "money in the bank". In some cases, when the estimates had been set, discussion centered on how much more, just for extra sake, would be added onto the mill rate. Rates were talked about as numbers only, with little relationship to the actual requirements other than that of ensuring that the mill rate was higher than the estimates.

Times are tough again this year. The economy hasn't changed a great deal from last year, but the tone at budget meetings has.

An example of this can be seen in Viking. Last year, some of the members of council were voicing opinions such as those mentioned above. This year, these same members have changed their tune. Now the objective seems to be no increase. What a change from last year. The good thing about this change of attitude is that it has made for some excellent budget meetings. Very careful scrutiny is being given to all items in the budget estimates. Discussion on what might be considered minor expenditures are careful, with the seeming realization that a number of minor expenditures add up on the mill rate.

Credit must be given to the Viking Council, and to other councils who have taken to very, very careful scrutiny of the budget estimates. Careful scrutiny was done in the past, but not to the extent that it was done this year. Discussion was more intense, and priorities became more apparent. It is a difficult task, deciding on whether to hold things as low as possible, or to provide for some contingencies just in case. It is a philosophical question which does not have an absolute right or wrong answer. But this year's process will hopefully have a lasting effect on all people associated with municipal politics. Hopefully, it will get people away from the idea that things have to go up in big ways, that the tax payer can be "milked" extensively. Small increases, or no increases, should be the philosophy behind setting mill rates. The careful expenditure of tax dollars at the municipal level has to be a priority. Our communities need these dollars in the hands of the consumers to be spent in our communities, not on municipal contracts to outside firms. There is a limit which we should expect municipal councils to do, and years like these, regardless of the fact that there is an election this fall, should be set as the standard for all budgeting in the future.

The purpose of the Viking Art Club is "To communicate a real positive Christian message that makes a difference in people's lives." It continues, "Most people today are not fully aware of what the Christian message really is. When they hear it and see it, they become excited about it and become followers of Christ which is actually what Christianity is all about."

Terry Winter, 40, is a British Columbia born Christian communicator best known for his popular weekly television program which is seen locally on CKRD, Red Deer, at 8:30 a.m. and on CFRN, Edmonton, at 9:30 a.m. each Sunday. The recent ratings paid by the government BSM (Bureau of Broadcast Measurement) place it as the most watched television program in Northern Alberta on Sunday mornings.

The Bowker Brothers are also well known pianists in their own right. They have performed at concerts across North America for the past 7 years and have just returned from a concert tour of Australia.

The evening program will feature piano music by the Bowkers, an 80 voice choir recruited locally and led by Hadden Bowker while his brother Mel Bowker accompanies them on the piano, and audience singing of contemporary Christian songs. Following the 45 minute musical program Terry Winter speaks each night on a different subject, but always relating Christianity to an everyday world.

The subjects of the four evening programs are: Thursday: "How To Feel Better About Yourself", Friday: "A Special Family Night", "How's Your Love Life?", "Your Home, Your Marriage, Your Family", Saturday: (A Special Youth Night Open to all Ages) "Love, Sex and Happiness", and Sunday: "Heaven, and How to be Sure You'll Be There".

The evening programs are free and the costs of the Viking Art Club were raised in advance by the Viking Art Club Committee. There is no admission and no collection to cover the local costs. One the Sunday night program an offering will be taken to pay for the cost of airing of the television program in this area.

The Viking Art Club Committee extends a warm invitation to everyone to attend this special 4 day series.

GET THOSE HARD-TO-KILL WEEDS TOO!
 Add Banvel to your mix and supercharge it. Get those hard-to-kill weeds like Canada thistle, cow cockle, hempenettle, and wild buckwheat, weeds that 2,4-D or MCPA alone don't even touch. Banvel added to your mix acts like a supercharger. Mixed with 2,4-D, MCPA, Sencor or Lexone, Banvel delivers effective control of Barnary, buckwheat, corn spurry, pigweed and many others.
 Spray weeds early, when they are in the seedling stage. Early control of weeds means greater yields at harvest time. Banvel in your mix means you'll get the real tough ones too. If you don't mix with Banvel, you've still got weeds.

Do You Know The Bible Says

And the Lord said unto Abraham, "Lift up now your eyes, and look northward, and southward, and eastward, and westward: for all the land which you see, to you will I give it, and to your seed forever". Gen. 18:14,15
 In the same day, the Lord made a covenant with Abram, ham saying, "To your descendants I have given this land, from the river of Egypt as far as the great river, the river Euphrates". Gen. 15:18. What about Israel? Is she entitled to her land?
 Abraham had two sons: one by natural means by his household maid, and the other son by God's supernatural power by Sarah his wife, he being the true family descendant. This true family and all their descendants for the chosen nation of God. Not that He thought they were a better people, but He wanted a people to glorify Himself through. He had many wonderful things He wanted to do through them, to prove to the rest of the world that He was and is THE ETERNAL GOD, THE SOVEREIGN, ALMIGHTY CREATOR OF THE WORLD. And to SHOW HIS GREAT LOVE THAT HE IS TO ALL PEOPLE. God formed Israel by calling Abraham, and making a covenant with him. Naturally, he was born and raised in Ur of the Chaldees, now the Persian Gulf area.
 God promised Israel that the Messiah would come in due time. Israel formed an idea of how He would come, and what He would do for them. They have, and still look for Him as their great deliverer from their troubles.
 In the news these days Israel's people are being criticized, and some think the holocaust report of the second world war was very wrong. Satan hates Israel because Israel is God's chosen people, and he wants the whole world to turn against her. I love Israel because it was through them that salvation came to the rest of the world. Gen. 12:3 says, "And I will bless them that bless thee, and curse them that curse thee, and in thee shall all nations of the earth be blessed."
 The greatest mistake they have ever made is the rejecting of Jesus, Who was their Messiah, but His being forced in the womb of a humble Jewish, and being born in a stable didn't fit with their expectations, as they still reject Him, and they still have their mounting troubles which are going to get worse until they

 How do you pick the Canadian in the crowd at the produce counter? Labels readers catch the word 'CANADA' on the grade name of processed products. But at the produce counter you'll need some different clues.
 Green grapes aren't Canadian. Held out for our fresh blue grapes in September. Green Grapes Smith apples aren't Canadian either. Do remember, for grapes think blue and for apples think red or yellow. If fruit is your passion, the Canadian fruits that line the shelves of the produce, frozen and canned food departments in the stores are full of flavor and goodness.
 Fresh lamb is usually brought to you by countries south of the equator. Why eat frozen when there's delicious fresh Canadian lamb available from local farmers?
 Keep your eyes out for Canadian tomato paste: it's new and made from our own homegrown ripe tomatoes. Carrots with green tops in winter aren't Canadian. Pick the fresh carrots in the bags right beside their southern cousins on the produce shelf.
 What else isn't Canadian? Well besides citrus and tropical fruits that just can't be grown in Canada, the increasingly popular kiwi fruit isn't one of us either. There is hope for Canadian Kiwis, however. An experimental program aimed at growing kiwi on Vancouver Island looks promising.
 Aside from a few exceptions, Canada produces most fruits, vegetables and meat. Why should we pick the Canadian in the crowd on the food shelf? Goods grown in Canada represent Canadian jobs, investments and pride.

Kinsella Seniors Meet

Wednesday, May 18th, we had five tables of Whist players at the Senior's Centre in Kinross.
 First prize for men went to Cammie Gerrie. Strange as it may seem there was a four-way tie for men's second; Charles Tomasson, Henry Greenwood, Pete Muller and Allan Barker all had 158 points. The first out of cards eliminated Charlie and Henry but it took two more tries by Pete and Allan before Allan emerged the winner.
 Catherine Evans got the ladies first with Edna Barlow and Annie Kjerfve tied for second. Since second prize consisted of two articles they decided to share the prize.
 Annie Kjerfve and Ivy Muller were in charge and served a very nice lunch after the cards were put away. Our last card party of the season will be held on June 18th at which time the season's scores will be checked with a prize going to the lady and man with the highest total score.
 Our members are busy now cleaning camp since three days a week and as usual there are a few who still do some work at the Centre on Monday afternoons.
 As always, we meet every Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. with adult visitors welcome.

Agricultural Wielder Products

In the past few years, we have received many inquiries regarding promotions of many chemical products that are supposed to be "the answer" to many agricultural problems ranging from persistent drought to high fertilizer bills. Some products may be registered for use, either in Canada or the United States, some probably are not, or even will be. Total investigation of these products is suggested and if you must try it, please try the smallest amount possible. In government tests, many of these products have shown no benefit or if a benefit was shown, you can bet that you could have obtained the same benefit with conventional means for a fraction of the cost. The best advice that can be given is to check with our office and remember the phrase "Buyer Beware!"

The following article was written by D.W. McAndrew at the CDA Research Station at Swift Current. See There Miracles in Agriculture! Producers faced with the high costs of inputs are taking a serious look at methods of cutting costs. Some producers are considering trying products that claim to be "the answer" to higher fertilizer costs. Results from research conducted at the Swift Current Research have shown no apparent benefits from the use of such "miracle products". Agri-pro, marketed by J.J. Agri-Products of Dillenburg, Pennsylvania is one such product that makes claims of increased yield with reduced or eliminated nitrogen fertilization. This product is not presently licensed for sale in Canada, nor for that matter is it registered for sale in the State of Pennsylvania. The lack of licensing is due to the absence of verifiable evidence that Agri-pro has any beneficial effects on plant growth. Many verifiable experiments have been conducted in recent years which indicate an absence of benefit from the use of products like, and including Agri-pro.

Research on Agri-pro is currently in progress by Dr. Demars, Biederbeck and McAndrew at the Swift Current Research Station and by Dr. Rennie at the Lethbridge Research Station of Agriculture Canada. The purpose of this research is to determine if, under the prevailing conditions of the Prairie Provinces, any benefits can be gained by the use of Agri-pro. To date this research has not found any benefit from using Agri-pro. For example, in oat-growth tests and growth chamber studies by Dr. Demars, no beneficial effects of Agri-pro have been observed on emergence, tillering or heading. This is particularly important for some prairie farmers, since as of February 1 a total of 184 individual input permits have been granted to farmers for on-farm use of Agri-pro.

Research of agricultural production are continually looking for methods of increasing farm profitability. We have yet to find any miracles. Sound management, utilizing practices that have been thoroughly researched, such as soil testing, appropriate use of recommended rates of fertilizers, timely weed control, and use of high quality seed stock are some of the most direct routes to farm profit.

The other point getters on the Viking Team this season included Mark Derick, Colleen Thase, Mary Lynn Lang, Dianne Maxwell, Lisa Lang, Tammy Monaghan, Shelly Shipley, Wendy Sullivan, Sandra Loader, Laurie Sauters, Kelvin Krips, Brad Majewski, Clayton Rausser, Gord Ruschka, Peter Thomas, Lawrence Sarafinich, Jarrod Teasman, Randy O'Neil, Grant McKinney, Dave Teminsky, Darren Josephson, Joe Winscott, Dave Leford, Bill Servis, Darren Winchur, Dean Berner, Elaine Rozmahel and Rick Marko.

This combined effort of all 46 athletes who competed for Viking in both County and Area Meets was most commendable and a congratulations is in order for everyone who contributed. The Team will miss one member this season. Sheila Winter was unable to compete due to an ankle injury. Sheila was last year's top girl track athlete, making it all the way to Northern Alberta finals in JG 400M. Although she attempted some field events in the County Meet, Sheila was unable to run in the sprint events this year. The entire team would like to see Sheila "back on the track" soon.

CARD OF THANKS - Thank you to all the people who sponsored us in the Walk-a-Thon. Kinross Town Club 15p

IN loving memory of Ada Ellen Lewis, wife and mother who passed away on Sunday, May 22, 1983. The blow was great, the shock severe, We little thought the end was near. And only those who have lost can tell. The pain of parting without farewell. Each day we miss you, mother, Friends may think we're being foolish, But they little know the sorrow That lies within our hearts. Prichard 15p

"BEFORE I DUG THAT TRENCH IN THE BACKYARD I CALLED THE GAS COMPANY'S PIPE LOCATOR TEAM."

"Good thing I did, too. Because they were able to mark the location of the natural gas line that helped me avoid what could have been a serious accident. I just called 48 hours in advance, and the whole thing was free of charge! That's what I call service."

Irma School Holds Slave Auction

Irma High School is proud of all the people who participated in the slave auction that was held at the Irma School on Thursday, May 18.

The auctioneer, Russell Copeland who donated his time to the school did a very fine job at selling the slaves.

The slaves were to work a full 8 hour shift anytime that would be mutually agreeable to the buyer.

Blake Prior, the School Student's Union President said, "I was very happy with the way things went. We had great support from the student body and I was very pleased."

The slaves brought in a grand total of $900.00. The money goes towards the Grade 15's graduation and the next year's Student's Union.

Bike-A-Thon Held Canada

On Sunday, May 15, the Irma Kinases and Kinettes held a very successful C.P. Bike-a-thon. With only 22 riders participating, $1147.80 was raised for Cystic Fibrosis.

A trophy was presented to Scott Jack, who had the most money pledged, with a Kevin Denbok record going to Marvin Banendowski for second highest. The old-timer, Ray Parsons from Wainwright also received a record. Kenny Larson and Jordan Passtor, the two youngest riders, received a trophy. An honorable mention also goes to Craig Smallwood, youngest participant.

A warmer roast at the Fabyan campsite concluded the afternoon.

A special thanks goes to all those who participated and every one who sponsored a rider. Any one wanting a receipt for income tax purposes, please contact Margo Long or Art Jack.

Achievement

Day June 6

The Viking 4-H Multi Club consisting of Clothing, Dairy and Small Engines is coming to a close for the 1982-83 season. The Achievement Day is to be held on June 6, 1983 in conjunction with the Viking Beef Club.

In addition to this the Clothing section is presenting a "Fashion Show" on June 5, 1983 in the Legion Hall.

The fashions will be displayed by the 12 members of the clothing Club. Along with the sewing they have done, they will be presenting a selection of fashions styled by the Symphlicity and Style pattern companies.

The Club has obtained these 15 - 20 garments from the 4-H Branch in Edmonton. The Branch has made up a trunk which travels from Clothing Club to Clothing Club upon acceptance of application. We were fortunate to receive this trunk this year and hope to enrich our section of the Achievement Day.

Everyone is welcome to attend this event at the Legion Hall. Come and see what is going on in our section of the 4-H in Viking. Viewing of projects is in the Club Room on Monday.
